A NEWLY-MARRIED COUPLE.

*"My gentle lady,
I wish you all the joy that you can wish."*—SHAKESPEARE.

THOUGHTS FOR THE THOUGHTFUL.

Our thoughts are ours ; their ends none of our own.—SHAKESPEARE.

WHILST thou livest, whilst it is in thy power, be good.—Aurelius Antoninus.

NOTHING is more simple than greatness ; indeed, to be simple is to be great.

ENVY is destroyed by true friendship, and coquetry by true love.—La Rochefoucauld.

HAPPINESS is a good deal like butter in one respect—it goes further when spread on thin.

THE mark of extraordinary merit is to see those most envious of it constrained to praise.

GIVE work rather than alms to the poor. The former drives out indolence, the latter industry.

FLATTERY is a sort of bad money to which our vanity gives currency.—La Rochefoucauld.

IT is only necessary to grow old to become more indulgent. I see no fault committed that I have not committed myself.—Goethe.

A GOOD face, a good address, a good dress, are all so many points in the game of life, of which every man of sense will avail himself.—Thackeray.

To pursue joy is to lose it. The only way to get it is to follow steadily the path of duty without thinking of joy, and then, like sleep, it comes most surely unsought.

THE beloved of the Almighty are the rich who have the humility of the poor, and the poor who have the magnanimity of the rich.—Saadi.

THE three great ends which a statesman ought to propose to himself in the government of a nation are—1, Security to possessors ; 2, Facility to acquirers ; 3, Hope to all.—Coleridge.

THE great man, says Landor, is he who hath no disposition or occasion for any kind of deceit, no reason for being or appearing different from what he is ; who also can call together the most select company to converse withal.

IN proportion as a man suffers the smooth course of his thoughts to depend on anything external, whether on the greenness of the field, or the gaiety of the street, or the constancy of friends, so comes he nearer to the chance of shipwreck.

WHAT a chimera is man ! what a confused chaos ! what a subject of contradiction !—a professed judge of all things, and yet a feeble worm of the earth ! the great depository and guardian of truth, and yet a mere huddle of uncertainty ! the glory and the scandal of the universe.—Pascal.

WE may indeed think of many things at the same time ; but all attempts to do more than one thing at a time must surely fail. And successful thinking requires a central idea as an object around which all other thoughts, for the time being, hover ; and the more these thoughts have in common with the central subject, the better will the development be.

THE manner of giving is worth more than what you give.—Corneille.

ALL one's life is music, if one touches the notes rightly, and in time.—John Ruskin.

THE better we know ourselves the less reason we have to think slightly of our neighbours.

THERE is merit without elevation, but there is no elevation without some merit.—La Rochefoucauld.

THREE things are known only in the following way :—A hero in war, a friend in necessity, and a wise man in anger.

AS love will often make a wise man act like a fool, so will interest often make a fool act like a wise man.—Greville.

THE only real courage is that which comes from knowing that we are right. Rogues are never brave.

MAN is the only creature endowed with the power of laughter ; is he not also the only one that deserves to be laughed at ?

NEVER be ashamed of thy birth, or thy parents, or thy trade, or thy present employment, for the meanness or poverty of any of them.

LOVE those who humble and contradict you, for they are more useful to your perfection than those who flatter you.

CIRCUMSTANCES form the character, but, like petrifying waters, they too often harden while they form.—London.

ONE reason why the world is not reformed is because every man would have others make a beginning, and never thinks of doing so himself.

CONTENTMENT furnishes constant joy. Much covetousness, constant grief. To the contented, even poverty is joy. To the discontented, even wealth is vexation.

THERE is nothing better for a human being sometimes than a little hearty praise. Many good people conscientiously act in the direct opposite, and seem to think nothing better than a little hearty blame.

“OUR thoughts,” says an eloquent divine, “like the waters of the sea, when exhaled towards heaven, will lose all their bitterness and saltness, and sweeten into an amiable humanity, until they descend in gentle showers of love and kindness upon our fellow-men.”

IT is a great misfortune to have a fretful disposition. It takes the fragrance out of one's life, and leaves only the seed where a cheerful disposition ought to bloom. The habit of fretting is one that grows rapidly unless it be sternly repressed.

THERE are three short and simple words, the hardest of all to pronounce in any language (and we suspect they were no easier before the confusion of tongues), but which no man or nation that cannot utter can claim to have arrived at manhood. These words are, “I was wrong.”

Living and Dying.

Live like the rose. So bud, so bloom—

*In growing beauty live ;
So sweeten life with the perfume
That gentle actions give.*

Die like the rose ; that when thou'rt gone,

*Sweet, happy thoughts of thee,
Like fragrant rose-leaves, may be strewn*

Upon thy memory.

THE MERRY HEART GOES ALL THE DAY.

Happy men shall have many friends.

A YOUNG maiden thus complains:—"My eyes with tears is red and dim, 'cause he loves she and I loves him; but they'll be better by-and-bye, when she cuts him and he loves I."

A WOMAN has embroidered the words and music of "Home, Sweet Home!" on a linen sheet which is on the spare-room bed. Her guests have not decided whether the hostess means to indicate that they must feel at home or had better go home.

AN Oxford student joined, without invitation, a party dining at an inn. After dining, he boasted so much of his abilities, that one of the party said, "You have told us enough of what you can do, tell us something that you cannot do." "Faith," said he, "I cannot pay my share of the reckoning!"

She: "You must take supper with us to night, and then you can ask my father for my hand." He: "Do you think it will be a good time?" She: "Excellent. The girl is away, and I shall cook the supper. He won't risk me staying around to try it again."

Comforting old gentleman (at his daughter's wedding): "My dear, I don't see how I am to get along without you." Bride: "Never mind, papa. Since the ceremony was performed my husband has confessed that he hasn't enough saved to go into house-keeping; so you may not lose me, after all."

A FRIEND was complaining to Colman that he should be obliged to change his tailor, as he found that a suit of clothes would not last him above half the time it ought to do; and inquired if he could recommend him any place where he could meet with apparel more durable. "Yes," said Colman, "I can recommend you to Chancery, and there you may have a suit that will last you your life."

A CLERGYMAN, being indisposed and confined to his bed, sent his servant to see what hour it was by a sun-dial which was fastened to a post in his garden. The servant went there, but being at a loss how to find it out, thought that the shortest way was to pluck up the post; which he accordingly did, and carried it to his master, with the sun-dial, saying to him, "Bless me, sir, look at it yourself; it is, indeed, all a mystery to me."

AN old farmer once visited his daughter, who had antimacassars on the backs of all her chairs. As he was sitting by the window he spied the minister coming to visit "Jean." As she went to answer the door, her father, not being accustomed to such finery, snatched all the antimacassars off the chairs and threw them under the bed. After the minister had gone, John says to Jean, "Ay, Jean, lass, gled I was to get yer washing out o' the way, afore the minister cam' in."

OVERHEARD in the train when the fog was thick—"Is marriage a failure?" "Yes, of course." "Why, 'of course'?" "Because the lady never marries the best man."

Mrs. Wells (about to hire a new servant): "Now, in regard to going out visiting, I—" Servant (interrupting): "Och, go out whiniver yez loikes; you'll not find Bridget O'Murphy harrud, mum, or dictatorial loike."

Old Mr. Bentley (reading the paper): "I see that in the recent storm at sea a ship loaded with passengers went ashore." Old Mrs. Bentley (placidly): "How for unate! I can imagine how glad those passengers were to get on dry land."

A LITTLE girl was sitting on the floor, when the sun shone in her face. "Go 'way! go 'way!" she cried, striking out at it. "You move, dear, and it won't trouble you," said her mamma. "I s'ant; I dot here first," said the little one.

It is alleged that more than 5,000 cheap pianos are worked off in New York and Boston every year at sales of household goods, and each one is advertised as "belonging to a lady who is obliged to dispose of this magnificent instrument on account of financial difficulties."

A GENTLEMAN had accompanied a friend home to dinner, and as they seated themselves at the table, the hostess remarked, "I trust that you will make allowances, Mr. Blankley. My servant left me very unexpectedly, and I was compelled to cook the dinner myself." "Oh, certainly, my dear madam, certainly," responded the guest with great emphasis; "I can put up with anything."

AN old Scotswoman who had put herself to considerable inconvenience and gone a good way to see a sick friend, learned on arriving that the alarming symptoms had subsided. "An' hoo are ye the day, Mrs. Crawford?" she inquired, in breathless anxiety. "Ou, I'm quite weel noo, thank ye, Mrs. Groset." "Quite weel," exclaimed the breathless visitor—"aifter me haein' come sae far to see ye!"

President, Board of Police Commission in New York: "We are sorry to say, O'Hoolahan, that you are discharged from the force."

O'Hoolahan: "An' fer pwhat cause, yer honour?" President: "A jewellery store was burglarised in your district last night. Did you meet anyone on your beat last night?" O'Hoolahan: "Yis, yer honour. I met a man, an' he said he was going to open a jewellery store." President: "He did open a jewellery store and stole 5,000 dols. worth of goods." O'Hoolahan: "The man may have been a thafe, but he was no liar."

Changed Times.

*I cried, "No heart is true!
The sky has lost its sun;
The earth is cold and desolate;
I would that life were done!"*

*A hand was clasped in mine,
Two hearts for ever one;
Now earth and sky in beauty shine;
My life has just begun!*

The Hospice of St. Bernard.

THE most elevated part of the Alpine pass of the St. Bernard is a long and narrow valley, the bottom of which is occupied by a lake. At the eastern extremity of the lake, which is frozen over during eight or nine months of the year, stands the celebrated hospice, or house of reception, or monastery of St. Bernard.

The monastery of St. Bernard has been twice consumed by fire. Its saint and founder is said to have lived forty years on the desolate spot. The monks are of the order of St. Augustine. The hospice extends relief and eleemosynary hospitality (when needed) to all classes and condition of men. The exertions of the monks to rescue lost travellers from the snow and the avalanche, and the stories of their dogs, are well known.

In snowstorms these sagacious and powerful animals set out from the convent in pairs, one bearing a flask of spirits attached to his neck, the other with a cloak. Should they come upon the baffled yet struggling traveller, they conduct him to the convent; but should he have succumbed and be covered by the snow, their keen scent detects his presence, though buried several feet beneath the surface.

The dogs save many lives every year, although often at the sacrifice of their own.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

THE work to be done in the garden this month generally depends on the state of the weather. Should frost and snow prevail, the protection of plants with litter, dry leaves, cinder ashes, Russian mats, etc., is the chief thing to be attended to. After each fall shake the snow off evergreens, as they are seriously damaged by the alternate thawing and freezing of rain-water. If the weather be favourable, sow early peas in the beginning of the month, and on slight hot-beds may be sown salads, carrots, and kidney beans. In fine weather edgings may be laid. Mignonette, stocks, etc., should be sown in pots, and sweet peas and a few hardy annuals on a warm border. In houses cinerarias, primulas, camellias, hyacinths, etc., will now be in flower. Train neatly roses, clematis, honeysuckle, and other creeping plants. Should bees be kept, feed them if the weight of the hive shows that they require feeding.

Grim Humour.

DICKENS went on one occasion to Highgate Cemetery to select a site for a grave, and was accompanied round the grounds by one of the officials, who pointed out various plots, none of which Dickens fancied.

At last Dickens himself made a suggestion.

"I don't think you'd like that," said his companion.

"Why not?"

The man pointed to an overhanging willow.

"The tree?" said Dickens. "That was one of the reasons for my choice: the shade and——"

"Yes," interrupted the official, "but in wet weather, you know, it drips: rather uncomfortable for the party!"

A MESSAGE.

*I say to thee, do thou repeat
To the first man thou mayest meet
In lane, highway, or open street—
That he and we and all men move
Under a canopy of love
As broad as the blue sky above.*

—TRENCH.

The Manchester Canal.

NEW YEAR'S DAY in Manchester is commonly a pretty close holiday, but the New Year's Day of 1894 was also celebrated as Ship Canal Day. The first opening of through traffic from the sea to Manchester was a novelty to be witnessed by everyone who could approach the docks or banks. The weather favoured the occasion, neither wet nor fog interfering.

Latchford, near Warrington, is the place at which the canal, when about 14 miles short of its terminus, ceases to be a tidal way and has to ascend by a system of locks to the Manchester level, 60½ ft. higher. The canal directors were agreed that a comparatively short official procession of vessels from this point to the terminal docks would best satisfy the public desire to witness, and also to take part in, the opening of the canal at a season when daylight was short and even fine weather unsuited for long waiting upon a spectacle out of doors. The modest programme was very well fulfilled. Enormous crowds flocked to see the passage made and welcome the flotilla at each point where it was visible, and even to join it in great numbers on board the steamboats that conveyed passengers.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

The gardener now bestirs himself: his work for the year begins in earnest. In the kitchen garden at the beginning and end of the month he sows peas and beans, and transplants to the bottom of a south wall a few of the peas sown in November for a first crop. He also plants chives, shallots, horse-radish, and early ash-leaved potatoes. In the last week he sows red cabbage and savoy. He plants strawberries about the end of the month. He takes care before the buds are much swelled to prune apricots, peaches, nectarines, plums, and also apples, pears, cherries, gooseberries, currants, and raspberries before the end of the month. It is to be noticed that pruning after vegetation has commenced, except summer pruning, is not to be thought of. In the flower garden, if the weather be fine, he plants dried roots. In the last week of the month he sows mignonette and hardy annuals in a warm border for subsequent transplanting. Creepers with drooping flowers, such as Glycena scandens, etc., are trained horizontally, while roses and others are trained upright. He forks over the soil in shrubberies and between evergreens, and dresses it with manure if required. His attention is also given to the box edgings, which he renews. He keeps the gravel walks in order, and sweeps and mows and rolls the grass. Wall-trees are protected by him when the buds begin to swell during the prevalence of east winds.

THE OPENING OF THE MANCHESTER SHIP CANAL.

What Money did.

A BACHELOR farmer, a little past his prime, finding himself hard-up, thought the best thing he could do would be to marry a neighbour of his who was reputed to have some bawbees. Meeting with no obstacles in his wooing, he soon got married. One of the first purchases he made with part of her money was a horse. When he brought it home he called out his wife to see it.

After admiring it she said, "Weel, Tam, if it hadna been for my siller it wadna hae been here!"

"Jenny," Tam replied, "if it hadna been for yer siller, ye wadna hae been here yersel'!"

Master and Maid.

"HAVE you never observed," says Sydney Smith, "what a dislike servants have to anything cheap? They hate saving their master's money. I tried this experiment with great success the other day. Finding we consumed a great deal of soap, I sat down in my thinking-chair and took the soap question into consideration, and I found reason to suspect that we were using a very expensive article when a much cheaper one would serve the purpose better. I ordered half-a-dozen pounds of both sorts, but took the precaution of changing the papers on which the prices were marked before giving them into the hands of Betty.

"Well, Betty, which soap do you find washes best?"

"Oh, please sir, the dearest in the blue paper! It makes a lather as well again as the other."

"Well, Betty, you shall always have it then!"

"Thus the unsuspecting Betty saved me some pounds a year, and washed the clothes better."

Glass made by Lightning.

THE first glass ever produced on earth was no doubt made by electricity. The lightning tubes with which geologists are familiar are really composed of glass, and are the result of the melting of the silica in the sand by a discharge of lightning.

The Four Kittens.

WE four little kittens are jolly enough:
We are Velvet, and Whitepaws, and Hero, and Muff.

Full many a frolic we have through the house,
Pretending to hunt for the hole of a mouse.
One day we were racing,—a live mouse we met,—
Our fright and our horror I cannot forget;
We ran for a refuge;—a nice box we found,
And into its shelter we went with a bound;
We struggled and tumbled, then lay in a heap,
Till, all being quiet, we ventured to peep. [saw?
We looked all around, and what think you we
A foolish young lady attempting to draw!
Poor Hero was frightened, but Whitepaws and I Just looked that young person quite straight in the eye.

Velvet was sleepy, so he didn't care,
But blinked and sat still without moving a hair.
Now out peeped the mouse from a hole in the wall, [fall,
The young lady saw him,—her sketch she let
And ran away shrieking, "A mouse! Oh! a mouse!"

In tones that alarmed every soul in the house.
Then our mother rushed in—sagacious old cat!
She isn't afraid to encounter a rat! [fears,
She quick made an end of the mouse and our
And scolded us sadly and boxed our poor ears.
"Little 'fraid cats," she said, "now run off
and play,
And don't be as silly as girls are, I pray!"

Leith Hill.

WITH one exception—that of Inkpen Beacn, near the meeting-point of Wilts, Hants, and Berks—Leith Hill is the highest ground in the South of England. From its summit, according to Evelyn, may be seen twelve or thirteen counties. In clear weather we may make out St. Paul's on the one hand and the sea through a dip of the South Downs on the other. The tower which crowns the hill is worth ascending for the sake of the view. It was built in 1766 by a Mr. Hull, who lived at Leith Hill Place in the immediate neighbourhood.

How much would come back?

TEACHER — "If your mother had twenty-five yards of stuff, and made a dress requiring but eighteen yards, how much would she have left?" Little Girl — "Mamma can't make her own dresses. She has tried often, and they are always either too—" Teacher — "Suppose she sent it to a dressmaker, how much would the dressmaker send back?" Little Girl — "Depends on which dressmaker she sent it to. Some wouldn't send back any." Teacher (impatiently) — "Suppose she sent it to an honest one?" Little Girl — "Some of the honestest ones cut things to waste so that there is never anything left, no matter how much you send 'em."

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

THE main crop of all vegetables—peas, beans, cabbages, onions, leeks, carrots, parsnips, etc.—should now be sown. Sow asparagus, cauliflower, sea-kale and celery in the last fortnight, and plant the main crop of potatoes. These last should be set in rows two feet apart and ten inches between the sets. Finish the planting of fruit-trees. Fruit-trees and shrubs may be transplanted, but that work should have been done in November. The operation of grafting is to be begun in the third week of this month. In the last week sow the hardy annuals in the borders. Autumn-planted bulbs and spring flowers will now be making some show in the garden. Several of the early rhododendrons will be in flower. The sowing of several annuals may be proceeded with. The hardy annuals sown this month should be sown in patches and covered with a little dry earth. Transplant last year's layers of carnations in beds or large pots at the end of the month.

LEITH HILL, NEAR DORKING.

Poets-Laureate.

THE English poets-laureate from Chaucer to Tennyson number twenty-one, and their names are as follows:—Chaucer, Scogan, Kaye, Barnard, Skelton, Spenser, Daniel, Ben Jonson, Sir William Davenant, Dryden, Shadwell, Tate, Rowe, Eusden, Cibber, Whitehead, Warton, Pye, Southey, Wordsworth, Tennyson.

Daylight for Heroes.

AN officer of distinguished courage used to say, "If battles were only fought in the night-time there would not be so many heroes as there are."

A New Use for Money.

INSTEAD of repeating on every penny and half-penny the name of the reigning monarch of Great Britain and Ireland, Benjamin Franklin thought it would be a good plan to put some important proverb of Solomon, some pious, moral, prudential, or economical precept. Seeing such a piece of advice every time one receives a piece of money might, he believed, make an impression on the mind, especially of young persons, and tend to regulate their conduct.

On some coins he would put The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom; on others, Honesty is the best policy; on others, He that by the plough would thrive himself must either hold or drive; on others, A penny saved is a penny got; on others, Keep thy shop and thy shop will keep thee; on others, He that buys what he has no need of will soon be forced to sell his necessaries; on others, Early to bed and early to rise will make a man healthy, wealthy and wise; and so on, to a great variety.

Pity Misplaced.

*I WALKED a city street, and suddenly
I saw a tiny lad. The winter wind
Howled fitfully, and all the air above
The clear-cut outline of the buildings tall
Seemed full of knives that cut against the face:
An awful night among the unhoused poor!
The boy was tattered; both his hands were thrust*

*For show of warmth within his pocket holes,
Where pockets had not been for many a day.
One trouser leg was long enough to hide
The naked flesh, but one, in mockery
A world too short, tho' he was monstrous small,
Left bare and red his knee—a cruel thing!
Then swelled my selfish heart with tenderness,
And pity for the wail: to think of one
So young, so seeming helpless, homeless, too,
Breasting the night, a-shiver with the cold!
Gaining a little, soon I passed him by,
My fingers reaching for a silver coin
To make him happier, if only for
An hour, when—I marvelled as I heard—
His mouth was puckered up in cheery wise,
And in the very teeth of fortune's frown
He whistled loud a scrap of some gay tune!
And I must know that all my ready tears
Fell on a mood more merry than my own.*

Railway Notes.

An ordinary railway goods waggon carries eight tons. The first goods waggons were merely platforms, with sides of from five to ten inches high; there were no buffers. Then the buffers appeared at one end; then they came on at both ends; and now even the chains are fitted with springs; and a waggon is considered badly made that will not carry sixty per cent. more than its own weight. There are the covered waggons, costing £72 apiece, and weighing 5 tons 3 cwt.; there are the coal trucks, costing £68, and weighing 5 tons 2 cwt.; there are the low-sided coal trucks, costing £61, and weighing 4 tons 14 cwt.; there are the cattle waggons, costing £86, and weighing 6 tons; and there are coke waggons, gunpowder waggons, salt waggons, lime waggons, ballast and other waggons—all required to make up the goods rolling-stock of a great railway.

And the passenger stock is in almost as great a variety. There are first-classes, second-classes, third-classes, composites, luggages, brakes, horse-boxes, carriage trucks, travelling post-offices—all like the goods vehicles, similar in the main, but differing in detail on every line according to the peculiar whims of the engineers. Quite recently passenger accommodation has been greatly improved almost everywhere.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

THERE is much work to be done this month in the kitchen garden. Asparagus, sea-kale, beet, carrots, and onions should now be sown on light soils. The planting of cauliflowers, cabbages, and lettuce is now to be attended to, and that of the main crop of potatoes is to be finished. Hoe and thin spinach, onions, turnips, etc., and earth up cabbages, cauliflowers, peas, beans and early potatoes. Early Dutch turnips may be sown. In the fruit garden disbudding—that is to say, relieving the shoots of wall-trees of some of their buds just when they begin growing—is now to be attended to. The sowing of all sorts of annuals is to be proceeded with. Plant and prune roses. Slender deciduous trees and shrubs raised in pots should now be planted out. During the month remove gradually the covering from all tender shrubs and plants. Transplant hardy biennials such as wallflowers, Brompton stocks, hollyhocks, etc., if this was not done in autumn. Garden pests—caterpillars, beetles, red spiders, ants, etc.—are very numerous and active.

GARDENING FRIENDS.

To Julia.

*HER eyes the glow-worm lend thee,
 The shooting stars attend thee;
 And the elves also, whose little eyes glow
 Like the sparks of fire, befriend thee!*
*No Will-o'-the-wisp mislight thee,
 Nor snake or slow-worm bite thee!*
*But on, on thy way, not making a stay,
 Since ghost there is none to affright thee.*

*Let not the dark thee cumber;
 What though the moon does slumber;
 The stars of the night will lend thee their light,
 Like tapers clear without number.*

*Then Julia let me woo thee,
 Thus, thus to come unto me;
 And when I shall meet thy silvery feet
 My soul I'll pour into thee.*

Prince Bismarck.

THE unfortunate estrangement which for a considerable time marked the relations which existed between Prince Bismarck and the young Emperor of Germany, came to an end towards the close of January, 1894, when the Prince visited Berlin, and was received with a heartiness which showed that it had been resolved that on both sides by-gones should be by-gones. The Prince's journey to the capital was little less than a royal progress throughout, so hearty and enthusiastic were the demonstrations with which he was met at every point. His route to the palace was one perpetual triumph, but it was on his arrival at the palace that the culminating scene was reached. He had come to Berlin as the Emperor's guest, and as such he was received with every mark of distinction and with a cordiality which proved to him that his coming was as welcome to his Sovereign as to all the rest. It was a memorable occasion in every way: memorable in itself, and for the old associations which it called up, and not least as marking the end of a period of estrangement which had already been too prolonged. Prince Bismarck was born on the 1st of April, 1815. He resigned the influential posts of Prussian Prime Minister and Chancellor in March, 1890.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

THE work of hoeing and earthing up the different crops is to be gone on with. Cabbages, cauliflowers, Brussels sprouts, peas, beans, etc., should now be sown for late crops. The peas that are in progress must be staked. One must keep on the look-out for weeds, and when seen they must have no mercy shown them. Keep up a crusade against caterpillars on gooseberry-bushes and wall-trees. Plant out annuals raised in pots and sow annuals for succession. Herbaceous border plants should be thinned out and staked. Pansies, dahlias and double wall-flowers should now be propagated by dividing the roots. If heart's-ease be now propagated in cuttings and placed in a shady border, it will flower in the autumn, and the largest flowers will be produced by these young plants. May is a month of danger for the garden in consequence of the hot sunny days being often followed by cold frosts at night.

THE RECONCILIATION OF PRINCE BISMARCK AND THE EMPEROR OF GERMANY.

The Personal Habits of a Great Emperor.

IN camp, and during his early campaigns, Napoleon feared no fatigue, braved the worst weather, slept under a wretched tent, and seemed to forget all care of his person. In his palace he bathed almost every day, rubbed his whole body over with eau-de-Cologne, and sometimes changed his linen several times in the day. His favourite costume was that of the mounted Chasseurs de la Garde.

When travelling he did not care what sort of lodging he had, provided that no ray of light could get into his bedroom; he could not bear even a night-lamp.

His table was supplied with the daintiest dishes, but he never touched them. His favourite fare was grilled breast of mutton, or a roast fowl with lentils and haricot beans. He was very particular about the quality of bread, and he drank none but the best wine, and very little of it.

It has been stated that he drank eight or ten cups of coffee daily; but this is a fable, to be discarded with many others. He took a small cup of coffee after his breakfast, and the same after his dinner. He ate very fast, and rose the moment he had done, without troubling himself as to whether those admitted to his table had had time to dine.

It has also been asserted that he took the greatest precautions against poison; this, too, is a pure falsehood. Precautions were taken for him, but he took none himself.

He spoke in a loud voice, and when in a merry mood his peals of laughter could be heard from afar. He was fond of singing, although he had a bad voice, and never was able to sing an air in tune.

To Girls about to Marry.

NO young girl can make a more profound mistake than to marry a man of doubtful habits in the hope of reforming him after she is his wife. She will probably repent of her folly in sadness and tears. Of course, this rule, like all others, has its bright exceptions. We would therefore seek to impress upon our young sisters who are passing through that halcyon period of life known as "being engaged," that they ought to improve as well as to enjoy this happy time, not by being priggish or by preaching to their unfortunate lovers, but simply by setting, first of all before themselves, the very highest ideal of what a marriage-union ought to be, and then seeking, in those many gentle, unobtrusive ways which a womanly woman knows so well how to make effective, to set this ideal also before the man she loves.

If Things were Divided.

If each man, woman, and child received a proportionate share of the commodities annually consumed in England, the result would be something as follows:—

Soap, 10 lbs.; bricks, 90; barley, $2\frac{1}{2}$ bushels; 34 gallons of beer; 330 lbs. of bread; 13 lbs. of butter; 13 lbs. of cheese; 74 cwt. of coal; 5 oz. of cocoa; 14 oz. of coffee; 85 eggs; 2 cubic feet of firewood; 420 lbs. of pig-iron; 52 lbs. of beef; 24 lbs. of mutton; 26 lbs. of pork; 3 lbs. of fowl; 30 oranges; 6 lbs. of paper; 14 lbs. of rice; 80 lbs. of salt; 1 gallon of spirits; 68 lbs. of sugar; $6\frac{1}{2}$ lbs. of tallow; 12 cubic feet of timber; 23 oz. of tobacco; 4-tenths of a gallon of wine. Unfortunately some of us do not get our full share.

Broseley.

THIS is a town in Shropshire, on the Severn, thirteen miles south-east from Shrewsbury. It has extensive ironworks, and petroleum has been obtained in the neighbourhood. Near Broseley is to be seen the first iron bridge constructed in this country or the world. It was cast and erected at Coalbrookdale in 1795, the span being 100 feet, the height from base to centre 40 feet, and the total weight 378 tons.

Absent-minded.

ONE of the most amusing instances of absent-mindedness is that narrated of the Rev. Dr. John Duncan, the once eminent Free Church divine in the city of Aberdeen. Having to preach at Maryculter, seven miles from Aberdeen, the worthy doctor had gone a very considerable part of the way, when, being a snuffer, he took out his snuff-box to take a pinch. The wind being in his face, he turned about to perform the operation, after which, instead of turning round again, he went on in the same direction towards Aberdeen. The rev. gentleman was only awakened out of his reverie by a man who was himself on his way to Maryculter, and who, conjecturing that he was the preacher for the day, ventured to ask him—which brought him to his senses.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

TURNIPS are to be sown for succession in the first week of this month, and for a full autumn crop in the third week. Peas and beans should be sown for late crops. Early in the month gourds, pumpkins, vegetable marrows, etc., should be got out. Birds now begin to attack cherry-trees, so for the protection of the fruit the trees should be netted over. Continue the destruction of insects; this is best accomplished by frequent washings and by directing tobacco-smoke against them, or by strewing snuff or the fine powder of tobacco upon them. All planting out in beds and borders should now be finished. Perennials for planting out in the spring should now be sown if neglected last month. Young plants of pelargoniums, fuchsias, etc., which will be required for autumnal window-plants, should be moved into well-drained pots and plunged into a border. Take up the bulbs of tulips, hyacinths, etc., as soon as the leaves grow yellow. Standard and pillar roses should be properly staked.

A STREET IN BROSELEV.

Precept and Practice.

LLITERARY lady, who writes for the magazines, met a friend.

"You seem to be in high spirits. Going to get married?" asked the friend.

"Oh, no; it's better than that. I've just got a letter from the editor of a London magazine enclosing a cheque for ten pounds in payment of my article on economy in dress, and I am going right off to buy a silk dress, made in the latest style, if it takes every farthing of the money."

The Grave of Mozart.

MOZART died at one o'clock a.m. of December 5, in the year 1791. He died one month and a half before having completed his thirty-sixth year. His coffin and funeral cost 14s.; and for the hearse 5s. was paid. There being no money, Mozart was thrown into a pauper's grave! which received twenty coffins, and was every ten years emptied that it might be refilled. On his stone might well be written the words—"Ingrata patria ne ossa quidem habeas."

His wife, sick in bed on the day of the funeral, so soon as she could go out, went to the cemetery to pray upon his grave. But no one knew where it was. The grave-digger, the only man who could have given the desired information, died two days after the funeral, and this is all that is known of the remains of the greatest musical genius the world ever saw!

The monument therefore erected to his memory does not cover his body. His real monument is his work, and it is erected in the hearts of his admirers all the world over. His position in musical art, as compared with that giant Beethoven, can perhaps alone be expressed by the comparison of Raphael with Michael Angelo. But why compare? Is not all that is great and sweet in music comprised in the name of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart?

That Honest Farmer.

[Dedicated to the farmer who packed my last barrel of apples—in hopes to get even with him.]

WH^O, when he packs his apple crop,
The biggest fruit puts on the top?
That honest farmer.

Who, when he makes a bale of hay,
Hides rocks inside to make it weigh?
That honest farmer.

Who when we for pure butter yearn,
Puts oil of oleo in the churn?
That honest farmer.

Who skims the milk until it's blue,
And adds some chalk and water, too?
That honest farmer.

Who stuffs the turkey's crop before
It's killed to make it weigh some more?
That honest farmer.

* * * *

Who, when he's caught, himself bewails
The wicked world where fraud prevails?
That honest farmer.

The Whole Code.

EMILY—"Why are you waving your handkerchief?"

Angela—"Since papa has forbidden Tom the house, we have arranged a code of signals."

E.—"What is it?"

A.—"When he waves his handkerchief five times, that means 'Do you love me?' and when I wave frantically in reply, it means 'Yes, darling.'"

E.—"And how do you ask other questions?"

A.—"We don't. That's the whole code."

THE BEST WEALTH.

*I wish not what I have at will;
I wander not to seek for more;
I like the plain; I climb no hill;
In greatest storm I sit on shore,
And laugh at those who toil in vain
To get what must be lost again.
This is my choice; for why—I find
No wealth is like a quiet mind.*

Anarchy in France.

THE Anarchist campaign against society in France struck directly at the organised power of government in an explosion in the Chamber of Deputies on the 9th of December, 1893. A bomb thrown from one of the galleries of the Chamber of Deputies while the members were discussing a legal question arising out of a contested election at Rheims was intended to have wrought havoc without distinction of party, among the elected rulers of France. If it had not been for a fortunate accident, this fiendish design would have been accomplished. The bomb in its fall came in contact with the parapet of the gallery and, consequently, the explosion took place in mid-air. Accordingly, it did not wreak anything like the ruin that would have ensued if it had fallen, as it was aimed, among the masses of deputies below. As it was, the Chamber was filled in an instant with smoke, dust, and blood. Men and women lay senseless and bleeding in the galleries, and of the members themselves many were struck by the heavy large-headed nails, such as are used in horse-shoeing, with which the bomb had been charged.

The perpetrator of the crime, Vaillant by name, was detected without difficulty, and after trial met his deserts on the scaffold. He died without the least expression of regret for his crime.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

ABOUT the middle and end of the month full crops of celery, celeriac, and endive are to be planted. Early in the month French beans should be sown, and in the last week late crops of broccoli, colewort, and cauliflower. Medicinal and pot herbs should now be gathered and dried, and such herbs should be propagated by slips and cuttings. Plant strawberries in pots for forcing next winter. Prune and train wall-trees and destroy insects. Budding—in use in the case of many fruit-trees and the chief means of propagating roses—is the chief operation of the month. Hedges and evergreens require cutting at this season. Spring bulbs, such as hyacinths, tulips, narcissi, etc., that have died down may be taken up and stored till November. They should be kept dry in paper bags till the season for planting comes round again. In showery weather thin out annuals; they will supply the plants wanted for filling-up.

ATTEMPT OF VAILLANT TO DESTROY THE FRENCH CHAMBER.

How to Preserve Health.

AN octogenarian physician being asked how he had preserved his health so well, replied, "I live by my prescriptions; I never take them."

Married in Haste.

JEREMY WHITE, one of Oliver Cromwell's domestic chaplains, paid his addresses to Lady Frances, the Protector's youngest daughter. Oliver was told of it by a spy, who followed the intrigue so closely that he tracked Jerry to the lady's chamber, and ran immediately to the Protector with this news. Oliver, in a rage, hastened thither himself, and entering unexpectedly, found the chaplain on his knees kissing the lady's hand. In a towering passion, he asked him what was the meaning of his being in that posture before his daughter!

White replied, "May it please your highness, I have a long time courted that gentlewoman there, my lady's woman, and I cannot prevail. I was, therefore, humbly praying her ladyship to intercede for me."

The Protector, turning to the young woman, exclaimed: "What's the meaning of this, hussy? Why do you refuse the honour Mr. White would do you? He is my good friend, and I expect you to treat him as such."

My lady's woman, who desired nothing more, with a very low courtesy, replied: "If Mr. White intends me that honour, I shall not be against him."

"Say you so, my lass?" exclaimed Cromwell. "Call Godwyn! This business shall be done presently—before I go out of the room."

White had gone too far to retreat. The parson came, and Jerry and my lady's woman were made one flesh in the presence of the Protector.

A Fancy Head.

ACERTAIN gentleman took upon himself, to console a brief widowhood, a second wife. A lady of the neighbourhood went soon after the event to call upon the bride, and in the lapse of the rather flagging conversation ventured some indifferent remarks upon a portrait which hung upon the drawing-room wall.

"Is it one of your husband's family?" she inquired.

"Well, not exactly," the hostess answered. "It was a picture of his first wife; but it wasn't a very good likeness, so we had the eyes changed and keep it for a fancy head."

"What Makes You Try?"

*WE stood in the moonlight's tender glow,
And I thought her the dearest girl
That ever lived; and I loved her so!
She had set my brain awirl!
For she was charmingly gay that night
As we stood on the shore in the soft moonlight,
And never a soul was nigh.*

*So I whispered low: "I love you, dear,
And you thrill me through and through!
As I look in your eyes, in the moonlight here,
It is all that I can do
To keep from straining you close to me now
And kissing your eyes and your lips—I vow
It's hard to be good!" said I.*

*Then she looked up at me with a roguish glance,
And a light was in her eyes
That made my blood leap and the whole world dance*

*In a rapture of sweet surprise.
"I suppose it is hard," she roguishly said;
Then, softly, and turning away her head,
She added: "What makes you try?"*

In Jersey.

THE illustration on the opposite page represents St. Catherine's Breakwater, near Gorey, in the island of Jersey. The leading attraction of the neighbourhood of Gorey is Mont Orgueil Castle, the great feature of Eastern Jersey, which stands proudly on a rock rising from the sea. This castle was commenced in the tenth century by the Dukes of Normandy, and was continued by their successors the Kings of England. An earlier date is generally assigned to a small ruined rampart called Cæsar's Port, at the base of the castle on the north-east point. It is certainly the most ancient part of the castle.

A Boy's Evidence.

A BOY about twelve years old was an important witness in a lawsuit. One of the lawyers, after cross-questioning him severely, said: "Your father has been talking to you and telling you how to give evidence, hasn't he?"

"Yes," said the boy.
"Now," said the lawyer, "just tell us what your father told you."
"Well," said the boy, modestly, "father told me that the lawyers would try and puzzle me when I spoke, but if I would just be careful and tell the truth I could tell the same thing every time."

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

HOE and thin out turnips. Sow winter and spring spinach in the beginning and end of the month. Begin to earth up first-planted celery and leeks. Plant out broccoli, savoy, curly kale and Brussels sprouts. A few coleworts may still be planted. Caterpillars should be looked for and destroyed. Savoy and cabbage, which are particularly subject to their attacks, should be sprinkled with lime on dewy mornings. In dry weather gooseberry and currant bushes should be netted over, to save the ripening fruit till late in the autumn. Destroy wasps' nests, and take all necessary steps to save the ripening fruit on the walls from insects. Pick off dead leaves and reduce stray growth. All hands tied round buds and grafts should now be loosened, and removed when no longer required. According to some, it is better to pot auriculas now than in May.

ST. CATHERINE'S BREAKWATER, NEAR GOREY, JERSEY.

How to grow Rich.

GIVE up to your engagements.
 Earn money before you spend it.
 Never play at any game of chance.
 Drink no kind of intoxicating liquor.
 Good character is above all things else.
 Keep your own secrets, if you have any.
 Never borrow, if you can possibly avoid it.
 Keep good company or none. Never be idle.
 Always speak the truth. Make few promises.
 Do not marry until you are able to support a wife.
 Keep yourself innocent if you would be happy.
 Ever live (misfortune excepted) within your income.
 When you speak to a person, look him in the face.
 Make no haste to be rich, if you would prosper.
 Save when you are young to spend when you are old.
 Avoid temptation, through fear you may not withstand it.
 Never speak ill of anyone. Be just before you are generous.
 Never run into debt, unless you see plainly a way to get out again.
 Small and steady gains give competency with tranquillity of mind.
 Good company and good conversation are the very sinews of virtue.
 Your character cannot be essentially injured except by your own acts.
 If anyone speaks evil of you, let your life be so that no one will believe him.
 When you retire to bed, think over what you have been doing during the day.
 If your hands cannot be usefully employed, attend to the cultivation of your mind.

Sounds in the Insect World.

SIR John Lubbock says that the house-fly, which produces the sound F, vibrates its wings 20,100 times a minute, or 336 times a second; and the bee, which makes the sound of A, as many as 26,000, or 440 a second. On the contrary, a tired bee hums on E, and, therefore, according to theory, vibrates its wings only 300 times in a second.

Marcy has succeeded in confirming these numbers graphically. He fixed a fly so that the tip of the wing just touched a cylinder covered with smoked paper, which was moved by clockwork. Each stroke of the wing caused a mark, of course very slight, but quite perceptible; and he thus showed that there were actually 336 strokes in a second, agreeing almost exactly with the number inferred from the note produced.

Evening Reflections.

*LET no soft slumber close my eyes,
 Ere I have recollected thrice
 The train of actions through the day.
 Where have my feet marked out their way?
 What have I learnt where'er I've been,
 From all I've heard, from all I've seen?
 What know I more that's worth the knowing?
 What have I done that's worth the doing?
 What have I sought that I should shun?
 What duties have I left undone,
 Or into what new follies run?
 These self-inquiries are the road
 That leads to virtue and to God.*

Coal Trade Riots.

ONE of the incidents of the unfortunate Coal Trade Crisis of 1893 was a riot which occurred at the Acton Hall Collieries, near Featherstone, South Yorkshire, in which two men were killed and several injured.

It had been reported that during the night of the 6th of September, several men had been employed in filling smudge at Acton Hall pit contrary to an agreement entered into by the manager. About three hundred men armed with great cudgels rushed to the pit, and the men who were working, nearly two hundred in number, had to take to their heels.

Later in the day the men paid another visit. From about seven o'clock until nearly midnight the scene was one baffling description. Three tremendous fires were lighted and the whole of the premises were wrecked. About 8 o'clock Mr. Barnard Hartley, J.P., was fetched from Pontefract and read the Riot Act. Meanwhile the flames had spread all round the pit yard, many tons of timber being in flames. When the military proceeded to clear the yard the mob pelted them with every conceivable missile. They received orders to charge the mob with bayonets, and, being assailed with volleys of stones, fired into the crowd. More soldiers were summoned, and the riot was quelled.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

THE temperature of the year now takes a turn; last month the mean temperature was 61° 28'; this month it is 60° 14'. In the kitchen garden earth up celery, plant cauliflowers, cabbages, broccoli and small saladings. Sow lettuce and spinach, if not done in August, for spring crops. Lift onions and lay them on a dry, shady border or gravel walk. About the end of the month take up the most forward potatoes. In the fruit garden the chief work is the gathering and storing of the autumnal sorts of apples and pears.

The summer pruning and training of fruit-trees should now be finished. Plant strawberries for a main crop. In the flower garden remove at once all dead flowers and decayed leaves. Keep down weeds; this is a lively time of the year with them. In the beginning of the month sow all half-hardy annuals, if not done last month. Place auriculas under shelter for the winter at the end of the month, but they should still have as much light and air as is consistent with shielding them from frost and heavy rain.

A COAL TRADE RIOT AT ACTON HALL.

On Sacred Soil.

CHRISTIANS call Palestine the Holy Land because it was the birthplace of our religion as well as that of Jesus Christ, our Saviour, whose birth, ministry, and death occurred in the vicinity of Jerusalem.

To the Mohammedans, Mecca, in Arabia, is the Holy Land, it being the birthplace of Mohammed.

India is the Holy Land of the Chinese and other oriental Buddhists, it being the native land of Sakya-Muni, the supreme Buddha.

Elis, one of the several divisions of the ancient Peloponnesus, was the Mecca and the Jerusalem of the ancient Greeks.

The temple of Olympus Zeus was situated at Elis, and the sacred festivals were held there each year.

How Old Are You?

THE age of a person and the month in which he was born may be discovered as follows:—

First you ask him to go to the other end of the room, to prevent your seeing what he is going to write. Then ask him to put down the number of the month in which he was born, and multiply it by 2, then add 5 to the sum, and multiply the latter by 50, add his age to the quotient, then deduct 365, and add 115 to the difference.

Suppose he is 49 years of age, and was born in February, the computation might stand thus: $2 \times 2 = 4$, $+ 5 = 9$, $\times 50 = 450$, $+ 49 = 499$, $- 365 = 134$, $+ 115 = 249$; the last two figures indicate the age, viz., 49, and the first figure, 2, February, the second month of the year.

You simply ask the person to state the result of the calculation, and then declare that he was born in February and is forty-nine years of age.

The Poor Man's Weather-Glass.

THE pimpernel is called the poor man's weather-glass, or shepherd's weather-glass, on account of closing its petals before a shower. No umbrella is said to be wanted when the red pimpernel expands its flowers in the morning. The old proverb says—

*No ear hath heard, no tongue can tell,
The virtues of the pimpernel.*

A Word Puzzle.

A LOGOGRAM is a puzzle in which a word is made to undergo several transpositions, by the addition, subtraction, reversion of order, or substitution of a letter or letters.

To Lord Macaulay we are indebted for some of the choicest specimens of this class of word-puzzling. One of his logograms is given here.

*"Cut off my head, how singular I act!
Cut off my tail, and plural I appear;
Cut off my head and tail—most curious fact!
Although my middle's left, there's nothing there!
What is my head, cut off? A sounding sea!
What is my tail, cut off? A flowing river!
Amid their mingling depths I fearless play,
Parent of softest sounds, though mute for ever."*

The answer is, Cod; and every line reveals a fresh play upon the word. Cut off its head, and it is od (odd), singular; its tail, and it is plural, Co (the abbreviation for Company); cut off its head and tail, and it is O (nothing); the head cut off, is a sounding Sea (C); its tail, a flowing river—Dee (D). Amid their (the sea and the Dee) depths the Cod may play, parent of softest sounds (the air-bladder of the cod, a favourite delicacy to many), yet mute for ever.

The Land's End.

WHAT is known as the Land's End is situated ten miles from Penzance. It is the most westerly point of England; a romantic spot, darkened by the spray of the sea and the mists driven past it from the Atlantic. Its extreme point, which is pierced by a natural tunnel, is not above sixty feet high, but the cliffs rise on either hand to a much greater elevation, and below them, in gloomy recesses, lie huge rocks, rounded like pebbles and eternally buffeted, and the mouths of caverns in which the voice of the sea is never hushed. The view from so commanding a point necessarily includes an expanse of ocean which, when the winds are abroad, presents a spectacle of grandeur which is truly sublime.

A Receipt for Domestic Peace.

AN Emperor of China making a progress discovered a family, in which the master, with his wives, children, grandchildren, daughters-in-law, and servants, all lived in perfect peace and harmony. The emperor, admiring this, inquired of the old man what means he employed to preserve quiet among such a number of persons. The man, taking out a pencil, wrote only these words, "Patience, patience, patience."

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

DIG up and store carrots and potatoes. Parsnips may be left in the ground till next month. Sow small salads and radishes in the first week, and mazagan beans and early frame peas in the last week. Continue to plant out cabbages for spring use. All kinds of apples and pears should now be carefully stored. Pinks, carnations, auriculas, should be placed in their winter quarters. Propagation by cuttings may still be proceeded with, but it is to be observed that spring cuttings are far better than those taken late in autumn.

Gather hollyhock seed and dahlia seed if ripe. Prepare beds for tulips, hyacinths, etc.; they should be dug to the depth of eighteen inches and well drained. Take up scarlet lobelias, divide them and place them in pots for the winter; they are apt to decay if left out. The temperature of this month is considerably—about 7°—colder than September. Towards its close frosts are often frequent. Flowers begin to fade. Repair fences, clean drains, and house wood for firing.

THE LAND'S END.

Peace at Last.

“HOPE things are more peaceful in the choir than formerly,” said the vicar.

“Yes,” replied the organist; “it’s perfectly calm now.”

“I’m glad to hear it. How was peace secured?”

“Everybody excepting myself resigned.”

Artificial Pearls.

THE processes by which the Chinese produce artificial pearls are as remarkable as they are ingenious. This business constitutes quite an important industry. It is confined to two villages in the northern part of the province of Chihkiang, which is a silk-producing region.

In the months of May and June large quantities of mussels are brought in baskets from a lake thirty miles distant, and the biggest of the molluscs are selected for the operation that is to be performed. Into the shell of each mussel is introduced a number of small objects which it is intended that the bivalve shall coat with the pearly substance it secretes. Sometimes little pills of earth are used. Such pellets are made of mud, taken from the bottom of water-courses, dried and powdered with the juice of camphor-tree seeds. In the same way are employed diminutive images, usually Buddha, but often of fishes. They are made of lead, cast very thin by pouring the molten metal upon a board which is carved with the impressions.

In November the mussels are collected and opened. The animals are removed from the shells, and the pellets or images are detached by a sharp knife. By this time they are fastened tightly to the inner surface of the shells and have become covered with a coating of nacre.

The next process is to cut away the matrices of earth or lead about which the artificial pearls have formed. Into the cavity thus made in each one is poured melted yellow resin, and the orifice is artfully covered over by a piece of mother-of-pearl.

Humour in Court.

WELSH jury, in returning a verdict on horse-stealing, expressed themselves through the foreman thus—“My Lord, we find the man who stole the horse not guilty.”

A Warrington justice once reproved a would-be suicide thus—“Young man, you have been found guilty of attempting to drown yourself in the river. Only consider what your feelings would have been had you succeeded.”

A sentence was once pronounced by a Scotch judge as follows—“Ye did not only kill and murder the man, and thereby take away his valuable life, but ye did push, thrust, protrude, or impel the lethal weapon through the belly-band of his regimental trousers, which were the property of his Majesty.”

Baron Maule once rebuked the arrogance of Mr. Cresswell, who had been treating the Bench with a lack of courtesy, in the following terms:—“Mr. Cresswell, I am perfectly willing to admit my vast inferiority to yourself. Still, I am a vertebrated animal, and for the last half-hour you have spoken to me in language which God Almighty himself would hesitate to address to a black-beetle.”

A Devonshire jury, having found a man guilty of stealing hay, added the following rider—that “they didn’t think the prisoner done it, but there’s been a lot taken hereabouts by some one.”

Assassination of President Carnot.

On the evening of Sunday, the 24th of June, 1894, M. Carnot, the President of the French Republic, while on his way from the Palais de Commerce at Lyons to the theatre, was stabbed to the heart by an Italian Anarchist, named Caserio Santo. The President's carriage had proceeded a short distance along the Rue de la République amid the acclamations of the crowd, when Santo suddenly rushed at the vehicle and, jumping on the step, stabbed the President with a dagger which he had concealed under his coat.

The President fell back against the cushions. He was at once driven to the Prefecture of Police, where his condition was seen to be hopeless. He recovered full consciousness for the last moments, and remarked, "I see I am done for," in a low voice.

"Monsieur le President," said the doctor—Dr. Poncet—"your friends are here."

"Oh, I am very happy they are present," said the dying man.

And these were his last words. At 12.38 on the morning of the 25th he breathed his last.

His untimely end was a grave loss to France. He was not a man of genius, but he filled very adequately the position to which he was raised in the close of 1887.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

FINISH taking up potatoes, carrots, beet and parsnips. Take up early broccoli, endive, late cauliflowers and lettuce, and lay them in an open shed, or in old cucumber or melon pits, which will protect them from frost, and afford a supply during the winter months. Sow early frame peas and mazagan beans for an early crop in the second week of the month. Strawberry beds should have all runners and dead leaves removed. In fine weather, and the earlier in the month the better, plant all sorts of fruit-trees.

Generally speaking, November is the best time for transplanting trees and shrubs. When the weather is favourable, attend to the work of pruning and nailing. This is also the best season for making alterations in the flower garden, which has now lost its beauty. There may, however, be flowers in the garden both in this and the following month. The common monthly rose and several varieties of laurestine are in blossom. Evergreen trees and shrubs are now in great beauty. Repair drains and renew fences.

THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT CARNOT.

The Four Crosses.

DEAN SWIFT was wont to stop at road-side public-houses when on his pedestrian tours. While at one, known by the sign of the Three Crosses, between Dunchurch and Daventry (in allusion to three roads intersecting), he could not obtain the attention of the landlady to get him breakfast, who at last told him, "she must not leave her customers for such as he." Upon which the Dean took out his diamond and wrote on a pane of glass,

TO THE LANDLORD.

*There hang three crosses at thy door,—
Hang up thy wife, and she'll make four!*

Landlord and Tenant.

A TENANT of Lord Halkerston, a judge of the Scotch Court of Session, once waited on him with a woeful countenance, and said:—"My lord, I am come to inform your lordship of a sad misfortune. My cow has gored one of your lordship's cows, and I fear it is impossible for it to live."

"We'll, then, of course, you must pay for it."

"Indeed, my lord, it was not my fault, and you know I am but a poor man."

"I can't help that. The law says you must find the money to pay for it. I am not to lose my cow, am I?"

"Well, my lord, if it must be so, I cannot say more. But I forgot what I was saying. It was my mistake entirely. I should have said that it was your lordship's cow that gored mine."

"Oh, is that it? That's quite a different affair. Go along, and don't trouble me just now. I am very busy. Be off, I say!"

Heart's-Ease.

THE heart's-ease has an infinity of provincial names, as:—Love in Idleness. Live in Idleness. Call me to you. Cull me to you. Three Faces under a Hood. Herb Trinity. Jump up and Kiss me. Look up and Kiss me. Kiss me ere I rise. Kiss me behind the Garden-gate. Pink of my John. Flower of Jove. Flamy, because its colours are seen in the flame of wood.

She did not offer enough.

MR. FAED, the famous artist, had once nearly finished his study of an old Scotswoman, when her daughter arrived at the cabin and honoured the painter with a lengthened inspection of his work. She said nothing, however, but moved in deep meditation to the door, and then again to the artist's easel. "Ech, sir," the woman broke out at length, "that's awesome like my mither! I wad like tae buy it frae 'e."

"Capital," said the painter, and asked her how much she would give.

Much fumbling of pocket followed, and then—"I'll gie a shilling and a wheen apples 'am keeping for Candlemas."

Mr. Faed explained that the sum was not quite an adequate one, as the sketch was worth some £300.

"Blethers!" cried the irate Highlander, "the hale biggin', garden an' a', wadna bring half the sum."

Falling Stars.

A POPULAR superstition in Moldavia is that when one dies a star falls from heaven, as it first appeared at his birth and influenced his destiny through life.

The Last Stand.

ONE of the most dramatic and at the same time the saddest incidents of the Matabele war of 1893 was the loss of Captain Wilson and his gallant band of comrades, who all fell with their faces to the foe. It happened in connection with the pursuit of Lobengula. Captain Wilson and a detachment of thirty-five men had got ahead of the main body of pursuers under Major Forbes, and by the rising of the river they were prevented from afterwards rejoining Major Forbes.

Nothing was heard of them for some time, but at last the worst anticipations as to their fate were confirmed. The whole party perished at the hands of the Matabele in a manner which excited mingled regret and admiration.

The little party fought as Englishmen fight when they are brought to bay. Their rifle ammunition was probably exhausted before the final attack, but, covered by their dead horses, they plied their revolvers upon their assailants. When almost every member of the patrol had been wounded, the Matabele rushed in and despatched the whole party with the assegai. There is something particularly tragic in the loss of so many brave lives at a time when the complete success of the campaign had been already assured, and in circumstances which were largely accidental.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

MANY of the labours of last month, such as transplanting, altering and laying down lawns, may be continued this month if the weather be open. In the kitchen garden a few peas and beans may be sown. Turn up the ground thoroughly for exposure to the frost and snow. If the weather be mild, attend to the operation of pruning. The roots of tender trees, such as the apricot and peach, should be mulched over, as they are often so far affected by frost as to be barren during the ensuing year. Inspect the fruit in the storeroom at regular and frequent intervals, and remove whatever is found to be in a state of decay. Collect dead leaves and rubbish. Old shrubberies should be cleared and top-dressed and dug. Tea roses that are in exposed situations should be taken up and placed safely out of the reach of frost. In frosty weather sprinkle a little litter over any choice things which may happen to be in open beds.

THE LAST STAND OF CAPTAIN WILSON.

Character in Chins and Lips.

CA POINTED chin is said to be a sign of craftiness, wisdom, and discretion.

A soft, fat, double chin shows sensuousness and an indolent temperament.

A flat chin shows a cold, hard nature; a small chin indicates weakness, want of will-power, and cowardice.

A retreating chin is a sign of silliness, and, if the brow be shallow, of imbecility.

Where the space between the nose and the red part of the lip is short and very sharply cut, it indicates refinement and delicacy of perception, but not much power. There is no force of intellect where this space is unusually short.

A rather long but not flat upper lip—especially where the serpentine line of the middle of the mouth is much defined, and the middle of the lip droops to the lower lip, and is very flexible—denotes an eloquent person.

A very long upper lip, which is flat, and which belongs to a straight, or formless, or too thick-lipped mouth, is a sign of a low and vicious type of character. Almost all the faces of great criminals have this type, combined with massive jaws and high cheek-bones, which last defect is (both Lavater and Perneti, great French writers on the subject of physiognomy, tell us) a sign of rapacity.

A square and massive chin shows strong and determined will.

An old Italian writer says that "women with brown hairy moles on the chin, especially if these excrescences are on the under part of the chin, are industrious, active, and are good housewives; they are very sanguine, and are given to love-follies. They talk much, and whilst they are easily excited to return a love which is offered them, they are not so readily prevailed upon to become indifferent."

He never used a Lantern.

CAN old country gentleman, belonging to Lancashire, returning home rather late, discovered a yokel with a lantern under his kitchen window, who, when asked his business there, stated that he had only come a-courting.

"Come a-what?" cried the irate gentleman.

"A-courting, sir. I'se courting Mary."

"It's a lie!" exclaimed the old gentleman.

"What do you want a lantern for? I never used one when I was a young man."

"No, sir," was the yokel's reply; "I don't think yer did, judging by the missis."

All that's Sweet resembles Thee.

WHY does azure deck the sky?

'Tis to be like thine eyes of blue

Why is red the rose's dye?

Because it is thy blushes' hue.

All that's fair, by Love's decree

Has been made resembling thee!

Why is falling snow so white,

But to be like thy bosom fair?

Why are solar beams so bright?

That they may seem thy golden hair!

All that's bright, by Love's decree,

Has been made resembling thee.

Why are nature's beauties felt?

Oh! 'tis thine in her we see!

Why has music power to melt?

Oh! because it speaks like thee.

All that's sweet, by Love's decree,

Has been made resembling thee!

COOPER & CO.'S

TEAS

At 1s 2d, 1s 4d, & 1s 8d per Lb.

ARE ADMITTED TO BE

The Best Value Ever Offered

TO THE PUBLIC.

—o—o—o—
COOPER & CO. have been renowned for a Quarter-of-a-Century for their Splendid Teas.

Their business has steadily grown, year after year, until now they employ over Eight Hundred persons in their Tea Warehouses. This is surely sufficient proof of the truth of their statement. Would they have such an enormous Tea Business if they did not sell good Tea?

Therefore try it, and you will, most probably, never buy Tea from anyone else.

COOPER & CO. always begin their business in inexpensive premises, because the smallness of their profits will not allow of their occupying highly-rented shops; they prefer to give the advantage to their Customers rather than to their landlord.

COOPER & CO.'S TEAS are bought by two of the best judges of Tea in the Tea Trade. They are Trained Tea Tasters, and have been engaged in that business all their lives.

COOPER & CO. only ask you to give their Teas a trial. They know what the result will be. They will always have you as Customers.

MODERN IDEAS OF EVOLUTION

As Related to Revelation and Science.

By Sir J. W. DAWSON, C.M.G., LL.D., F.R.S., Author of "The Chain of Life in Geological Time," "Egypt and Syria, their Physical Features in Relation to Bible History," etc. Sixth Edition. Revised and Enlarged. 5s. cloth.

"It embodies the thoughts of an eminent geologist on some of the chief flaws and discrepancies in what he justly styles the 'hypothesis' of evolution. If there is anything calculated to arrest the cocksure young scientist, who is always the young man in a hurry, this book will do it. Perhaps nothing but a counterblast—and Sir Wm. Dawson's book is too well reasoned to deserve the term—can be expected to shake the unflinching confidence of the middlemen of science, who purvey Darwinism, or what they consider to be Darwinism, to the intelligent multitude."—Saturday Review.

With Hints on Collecting for, and the Management of the Micro-Aquarium. By HENRY SCHERKEN. With Illustrations.

The Midnight Sky. Familiar Notes on the Stars and Planets. By EDWIN DUNKIN, F.R.S., F.R.A.S., Past-President of the Royal Astronomical Society, and late Chief Assistant at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich. With 32 Star-Maps and numerous other Illustrations. New and thoroughly Revised Edition. 8s. cloth, gilt top.

"Those little maps of the starry spaces far surpass, in clearness and useful worth, all I have before seen in the planisphere way; no reader but by help of them may find, with a minimum of trouble, the star he seeks. . . . Why did not somebody teach me the constellations too, and make me at home in the starry heavens, which are always overhead, and which I don't half know till this day?"—THOMAS CARLYLE (referring to the first edition of this book).

FOR BOYS & GIRLS.

By W. J. GORDON, Author of "Our Country's Birds," "How London Lives," "Foundry, Forge, and Factory," etc. With many Illustrations. Crown 8vo. 2s. 6d. cloth boards.

The method of this book is scientific, the style is popular. It is intended as a prize book for schools, etc., and also as the kind of book to put into the hands of boys and girls when they wish for fuller information about animals and birds than the ordinary natural history anecdote books give. "The text is interesting, and the photographs are of very exceptional merit, as photographs, quite apart from their subject."—Manchester Guardian.

"The volumes which the Committee of the Religious Tract Society is issuing under the title of "By-paths of Bible Knowledge," fully deserve success. Most of them have been entrusted to scholars who have a special acquaintance with the subjects about which they severally treat."—The Athenæum.
