FIRST LINES OF THE SONGS.

A bit happy hame this auld world would be,	374	A pretty young maiden sat on the grass,	109
Across the dull and brooding night,	483	A queer kind o' lottry is marriage,	174
Afore the Lammas tide,	324	As I was walkin' on the strand,	454
Ah! do not bid me wake the lute,	29	A song, a song, brave hearts, a song,	359
A herd laddie sat in his plaidie o' gray,	391	A song for dum October,	461
Alakè for the lassie! she's no right at a',	37	A steed! a steed of matchlesse speed,	166
Alas! my son, you little know,	520	At e'ening, whan the kye war in,	270
A lintwhite sat in her mossy nest,	447	A traveller, through a dusty road,	386
All beneath an Indian sun,	346	At that tide when the voice of the turtle,	92
All lovely and bright, 'mid the desert,	257	At the silence of twilight's contemplative hour,	25
Alma, field of heroes, hail!	346	At the stent o' my string,	128
Among the breezy heights and howes,	250	Auld Eppie, puir bodie, she wins on the brae,	98
An angel came down in the still,	352	Auld Scotia's sangs! auld Scotia's sangs,	211
A' nature lay dead, save the cauld,	300	A verse!—My friend, 'tis hard to rhyme,	361
And did you pity me, kind sir?	342	Awake, awake! ye voices that dwell,	264
An eiry night, a cheerless day,	280	Awake, my love! ere morning's ray,	70
A' nicht it was freezin',	333	Awake, my love: the shades of night,	259
An Indian chief went forth to fight,	325	Away from the roar and the rattle,	322
Annie she's dowie, and Willie he's wae,	455	A wee bird cam' to our ha' door,	112
An' O! may I never live single again,	97	A wee bird sits upon a spray,	214

	PAGE		PAGE
A wet sheet and a flowing sea,	68	I ha'e seen great anes,	522
Behave yersel' before folk,	59	I have come from the south,	526
Beneath a hedge of thorn, and near,	487	I heard the evening linnet's voice,	48
Be still, be still, thou beating heart,	375	I kenna what's come ower him,	288
Birdie, birdie, weet your whistle,	337	I know not if thy spirit weaveth ever,	354
Blest be the hour of night,	249	Ilk ane now-a-days brags awa' 'bout his dear,	512
Bonnie Jeanie sleepit in a lamsome,	448	I'll think on thee, love, when thy bark,	240
Bonnie sing the birds in the bright,	399	I'll twine a gowany garland,	398
Brightly, brightly, the moonbeam shines,	223	I lo'e the tones in mine ear that rung,	254
Bright maiden of Orkney,	160	I loved thee till I knew,	277
Bright-robed pilgrim from the North,	307	I love the land!	216
Burd Ailie sat down by the wimplin' burn,	447	I marked the murdering rifle's flash,	346
Calm sleep the village dead,	391	I'm fatherless and motherless,	375
Can I behave, can I behave,	60	I'm naebody noo, though in days,	271
Clap, clap handies!	448	In a saft simmer gloamin',	164
Come awa', come awa',	103	In fairy glen of Woodlee,	486
Come, brawny John Barleycorn,	131	Infant winter, young November,	398
Come—come—come!	360	In the days o' langsyne, when we carles,	181
Comin' through the craigs o' Kyle,	518	In young life's sweet spring-time,	367
Confide ye aye in Providence,	303	I sat in the vale, 'neath the hawthorns,	195
Courage, brother! do not stumble,	333	I saw a little lonely cloud,	490
Dance, my children, lads and lasses,	333	I saw my true love first on the banks,	205
Dear aunty, what think ye,	227	Is your war-pipe asleep, and for ever,	279
De Bruce! De Bruce!—with that proud call,	68	It is a lesson sad and true,	276
Did ever swain a nymph adore,	512	It's hame, and it's hame, hame fa'in wad I be,	69
Doom i' the glen by the loun o' the trees,	530	It's monie a day since first we left,	539
Down fair Dalmeny's rosy dells,	447	It's rare to see the morning bleeze,	128
Do ye like, my dear lassie,	127	I've been upon the moonlit deep,	380
Each whirl o' the wheel,	123	I've listened to the midnight w'nd,	156
Earth, of man the bouituous mother,	234	I've loved thee, old Scotia,	32
Fair Scotland, dear as life to me,	258	I've wandered east, I've wandered west,	162
Far along the empurpled heights,	407	I've wandered on the sunny hill,	315
Fare thee well, for I must leave thee,	180	I walk'd by mysel' owre the sweet braes,	81
Flowers of summer, sweetly springing,	291	I was a nursling of uttrodden soyl,	540
Forget her? mock me not; behold,	363	I will sing a song of summer,	480
From Lochourn to Glenfinnan,	423	I will think of thee yet,	280
Full white the Bourbon lily blows,	71	I winna gae back to my youthfu' haunts,	403
Gae, bring my guid auld harp ance ma'r,	194	I winna love the laddie that ca's,	192
Gang, Jenny, bring my fishing-book,	402	I wish we were hame to our ain folk,	195
GIN ye wad gang, lassie, to Garryhorn,	51	Keen blows the wind o'er Donocht-head,	42
Go to him, then, if thou canst go,	40	Kiss the goblet, and live!	541
Hersell ye Highland shentleman,	519	Let Italy boast of her bloom-shaded waters,	189
Hoo's dear auld Mither Scotland, lads,	126	Let ither anglers choose their ain,	328
How brightly beams the bonnie moon,	60	Let time and chance combine, combine,	153
How cerily, how drearily,	113	Let us haste to Kelvin Grove,	129
How sweet the dewy bell is spread,	188	Let us owre to Campsie Glen, bonnie lassie,	210
How sweet this lone vale,	516	Let us rove, Jessie, rove,	123
How sweet to me the memories,	489	Let wrapt musicians strike the lyre,	121
How sweet to rove at summer's eve,	291	Like an arrow through the air,	391
Hurra for the Highlands!	291	Lilly Lorn gaed down the shaw,	448
Hurra! for the land o' the broom-cover'd brae,	397	Lived a knight in tower,	521
Hurrah for Scotland's worth and fame,	344	Loo'st thou the thistle that blooms,	296
I ance knew content,	130	Louisa's but a lassie yet,	42
I cannot give thee all my heart,	385	Low spake the knight to the peasant-girl,	282
I dream'd thou wert a fairy harp,	386	Maid of my heart—a long farewell,	103
If doughty deeds my lady please,	520	Mark ye how the Czar,	304
If glorious deeds deserve a song,	350	Maxwelton's banks are bonnie,	515
I gaed to spend a week in Fife,	533	Men grew sae cauld, maids sae unkind,	204
I ha'e laid a herring in saut,	538	'Mid the thunder of battle,	345
		Mournfully! O, mournfully!	165
		My Bessie, oh! but look,	314
		My boat's by the tower,	216

	PAGE		PAGE
My brothers are the stately trees,	100	O, Po'k-head wood is bonnie,	287
My certy! but it sets him weel,	535	O Saturday's sun sinks down with a smile,	70
My outhie auld wife,	397	O sing and rejoice,	405
My heid is lik to rend, Willie,	163	O sing me the song,	392
My love, come let us wander,	157	O sweet are the blossoms o' the hawthorn,	263
My mither men't my auld breeks,	61	O sweet the May morn,	124
My wife's a winsome wee thing,	40	O the birds of bonnie Scotland,	400
Nae sweetheart hae I,	373	O! the bonnie braes o' Scotland,	180
Nainsel pe Maister Shon M'Nab,	58	O the days when I struttid,	416
'Neath the wave thy lover sleeps,	157	O! the happy days o' youth are fast gaun,	179
Ne'er trow the day will lour throughout,	302	Our lugles sang true,	25
Night's finger hath prest down the eyelids,	343	Our native land—our native vale,	103
No mortal hand, save mine hath yet,	286	Our sail has ta'en the blast,	127
Now hands to seedsheet, boys,	153	Our wean's the most wonderfu' wean,	336
Now simmer decks the fields wi' flowers,	35	Over Mull's mountains gray,	394
Now there's peace on the shore,	144	Over the hills the wintry wind,	399
O blessings attend my sweet wee laddie,	39	O weel may the boatie row,	513
O bonnie are the hoves,	325	O welcome winter! wi' thy storms,	105
O! brave Caledonians! my brothers,	100	O, wha are sae happy as me and my Janet?	179
O bright the beaming queen o' night,	514	O! what is this world, wi' its wealth,	175
O! come with me, for the queen of night,	48	O where is tynie Hewe?	219
O England! dear home of the lovely and true,	92	O will ye go to yon burn side,	45
O'er all the streams that Scotia pours,	401	O ye tears! O ye tears!	351
O'er the mist-shroned cliffs,	105	Past sleeping thorp and guarded tower,	439
Of Nelson and the North,	22	Pawkie Adam Glen,	97
O! gin I were where Gadie rins,	211	Pit his back against a chair,	504
O hark to the strain that sae sweetly,	416	Place we a stone at his head and his feet,	217
Oh, bonnie's the lily that blooms,	297	Preserve us a! what shall we do,	533
Oh! dhina ask me gin I lo'e thee,	516	Raise high the battle-song,	111
O heard ye yon pibroch sound sad,	23	Red rows the Nith 'tween bank and brae,	70
Oh, hand na yer noddle sae hie,	228	Rise, little star,	440
Oh, leave me not! the evening hour,	173	Rise, rise! Lowland and Highland men,	212
Oh! mither, John Frost cam' yestreen,	464	Rising o'er the heaving billow,	515
Oh! scenes of my childhood,	26	Roll away, ye shining rill,	514
Oh! softly sighs the westlin' breeze,	252	Roy's wife of Aldivalloch,	520
Oh! stopna, bonnie bird, that strairn,	114	Scotland! the land of all I love,	241
Oh! tempt me not,	205	See the glow-worm lits her fairy lamp,	130
Oh, the queer auld man, the dear auld man,	227	She's aff and awa', like the lang summer day,	232
Oh, waste not thy woe on the dead,	410	She's game to dwell in heaven, my lassie,	67
Oh, wha's at the window, wha, wha?	99	She was Naeboddy's Bairn,	392
Oh, where are the pretty men of yore?	243	She whose lang loose unbraided hair,	229
Oh! why left I my hame?	180	Sing a' ye bards, wi' loud acclaim,	113
Oh, will ye walk the wood wi' me?	222	Sing, sing the Lime,—the odorons Lime,	358
Oh! years hae come, an' years hae gane,	315	Sing, sweet thrushes, forth and sing!	327
Oh yes, there's a valley as calm and as sweet,	99	Sister Jeanie, haste, we'll go,	253
O Islay! sweet Islay!	535	Sit ye down here, my cronies,	34
O lassie ayont the hill,	453	Some grow fin' proud o'er bays o' gowd,	376
O! lassie I lo'e dearest!	105	Star that bringest home the bee,	27
O lassie, wilt thou gang wi' me,	45	Sweet brooklet ever gliding,	87
Old England, warlike England,	223	Sweet lady, there was nought in me,	282
O leeze me on the glen,	297	Sweet Lamma's moon, thy silvery beam,	227
O, Leezie M'Cutcheon, I canna but say,	132	Sweet, sweet is the rose-bud,	170
O let me sit as evening falls,	404	Sweet the bard, and sweet his strain,	106
O Logie o' Buchan, O Logie the laird,	521	Tell me, dear! in mercy speak,	416
O love, whose patient pilgrim feet,	487	The auld folks sit by the fire,	291
O, my love's like the steadfast sun,	66	The auld meal mill—oh, the auld meal mill,	343
On Aman's banks, in life's gay morn,	526	The autumn winds are blowing,	178
Once more, Eliza, let me look,	132	The blue bell, the blue bell,	339
Once more on the broad-bo-om'd ocean,	324	The bonnie wee well on the breist o' the brae,	402
Once William swore the sacred oath,	114	The breeze blows fresh, my gallant mates,	280
On Linden, when the sun was low,	23	The breezes of this vernal day,	287
On the banks o' the burn,	36
On this unfrequented plain,	31

The cantie spring scarce rear'd her head,	42	Tie, tie, tie!	175
The could north wind has souged awa',	172	'Tis the fa' o' the leaf,	390
The corbie wi' his roupy throat,	99	'Tis Sabbath morn, and a holy balm,	404
The cranreuch's on my heid,	398	Toll no sullen bell for me,	394
The cronach stills the dowie heart,	39	To other climes on changing wing,	260
The daylight was dying,	379	To the West! to the West!	387
The evening sun has closed the day,	97	Touch once more a sober measure,	143
The fairies are dancing—how nimbly,	536	'Twas summer, and softly the breezes,	537
The feeding shower comes brattlin' doun,	301	'Twas summer-tide; the cushat sang,	521
The flag of battle on its staff hangs drooping,	215	'Twas when the wan leaf,	36
The glory of the starry night,	341	Two seas, amid the night,	284
The gondola glides,	207	Wake, soldier! wake!	207
The hairst now is owre,	531	Waning life and weary,	250
The hour is come—too soon it came,	233	Wee Jonkydiddles,	446
The knell of night—the chime,	530	Wee Willie Winkie,	335
The laddies plague me for a sang,	414	We love but once; in after life,	368
The lark had left the evening cloud,	69	Were I a doughty cavalier,	243
The last gleam o' sunset in ocean,	176	We sate in a green verandah's shade,	256
The little comer's coming,	246	We were baith neebor bairns,	481
The moon has rowed her in a cloud,	337	Wha is he I hear sae crouse,	315
The morning breaks bonnie o'er mountain,	204	What might be done if men were wise,	385
The morning-star's waning,	369	What soft low sounds are these I hear,	396
The neighbours a' they wonder how,	32	When a' ither bairnies are hushed,	205
The night is mirk, and the wind blaws shill,	164	When autumn comes an' heather bells,	523
The oak is Britain's pride,	328	When autumn has laid her sickle by,	41
There cam a man to our toon-en',	453	When braustin' up against life's tide,	345
There came to the beach a poor exile,	24	When day declining gilds the west,	116
There is a bonnie blushing flower,	292	When evening's lengthened shadows fall,	267
There is a concert in the trees,	332	When I think on the sweet smiles,	34
There is a country gentleman,	335	When I was a miller in Fife,	540
There is a wail in the wind to-night,	432	When Maggy and I were acquaint,	542
There lives a young lassie,	213	When mony a year had come and gane,	406
There's a good time coming, boys,	383	When my flocks upon the heathy hill,	194
There's cauld kail in Aberdeen,	519	When Phoebus bright the azure skies,	513
There's kames o' himmie 'tween my luve's lips,	71	When spring arrayed in flowers, Mary,	210
There's meikle bliss in ae foud kiss,	415	When springtime g'ies the heart a lift,	127
There's na ane cares for me now,	231	When the beech-nuts fast are drappin',	463
There's nae hame like the hame o' youth,	374	When the frost is on the grun',	339
There's the spunkie o' the town,	445	When the lark is in the a.r.,	116
The Rover of Lochryan he's gane,	126	When thou art near me,	537
The spice-tree lives in the garden green,	283	When thy smile was still clouded in gloom,	28
The spring comes linking and jinking,	337	When wearie wi' toil,	173
The sun had slipped ayont the hill,	121	Where did you come from, baby dear?	452
The sun looked through an evening cloud,	41	Where Manor stream rins blithe and clear,	178
The sun rises bright in France,	71	Where the purple heather blooms,	375
The sweets o' the simmer invite us,	33	Why hies yonder wicht,	176
The time I saw thee, Cora, last,	24	Why is my spirit sad?	278
The Torwood Oak! How like a spell,	263	Wi' drums and pipes the clachan rang,	31
The winds were whistling loud and shrill,	368	Witie, come hame,	302
The Woodland Queen in her bower of love,	188	Will ye gang wi' me and fare,	428
They come! the merry summer months,	161	With lofty song we love to cheer,	360
They come, they come, in a glorious march,	483	With the sunshine, and the swallows,	429
They lighted a taper at the dead of night,	27	Would that I were where wildwoods wawe,	194
Think on the time when thy heart,	340	Ye breezes, blaw soft as the eoo o' the dove,	339
Thou dark stream, slow wending,	261	Ye'll a' get a bidding to Sandyford Ha',	290
Thou dark stream, slow wending,	261	Ye Mariners of England!	20
Thou long the wanderer may depart,	440	Yes! the shades we must leave,	29
Thou nameless loveliness, whose mind,	29	Ye who have scorned each other,	385
Thou'r't sair alter'd now, May,	212	Young Randal was a bonnie lad,	242
Thou walk'st in tender light,	237	You've come early to see us this year,	388
Thou' weel I lo'e the budding spring,	337	You've surely heard of famous Neil,	526
Through the wood, through the wood,	271
Thy memory, as a spell,	238
Thy queenly hand, Victoria,	356
