- EDWARD I. part thereof, and has obtained a writ of seisin. Eustace has intimated ——— to the K. that he had living issue by his said wife, 'seen of men 1272-73. 'and baptised,' whereby her lands belong to him for life by the law of England, and has asked remedy. The K. unwilling to injure Eustace, commands the escheator to inquire, and if the facts are so, to give him seisin of all his late wife's lands, and the 'mesne profits,' chiefly as he ought not to suffer damage or loss through Thomas's acting by 'subreption' of the court. Westminster. [Close, 1 Edw. I. m. 10.] and other goods, John Adryan of Winchelsea, at sea near Yarmouth, took from them 56½ sacks of wool, 5½ 'daces' of ox hide, 150 salmon, 200 'bords' of oak, a trussel of deer's hide, and lambs' skins, and much other merchandise, and still detains these at Winchelsea, besides beating and evil entreating them and their servants, so that the lives of some were despaired of. And as Thomas and John have sworn on the Gospels that the wool and others belong to themselves and other merchants of Aberdene, and were shipped there, and that no Fleming or other subject of the Countess of Flanders is concerned in same, the K. commands that they have restitution of

As Thomas and John have sworn that the wool and goods belong to themselves and other merchants of Aberdene, where shipped, and that no Fleming or subject of the Countess of Flanders is concerned therein, the K. commands the bailiffs to restore the goods, to be taken where they will, except to Flanders. Understanding that the lately deceased Robert de Ros son and heir of Robert de Ros of Werk, held the castle and manor of Werk of Robert de Ros son and heir of William de Ros of Werk, by gift and feoffment of Robert de Ros father of the said William and Robert, and it does not appear that he held anything of the K. in capite, whereby the custody of said castle and manor should belong to the K., the K.

 Umfraville imprisoned him in his castle of Hirbotel till he extorted a fine of 100 marks, and after the late K.'s death, and the K.'s peace had been proclaimed while he was yet beyond seas, Gilbert, by his wife Elizabeth, and his men, extorted 10*l.* from the complainant, by threats of burning his house and goods, pulled down his house in Doctrees, and, cutting out the timber, did his will with it, and drove two heifers of Walter's and their sequela, from his common pasture, to his forest of Redesdale, and marked them with his own 'iron brand,' and yet detains them. And since the K. has taken Walter, his men, lands and possessions under his protection, Gilbert so disquiets and afflicts him, that though formerly he could entertain his visitors hospitably, he has now scarcely sufficient for himself and his children.

 justice, commands them to hold an inquiry, and dispose of the com-

Oct. 24. 59. Alexander [III.], K. of Scots to the K. Has received his letter

Nov. 14. 60. Alexander K. of Scots to the K. Earnestly entreats him to show favour to Alexander Steward of Scotland, in the business which the latter's messengers the bearers will declare viva voce; on whose behalf he has already written. Giving such effect to his intervention that the Steward may rejoice thereat. Roxburgh, 14 Nov., 27 of his reign. [Royal Letters, No. 1278.]

EDWARD I. 61. These are the demands of Alexander the Steward of Scotland, ——— to our lord the K. of England by his messengers.

1275. The Steward relates how he bought from 'mi sire' Edward, now Nov. 14. K., the ward of the land of Skipton in Craven, for 1500*l.* sterling, then held by Sir Simon de Montfort, and as Sir Edward wished the Steward to have immediate seisin, he caused him to grant his letter patent, binding himself to pay 500*l.*, but not having [the ward] has not yet paid a penny. Nor could the Steward have seisin, for Earl Simon did not hold the ward for more than a year after the sale, to the Steward's great damage. The Steward came to the country and paid to 'mi sire' Jon le Bretun 1061*l.* 16*s.* sterling; and to a 'vallet' whom Ingeram had, 400 marks to pay merchants at the fair of Lynn, by view of 'misires' Rou Dunyung and Williame de Salynis. Meanwhile he was attorned by 'mi sire' Edward to pay 300 marks to Sir Richard de Bedeford; who lent them to him on condition, that if not paid at a certain day and term, he should lose all he had paid for the ward of Skipton. Having granted his letter to Richard to this effect, 200 marks were duly paid to Richard, but the third 100 could not be, for the Steward's letter had been delivered to 'mi sire' Edward, who did his will with the ward under the above condition, but did not refuse the Steward's messenger, for he was attorned also to pay for 'mi sire' Edward to Benard Nicholas and Arnulph Griffin 66 or 68 'livres,' which money was never paid by the Steward, in misprision by him of 'misire' Edward and the merchants. It must also be remembered how the Steward on his way to England to 'mi sire' Edward, to agree with said merchants for the debt, was robbed between Blye (Blyth) and Tuckisford of nearly 500 marks sterling, and lost all his horses and harness, and was detained by Robert de Wyleby till he got a fine from him. But since this is all passed, the Steward, who has spent and lost much about this ward, humbly prays our Lord the K. for his grace in a ward or marriage to him or any of his children that he be not a loser. 'Kar pleder ne weut, mes le resun hust.' He puts himself in the K.'s grace and asks a written answer by the messenger. Norman French. [Royal Letters, No. 1788.]

Dec. 29. 62. Alexander [III.] K. of Scots to the K. He has received his letter as to collecting the aid for him within his liberty of Tyndalle, but cannot reply thereto plainly without first consulting his magnates.
 Will do so as quickly as possible, and send his answer. Brechyn, 29th December, 27th of his reign. [Royal Letters, No. 1317.]

[1275.] 63. The K. of Scotland's Petitions:—

First. The ward of Sir Henry de Hastings' lands within the liberty of the earldom of Huntingdon, as freely as his predecessors held it by their charters. Let him shew them.

Second. Regarding the [manor?] of Wheteley in Nottingham

EDWARD I. 'the process whereof we deliver to you.' Let him shew the same. . . .

1275. Third. Regarding [100 acres and more?] of his land enclosed in the park of Plumton. . . .

Fourth. Regarding the park of Morton closed by Thomas de Normanville, in circuit about 10 'leucas,' wherein the men of his manors in Cumberland had common with their swine all the year, in wood and plain, or lawns, except in the fence month. Appears to have been enclosed, as the K. had the escapium of the K. of Scotland's animals taken in the lawns.

Fifth. Regarding the 100s. daily which the K. of Scotland is wont to have on all his visits to the K. of England's Court, and stay there. He does not come at the K.'s mandate, but to do his devoir to the K.

In the above petitions the K. of Scotland seeks, with his justice, grace and favour.

He also asks for his men:—

First. That Alexander de Ergadia's vessel, captured with goods at Bristol to the value of 160 marks, be released. Granted, as it seems right.

Second. For a burgess of Lethe in Scotland pointed in 'Le Hulle' for Sir John Cumyn, by John de St Nicholas and Robert de Mikelgate, burgesses of York; who lost thereby 100*l.* sterling. Let him be delivered as seems just.

Third. That the Charter by H. K. of England, of happy memory, to the burgesses of Berwick, be confirmed by the K. The K. will do what is fitting. [Chancery Miscellaneous Portfolios, No. 413.]

Much defaced.

64. [Memorandum regarding the Descendants of Waldeve lord of Allirdale, younger brother of Gospatrick (II.) and Dolfin, and of his nephew William fitz-Duncan earl of Murray.]

Earl Cospatryk, formerly earl of Dunbar in Scotland, had a brother, Dolfin earl of Northumberland, who, both being bastards, had a legitimate brother Waldeve, and a legitimate sister Etheldreda. Waldeve and Etheldreda were of one father and one mother. After Ranulph de Meschinis came to England with William Bastard the Conqueror, that King gave him all the land from the place called Rere Crosse upon Staynumora, as far as the river towards Scotland called Sulewaht [Solway] to the true marches there between England and Scotland. And the said Ranulph was then created Earl of Karliol. Ranulph gained the forsaid Waldeve as an ally on account of the war between the Scots and England, as he was a Scotsman, and gave him for his service the whole Barony of Allerdale, from the place called Wahtelpole as far as Derwent, saving to himself all his venison.

EDWARD I. ¶ The said Waldeve gave to Odard de Logys seneschal of Ranulph ——— de Meschinis, the vavassory of Wygetona with its townships and their 1275. pertinents, for his service, doing to him the service of cornage, ‘forynsec,’ pannage. Odard founded the church of Wygetona in said forest.

¶ Waldeve also gave to Melbeht, his servant who came into the country with him, the whole vill of Bramfield, saving to himself the advowson of the church.

To Waldeve succeeded his son and heir Alan, who was under age and in the ward of K. David of Scotland, who held the land of Cumbria (for there was war between K. Henry, not yet King, nephew of said David, and son of the Empress Matilda, and Stephen the King, uncle of the aforesaid K. Henry), and on obtaining majority obtained all his father’s land in Allerdale.

¶ Alan had a bastard brother on his father’s side, by name Cospatryk, to whom he gave the township of Bolton within the forest, and Bastenthwyte outside the forest, and Hestholm in Derwen-watre.

¶ And the said Alan gave, with the ‘corpse present of his son,’ the Holy Rood of Karliol and the church of Aspatrik, and the service of the ancestors of John de Brayton in the same forest, and the church of Crosseby, and the fourth part of the said vill which Uhtred formerly held ‘in the forest and out forest,’ the church of Hyrby, and the service of Ysac de Yrby’s ancestors in Ysaby.

¶ The said Allan superenfeoffed his knight Utdred son of Lyolf, in the vill of Aylewardby, which Thomas de Louthêr and Peter de Dayncourt now hold.

¶ And William fitz Duncan, formerly earl of Murreve [Moray] nephew of said Alan, begotten of Etheldreda sister of his father Waldeve, succeeded to Alan.

¶ The said William held the whole barony of Allerdale, except Palmcastr’ which is land in the forest at present, on account of the war moved between the K. of Scotland and the said William, who had espoused Alicia de Rumeley daughter of Robert de Rumeley lord of Scyptona, who had formerly espoused the daughter of William de Meschinis lord of Couplande.

¶ The said William begot of his said wife William ‘the Boy of ‘Egermund’ who died in minority; and three daughters, the first of whom, Cecilia, was married, with the honour of Scyptona, to William the Gross earl of Albemarle, by the foresaid Henry, then King of England, being in the K.’s custody as a minor; and the second, Amabillis, was married to Reginald de Lucy with the honour of Egermund, by the K. in her minority; and the third, viz., Alicia de Rumeley, was married to Gilbert Pypard of the K.’s household, with the Honour of Cokermu, by the K. in her minority.

¶ William fitz Duncan’s son thus dying in minority, the three

EDWARD I. daughters were in ward of K. Henry, grandfather of K. Henry [III.] — who now lately was. The eldest, who was married to William the 1275. Gross earl of Albemarle, was succeeded by Hawysia her daughter and heir, to whom William de Fortibus earl of Albemarle succeeded, and to him William who lately was. And to him succeeded Avelyna his daughter and heir, whom the Lord Eadmund, brother of the illustrious K. Edward, espoused. Avelyna [is] dead without an heir.
 The second, Amabyllis, who was married by the K. to Reginald de Lucy, was succeeded by Richard de Lucy, to whom have succeeded Amabillis and Alicia de Lucy. The third was married by the K. to Gilbert Pypard, who died without an heir; and the K. H[enry II.] died, and Richard his son was afterwards created King and went to the Holy Land. And Queen Elyanora his mother married the said Alicia to Robert de Curteney, knight, her 'cognatus,' who held the whole Barony of Allerdale all K. Richard's life, and in K. J[ohn's] time, until he died without an heir.

And it is to be noted that when the war was moved between the King of Scotland and William fitz Duncan (the father of Cecilia, Amabillis, and Alicia), Roger Goky, who was with the K., presented himself and begged from him for his service the land of St Hilda in Ingylwode, which the K. gave him of the heritage of these sisters, and he held it for almost 30 years and more. And at the close of his life he became a 'conversus' of the Abbey of Holm, and before his death they [the monks?] came to K. J[ohn], who granted it to them as the said Roger Goky formerly held it, Robert her husband being alive. So that for the present no right should pass. [Tower Miscellaneous Rolls, No. 429.]

Perhaps a statement by the monks of Holmeoltram, see vol. i., No. 615.

The Bishop of Durham has shewn the K. that though the straight course of the Twede is the March between the kingdoms, and all the land and water on this side thereof is, and has been beyond the memory of man in Norhamschyre, within his kingdom, and the bishop's Liberty, yet the justiciars and bailiffs of the K. of Scotland, with a multitude of the men of Berwyk, have crossed the said river at Twedemuthe, and hold courts and outlawries on land once covered by the sea and waves, as if the same belonged to Scotland. And some of the burghesses of Berewyk lately took a servant of the bishop within his Liberty, and imprisoned him at Berewyk, to the prejudice of the Crown and the bishop.  The sheriff ordered to present him at Newcastle-on-Tyne in the quinzaine of St Hilary. Thomas and Robert also absent and made many defaults. The sheriff ordered to present them ut supra.
- [m. 7.] The Assize inquires whether Matillidis de Multon of Gilles-land disseised David de Torthorald and Cristiana his wife of common pasture in Bramstone, pertaining to their freehold in Calkane and Bramptone. They complain that she disseised them of common pasture in about 1000 acres of brushwood and waste in one place, where they commoned throughout the year with all their avers; and in another place in 100 acres of arable land and meadow where they commoned, after the hay and corn were carried, with all their avers.
 And Matillidis does not come, but one¹ [imperfect].
- Nov. 3. The K. of Scotland's Liberty:—The Assize inquires whether [m. 9.] Alexander K. of Scotland, Richard de Byketone, Roger de Botecumbe, William de Swinborne, John de Swyneborne, William Westmering', Duncan de Marisco, Hamo Culli [and a number of other persons], disseised the Prior of St Mary of Carlisle of his common pasture in Soureby pertaining to his freehold in Seburham, viz., in 340 acres of land, moor and marsh. Alexander K. of Scotland appears by William de Kellawe his bailiff. The others absent, and were not attached, because not found. The Prior appears and retracts, therefore the aforesaid [King] goes sine die and the Prior and his pledges, viz., Robert de Wardwyk and Henry de Timpanren are amerced but pardoned by the Justices.

 a term that has expired, viz., 3 years.
- Nov. 3. Robert de Molecastre was summoned to answer to Alan de [m. 14, Penintone in a plea that he hold the convention between them he had agreed with Robert on Saturday next before the Feast of the Annunciation of the Blessed Mary last, that Robert should deliver to him the manor of Gyffyn in Coningham in Scotland, at the

- EDWARD I. Feast of the Nativity of St John Baptist next following, and at that term would acknowledge coram Rege Scotie that the manor of Giffyn was Alan's right, and also deliver to him a certain charter whereby an ancestor of Alan [Benedict de Penigton] whose heir he is, was enfeoffed in the said manor; and that Alan should infeoff the foresaid (sic) Robert son of the same Robert, or John son of Robert, in 10 marks of land in Gyffin in Scotland, in a certain member thereof called 'Braydestanes'; and if it chanced that all the members of Giffyn which were not in seisin of Alan at the time of contracting said agreement, fell into his hand, then he should enfeoff one of them Robert son of Robert, or John, in 5 marks land, of said manor, to complete to them or either 10*l.* of land; for which 'convention and reconvention' the said Alan granted to Robert all his other lands in Cumberland,¹ to be held for Robert's life, for the true value thereof, to be annually paid to Alan; and if the manor of Giffyn exceeded that of Molecastre in value, that Alan should pay the surplus to Robert for the latter's life, yearly, in the Priory of Carlisle. And to strengthen and ratify these agreements Robert and Alan with one consent granted, that William the son and heir of Alan should, before the said Feast of St John Baptist, espouse Alicia daughter of Benedict, and heir of the said Robert. Whereby he says that as Robert has noways kept the agreement, he is damaged to the extent of 1000*l.*, and produces a writing attesting the said agreement. Robert says that he should not be bound to answer, as Alan by his writ claims that he held a convention made regarding the manor of Molecastre; and in the narrative relates a certain marriage to be contracted between William his son, and the said Alicia daughter of Benedict, 'which is a great matter in itself' and not a pertinent of the manor. And asks judgment on account of the variance of the writ and its narrative.—Judgment [a day given them at Appelbi in 5 weeks after Easter]. [Assize Roll, Cumberland, 6 Edw. I., $\frac{M}{24}$ } 2.]
- Robert farther pled, that as the manor of Gyffin was in the kingdom of Scotland, and not in the K. of England's power, he was not bound to answer to a bargain touching it in this court. [Assize Roll, Cumberland, 6-20 Edw. I., $\frac{M}{24}$ } 3, m. 13.]
- Nov. 6. 134. Richard de Merstone, going by the K.'s leave to Scotland, has a protection for 3 years. Westminster. [Patent, 6 Edw. I. m. 3.]

[m. 1.] The Abbot of Shap (Hepp') summoned to answer to David de Thorthorau and Cristiana his wife, in a plea to pay them 20 marks in arrear of an annual rent of 10 marks. The plaintiffs say that one Peter formerly Abbot of Shap, and the convent, bound themselves and their successors to pay to one William de Kirketone the first husband of Cristiana, and his heirs, 10 marks yearly at Easter and Martinmas in winter, of which William, and after him John his son and heir, were seised; and the latter assigned it to Cristiana for her life, and she, and David, after he married her, were in seisin. They have not received it for 2 years past, and are damaged to the extent of 100*l.*

In the Roll of John de Vaux and others, for the following year, it is added that the Abbot appeared and acknowledged the debt. The justices tax the plaintiffs' damages at 6 marks.

- [m. 11.] An assize inquires who last presented to the church of Bolton in Allerdale, the advowson of which Robert de Brus and Cristiana his wife claim versus Geoffry de Moubray. Adam de Gesemue, Cristiana's first husband, presented one John de Muppellers, his clerk, in the late K. Henry's time, who was instituted, and died parson. On Adam's death, the advowson was assigned to Cristiana in dower. Geoffry appears, and they agree by leave, viz., Robert and Cristiana acknowledge the advowson to be his, and he grants that they hold it for Cristiana's life. The keeper of the spirituality of the Bishopric of Carlisle is commanded to admit a fit parson on their presentation.

Attested that they were elsewhere taken by John de Swyneburne, formerly bailiff of the K. of Scotland's liberty of Penrith, and imprisoned. He afterwards took from them 8 marks of fine. The Sheriff to present said John. He also took from one Maurice of Penrith, who broke into Walter of Hoton's chest, and carried off 10 marks, 20s. for peace. Maurice dwells at Penreth. The Sheriff to take him.
- [m. 22, dorso.] ¶ Concerning treasure-trove:—They say one Adam the Hoer found 21 silver pennies of old money unknown in the fields of Soureby, within the K. of Scotland's liberty, which were lately delivered to the justices for their lord the K.; whereon the Steward of Scotland claimed the treasure for his lord's use under K. Henry's charter. To be spoken about.

She and her two pledges, men of Erthington, are in amercement. Alan appears and produces a charter of K. Henry, pardoning him and one John Arme-strang, now dead, for said murder. Proclamation being solemnly made and none appearing, Alan has firm peace. Gilbert and Hugh absent and were not attached. Nicholas and John are dead, so no outlawry against them.

Aldenestone. Memorandum:—on inspecting the rolls of Roger de Turkelby and other justices itinerant in the county 31 Hen. III., it was found that Sir Richard de Levingtone, and William de [m. 27.] Dakre, then sheriff of Cumberland, were sent by them to Aldenstone to hear and determine pleas of the Crown according to the customs of the mine there, and the old liberties of the miners; and as no mention was made of said mine before the present justices, inquisition was made by them before the knights, stewards of ragnates, and suitors of the county now assembled, how, when, and by whom,

EDWARD I. the said mine was alienated from the King of England. Who say ——— on oath that this was done by one Ralph de Levingtone, who held the 1278-79. manor of Aldenestone in farm from one Nicholas de Veteripont, Nov. 3- who, when Ralph's lease ended, and the manor was again in his own Jan. 16. seisin, and likewise Robert de Veteripont, his son, the present owner, have hitherto continued the said alienation, and the latter permitted the King of Scotland's coroner of Tindale to act, whereas the sergeant of the mine, on behalf of the K. of England, should have acted as coroner by law, as more fully shewn in the Crown pleas of the last iter. They say also that very many evil-doers of Cumberland and elsewhere are harboured there. And when the said Robert learned that the justices were on their way to these parts, he removed all the evil-doers so resetted, especially one John son of Sireda de Bosco who killed Adam, son of Adam son of Martin of Laysingby. And as Robert does not appear to answer to the K., it was decided that the mine and liberty should be taken in the K.'s hand. The justices also order that Sir Hugh de Muleton of Hof, and Robert de Wardewik should be sent there to hear and determine Crown pleas of the mine that had emerged since the last justice eyre. Who, making oath were sent to Aldenestone on Monday next after the Feast of St Hilary last to try the same. And in the 5th week after Easter, before the justices at Appelby, Robert came and acknowledged that the mine belonged to the K. of England, and he claimed nothing therein.
 Whereon the K. commanded that the record and process should be sent to him in the octaves of Trinity, and Robert be then attached by the sheriff to answer for his trespass. Robert and the sheriff being accordingly present, Robert was delivered by the justices to the sheriff in form. The justices wishing further information, two of their number taking with them the Sheriffs of Cumberland and Westmoreland, and a quorum of knights and good men of these counties, made stricter inquiry on Robert de Veteripont's right, and also the true bounds between Aldenestone and Tyndale, which they viewed and considered by eye-witness in respect that certain bailiffs of the King of Scotland of Tyndale came before them at Carlisle and said that Aldenestone was within the said King's liberty of Tyndale; by which inquisition it was found that the ancestors of Nicholas and Robert had no ingress to Aldenestone by any charter of the King of Scotland's ancestors, as they claimed; but that one Ivo de Veteripont who kept the mine of—[Here the narrative ends, the next membrane

 K.'s bailiffs in the City of Carlisle taking custom at Alyn, as heretofore. Also that Matillidis de Vaus prevents them taking custom

EDWARD I. at Kingesbrugge as wont. Also that Baldewin Wake prevents them ——— taking custom in his market of Lydel, as wont. Also he and his 1278-79. bailiffs refuse leave to the merchants of Carlisle to pass with their

 Jan. 16. they pay toll both going and returning; to the city's damage. The sheriff to present the Countess and Baldwin.

¶ Cloths sold contra assisam. [Inter alios] Henry Irmgrey, and Alan de Penytone, for so doing, are in amercement.

Pleas of the Crown from the corpus Comitatus. The jury present that the barony of Dalston and advowson of the church was an escheat to the K. by one Hervic fitz Maurin, convicted of felony. The late K. Henry gave it to Walter Mauclerk, bishop of Carlisle, 43 years ago. The Bishop holds a certain land near Dalston, viz., Cumberlande and Caldecot, but whether it is of the barony of Dalston, or demesne of Carlisle Castle, they know not. As the see is vacant, and the barony in the King's hand, to be spoken about.

[m. 32.] ¶ The jury say that the manors of Penreth, Soureby, Langwatheby, Salkeld, Scotteby, and Karltone were in the late K. Henry's hands as a pertinent of his castle of Carlisle, and the King of Scots now holds them by gift of the late K.; and his father held 40 years past as they believe. They say that Little Salkeld was demesne of K. Richard, who gave the vill to one Adam le Sanser, to be held by service of 6 marks yearly. And the late K. Henry gave that service to one Walter bishop of Carlisle, who afterwards with the K.'s consent enfeoffed the Prior and convent of the Blessed Mary of Carlisle therein; and the Prior has now proffered a charter attesting this. They say also that the isle of Holm Coltram was the demesne of K. Henry senior, who founded that Abbey. The Abbot of Holm Coltram proffers that K.'s charter to this effect. He has also confirmations by Kings Richard, John, and Henry the K.'s father. That the site of the Priory of Carlisle was the demesne of K. Henry senior, who founded the same in pure almoigne there now 180 years ago, as more fully in his charter. That the vill of Newton Renny was the K.'s ancient demesne, and one Akena, widow of William de Renny, holds five parts of it as dower, and Robert Burnelle holds the sixth part of the K. in capite, by the service of finding an esquire in the K.'s army of Scotland, with a hawberk and helmet at his own charges for 40 days, for the whole tenement; and the jury being asked who are William de Renny's heirs, do not know.

¶ Concerning fees:—They say that Thomas de Multone of Egermund holds that manor with the barony of Coupelaund of the K. as one fee. The Countess of Albemarle holds the manor of Cokermouth in dower of the K. through the Earl of Albemarle's death. Alicia de Lucy holds the moiety of that manor in capite of the K. by homage and service. The Countess aforesaid holds in dower the manor of Pabecastre with the moiety of the barony of Allerdale, EDWARD I. through the Earl's death, by cornage. Matillidis de Vaus holds the manor of Erthingtone with the barony of Gilleslaunde of the K. as a fee of two knights. Baldwin Wake holds the manor and barony of Lydel of the K. by cornage. The Bishop of Carlisle holds the manor and barony of Liustoke in almoigne. Geoffrey de Tyllol holds the manor of Scaleby and the barony of Houghton of the K. by cornage. Thomas de Moltone of Burgh holds the manors of Burgh, Ayketone, Kirkeosewalde and the barony of Burgh of the K. by cornage. William son of Thomas de Creystoke holds the manor and barony of Creystoke of the K. by cornage. Walter de Wygetone holds the manors of Melmorby, Blachale, and Heyntone, with the barony of Melmorby, of the K. by cornage. William Lokard, Walter de Twynham, Walter de Corry, Patrick de Suthayk, Patrick Trump of Karrik, [] wife of Roland de Karrik, and Richard de Kirkebride, hold the barony of Levingtone of the K. by cornage. Richard de Kirkebride is under age, and should be in the K.'s custody; and his land is worth 12*l.* 16*s.* 9*d.* yearly. [Walter de Wygetone here shows his title to the heir's ward from Thomas de Normanville, the K.'s seneschal, through one Roger Mynot; and that he had given the heir in marriage by the K.'s leave; and is ordered by the Court to verify this by the quinzaine of Hilary.]

Robert de Brus and Cristiana his wife hold the manors of Gamelesby and Glassanby of the K. by cornage.

§ Suits withdrawn. These villis were wont to make suit at the county, which has been withdrawn from the time of K. John, by John de Ireby who was of his retinue; and Robert de Brus and Cristiana his wife now hold. To be spoken about.

§ Those who claim returns, &c., besides the K. :—Thomas de Moltone, lord of Egremund within Couplaunde, has return of writs, and holds pleas de namio vetito and takes wreck of sea everywhere in his lands, and has gallows and takes fines of assize of bread, ' &c,' and he and his ancestors have so had it from the Conquest, ' &c.'

[n. 32,
dorso.]

§ The K. of Scotland claims to have return of writs, and holds pleas de namio vetito and has gallows in his lands, and takes fines of assize of bread and beer; by the late K. Henry's charter. They say also that all holding of the said K. of Scotland by barony, have gallows in their lands, except Geoffrey Tyllol; from what time they know not.

§ They present that the K. of Scotland's bailiffs of Penrith and elsewhere in Cumberland, use the said king's liberties illegally, each bailiff in any of his manors pouding whoever of the country he pleases for the debt of any complainant, though not principal debtor nor pledge; and this they do both to strangers as well as those who hold of said king. This liberty to be taken in the K.'s hand. And if a stranger is attached at the King of Scotland's court for any delict done outside of his liberty, and the lord of such person attends to

§ The jury present that the King of Scotland's bailiffs will not answer before the justices appointed to hold and decide assizes of novel disseisin and other trespasses, but only before the K.'s justices for all pleas, and thus they hinder justice, and subvert the royal authority. To be spoken of.

§ The jurors of Lyth and Eskedale, and of Cumb', and Allerdale, make a presentment regarding the great destruction in the waters of Edene and Esk and others in the county, of salmon coming up to spawu, and likewise of the young fry going down to the sea. Therefore the whole county, knights and freeholders, unanimously determined that from Michaelmas to St Andrew's day, no net shall be drawn or placed at weirs, pools, or mills, or mill pools, and that none fish in the above or any other waters in the county, with nets 'sterkilds,' or other engine, within said close time; or without engine. Also that from the feast of the apostles Philip and James till the Nativity of St John Baptist, no net or 'wile' or 'borache' shall be placed at pools or mills or mill pools in said waters, nor any net placed at weirs, save by the conservators hereafter appointed, and the meshes shall be wide enough to let the salmon fry through, viz., of four thumbs' length. It is provided also that so often as any fisher or miller, or other person, infringes this provision and is convicted, he shall be sent to the K.'s prison and not repledged, unless by consent of the conservators.

The jurors likewise attest that Thomas de Moltone of Gilleslaunde, as his ancestors have done from time immemorial, takes fines from all illegal nets in the water of Edene at a place called Pell . . . urg, by view of knights and others appointed to the custody of the waters; but if the K.'s bailiffs have arrived, then the judgments pertain to the K. for that turn. To be inquired into.

It is also provided that all 'boraches' at mills on said waters shall henceforth be removed, under forfeiture to the K. of 40s. by him whose they are, for each conviction. And there should be no more in these waters than three small nets by custom, the meshes whereof, with a knot, should be of three thumbs' length, for catching lampreys; and none should fish with these except from the Feast of St Andrew till the quinzaine next before the Feast of St John Baptist. The K., in his castle of Carlisle, shall have one; the citizens of Carlisle another in their pool at the garden leased to the city for 15*l.*, in which none shall fish without leave of the citizens; and if more nets are found, they may be put down by the conservators. The jurors present, and the whole county complains, that the Prior of St Bega (St Bees) has

EDWARD I. two engines called 'cupe' for catching salmon in his pool of Stayn— burn, where in times past he had but one; and the other was set up 1278-79. six years ago, without warrant and after the last justice eyre. There-

 Jan. 16. 'cupa' at sight of the jury, at the Prior's expense. It is ordered that in each pool of the Edene, Esk, and Derwent, and other waters where salmon may be taken, in mid-stream, by old custom, there shall be a pass wide enough for a sow with her five pigs; and as the following are unduly narrowed, viz., at Cokermouth, Cambertone, Staynburne, and Wyrkingtone, these openings shall be so enlarged at view of the jury, at the cost of those who contracted them. These are the conservators chosen by consent of the whole county for said waters, viz., Robert de Quyterig, Walter de Bamptone, Richard de Stokes, Bertin de Turstanfeld, William de Uthardesby, Adam de Tynemuthe, Adam de Thoresby, John son of Elyas, Henry de Sabluns, Robert de Etardeby, Richard Soor, Adam Rud of Brins-cayth; who shall all make oath before the justices faithfully to discharge their office as above. And if any one die, or become infirm, or unfit for office, the others shall elect another who shall make oath before the Sheriff in his room. The nets and engines found on the waters contrary to the above provisions shall be burned in presence of the conservators. These provisions shall endure in perpetuum to the good of the whole county and others adjacent.

[m. 33.] ¶ They say that William de Boyville, sub-escheator of Master Robert de Clifford, took 5 marks from the executors of Eustace de Balliol, for having administration; and Henry his clerk took a mark from them; and likewise at Kirkosewald 9 bushels of wheat.

¶ And William de Boyville took from some of the heirs of Helewisa de Balliol 6 marks to give them a better part [of the heritage]; and took 100s. from Thomas de Multone to delay making the inquisition which the heirs of Eustace de Balliol had. To be spoken of.

¶ They say that [among others] John de Swynburne the sheriff, the K. of Scotland's bailiffs, those of the Baron of Kreystok, William Locard, Robert de Brus, Geoffry de Muntbray, Baldwin Wake, Geoffry Tyllol, Walter de Carrik, and David de Torthorald, have amerced freemen in their lords' courts without their peers and contrary to statute. All in amercement.

[m. 33, dorso.] Kirkosewald:—The jury present that one John del Wod who slew a man, was lodged in the prison of Laysingby; and by night, persons unknown from Scotland, rescued him, wounding his keepers, and fled to Scotland. The township followed them with 'hue and cry,' but could not take them. And after the coroner had held an inquisition, Richard de Creppinges held another by ignorant persons, and made them represent as he pleased, in fraud of the vill of EDWARD I. Laysingeby, taxing them to make a fine of 15 marks with him. To be seen about. Assize Roll (Cumberland), 6-20 Edw. I. $\frac{M}{1} \frac{1}{24}$ 3.]

1278-79. 147. Pleas at Aldenestone before Hugh de Muletone and Robert de Jan. 16. Wardewyk, sent there by John de Vaux and the other justices itinerant at Carlisle, on Monday next after the Feast of St Hilary, 7th of the K.'s reign.

Simon son of Adam, bailiff, juror. Electors, Walter del Crag, Robert de Blagate, jurors [and 10 other jurors].

[Extracts.]

[m. 34.] Nicholas Prest crossing Tyne water at Gerardesgyle on a feeble horse, fell off, and was drowned. Simon del Bank, first finder, is dead. No one suspected. Judgment, misadventure. Value of the horse 5s., which John de Cokedene, formerly bailiff of the king of Scotland's liberty, received, who is dead, and has no heir nor executors, in the K. of England's power. Therefore from the deodand nihil. And Gilbert de Grendone deceased, the King of Scotland's coroner in Tyndale, usurped that office against the liberty of the K.'s miners of Aldenestone, for it pertains to the sergeant of the mine by the ancient miners' liberties. To be spoken of.

¶ William Hyne, driving a stob in the ground to make a hedge in Gerardesgyle, struck it with a mallet which slipped from his hands and fell on the head of one Elewald, who died thereof on the third day after. Misadventure. Value of the mallet $\frac{1}{2}d$. The King of Scotland's bailiffs sent one Odard de Rydeley, his coroner of Tyndale (since dead), to view Elewald's body in prejudice of the miners' liberty. To be spoken of.

¶ They present that Ralph de Levingtone, deceased, while he held Aldenestone moor in farm from Nicholas de Veteripont, removed the K.'s gallows in Aldenestone mine from a place called Arnesethou to a place called Bales. And Robert de Veteripont, son and heir of Nicholas, does justice there on robbers condemned in his court of Aldenestone, contrary to the liberty of the mine, by what warrant is unknown. To be spoken of.

¶ The jury [after stating that Robert and his father Nicholas had received and not accounted for the goods and chattels of certain outlaws and robbers hanged and beheaded; and that they had appropriated free warren and chace within the mine, by what warrant was not known] present, that Robert had closed a road leading from Aldenestone to Gossipesgate, where horse and footmen were wont to pass without hindrance, to the hurt of the whole mine. He is in amereement. The road is ordered to be thrown open at Robert's cost at view of the jury.

¶ They present that Robert, Laurence, and Alan de Veteripont [and others] were absent primo die. Therefore in amereement.

¶ That Robert 'resetted' one John de Bosco, a fugitive from Cum-

EDWARD I. berland, before the justices' arrival. Therefore John to be tried, and put in the 'exigent' for the county. That Robert resetted no other fugitive or evil-doer.

1278-79.

Jan. 16.

¶ John Baret, taken on suspicion of burglary of the house of Agnes widow of John son of Henry, and stealing the crop of Laurence de Veteripont, and robbing a woman unknown, at Crosclin, and Robert of Naterys, taken on suspicion of stealing a cow of Nicholas de Veteripont, came and placed themselves on 12 jurors of the mine, and were acquitted.

¶ John, son of Aldericha, complains that William de Belingham, the King of Scotland's bailiff, imprisoned him for 40 days at Werk till he got a ransom of 20s. from him, and asks amends. William defends, and is acquitted by 12 jurors of the mine. John amerced for a false claim. The jurors say that Robert de Veteripont sent him to prison at Werk, till he paid 20s., because he said he was the K. of England's man. Therefore a trial as to Robert.

¶ The Prior of Hexham now has the advowson of the church of Aldenestone by gift of Ivo de Veteripont. It should be in the K. of England's gift. To be spoken of.

¶ They present that the K. should receive each ninth 'disc' dug by the miners. And each 'disc' should contain as much ore as a man can lift from the ground. And as to the remaining 8 'discs,' the K. should have the 15th penny of all the ore sold. The K. shall find at his expense for said miners, a certain man called 'Drivere' who knows how to separate silver from lead. The jury, being asked the annual value of the mine, say they cannot know till it is working, and as they shall find the ore good. And say that there is ore enough to last till the end of time. That Ralf de Levingtone, the lessee of Aldenestone, first hindered them mining; and afterwards they began in the time of Nicholas de Veteripont, who in like manner hindered them. [Assize Roll (Cumberland), 6-20 Edw. I. $\frac{M}{24}$ } 3.]

Jan. 20. 148. Pleas of juries and assizes taken before John de Vaux [and four others], justices itinerant at Newcastle-upon-Tyne, in the octaves of St Hilary anno 7mo.

[Extracts.]

[m. 4.] ¶ The Assize inquires whether William Comyn of Kilbride constructed a pool in Neweham near Prestone to the hurt of William de Mydeltone's freehold in Prestone, whereby the water flooded on his meadow and drowned about an acre and a half. William Comyn absent. Amerced, and the assize goes by default. The jury find for the plaintiff. The court orders the pool to be levelled at the defendant's cost, and view of the jury. Damages 2s.

[m. 6, dorso.] ¶ John de Leuerhilde appears versus William Comyn and John de Graham, in a plea that they assaulted him at Jedeworthe, beat, EDWARD I. wounded, and otherwise injured him. They and their pledges are absent and make default. The sheriff commanded to distrain and present them at York in the octaves of Trinity.

1278-79.

Jan. 20. The township of Felton came by 12 [jurors].

[m. 11.] ¶ Concerning ladies:—they say that Alicia de Balliol is in the K.'s gift. She is not yet married. They do not answer to the 'capitula' except as above.

[m. 11, The township of Alnewik came by 12 [jurors].

dorso.]

¶ Simon of Scotland, imprisoned at Alnewik for stealing a work-horse, by night broke prison, slew Robert the jailor of the castle and Andrew the thrasher there, took the keys of the castle gate, and opening it, fled to the church of Alnewik, acknowledged his deed and abjured the kingdom before the coroner. The jurors attest that the castle is John de Vescy's. Therefore a trial for the escape against John. Simon's chattels 14*d.*; the sheriff to answer. The jurors in amercement for concealing part of them. *John de Vescy fined 8*l.* for escape (m. 19, dorso).*

The township of Morpathe on behalf of the county citra Coket came by 12 [jurors].

¶ A man unknown was housed at Morpathe with Geoffry and William the mercers of Scotland. The stranger rose through the night and stole their goods to the value of 30*s.*, and instantly fled to Cotinwode, followed by William, who slew him in his flight. Both withdrew themselves and are not miscredited. They may return if they will, but their chattels are confiscated for flight. They have none.

The township of Corebridge came by 12 [jurors].

¶ Richard, son of Richard the smith, killed David de Graham in the town of Corebridge, and fled to the church of St Andrew, acknowledged the deed, and abjured the realm before the coroner. His chattels 11*s.* 6½*d.* The town of Corebridge in amercement for not taking him.

[m. 12.] ¶ The jury present that the heirs of Muschampe hold their barony by service of four knights, and making suit to the county at Newcastle. Robert de Ros of Helmeleye holds the barony of Werk by service of a knight's fee and suit as above. Earl Patrick holds his serjeanty in Northumberland by being 'in-borwe et ut-borewe ad merk et mere,' between the kingdoms, paying at the exchequer of Newcastle 30*s.* and suit as above.

[m. 13.] ¶ The county records that the Prior of Tynemue, the Archbishop of York, Gilbert de Umfraville, the King of Scotland, the Bishop of Durham, ought to receive the 'capitula' of the coroner from the justices sent here; and according to these to hold pleas in their liberties; whereon the bailiffs of the Prior, the Archbishop, Gilbert and the K. of Scotland came and asked the 'capitula,' which were delivered to them.

EDWARD I. The part of the county on the north beyond the water of Coket came by 12 [jurors].

1278-79. ¶ Alicia, widow of Robert de Coupelande, who appeals in the county Gervase Avenel, John his son, Gervase his brother, and others, of rape and breaking the K.'s peace, is absent, and only sued at three courts. Let her be taken; and her two pledges are in amercement. John de Brankistone only appeared, who defended and was acquitted. The other defenders are in amercement.

[m. 14.] ¶ Concerning defaults:—They say that Edmund the K.'s brother, John de Vesey, William Comyn of Kilbride, Thomas de Graham, William de Colville, William de Somerville [and others] were absent primo die. Therefore in amercement.

¶ They present,—that whereas the mid-stream of Twede should be the true boundary between the realms of England and Scotland, the Berwick burgesses appropriate the whole water, and in netting claim the entire solum up to high tide mark, and attachments of water should be made by the Bishop of Durham's bailiffs, or those of the K., sede vacante.

[m. 15, dorso.] ¶ Dyonisia de Bechefed complains that Roger de Inhou, William de Swethoppe, John his brother, Walter de Swethoppe, and others, when she was on the moor of Mildeburne on Monday next before the Feast of St Bartholomew, in the 56th year of K. H[enry], on the royal way there near Opintele bridge, instigated by the said Walter de Swethoppe, carried her off vi et armis to the liberty of Redisdale, to a place called Ilishache, where Walter was seneschal, where they kept her that night, to compel her to take Richard his son for her husband, and threatening, unless she consented, to carry her off to Scotland for ever. And as she utterly refused, they carried her off to Gedeworth in Scotland, and detained her there for a day and night, till she was rescued by Master John de Pamplingham her uncle, and other friends. But she dared not return to England for fear of Roger and the others, until she and her friends agreed with one William son of Ralph, chief forester of Redesdale, for 10*l.*, to conduct her safely through his lord's territory to England. When they had reached Hyrdbotil, Walter de Swethoppe caused them to be attached by the constable of the castle, to find two pledges to answer in the court of Hyrdbotil why she had entered his lord's liberty vi et armis in contempt. And as she did not appear there to answer to the trespass, her pledges were amerced in 10*l.*, which she paid. She claims damages of 200*l.*

The defendants plead that they should not answer, as she appealed them of a felony in the county for said trespass, of which they were acquitted; and being asked if they had anything to say to quash the present accusation? said No, but referred to the records, where it appeared that she appealed them of an almost similar trespass, on Sunday next after the Assumption of the Blessed Mary, place and year aforesaid, when they were accused of robbing her of a horse, a

EDWARD I. saddle, a robe of 'bleuetto,' value 40s.; but she deserted the appeal — before the justices, when solemnly called, wherefore that appeal is 1278-79. dismissed, and she and her pledges in amercement. In the present Jan. 20. case, the Court decides that Roger and the others except Walter, are convicted as without defence and are sent to gaol. And Dyonisia recovers damages taxed at []. The aforesaid Walter being asked for his defence, put himself on the country.

A jury from both sides of Coket, find that when Dyonisia was returning from Newcastle where she had been in a plea before Master Roger de Seton, the aforesaid parties met her and her uncle Master John Pampisham on Mildeburne moss, and vi et armis abducted her at Illesale, in the liberty of Redesdale, and carried her to Gedeworthe to compel her to marry Richard, till she was rescued by her friends.
 That after her abduction her said uncle went to Walter de Swethoppe and told him what had happened, asking amends. And he disavowed the trespass and said he would see amends made, if shewn how. Wherefore the jury acquit him of instigation or counsel. As to his attaching her at Hyrbotil, and the loss of the 10*l.*, they find that she was rescued at Gedeworthe in Scotland, and being under the K. of Scotland's peace, appealed the above Roger and others in his court, by judgment of which they were acquitted. But Walter for attaching her and taking the 10*l.* is committed to gaol, and she recovers damages taxed at [].

[Here the record ends, but in the duplicate roll of John de Metyngham, it appears that the defendants made a fine of 20 marks for the plaintiff's damages, and for the trespass 100s.]

[m. 16.] ¶ Concerning ladies:—They say that [among others] Agnes de Vesey, the two daughters of Thomas de Pontechope, and Margaret widow of Robert de Ros, are in the K.'s gift, and not yet married; except one of the heirs of Thomas de Pontechope, whom Eustace de Gurlay married without leave of Roger de Coyners, her guardian on the K.'s behalf. Alienora de Balliol is marriageable, and her lands are worth 100 marks yearly. And Isabella de Merley is married, by what warrant is unknown. The sheriff ordered to present her; her land is worth 100*l.* yearly.

¶ Purprestures. Three carucates of land in England were occupied in the time of William, King of Scotland, grandfather of Alexander now King, near Carham, by Bernard de Haudene and Aymer his son, which should belong to the Prior of Kirkeham by grant of Walter le Schek [Espec?], Robert de Ros's ancestor. It is worth 20s. yearly.
 The K. can claim nothing there but superiority. They say that half of same was occupied by Bernard and Aymer from the coronation of K. Henry, the K.'s father.

¶ Defaults:—William de Soules [among others] absent primo die, in amercement.

¶ Of foes:—Gilbert de Umfraville holds the barony of Prodou

EDWARD I. of the K. in capite by service of $9\frac{1}{4}$ knights' fees. Robert de ——— Somerville holds the barony of Merley of the K. in capite by service 1278-79. of 4 knights' fees.

Jan. 20. ¶ Regarding rights claimed. They say that Gilbert de Umfraville [m. 16, claims to have return of writs, and holds pleas de namio vetito, and dorso.] has gallows, and assize of bread and beer, and other pertinents of the Crown, but cannot give life and limb; by what warrant or from what time they know not. That the King of Scotland holds North Tindale as a liberty of the K., and his writ runs there, and he has gallows and assize of bread and beer, and holds pleas de namio vetito, and has all things pertaining to the Crown; by what warrant or from what time, they know not.

Gilbert de Umfraville earl of Angus, indicted elsewhere before Geoffry de Agylum and Philip de Wileby on these charges—(1) setting up warren at Babingetone without warrant; (2) attracting to his liberty of Redesdale pleas of the Crown from Coket moor; (3) resetting in his said liberty one John son of William, an outlaw in Hexham liberty; also a notorious robber, one Walter Denyas, with his fellows, in his castle of Prudhoe and at Hyrbotel, and giving him letters of conduct and protection, and appointing one Alexander of Kersterne his conductor, afterwards beheaded in Walter's company, and receiving 40*l.* from said Walter for said reset and safe conduct; (4) and of sending one Simon Smert and one Benedict Gley to Simondistede outside of his own liberty, to behead one Thomas of Hilon, an approver who had escaped from his prison, and whose head was brought back to Hyrdebotil, and there hung on the earl's gallows, to the prejudice of the K.'s dignity; (5) and delivering his own gaol without return of the K.'s writ; (6) and setting up a new sheriff's turn within his liberty of Redesdale, contrary to old custom; (7) and of taking one Hugh of Raperslawe, the K.'s bailiff, and imprisoning him, by Stephen Pykard, his knight, because he had entered his said liberty to give Bernard de Brus seisin of some land under the K.'s writ; (8) and for having given life and limb to a woman convicted of larceny, and to one William of Inhou a robber; (9) and for having de novo taken 'Thourtol' within his liberty from the K.'s men; (10) and for taking redemption of larceny, viz., from one Simon of Crokesdale, 40 marks—and 12 marks from one Ranulph, the nephew of the vicar of Alnetone, and Roger vicar of same vill, who were taken in his liberty on suspicion of larceny; who placed themselves on the country, but were released by him before the verdict of the jury.

Gilbert appears and denies all charges. (1) As to the warren—Roger Bertram acquired it from the K., then granted the manor to William de Swineburne from whom he [Gilbert] acquired it; (3) as to reset of John son of William, outlawed, he knows no such person in his liberty nor retains any felon there; (4) as to the beheading of Thomas of Holin, he says he was neither followed nor beheaded by EDWARD I. him or his men ; (5) as to the gaol delivery, he says that all his ancestors had such right without the K.'s writ, as the liberty is near the 1278-79. Scottish march ; (6) he set up no 'turn' within his liberty ; if there Jan. 20. was any such, he renounces it for himself and his heirs in perpetuum ;

 (7) he never imprisoned Hugh of Raperislawe ; (8) nor gave life and limb to any felon ; (9) as to toll—all his ancestors from time immemorial have taken such at their markets of Hirdbotel and Illesdone, and so does he, and nowhere else, saving that he takes 'transversum' from Scots men at Illeshawe, but not from English men ; (10) as to Simon of Krokedale, he was acquitted by a jury and died at the K.'s peace ; as to Roben of Stanhus, he was indicted and arrested in his liberty for simple larceny, and he let him go on pledges till his gaol delivery ; and as he escaped, he took 12 marks from his pledges ; as to Ranulph the vicar of Alnetone's nephew, he trespassed in his forest and was attached at his court, and not appearing, his bailiffs took money from his pledges. And as he is not culpable of the trespasses charged, he places himself on the country, saving to himself benefit from the time of K. H[enry], when these things were done.

A jury from both sides of Coket, both of those who were jurors before the aforesaid G[eoffry] and P[hilip], and of those now chosen for the Crown, say on oath that the Earl is not guilty, and therefore he is acquitted.

[m. 17.] The burgh of Newcastle-on-Tyne came by 12 [jurors].

David of Norberwick, John of Lambatres, Thomas his brother, withdrew themselves for the burglary of Thomas Abeloc's house. Of bad repute. Exigent and outlawry. No chattels. Andrew Clere of Scotland, and Nicholas his companion, slew Roger of Goseford in the Pilgrim's Street, in the burgh, and fled. Of evil repute. Exigent and outlawry. No chattels. The burgh in amercement for not taking them.

[m. 17, Beatrix of Quitefeld appeals in the county Thomas of dorso.] Wytewel of Newcastle, for sending Alan Leuedyman, John of Aberutstonn, Brun Aleyn, Roger the parson of Quytefeld, Richard Faceben, and Peter the groom of Roger, to rob her house at Quytefeld, of goods to the value of 100 marks. She comes and withdraws. Therefore is sent to gaol, and her pledges, Robert of Midford and Haulin of Newcastle, in amercement. Thomas is acquitted. The jurors attest that the trespass alleged was done in Tyndale in the kingdom of Scotland out of the kingdom of England, and the truth cannot be inquired into here. [Assize Roll (Northumberland), 7 Edw. I. $\frac{M}{4}$ } 3.]

149. Pleas of juries and assizes held before John de Vaux [and four others], justices itinerant at Newcastle-on-Tyne, in the octaves of Hilary, 7th of K. Edward.

1278-1279 Alexander de Bonkyll, Robert of Botland, Richard Ker, Gilbert of Jan. 20. Liddesdale [and eight others], were attached to answer to John de EDWARD I. Herthwaytone, in a plea, why they, with Cristiana wife of said Alexander, Thomas son of Adam of Lilleburne, and Philip le Keu, when 1278-79. the said John had taken Alexander's avers trespassing at Fenewicke, and wished to 'impark' them according to law, vi et armis rescued them and beat and injured John's men in charge, to his damage of 20*l.* John had found the beasts feeding in his meadow not yet mowed on All Saints' day. Alexander and Robert of Botlande are acquitted as not present.

[m. 1,

Richard Ker and the rest say that the custom of the country is after the ninth hour of day on All Saints' day, it is an open time, and lawful for anyone to feed his avers in unfenced meadows, and they came after that hour and fed the avers along with those of John then in the meadow. John says they came before the said hour.

The jury find that the said Richard and others, except one, forcibly rescued the avers, and beat and evil-entreated one John Horn, and one Wytyng Godessun, John's men, and also that the meadow is his separable pasture, and not common. They confine Richard and the others, and assess his damages at 2*s.* The defendants afterwards make a fine with him for 20*s.* by pledge of said Alexander.

Who say that John Byset, son and heir of the late John Byset, held in capite of the heritage of Richard de Burgo son and heir of Walter de Burgo in Ireland, 2 carucates of land in Dronach worth 6*l.*, also a carucate in the vill of the Three Fountains, worth 4 marks; 40 acres in the Milltown, worth 17*s.* 9½*d.*; 100 acres in Haket's vill, worth 27*s.* 5*d.*; 2 carucates and 40 acres in Carcastel, worth 4*l.* 9*s.* 4*d.*; from 80 acres in Carkemechan, held by Elyas de Sandal in fee, 17*l.* 0*s.* 9¾*d.*; 2 carucates in the vill of Glenharm, worth 6 marks; the meadow is worth 2*s.*, and the orchard, 2*s.*; the fishery, 6*s.* 8*d.*; the vegetable garden, 8*d.*; the rent of hens and wood is worth 6*s.* 8*d.* Also the prises of beer, pleas and profits of court, are worth 40*s.* Two parts of the mill of Dronache are worth 26 crannocs of flour and 10 of malt. Two parts of the mill of Carcastel are worth 20 crannocs of flour. Two parts of the mill of Glenharm are worth 12 crannocs of flour. 1279. that his nearest heirs are William de Fenton and Cecilia his wife, Aug. 10. Andrew de Bosco and Elizabeth his wife, and David de Graham and Muriel his wife; those ladies being his daughters and of age. That John Byset his father died last vest and seised in the said lands and tenements; that on the death of John the son, they came into the K.'s hands, and thereafter into those of Sir Walter de Burgo, formerly earl of Ulster; who after an inquisition, delivered the land of Psallor and the castle of Glenharm with a carucate of land in the vill of Glenharm, to Robert bishop of Connor, for 10 marks and a hawk, as the right of his church, as the said John Byset held said land of the Bishop of Connor for 4 marks yearly; that the Bishop and his present successor held seisin of Psallor for 8 years and more, but not the carucate or the Castle of Glenharm; that the lands after the Earl's death came into the K.'s hand; that John the son died 19 years ago. That the price of the crannocs of flour increases and decreases according to the variation . . . but this year a crannoc is worth 20*d.* [Much stained with gall.] [Inq. p. m.

Assizes and Juries.

1279. Bartholomew Prat claims 10*l.* of rent [in Haluton?] against [m. 1.] William de Swyneburne, wherein Reginald Prat his grandfather, whose heir he is, was seised. They agree by leave of court and William gives the plaintiff 40 marks.

[m. 1,
dorso.] The jury inquires if John Cumyn senior, brother of John Cumyn junior, John de Teket [and seven other persons], disseised John Cumyn junior of his freehold in Thorneton juxta Symundeburn. John de Teket says after the death of Sir John Cumyn, father of these brothers, he as the K. of Scotland's bailiff and escheator in Tyndale, took the same with Sir John's other lands, in the K.'s hand, and afterwards delivered them under the K.'s writ to John Cumyn senior, his son and heir, who took, and is in, seisin. John Cumyn junior is a minor. Agreed between the brothers that John Cumyn senior gives the younger John 20*l.* of land in the manor of Thorntone in tenaney till the latter is 21 years of age. He also will pay him 200 marks at Thorntone, in four equal sums at Pentecost next, Martinmas thereafter, and at Pentecost and Martinmas of the succeeding year. Which 200 marks by consent of Sirs John Cumyn senior and Robert de Rosse, shall be kept by Sir James de Byrun for the younger brother's use, with the issues of the land, till his majority; when Sir James shall answer for both money and issues to Sirs John Cumyn senior and Robert de Rosse or their heirs, and on failure, may be distrained on his lands in England and Scotland. On the younger brother attaining majority, and discharging his elder brother of all claims on their father's lands, he shall be enfeoffed in the 20*l.* land in Thorntone, to be held by him and the heirs of his body for the quarter of a knight's fee. If he refuses, he shall forfeit his right, and the writings in neutral hands shall be delivered to the elder brother with the money aforesaid; saving only two charters given to John Cumyn junior by his father concerning Thorntone manor, which shall be delivered to himself. If the younger die in minority without heir of his body, Robert Cumyn his uterine brother, shall have the lands and money above provided on the same conditions in omnibus. If Robert die without heir of his body, the 20*l.* land shall revert to John Cumyn senior and his heirs. And the 200 marks shall go to Robert's next friends and executors. John Cumyn senior shall be bound also to pay Alicia, Robert's sister, if then unmarried, for her marriage, the value of the said 20*l.* of land, viz., for each markland 10 marks, on her discharging him of all claim on her brother Robert's lands. If Alicia is married at Robert's death the said John or his heirs shall not be bound to pay her any sum.

[m. 2.] William de Belingjam is summoned by the Abbot of Jedburgh to repair his hays of Heselaside, which are destroyed to the Abbot's injury, for the avers and men of the latter's freehold in EDWARD I. Evelingjam enter William's hays, and are daily taken and imparked, to his damage of 20*l*. They agree, and William pays half a mark.

 1279. The Abbot is summoned by William to answer why he refuses him common pasture for 2 workmares with their followers of 2 years old, in his parks of Evelingjam. William is cast for non-specification, and amerced.

Thomas de Collanwode and Alicia his wife a tenement in Hautwisele. . . .

[m. 2,
dorso.] The Abbot of Jedburgh is summoned to deliver William de Belingjam, a chirograph which the latter delivered to Nicholas the Abbot's predecessor, on Sunday before Epiphany in the 54th of K. H[enry] and 21st of Alexander K. of Scots, to be inspected. The Abbot pleads insufficient specification, and William is amerced.

[Henry] son of Henry de Graham grants to the Abbot and convent of Blanch-land, 5(s.?) yearly in frank almoyme at the Feast of the Assumption of the Blessed Mary, from his mill of Symundeburne, as in the charter of Henry son of Henry de Graham, his grandfather, which they hold.

dorso.] William de Belingeham, summoned to answer to the K. quo warranto he holds two-thirds of the manor of Bellingeham the K.'s old demesne, says that his ancestors held the same, 'for time beyond 'memory,' of the K. of Scotland's ancestors by service of being his foresters in Tyndale forest; and thus he claims by said tenure only, and does not wish to implead the K., but leaves the matter to him, and asks his special grace therein. This plea referred to the K. and his Council accordingly.

The Prior of Hexham answers to the K. of Scots in a plea why in disinheritance of that K. and injury of his liberty and regality of Tyndale, he impleaded Robert and Alan de Veteripont the K.'s men, before the K. of England's justices itinerant in Cumberland and Westmoreland, and still impleads them before that K.'s justices in York, for trespasses in Tyndale, as the K. of Scotland never refused the Prior a writ from his chancery according to English law; whereby Thomas de Fisburne the K.'s procurator asserts he is damaged to the extent of 1000*l*. The Prior admits the fact, but says when the K. of England's writ was obtained, the manor of Aldenestone where the trespass occurred was in the K. of England's hand, and thus he could have no remedy otherwise, and offers to prove this by the record and rolls of the latter's justices, at his own peril. Is granted a day for this on the morrow of Epiphany, when he appears and fails to produce his evidence, as the English justices had remitted the matter to the K. of England, who had signified his pleasure to the K. of Scots; wherefore the Prior averred it was unnecessary for him to produce any enrolment. The procurator of the K. of Scots asks judgment as the Prior has failed to testify the Court. [Some words lost.]

 Werke on Saturday next before the Feast of St James in K. H(enry)'s mise, Sir John paying 10 marks of silver, and Thomas de Thirlewalle paying 5, to the plaintiff, by fixed proportions, at the succeeding terms of Purification, Easter, and Pentecost.]

 before Sir Thomas Randolf and the other justices on the morrow of Epiphany in the K.'s 31st year, that William shall keep in constant repair the fences of Helelyside [by special boundaries] at the sight of eight good men of the district, who shall make a view yearly in Whitsun week and order what is necessary ; and the Abbot shall have common pasture for his avers of Evelingham all the year round, east side of Strikeliscleythe. William also remits to the Abbot and his successors all his right in an annual rent of 13 bolls of meal and 4*s.* silver, and pasture for 2 mares and their followers of 2 years, in the Abbot's parks of Evelingham ; the chirographs of old made between Nicholas late Abbot of Jedburgh, and William, remaining in full force. The Abbot quit claims to William and his heirs his right of common grazing for 40 mares and their 'sequela' of 2 years, in Belingeham, Wardlawe and Grenacres, saving their right of grazing in same vills for 40 cows and their 'sequela' of a year old, as in the the vill of Newburgh, was taken, and by the decision of Hugh de Ferewithescheles, the coroner, they cut off his ear. Therefore a trial of William de Belingjam's corn, without leave. As it seems to the justices that he should not be mulcted in life or limb for so small a delict, they fine him a mark.

[m. 9,

William the marshal of Grendon, accused of treasure found and money, which he at once gave up to the K.'s bailiffs. Acquitted.

The writer in high flown language asks the Bishop's attention not only to his own affairs, but also to those of his compatriot of good memory Sir W. de Lyndesye, who as the Bishop knows, died on 'that expedition.' Who often before starting thereon, urged the writer most humbly to undertake the executry. Which he did, chiefly for the K.'s service, and did all things duly, according to his power, and to an inventory. This inventory, however, being very poor, the K.'s escheator has inhibited all administration till he has the K.'s pleasure. As he [the deceased?] is bound to 'many poor,' the writer asks the Bishop to signify his pleasure to him and the executors, and likewise the K.'s favour. For, having the former he knows no other can grieve him. Regarding the matter on which the Bishop wrote to him by his monk, he will shortly shew it in earnest in a writ.  friar John of St Germans, which has afforded him great solace in these 'intolerable' difficulties and troubles which he has sustained and still feels through the death of his most beloved son, the K.'s dear nephew. Reminds him, that though death has carried off all of his blood in Scotland, one yet remains, the child of his own dearest daughter the K.'s niece, the late Queen of Norway, now under divine providence the heir apparent of Scotland. Much good may yet be in store for them, and death only can dissolve their league of amity.
 Begg credence for his messenger Andrew abbot of Cupar, and requests the K.'s reply by him. Edinburgh Castle, 20th April, 35th of his reign. [Defaced and blackened, and in parts illegible.] [Royal

- May 18. 252. Alexander K. of Scots, to the K. Regarding John Mazun, who asserts that the writer is due him for wines, and in consequence of whose numerous 'interpellations' the K. has twice sent letters to the writer on his behalf, he now declares the truth as he has learned

- EDWARD I. it from his lieges. When Weland clerk of his chamber, on behalf of ——— the Chamberlain, had appointed Tuesday after the F. of the B.
 1284. Luke Evangelist at Haddington for payment of divers merchants, May 18. John appeared with his claim. Weland told him to produce certain letters of agreement between him and the writer's Council, duly sealed, when he would pay him forthwith. John, however, declined to do so, whereon Weland asked advice from his companions and other merchants. They advised that unless John first accounted, and then on payment delivered up the letters, he neither could nor ought safely to pay him. So John withdrew only partially paid by his own fault. If the K. will enjoin him to come to Scotland, and account reasonably with the writer's men, as he has elsewhere desired him, he will get his due without delay, the rather that Edward has written on his behalf. Dundee, 18th May, 35th of his

- Beginning 254. Isabel de Bailloil to Sir Robert Burnel bishop of Bath, of Aug. respecting the debts of her lord, who was alleged to be due the K.
 300 marks, for which the Sheriff of Northumberland had been [commanded] under the green wax to make a levy on their lands and chattels. Beseeches the Bishop's interference, and for the K.'s letters to the sheriff to leave them and their people in peace till Parliament, that they may know what the debt is, by searching the K.'s rolls; which they cannot learn from the sheriff or otherwise. Tells him she has written to 'Ma Dame la Regne' begging her to aid that their debts be 'estales' to Parliament, and asks him likewise to help.
 Adds that they cannot have respite from the sheriff if the debt is not paid at Easter, unless by favour of court, and hastily by the bearer. (Addressed) 'Al Eveske de Ba.' [No place or date.
 Slightly damaged.] [Chancery Miscellaneous Portfolios, No. $\frac{41}{7}$.]
- Aug. 1, 255. Arnaldus Monetarii mayor, and the jurats of the com-or shortly mune of Bordeaux, to the K. The K. of Scotland owes their after. fellow citizen, John Masson, certain moneys for wine, long overdue, and puts off payment on various accounts, whereby said Johu is greatly troubled, as for want of the money his whole goods in the city are exposed for sale by judgment of the court of Bordeaux, and will be sold, unless he recovers from the K. of Scotland before the F. of St Michael next, to satisfy his creditors. They beseech the K. to intercede for payment; as if longer delayed, the said John will be 1284.] 264. John son of the K.'s 'faithful servant,' Bernard le Masson' burgess of Bordeaux, to the K. Reminds him that he had very many times pointed out to him how the K. of Scotland was due him money which he could not procure; wherefore the K. had written three times to the Scottish K. asking him to pay. To which the latter had replied, desiring that the writer should come to him and he should be satisfied. How he was accordingly despatched with the K.'s letter, whereof he sends a transcript. But on arriving, the Scottish K. and his [people] injured him in many ways, too long to detail; nor could he get any money, as they cheated him of 200 marks and more, and nevertheless asked him to give them a letter of quittance in full. On his refusing, they put him in prison, where he still is, and will remain till the K. succours him. And they snatched from his hand the K.'s [of Scotland] obligatory letter. Wherefore he beseeches the K. most urgently for the service done by his late father to the K.'s father, to aid him, as he knows for truth, he will never recover his money or his liberty otherwise. Implores the K., for Jesus Christ's sake, to come to his assistance, as he has neither hope, nor aid, nor succour elsewhere. [No place or date.] [Tower Miscellaneous Rolls, No. 459.]

That suit may be redeemed yearly for 12*d.* It also owes a day's service to make hay in Northam, value 1*d.*, and the service of a man reaping for a day in August at Hedindon, value 1*d.* Also 4*d.* to the high altar in the church of the Blessed Mary Magdalene. Note, that the suit of the hundred aforesaid is due at three terms, viz., when the K.'s writ

- EDWARD I. comes to be pleaded in the hundred—when a robber is to be tried 1284–85. for trial. Thus should the suit be held. And if they neither attend nor make essoin, they must not be heavily amerced. The jurors

Whereon Alan Radric's men came with his sealed letter that the ship should go to a better port, and that he would take care of their goods as his own. When they went to Alan's port, he took all the goods out of the ship, leaving only two men in her. And 'at prim saon' the anchors, cables, and 'moodres' of the ship gave way, and she was cast ashore. And when the ship was broken up (brisea), 290. The grievances of Roger rector of Witfeld church in Durham.

Before He complains to God and the K. of England that Sir Symon March 19. Fraser and his brother Andrew, sent 32 of their servants, who bound him, and having taken him with his feet tied under the belly of a sumpter horse into Scotland, robbed him of his goods, and at the end of eight days severely wounded him and left him for dead about midnight in the forest of Selkirk. Meanwhile, Beatrix de Witfeld and her son Robert cousins of said malefactors, forcibly entered his church of Witfeld, have hitherto kept possession of the same, and are wasting its fruits. Wherefore the Bishop of Durham excommunicated Beatrix and Robert by name. Under which they have obstinately remained for fourteen years and more. And as the said church is in Tindale within the K. of Scotland's liberty; and these malefactors are cousins of William Fraser, his Chancellor, the rector can get no justice of them. Nor does that King wish them justified by the secular arm, though the K. of England has sent him letters and mandates. These things are public and notorious among the clergy and people through the whole diocese of Durham.

(Endorsed) J. de Kirkeham and the Bishop of Durham on the fact.

And let there be a writ to the K. of Scotland, as said J. shall arrange. [Chancery Miscellaneous Portfolios, No. 11.] 1285-86.

Kirkeham claim certain lands and pastures within the precinct of their manor of Karham, against Sir Ralf de Houedene, of Scotland, who has seized them, and, notwithstanding that they possess under solemn inquisitions made by the K. with advice of his Court, wickedly suggests that they are within Scotland, and harasses the petitioners, capturing their cattle and men. Requests Alexander to put a stop to this and make amends, giving them seisin of the lands and pastures in dispute; also if he thinks himself aggrieved, to send messengers to him fully instructed. And that if this is not done the K. will apply a remedy by advice of his Council. Westminster, 30th May, 13th of his reign.

That after this the K. of Scotland, as requested, had sent his messengers to Ledes. And the K. granted to the parties an inquisition by persons of both realms. And Sir Thomas de Normanville, Sir William de Burneton, and Sir Gilbert de Thorneton were sent to the March to hold the same; but it was delayed by the K. of Scotland's death, and nothing done. Wherefore they now pray the K. to cause the matter to take effect, that they and their church be not spoiled.
