THE 51ST. ANNUAL SALADO SCOTTISH CLAN GATHERING & HIGHLAND GAMES

Lynne Leslie, Frank Leslie, Candace Leslie, the Honorable Andrew Morrison Vicount Dunrossil, David Leslie White, Robert H. Leslie

The 51st. annual Salado Scottish Clan Gathering & Highland Games was held in historic Salado, Texas, November 10th and 11. Salado and the area around it was originally settled by Sterling Clack Robertson, who had contracted with the Mexican government in May, 1834, for a huge grant of land with the requirement that he would bring in settlers. Robertson was appointed the empresario, and the land for Robertson Colony was a rectangle 100 miles wide and 200 miles long. He brought 600 families of Scots or people of Scottish descent to settle the land. Since then, the area has become much more diverse. Rather than whisky, the local expression might more appropriately be "Take life with a grain of salt, a slice of lime and a shot of Tequila."

The CLSI was represented beginning with the Calling of the Clans ceremony conducted on the ruins of College Hill about 6 PM Friday. Saturday morning dawned bright and clear, but rather windy. We were very pleased to have Robert and Candace Leslie of Bryan Texas join us. Bob is a retired Presbyterian minister who is also a piper and an organist. Candace is a prolific writer who has published many articles in Scottish Life magazine. The event has moved to a new location at the Salado Youth Sports Complex just east of the Holiday Inn Express on North Stagecoach Road. Ah, a wonderful sight, all of the clan tents with the flags flying. Over 30 clans and Scottish associations were present. Once again, the CLSI tent was hosted by Frank and Lynne Leslie. Frank is now very involved with this event, and is the Grounds Steward. Across from the CLSI tent was the Clan Morrison tent, the honored clan, which was also the "base" for one of the distinguished guests, the Honorable Andrew Morrison, Viscount Dunrossil, Honorary Consul of the United Kingdom. (By the way, a Viscount is a title lower than a Lord but higher than a Baron.) His office is in San Antonio, a branch of the British Consulate-General in Houston, Texas.

The attendance was very good, and three pipe bands provided plenty of music. Then, late in the afternoon, one of the most bizarre events I have seen at any Scottish event. Apparently some radio station had broadcast a storm warning for the Salado area, to include the possibility of tornados and hail. The forecast (or rumor) spread like wildfire, and clans and vendors folded their tents and departed in great haste. During the night there was no storm, but by Sunday morning, only eight or nine clan tents were still there and staffed. Among those still standing were Leslie, Wallace, Gunn, Macdonald and Morrison. And with few people coming to the event the games organizers were forced to reduce the entrance fee for Sunday. The three entertainment tents remained active and kept the venue going to about 5 PM.

My sincere thanks and appreciation to Frank and Lynne Leslie. They have hosted 5 CLSI tents this year, and attended six Scottish games, including our Gathering in New Hampshire. Such dedication is rare.

CENTRAL VIRGINIA CELTIC FESTIVAL AND HIGHLAND GAMES, RICHMOND, VIRGINIA

Dane Gay and Lew Johnson

There was such a buzz going on at these games because after a few years without a "home" the games returned! The weather was fantastic with deep blue sky, mild temperatures and a bit of a fall breeze. What a great way to end our first year of hosting tents at highland games in North Carolina and Virginia. While we were told these games were somewhat hastily organized, no one would know it from the wonderful experiences enjoyed by the crowd of people who attended. The whisky tasting seminar occurred every two hours from 10 to 6 and for each session there were 20 participants. Hundreds of people surrounded the field for the parade of clans and later that same day the Border collie demonstration.

Christine Johnson at the Clan Leslie Tent

We have a new member! A very tall young man with his wife walked into the tent and introduced himself. It turns out he is Laura's cousin and is living in Richmond. We had a very nice chat and he also visited the kilt maker!

We were pleased to be part of the rebirth of this event that raised funds for the Richmond Community through the Cullather Brain Tumor Center and the Children's Hospital Foundation. We also had one member join and several applications were taken with the intent to join. The posting on Facebook of our attendance at the games helped with getting people to visit. We look forward to hosting a tent at these games next year.

SAINT MARGARET OF SCOTLAND

The feast day of Saint Margaret of Scotland is November 16th, the date of her death in 1093. As most of you know, Margaret of Scotland, also known as Margaret of Wessex and Queen Margaret of Scotland, married King Malcolm III of Scotland. She was born in Hungary, the daughter of the English prince Edward the Exile and a sister of Edgar the Atheling. Margaret became much beloved by the people of Scotland for her charitable works serving orphans and the poor. She was deeply religious and established a monastery at Dunfermline and the restoration of the monastery at Iona. King Malcolm and their oldest son Edward were killed in a battle with the English at Alnwick on the 13th of November, 1093. Margaret died three days later on November 16th. She was canonized in 1250. St. Margaret's Chapel still stands in Edinburgh Castle.

Margaret and King Malcolm III Canmore had eight children, most of whom rose to positions of power.

SAINT ANDREW'S DAY

November 30th is St. Andrew's Day in Scotland. He is the patron saint of fishmongers, singers, spinsters, and women wishing to become mothers. So who was this Saint Andrew? Briefly, he was a fisherman, and was a brother of St. Peter, founder of the Church. St. Andrew is said to have preached around the shores of the Black Sea, and Scots claim to be descendants of the Scythians who lived in the area of the Black Sea.

St. Andrew is of course the patron saint of Scotland, and also the patron saint of Greece, Romania and Russia. His feast day is celebrated in Germany, Austria and Poland. The St. Andrew's Day Bank Holiday was established by the Scottish Parliament in 2006. St. Andrew's Day is also an official flag day in Scotland, requiring all buildings with a flag pole to fly the Saltire or St. Andrew's Cross. At the University of St. Andrews, students are given the day off.

So may I suggest that each of us fly the Saltire on November 30th in honor of St. Andrew, and perhaps attend one of the many St. Andrew's dinners given across North America and much of Europe. If no dinners, then perhaps raise a dram of your favorite Scottish beverage.

SCOTTISH GOLDSMITHS

The booklet, Scottish Goldsmiths 1600-1800 by David Dobson, originally published St. Andrews, Fife, Scotland 1997 and another printing in 1998 by Willow Bend Books, USA, contains some basic information on Scottish goldsmiths. Some of these were Leslies or Langs.

LESLEY, Andrew, apprenticed to Thomas Lindsay, a goldsmith in Dundee, date of reference June 7, 1668, Dundee City Archive: GD/HF/H1

LESLIE, John, apprenticed to James Wildgoose, goldsmith in Aberdeen, 1763, I believe this is the same John Leslie, whose career was contained in a booklet published by the Clan Leslie Charitable Trust. Alexander Leslie made these available at the 2005 gathering in Perth. James Wildgoose was born 1727, son of John Wildgoose in Old Deer, and was apprenticed for seven years to Colin Allan, a goldsmith in Aberdeen. Some of John Leslie's silver pieces are in the Clan Leslie Charitable Trust collection.

LESLIE, Thomas, son of John Leslie, a merchant in Aberdeen, apprenticed to Thomas Cleghorn, goldsmith burgess* of Edinburgh. From these booklets, I cannot determine John Leslie is the same as the above John Leslie, goldsmith.

LANG, Peter, son of William Lang, a hammerman burgess,* admitted as a silversmith burgess* and guildsbrother of Glasgow, October 16, 1767. Information is in the Glasgow Burgess Roll.

*The term "burgess" in this period before 1800 referred to a freeman of a town, as in someone is who is not an apprentice.

HOW THE SCOTS INVENTED THE MODERN WORLD

At the Council of Scottish Clans & Associations (COSCA) conference at Stone Mountain, Georgia, held on October 19, 2012, there were approximately 10 members of the Standing Council of Scottish Chiefs present. One of the topics they emphasized was to "be authentic." By this, they intended that the Scottish clan societies and associations should be accurate and correct in their representations of Scottish history, Scotland and Scots. The book below should be read by all to assist us in representing Scotland and Clan Leslie accurately. Plus, it makes a great Christmas gift!

This article is from a book review by the same title by X. K. Maruyama published in the fall 2012 issue of The Patriot: Official Magazine of the Scottish-American Military Society.

How the Scots Invented the Modern World: The True Story of How Western Europe's Poorest Nation Created Our World and Everything in It by Arthur Herman, 2001, Crown Publishers

"As I wander among the clan tents at the Highland Games, I hear Scottish history as a simple story with good guys and bad guys. The English were blamed for everything. The tartan patterns are presented as something fixed in the middle ages. There is a distinction between Scots from the Highlands and from the Lowlands. It makes life so much simpler when the storyline is simpler, but wrong. The richness of Scottish heritage comes from its complexity.

Arthur Herman has created a catchy title, How the Scots Invented the Modern World, but that's to sell the book in America. In the UK, the title is The Scottish Enlightenment. It is a serious study of Scottish history and connects the many bits and pieces that give coherence to Scottish contributions to world culture.

In 1707, the Act of Union combined the Scottish and English Parliament and insured that one monarch would rule over both countries. The Jacobite rebellion of 1745 had more to do with whether a Catholic Stuart would become the king and less about Scottish independence, the clearances had more to do with clan chieftains wanting more income than Scots being dispossessed for English gain. How the Scots Invented the Modern World is a serious work and reveals why the Scots should be rightly proud of their true heritage, more than the storybook presentations we've seen.

Beginning with the Scottish Enlightenment in the 18th Century, Scotland ushered in the beginnings of our understanding of the world and gave us breakthroughs in philosophy, economics, physics, and medicine. Adam Smith presented to us the road to understanding economics. Modern science owes their beginnings to Lord Kelvin. Universities in Edinburgh and Glasgow were greater than those of England. David Hume, the philosopher, economist, historian, and essayist was truly a renaissance man. The Scot, James Boswell who chronicled Samuel Johnson, belonged to that era. Without James Watt, we'd still be dependent on the horse and donkey. Transplanted Scots like Andrew Carnegie and Alexander Graham Bell created the modern world.

How the Scots Invented the Modern World should be read by all of us who want to go beyond the bagpipe, claymore, and haggis, and read about how Scots made a true difference to the world."

This book has been re-published by MJF Books, New York, and is usually available at most Barnes & Noble Bookstores. This would be an excellent Christmas gift for anyone wanting to know more about Scotland.

WHEN YOU NEED AN ANGEL

I wanted to let you know about a little book I came across that our clan members might find interesting. It is entitled, "When You Need An Angel" and the author is Robert D. Lesslie, M.D. Dr. Lesslie writes about people he has known—nurses, doctors, everyday people--who have helped patients of his out of the goodness of their hearts. It is a very short book, can be read in just a few minutes and contains some heartwarming stories. I thought that, since the author has a form of our surname, others might find it of interest. The back of the book says more: "Dr. Lesslie started observing the presence of these everyday angels. In a place so often filled with pain and difficulty, he watched them move close to the bedside to relieve fear, offer hope, and sow love. Stirred by what he witnessed, he began writing down his stories—each inspired by the brush of an angel's wings."

GOOD NEWS ABOUT YOUR NEW EDITORS

I have been editing the Grip Fast since Karen Leslie handed it over to me in 2004 and the Journal since Bob Leslie was no longer able to do it. I am happy to report that Lew Johnson and Sherry Huxtable have agreed to take on the job as Co-editors. This is a great idea, since both of them have writing and newsletter experience. I will be doing the December Grip Fast Online and the first issue of the Journal for 2013 will be done by the new editors. Please continue to send your stories.

I would like to thank all the members who have made these publications viable over the years by sending me their stories and pictures and their reports of Tents at Games. My sincere thanks to Lew and Sherry for taking over this most important job for the Clan Leslie.

CLSI LIBRARY FUND

On the bottom of page 17 and the top of page 18 in the October 2012 issue of the Grip Fast Journal was an announcement of the establishment of the CLSI Library Fund. Briefly, the purpose was to set aside from our usual operating funds a separate fund to purchase used books, some of which are rare now, by or about Leslies and the septs. These books would then be added to the Clan Leslie Collection at the University of Guelph. The article ended with "I am asking for donations specifically for the 'Clan Leslie Library Fund'. If you would like to contribute, please send your check to our Treasurer, Linda Flowers, and mark the check for the 'CLSI Library Fund.' Unfortunately no donations have been received at the time of this writing.

So, as you make your donations to other good causes this Christmas season, the Salvation Army, the Red Cross, Boys Town, etc., it would be greatly appreciated if you would include the CLSI Library Fund in your Christmas giving.

You can email me and I will send it to you. For a hostess kilt, you would need to measure longer as the kilt is longer. Several members have these kilts.
