The Advertisement.

THE Original Manuscript, of which the present Volume exhibits a Facsimile, is of unquestioned authenticity, and considerable importance. It is one of the earliest Heraldic collections extant, and the blazonry presents no unfavourable specimen of the state of the Arts in Scotland at the period of its execution.

The Work is ascertained, from internal evidence, to have been emblazoned by Sir David Lyndsay of the Mount, Lyon King of Arms in the reign of James the Fifth. The following autograph of the Author is attached to the blazon of his own arms:

"The Armes of Sir Dabid Lindesay of the Mont, Knycht. alias Lion King of Armes. Autor of this present Buke, Anno Domini. 1542."

It belonged at one time to Sir James Balfour of Denmiln, Lyon King of Arms in the reign of Charles the First, and bears the following attestation in his hand-writing, of having been authenticated by the Privy Council of Scotland in the year 1630.

"This Booke and Register of Armes, done by Sir Dauid Lindesay of the Month, Lyone King of Armes, Regn. Ja. V. conteines cbi. leabes; which register wes approbene be the Lordis of his Majesties most honorable Pribie Counsale at Halierude hous, ix. Decem. 1630. (signed) Sir James Balfour Lyone; Thomas Dryisdal Elay Herauld, Register.

Sir David Lyndsay's "Booke and Register of Armes" came into the possession of the Faculty of Advocates, along with the other Manuscript Collections of Sir James Balfour, in the year 1698. Although the Work has undergone no recent alterations, it certainly does not remain in the state in which it was originally completed by its author, whose first intention obviously was, that each page of the latter portion of the Volume should contain the armorial bearings of four families. There is, however, every reason to believe that the smaller shields, in the centre of the pages, were introduced at no distant period after the completion of the Work, and it is probable that they were emblazoned by Sir David Lyndsay. It may be noticed as a proof of this, that on the seventy-seventh leaf, the autograph "Lyndesay of the Mount, the Auctor of this present Buke," has been partially erased to make room for the Arms of Lyndesay of Dunroddis.

As the leaves of the Manuscript were neither numbered, nor any index of the armorial bearings framed, prior to the approval of the Register by the Privy Council, it is impossible now to ascertain either the precise extent of the interpolations, or the period at which they were inserted. They cannot, however, be numerous, and have been retained in the present Fac-simile, as they do not detract from the value or authority of Sir David Lyndsay's original Work. It will be found to contain, in addition to the Armorial Bearings of many Foreign Princes, and of various members of the Royal Family of Scotland, a Scotish Peerage, and Baronage. The former includes the Arms of one hundred and fourteen of the Ancient Nobles of Scotland, and the latter exhibits the Shields and Quarterings of one hundred and ninety-four of the Principal Families in the Country. Some of the blazons are accompanied by notes and explanations in the hand-writing of the Author, all of which have been engraved in Fac-simile.

No expense has been spared in assimilating, as far as possible, the present Volume to the Original Manuscript, the drawing of which is beautiful, and the colouring remarkably brilliant. Sir David Lyndsay's skill in Heraldry has been universally acknowledged, and while a well-executed Fac-simile of a Work upon this subject, emblazoned by his own hand, must afford peculiar gratification to Antiquarian curiosity, the Publishers trust it will prove generally acceptable to those who take an interest in restoring and preserving the Ancient Muniments of Scotish History.

127.[b] ‘ Makgilleoun.—Lecre of that ilk.—Turyne.—Montcure.—Lowiss.’—On the reverse of folio 127.[a]

128.[a] ‘ Tullos.—Nudry.—Cardenas.—Squyare of . . . .—Zoung.’

128.[b] ‘ Cant.—Stanle.—Symsone.—Ahannay.—Newtoun.’—On the reverse of folio 128.[a]

129.[a] ‘ Petigrew.—Zare.—Bynning.—Hog.—Lyntoun.’

129.[b] ‘ Spittell.—Kedzeo.—Cheyne.—Harkas.—Makknaucht.’—On the reverse of folio 129.[a]

130. ‘ Fairlie of that ilk.—Fokkart.—Blair of Angus.—Kyle.—Tendale.’—(On the reverse of this plate the arms of ‘ Capitane William Broghe,’ are interpolated by the same hand as those of ‘ Balfour, lord of Burghley,’ on folio 67, and have therefore been omitted.)

131. ‘ This booke and register of armes, done by S[r] Dauid Lindesay of the Month, Lyone King of armes, regn : Ja : 5. conteines 106 leaves : which register was approvine be the Lordis of his Maieties most honorable Privie Counsale at Halierudehous, 9. Decemb : 1630.

Sir James Balfour Lyone.—Thomas Dryisdaill, Ilay herauld, register.'—On the reverse of folio 132.

132. ' The armes of Schir Dauid Lindesay of the Mont, knycht, alias Lion King of armes, autor of this present buke.—Anno domini 1542.'

133. ' The surnames of thame that come furth of Ingland with Sanct Margaret, that is to say, Lyndesay, Waus, Ramsay, Lowell, Towris, Prestoun, Sandelandis, Bissart, Sowlis, Wardlaw, Maxwell.'

' The surnames of thame that come furth of Vngary to Sanct Margaret the quene, as Creichtoun, Fotringhame, Giffart, Mailwill, and Borthwik, with vtheris diuerss.'

' The surnames of thame that come furth of France in Scotland, as Fraseir, Synclare, Boswell, Mowtray, Montgummery, Campbell, Boyis, Betoun, Tailzefeir, Bothwell, with vtheris diuerss, as testifyis the cornikillis of Scotland.'

According to the attestation by Sir James Balfour, the original manuscript consists of one hundred and six leaves. In this number, either some of the leaves containing inscriptions were not reckoned, or a mistake in counting them was made, as the actual number is one hundred and eleven; several of which have inscriptions and arms (as are mentioned in the foregoing Register) drawn on the reverse side of the leaf. Most of these having been printed off separately, the number of engraved leaves contained in the present volume, is therefore enlarged to one hundred and thirty-three.

Along with the original manuscript are thirteen additional leaves of armorial bearings, executed at a subsequent period. These, as forming no part of Lyndsay's authenticated work, have not been engraved: but the following list will show what they contain; and it adds to the value and interest of the original work, to find that it had passed through the hands of the successors of Lyndsay, as Lyon King of Scotland.

1. ' Theas are the armes of the right worschipfull Shir Robert Foirman, Lyon King at Armes, who was creat at . . . . . the . . day of . . . .—Motto, ' Sola Spes.'
2. The Royal Arms of Scotland; much inferior in point of execution to those at the beginning of the original manuscript.
3. ' Steward Duk of Lewenox.'—Motto, ' Avand Darle.'
4. ' Stewart Erle Arrane.'—Motto, ' Dat incrementum Deus.'
5. ' Stewart Erle Orknay.'—Motto, ' Sum fuit est et erit.'

6. ‘ Ruthwene Erle Gowrie.’—Motto, ‘ Dead Senan.’—On the left hand side is the figure of an armed knight with a scroll, ‘ Tibi soli.’ looking up to a crown.
7. ‘ Maxwell Erle Mortoun.’—Motto, ‘ I byde ye fair.’
8. ‘ Keith Lord Dignavell.’—Motto, ‘ Sis Deo gratus.’
9. ‘ Lord Claud Hamiltoun of Paislay.’
10. ‘ Theas are the armes of the right worschipfull Sir William Stewart, Lyon King at armes, who was creat be Queen Marie the 20 of Februare, 1567.
11. ‘ Theas are the armes of the right worschipfull Sir Dauid Lindesay of Rathellet, Knight Lyon King at armes, who was creat be . . . . . at . . . . the . . day of . . . . . 1568.’
12. ‘ Theas are for the right worschipfull Sir Dauid Lindsay of the Mont Knight, who was creat Lyon King at armes upon Sonday the 28 Maij 1592, at Halyrudhous.’
13. ‘ Theas are for the right worschipfull Sir Jereme Lindsay of Annitland knight, who was creat Lyon King at armes at Halyrudehous vpon Sonday the 27 of June 1621.’
