Upon Friday the 24 Decemr 1779 my much lamented and dearest and best of sons Andrew took his leave of me never to meet again in this world. Setting out to Jamaica on his second voyage on ship Mermaid [with] Capt. John Bowie. He wrote me from Port Moran 13 May 1780 and from Port Royal the 23 Augt 1780 & says he hoped to find me and all friends well in three months – his hopes and my most earnest desire were not consistent with the will of the Almighty Giver of Life. In him I have lost the joy and delight of my heart, the comfort of distressed and declining years – but want to submit my will to the Will of the Lord God Almighty. May I meet with him in everlasting peace and happiness thro' the Righteousness of Christ – may I meet the poor young sailor in the Heaven of Glory.

He was born on the 15 Oct'r 1765 on the 5 day of Nov' 1780 Mermaid was taken in long 30 lat 45 by the Essex, American privateer – He was left on board the Mermaid who was much disabled in the engagement and was 13 weeks at sea before she reached Salem in great distress. 16 of her hands died in that time of which he was one. Captain Bowie writes Mr R. Mackay that he sincerely laments his death as a promising well behaved young man and pity me his father, May God Almighty's pity be extended upon me. On 5 Apl last I heard of the ship's being taken at and before and since that time had strong forebodings by dreams & thoughts.

On Saturday 7 May 1781 at 11 o'clock a.m. I recd the acc't in a letter from his grandfather and to his father from Mrs Mackay by a copy of a paragraph of Capt. Bowie's letter relating to him.

His age could be but 15 years and a month or some days more. A short life but full of activity. He was thin made but strong nervous and hardy, capable of much fatigue and very fit for his Business. Bold & hardy of a beautiful countenance. Limbs well proportioned & straight shape. A fond understanding very sharp & quick of the most humane & amiable dispositions. He was much delighted with his first Voyage and with the King's Ship La Prudence his convoy home.

The state of slavery in Jamaica he expressed to be contrary to his feelings. He took out a very small venture with his first voyage with which he bought himself cloaths on his return and brot for my use small quantitys of tea sugar rum coffee chocolate tobacco & spices. He brought me savory food from afar. He was entirely free from guile and not ashamed to work at the meanest work where he thought it would serve

He suffered much from the cruelty of the wretched band and the prizes master & mate and dyed of famine as did all the other 15. This I had from one Rob't Watson that was couper of the Vessel and witness to it. I went to Ain to get the cruel information from him. The Sands of Ain, the Mairns Muirs the Bare's of Cathkine are witnesses of the agony of my feelings for what my dearest dead son must have suffered by a death of such inexpressible misery.

He carried arms openly ag't the Government especially was hotly pursued by the Duke of Monmouth at Bothwell Bridge after that unfortunate engagement. He had been a very strong man but his constitution was broken with the hardships he suffered in a good cause.
