

Secretary's Report 25/09/91

The summer programme comprised 41 matches, 15 in the Perthshire League, 1 Small Clubs Cup-Tie, 1 Village Cup-Tie, the Pecky Memorial Match v Kippen, the Meiklewood Challenge Cup match v Walmer, 6 Iffla Trophy matches and 16 friendlies. We lost to Glendelvine in the Village Cup, to Breadalbane in the Small Clubs, to Walmer in the Challenge Cup but won the Iffla Trophy League and the Memorial Match v Kippen.

Of the friendlies we won 5, lost 9, and 2 were abandoned. In the Perthshire League we won 1, lost 9 and drew 5 and in addition Mike Hargreave topped the League Bowling Averages with 40 wickets at 9.125.

The overall record was P 41 , W 11, L 21, D 7 Ab. 2.

23 matches were played on the main square, 8 on the side square =31 matches at MCG (incl. 3 invitation games) and thus GVCC played 28 matches at home and 13 away during a very busy season.

Again Jean Lamond and Greta Vallance with help from Helen Scott covered the week-end home teas superbly and players were very loyal at bringing their flasks of hot water, sandwiches and cakes. Socially the idea of treating the opposition to a refreshment in the tea-room after games was a great success. Latterly however we went to the INN occasionally when this was preferred by our guests.

Jimmy Vallance's illness was both a great handicap to him and the team as he went down with a form of ME after only 7 games. Doug Smith deputised ably for the rest of the season and was given occasional rests when Mike Hargreave, Richard Scott-Angell and I sampled the perils of captaincy.

Having purchased better equipment for the ground I found preparation and repair of wickets less tiring than last season even with double the number of strips to get ready and then revive. Although it takes about 2 hours a day on average to barely keep on top of things concerning the ground and pavilion, I am still thoroughly enjoying the challenge, the beauty of the countryside and the wonders of nature generally. In order to try to improve root growth and re-seeding success rates and therefor achieve more consistent bounce, the best dwarf perennial rye grass has been oversown on the square. Hopefully it will take despite the recent drought and be ready for the severe spiking and top-dressing due to be done weather permitting in October.

My thanks are due to Willie and Helen Scott for their constant encouragement concerning the ground and the development of the playing side of the club.

I would also like to thank the players for their loyalty and in particular the Lamond family for their often unseen but not unnoticed contributions to the pavilion, ground and machinery.

I personally have had a great summer of work, play and good fellowship. Thank you all very much.

John Henderson

'Scotland on Sunday' - April, 1991

Out on bail: John Henderson and Jimmy Vallance watch the sun set on their careers if not their beloved club

Tale from the near pavilion

THE story reads like the most implausible piece of Boy's Own fiction. A young Jamaican all-rounder on the verge of selection for the West Indian Test team in the early 1950s loses one of his family during an outbreak of fever and decides to escape

To Stirling, where he meets a young Scottish wicket-keeper with a dream of one day creating his own cricket club. Their paths diverge, but then, nearly 40 years after Irvin Iffla first arrived in this country, the 66-year-old renews his acquaintance with John Henderson, gracing the new square at Gargunock Village CC by crashing the maiden boundary with a glorious square cut.

The formation of GVCC in 1983 offers a reminder that for all the creeping commercialism in cricket, some features of the game remain untainted. As Alistair Cooke so poignantly described it: "It's not the winning that matters, is it? It's — to coin a word — the amenities that count: the smell of the dandelions, the click of the bat on ball, the rain on the neck, the chill down the spine, the slow, exquisite coming on of sunset and dinner and rheumatism."

Or, as Henderson, one of Bill Dickin-

son's boys at Jordanhill and a Glasgow District rugby player who shared a flat with Ian McLauchlan in the 1960s, acknowledges in his 52nd summer: "Sooner or later, you know that the joints will grow stiff, you find yourself slipping further and further down the order and your colleagues begin to drop hints about whether it's not time to stop playing."

"The next move is shunting you into the umpire's role, and then letting you cut the grass occasionally. I've no complaints . . . the best of cricket is like the best of life."

Until 1989, Gargunock were the strolling players on the domestic circuit, the itinerant travellers possessed of neither ground nor pavilion. But, down among the carseland and clay on the east side of Stirling, adjoining former Defence Minister George Younger's property, a seven-acre field was espied by Henderson, Jimmy Vallance and John Peek, and a lifetime's ambition was about to become a reality. Buoyed by a financial bequest of £5,000 from Henderson snr, the trio obtained the land and ploughed, harrowed, levelled and smoothed an unappealing surface into grassland by the autumn.

"My father was determined to see the project through and his involvement allowed us to purchase a roller," said Henderson, who now revels in the triple monicker of groundsman, match secretary and player. "We thought the pavilion might pose a problem, but a colleague equipped us with two Portakabins and once we had mucked about with them for a while, we managed to turn them into changing-room facilities and a lounge."

However, what sounds like the stuff of dreams does contain its element of tragedy. Just a few weeks before the start of the 1990 season, John Peek, at 40 the youngest of the aforementioned trio, collapsed and died on a squash court without having seen the project come to fruition. It was, therefore, a day of mixed emotions when his widow, Tina, formally opened the new facilities at Meiklewood last June.

On a happier note, Iffla, whose batting and spin-bowling have brought him more than 13,000 runs and 1,650 wickets on the Scottish circuit, had by that time been persuaded to make the occasional appearance at Meiklewood, despite his protestations about being "old and decrepit".

And though 39 years may have passed since Henderson first stood behind the stumps to Iffla, he still marvels at the accuracy and guile of his West Indian team-mate.

Gargunock will be playing in the Perthshire League this season, where, as Henderson admits, the ageing personnel might be a bit out of their depth, but it matters little to anyone at Meiklewood. For them, cricket is a litany of memories to be treasured forever, the thrill of running out Rohan Kanhai, of competing against Nigel Hazel on Old Boys days at Glenalmond, bowling in the nets at Ayr to a young Mike Denness and exchanging myriad tales from the far pavilions in nearby hostels at stumps.

Iffla has often been known to burst into a spontaneous rendition of A Sentimental Journey and that about sums up the various stages of his life, all the way from Clyde Walcott in Jamaica to John Henderson at Gargunock Village. When these old-timers finally ease their way back from the crease for the very last time, it will indeed be the end of many, many summers.
