

St Fergus

The war memorial is situated at the front of the parish church, within a churchyard encircled with trees. It commemorates the dead of World War One and Two. It is an elaborately carved granite Celtic cross with a wreath on the centre of the cross, all sitting on a large granite base carved to resemble a pile of rocks. It is engraved on the front of the shaft with names of the dead from WW1 and with "In grateful and affectionate remembrance of the St. Fergus men who laid down their lives for King and Country and the righteous cause in the Great War 1914 – 1919". and also with "Their name liveth for evermore". The names of the dead from WW2 are inserted on a granite slab fitted to the base which is engraved "By these things men live".
