

HENRY III. account. For an image of the Queen to be graven (inscidenda) — in marble, and carrying the same to Tarente of the nuns 1253–54. (Tarente monialium); to be placed there beyond the tomb of the Queen of Scotland, 100s. by the K.'s writ. [Pipe, 38 Hen. III. m. 9.]

Jan. 15. 1949. The K. to the Treasurer and chamberlains. Writ for payment to Mathew de la Mare, William de Chaveringworth and Margery de Creke, whom the K. sends to Scotland, of 40 marks for their expenses, by the K.'s gift. Windsor: By the Queen. [Liberate, 38 Hen. III. m. 6.]

[Circa 1950. Pleas before the K.'s Council in the octaves of St Hilary.
Jan. 20.] Lincoln:—Robert de Wyleby, John fitz Hugh, Henry de Stepynge, and Ralf de Trihampton were commanded to inquire by oath of mariners and others of the 'visnes' of Grimesby and Boston (St Botulf) as to the value of the wreck of a vessel lately cast ashore at Manthorpe in Lyndesi, and where her chattels and furniture had been taken, and deliver them forthwith to Robert le Blund or William le clerk on behalf of R. Stater burgess of Berwick, to whom the K. had granted the wreck, at the instance of the K. and Queen of Scotland; and if they found that any one retained any of the said articles—except the Countess of Lincoln, who had made peace with the K. for such as remained with her—to levy the value from their lands and chattels and delivered to the said R[obert] or W[illiam]. The Sheriff of Lincoln was also commanded to inquire by a jury of the aforesaid 'visnes' and the hundred of Kalswrth; and they found that Robert of Welle had the mast and the sail-yard (virgam veli) of said vessel, value 40s. The township of Malthorpe had the hull (corpus) of the vessel, and all the furniture (straturis) and small utensils, value 6*l.* The same township had a part of the sail, price 4 marks; also an anchor, two great cables (cabulas) and five 'urtesia' and the side (costeram) of a little boat; value 4*l.* 6*s.* William son of the reeve of Malthorpe had two entire anchors, and one broken, and many ropes (cordas); value 4*l.* The township of Trusthorpe had a linen cloth of cindon? (lineam telam cindanon) and nine chests (cistas), value 21*s.* Alan Raven, Alan son of Robert at Avenedyk, had a certain bundle (fardellum), but they know not the value. The aforesaid reported that they could not compel the said detainers to pay the money under the K.'s precept, without the Sheriff, to whom this compulsion pertains; who says 'precise' that he cannot interpose without such precept. Therefore he is enjoined to levy from the lands and chattels of the detainers, except Robert of Welles, by the quinzaine of the Purification of the Blessed Mary; and again to assemble with the above four knights, sixteen of Kaldeshou and Kalsvat, to inquire before them regarding the cloths and other chattels in said vessel and their value, and make good the amount

- HENRY III. from the lands, &c., of the detainers. [Coram Rege, 38 Hen. III. No. 99, m. 2.]
- 1253-54. 1951. The K. has given to Sanchia (Sench') countess of Cornwall
Jan. 30. the custody of all Ralf de Levinton's lands and of his heirs till their majority; excepting the lands assigned in dower to Ada his widow. Westminster. [Originalia, 38 Hen. III. m. 3.]
- Feb. 13. 1952. There being a dissension among the heirs of John late earl of Chester respecting the capital messuage of Kembeston manor in the Honour of Huntingdon, Simon Druel the K.'s escheator in Bedford is commanded to take the same in the K.'s hand till further instructions,—the partition of the outer (forinsecarum) lands of said manor being proceeded with as made among said heirs. Windsor. [Fine, 38 Hen. III. m. 10.]
- Feb. 23. 1953. The K.'s escheator in Bedford is commanded to commit to Stephen Bauzan the part of Kemston manor in the K.'s custody on account of Henry de Hastings' heir, till the heir's lawful age; paying yearly 40 marks, viz., 20 at Easter and 20 at Michaelmas; and after taking good security, to give Stephen administration thereof for the purpose of cultivating and sowing the land. Windsor. [Fine, 38 Hen. III. m. 10.]
- March 3. 1954. Northumberland:—The K. has granted to Peter de Sabaudia (of Savoy) the custody of all William de Vescy's lands,—except the manors of Meauton and Langeton in the county of York, and of Tugehale in Northumberland, which the K. has assigned in dower to Agnes, widow of said William; saving to Peter 7*l.* 12*s.* drawn yearly by Agnes' bailiffs from said manor of Langeton—to be held by Peter till the majority of William's heir. Paying to the K. yearly at Exchequer for the said ward 62*l.* 8*s.* 10*d.* to which the said lands [excepting the three manors] are extended; viz., a moiety at Michaelmas, and the other at Easter exchequer. And Thomas de Staunford the K.'s escheator ultra Trent is commanded to give Peter seizin. Saving to the K. the cost laid out on, and the stock that he has bought to cultivate, the lands, which the K. demises to Stephen de Feugeres and Walter de Bathonia Peter's seneschals, for the same price as he paid; who are bound to answer to Exchequer in the quinzaine of Easter therefor. Witnesses:—A[lienora] the Queen and R[ichard] earl of Cornwall. Windsor. The K. has likewise committed to Peter the castle and manor of Alnewyk till the said heir's majority; and the escheator is commanded to deliver the same to one or other of his said seneschals. Windsor. [Originalia, 38 Hen. III. m. 4.] 1254. 1955. Juries and assizes at Staunford Bridge in the county of April 20. Northampton on the morrow of the Close of Easter, before Gilbert de Preston and Ranulf de Kareby, anno 38. Northampton:—The assize

- HENRY III. comes having inquired (recognita) whether Geoffry de Saint Meddard ——— disseized Sibilla Rydel of her freehold in Wyteringe. She complains 1254. that he disseized her of the third part of half a mark arising from a carucate of land held by the Abbot of Pippewelle; and of the third part of the profit of a fold of 500 sheep (bidentium); and of the third part of the plough labour (arure) of 12 carucates, for one day yearly; and of the third part of one reaping diet (diete messionis) of fourteen men in autumn; and of the third part arising from the grazing of the work cattle of Staunford in the fields of Wyteringe;
 and of the third part of the profit arising from men collecting cuttings? (pertilligentibus seckillones) in the wood of Wyteringe;
 and of the third part of the whole issue of pannage in said wood.
 Which freehold her late husband Hugh Ridel held in fee, and dowered her therein; and she has been in seizin thereof as her dower for twenty years and more, till the said Geoffry disseized her.
 Geoffry comes and says he has not disseized her of the third of the pannage, and has never hindered her from 'agisting' her swine in the wood, and taking the profit of all the remaining pannage thereof.
 And she is in seizin. And places himself on an assize. And as to all the other points, he says she was never seized of them in freehold.
 Sibilla asks leave to retire from her writ, and has it. Geoffry therefore sine die. [Coram Rege, 38 Hen. III. No. 97, m. 1.]
- May 28. 1956. The Sheriff of Northumberland is commanded to relax the distraint on the Earl of Stratherne hdc vice; as Alan Durward (le Usser) guarantees he will do the service due by said earl if the English magnates cross to the K. in Gascony against the K. of Castile. Porchester. By the Queen. [Close, 38 Hen. III. m. 6.]

1255. April 2. 1979. The K. sends Thomas de Staunford his escheator ultra Trent a transcript of No. 1978, and directs him to make a legal partition of the lands equally between the heirs, viz., Isabella de Huntercumbe, and Muriel and Margery, daughters of the Earl of Stratherne; and to certify whether the homage and service of Odenell de Forde was assigned to William de Huntercumbe and Isabella his wife in her purparty of Robert de Muscamp's lands, or not. Merton.

HENRY III. This is Isabella de Forde's part of Robert de Muscamp's lands and tenements divided in two parts, (made in parallel columns in the original):—

PART FIRST.

One moiety. The said Isabella had the moiety of the third part of the capital messuage of Wllouer, viz., a certain waste 'mota' of no value. Likewise 16 acres of arable land in demesne, each worth 18*d.* yearly; and 4 acres of meadow each worth 20*d.*, whereof Walter de Kirkeland holds 8 acres of land and 2 acres of meadow; and Roger the sergeant 8 acres of land and 2 of meadow. She held also 1½ oxgang, and 2 acres of 'defensable' land, whereof Walter de Kirkeland holds half an oxgang, and Adam Todde the same, and Roger the sergeant the same; and Geoffry Cran the 2 acres; which whole particle of defensable land is thus worth 20*s.*; and the moiety of the third part of the mill, worth 20*s.* yearly. And the moiety of the third part in burgh, viz., Thomas son of Lyolf, Adam son of Ralf, Hugh de Heselrig, Adam Todde, Walter de Kirkeland, Thomas Gentil, Robert le Franceys, William son of Roger, Roger the sergeant, Gilbert Hund, Adam de Bairmor, Yvo son of Swain, William Abeir, Cristian son of Syward, Walter Otir, Adam son of Cristian, Eluald the mason, Richard Roterap', William the deacon; and they pay yearly 9*s.* And the moiety of the third part of the toll, and of the third part of the markets, worth yearly 9*s.* And the moiety of the third part of the garden worth 20*d.* And the moiety of the third part of two parts of the whole forest of Chyvioth, worth yearly 17*s.* 6*d.*

Likewise in Hetpol she had two 'firmarii,' viz., Michael le vacher, Henry son of Gilis; paying yearly 2*s.* 1½*d.* And the half of the third part of the meadow worth yearly 13¼*d.* And the half of the third part of drengs' tallage, worth 2*s.* yearly. And the service of John de Hetpol, worth 8*d.* yearly.

Likewise she had the capital messuage of Beleford, viz., the hall and kitchen towards William de Huntercumbe's part, the space containing 'del colehusse' as far as the 'porta de herber' (door of lodgings (?)) and so through the middle wardrobe in a straight line to the south part of the door towards the east. She had also the moiety of the third part of the garden, viz., from the sewer (cloaca) as far as the door towards William de Huntercumbe's part, and from the white stone (albo lapide) beyond the fish-pond as far as the saughtree (salicem) towards said William's part, worth yearly 20*d.* And she held 60 acres of arable land in demesne, each worth 9*d.*; total, 45*s.* And 4 acres of meadow, lying towards William de Huntercumbe's part, each worth 15*d.*; total, 5*s.* She had also five 'bondi,' viz., Albert the reeve, Robert Moce, Henry son of Yvo, Robert son of Godefrid, William Prehecolt, and the fourth part of a 'bondus,' and the moiety of the third part of one, and they pay

HENRY III. yearly all things computed, 4*l.* 11*s.* 2*d.* She had also four cottars, viz., William Limpot', Bernard Capentar', Adam Cirl, and Thomas the reaper (messor) each of whom pays 12*d.* yearly; total, 4*s.* And the moiety of the third part of the herbage of the wood and moor, worth yearly 4*s.* 5½*d.* And the moiety of the third part of the brew-house, worth 4*s.* 6*d.* yearly. And the moiety of the third part of the mill, worth yearly 40*s.* And she held one cottar and a half, paying yearly 4*s.* And the moiety of the third part of the service of Dichend, worth yearly 1 mark.

Also she held in Hedereslau from Robert Heyr 20*s.* yearly; and from Agnes relict of Hugh the baker 2*s.* 2½*d.*; and the moiety of the brewhouse, worth yearly half a mark; and from the bedellery 20*d.*; and the service of Yvo de Puncherdone, viz., the twelfth part of a knight's fee. Sum total of one moiety, 17*l.* 17*s.* 4¼*d.*

Likewise she held the moiety of the third part of the unfenced wood of Belefrod, viz., 'le Thornside' as far as the way that goes beyond Pinhou; and the moiety of the third part of the common wood, viz., from Dubewelle by the way leading under 'le wetside,' on the east part; and the moiety of the third part of the moor, viz., from the bridge in the petary of Gesinton as far as Aldereslau, the value of which is extended supra under herbage; and the moiety 'del holme' lying towards William de Huntercumbe's part, and the moiety 'del hanin' lying towards the said William's part, and the moiety 'des osers' lying towards the said William's part; the value of which is extended within the demesne, as pertaining thereto.

This is one moiety of Isabella de Forde's forest in Chyviot, to the north of the underwritten boundaries; beginning from Stodpulle as far as 'le Clou' of Crumbeside, and so as far as 'le Holinhepe' that stands within 'le Tays,' and so as far as 'Le Holinhepe' at Caldelauburne, and so as far as Moriley, between Bradstroir and 'le Langhestan' as far as 'le Brokehole' in High Bradhou, and so as far as 'le Blakeford' in Wraysinheswood, and so ascending as far as Wulhopecar, and so ascending as far as 'le Lau' on the south part of High Chyviot, and so by 'le Condes' as far as Caldeclouheued, and so far as Thewesrode (Thieves' Road?).

To this part the escheator assigns the homage and service of Robert de Hulecester, with the service of Robert fitz Nigel, and of Thomas Turnerunci, and of Robert le harpur, and of Simon son of Gutred, and of Thomas son of Lyolf.

PART SECOND.

The other moiety. The said Isabella had the moiety of the third part of the capital messuage of Wllower, viz., a certain waste 'mota' of no value. Likewise 16 acres of arable land in demesne, each worth 18*d.*; and 4 acres of meadow, each worth 20*d.*; whereof Yvo son of Walter holds 8 acres of land and 2 of meadow; and HENRY III. Thomas Turnerunci [holds] 8 acres of land and 2 of meadow. She held also an oxgang and a half of 'defensable' land and 2 acres; 1255. whereof Ivo son of Walter holds half an oxgang, Thomas Turnerunci another, and Henry Daywerke another; and Geoffry Cran holds the 2 acres; whereby the said whole partice of defensable land is worth 20s. She held the moiety of the third part of the mill, worth 20s. yearly, and the moiety of the third part in burgh, viz., John le marescalle, William Allehalu, William Otir, John Ker, Geoffry Cran', John the sergeant, Thomas, Henry Daywerke, Matilda de Gesemu, Adam son of Ede, Thomas Stel, Thomas Bel, Elene Otir, Eustace, Stephen the sumetar, Stephen the smith, Thomas the shepherd, William son of Mill', Thomas son of Mill', Yvo son of Walter, William de Gesemu, William Allehalu, Alice de Ros'; and they pay 9s. yearly. And the moiety of the third part of toll, and of markets, worth yearly 9s. And the moiety of the third part of the garden, worth yearly 20*d.* And the moiety of the third part of two parts of the whole forest of Chyviot, worth yearly 17s. 6*d.*

Likewise in Hetpol two 'firmarii', viz., Randulf son of Michael, and El' son of Michael, paying yearly 2s. 1½*d.* And the moiety of the third part of the meadow, worth yearly 13¼*d.*; and of the third part of drengs' tallage, worth yearly 2s.; and the service of John de Hetpol, worth yearly 8*d.*

Likewise she had at Beleford the knights' chamber and the kitchen, now pulled down, from the wall 'del colehousse' as far as the boundary (meta) placed between said Isabella and the Earl of Stratherne's part, and so to the door before the said Earl's hall, and from said door in a straight line as far as the boundary set in the wall of the oxhouse. Also the moiety of the third part of the garden, viz., from the sewer as far as the boundary fixed between said Isabella's part, and that of the Earl, and from the white stone beyond the fish-pond as far as the Earl's part; worth yearly 20*d.* She held also 60 arable acres in demesne, each worth yearly 9*d.*; total, 45s. And 4 acres of meadow, lying towards the said Earl's part, each worth yearly 15*d.*; total, 5s. She had five 'bondi' there, viz., William son of Norman, Henry Neubond, Yvo son of Gilmor, Henry son of Hutred, Hugh Cnave, and the fourth part of a 'bondus,' and the moiety of the third part of one; and they pay yearly, all things taken into account, 4*l.* 11s. 2*d.* She had four cottars, viz., Richard Todde, Costric' son of Adam, Hutred son of Hutred, and William the forester, each of whom pays yearly 12*d.*; total, 4s. And she had one cottar and a half, paying yearly 4s. And the moiety of the third part of the service of Dichend, worth yearly 1 mark.

HENRY III. Also she held in Hedereslau of the drengage of Robert son of — Alan 20s. yearly ; and of Ysoda relict of Walter de Roddum 2s. 2½*d.*
 1255. And the moiety of the brewhouse worth yearly half a mark. And from the bedellery 20*d.* ; and the service of three sisters, viz., Margaret de Heddun, Cecilia and Geliana, viz., the twelfth part of a knight's fee. Sum total of the other moiety, 17*l.* 17*s.* 4¼*d.*

Likewise she held the moiety of the third part of the unfenced wood of Beleford, viz., from the way lying beyond Pinhou as far as
 'le Hatelau' ; and the moiety of the third part of the common wood, viz., from the way under Wetside, as far as the way of Lowic' ; and the moiety of the third part of the moor, viz., from Alderislau, as far as the great standing stone, the value whereof is extended supra under herbage. And the moiety 'del helme' lying towards 'le Hakiside' ; and the moiety 'del haynin' lying towards the garden of Wullower ; and the moiety 'des ossers' lying towards Yerdhulle pertaining to that part ; the value of which is extended within the demesne, as pertaining thereto.

This is the other moiety of Isabella de Forde's forest in Chyviot on the south of the underwritten bounds ; beginning 'del Stodpulle' as far as 'le Cluou' of Crumbeside, and so as far as 'le Holinhepe' at Caldelauburne, and so as far as 'le Moriley' between Bradstroit and 'le Langhestan,' as far as 'le Brokehole' in High Bradhou, and as far as 'le Blakeford' in Wraysinheswod, and so ascending as far as Wulhopecar and so ascending as far as 'le Lahu' on the south part of High Chyviot, and so by 'le Condos' as far as Caldeclouheued, and so as far as Thewesrode.

To this part the escheator assigns the advowson of the church of Wllouer, with the service of Walter de Steynisby from his tenement of Steynisby.

The homage and service of Odenell de Forde was assigned to William de Huntercumbe and Isabella his wife. In recompense the homage and service of William de Akild was assigned to the Earl of Stratherne, and the homage and service of Robert de Hulecester to Adam de Wygetone and Isabella de Forde his wife ; each of these being a full knight's fee. And this partition was made soon (cito) after the death of Robert de Muscamp by consent of his heirs, viz., the Earl of Stratherne, William de Huntercumbe and Adam de Wyghetone. And the [present] partition was made at [Calcetum ?]
 on Monday next before the feast of St Mark Evangelist, by Sirs W[illiam] de Muscamp, Symon de Lukir, Robert de Manerio, knights ; Thomas de Akild, William de Stey[nisbi] Thomas forestarius, Adam Ippejoy, Walter de Fenton, Hugh and Robert de Heddun, Walter de Hex[tildisham], Warin de Beleforde, John de Cheulingham, baker, who append their seals.

- Sept. 20. 2013. The K. having received letters from Alexander K. of Scotland, dated at Roxburgh 20th September, 7th year of his reign, as follows:—The K. of Scotland declares that at the instance of his father-in-law Henry, and the Council of his own magnates, viz., W[illiam] bishop of Glasgow, R[ichard] bishop of Dunkeld, P[eter] bishop of Aberdeen, and G[amelin] elect of St Andrews; the Abbots of Dunfermline, Kelso, Jedburgh, and Newbottle; M[alcolm] earl of Fife, P[atric] earl of Dunbar, N[igel] earl of Carrik, M[alise] earl of Stratherne; Alexander the Steward of Scotland, Robert de Brus, Alan Durward, Walter de Moravia, David de Lindesay, William de Brechyn, Hugh Giffard, Roger de Mowbray, Gilbert de Hay, Robert de Meyners, William de Duneglas, John de Vallibus, William de Ramsay, and others of his barons; he had removed the Bishops of Glasgow and Dunblane, and the Elect of St Andrews; W[alter] Comyn, earl of Menetyef (Menteth), Alexander Comyn earl of Buchan, William earl of Mar; John de Bayllo, Robert de Ros, Aymer de Maxwell, and Maria his wife, John Comyn, Nicholas de Sules, Thomas de Normanvyle, Alexander Uviet (Eviot?), John de Dundemore, David de Graham, John le Blund, Thomas son of Ranulf, Hugh Gurle (Gourlay), and William his brother, William Wischard archdeacon of St Andrews, friar Richard almoner of the Order of the Temple, David de Louchor, John Wischard, William de

HENRY III. Cadehou, and William the K.'s late chaplain; from his Council and ——— their offices (balliis), in consequence of their demerits. That he would 1255. not restore them or their accomplices or 'fautours' to his favour until they had atoned for their offences against the K. of England and himself, which he would compel them to do by all lawful means.
 In the event of any foreign prince invading Scotland, it was agreed on both sides that they might be restored to favour. By the advice of his father-in-law and his own magnates, he had ordained that Richard and Peter, bishops of Dunkeld and Aberdeen; the Earls of Fyfe, Dunbar, Stratherne, and Carrik; Alexander the Steward of Scotland, Robert de Brus, Alan Durward, Walter de Moravia, David de Lindeseie, William de Brechin, Robert de Meyners, Gilbert de Hay, and Hugh Giffard; should be appointed of his Council, Regents of the kingdom, and Guardians of himself and his Queen; that they should not be removed from the Council or their offices, except for manifest demerit, for seven years complete, beginning from the feast of the Translation of St Cuthbert [14th Sept.] 1255, or such shorter period as might be agreed on between the two kings. That vacancies were to be supplied by the surviving Regents. Nothing was to be done concerning feudal wards or escheats without their consent.
 They were to appoint sheriffs foresters and other minor officers in room of those removed for offences. That the royal castles should remain in the hands of their present custodiers. The K. farther promised to the K. of England to treat his daughter with conjugal affection, and the honours befitting her rank; and to the regents, to ratify all their covenants and reasonable grants. That he had caused Patric earl of Dunbar swear on his (the K.'s) soul that the foregoing engagements should be fulfilled, subjecting himself to the Papal coercion and censures should he fail in performance. The K. of England therefore promised to the K. of Scotland that on the expiry of the term specified, no prejudice should arise to him or his kingdom thereby. Sprouston. (Roxburghshire).

(Michaelmas Term.) 2033. The Sheriff of Warwick and Leicester is commanded on the octaves of St Hilary to present R[oger] earl of Winchester, who has to wife Alienora, one of the heirs of Walter formerly Marshal (sic) to

HENRY III. answer to the K. concerning 217*l.* 2*s.* 10¼*d.* of the portion falling to them of 400*l.* yearly, which the K. pays for them and their co-heirs, ——— 1255. to Simon de Montfort and A[lienora] his wife, for the dower falling to her from the land of W[ ] marshal, formerly her husband, in Ireland, from the time when it was assigned to her. [Memoranda, Q. R., 40 Hen. III. m. 1.]

Nov. (?). 2034. Report<sup>1</sup> to the K. by Thomas de Lascelis, William de Derewentewater, Robert de Castelkayrok, and Alan de Orreton, knights of the county of Cumberland. At his command they had visited and inspected the castle of Carlisle, and its condition when delivered by Sir Robert de Bruys to Sir William de Fortibus earl of Albemarle. They found it in bad condition; all the leaden gutters of the great tower decayed (deficiunt), and the doors and windows likewise. The joists and planking are broken and rotten; and the walls of the tower in a bad state, for want of mending and covering. The Queen's chamber which was covered with lead, needs great repair and covering; and the chimney thereof needs instant (?) repair or it will speedily fall on the chamber, which is very dangerous. Maunsell's turret [turella] and the turret of William de Ireby, and the turret beyond the inner gate, which were levelled and made worse, in the great [war] in the time of K. John the K.'s father, were never after restored or repaired. The chapel, the great hall, the kitchens, the granges, the stables, the bakeries, the breweries, and the houses beyond the gate, and the bridges within and without the castle, demand repair and covering beyond measure (ultra modum). There is a great 'crenacia' within the turret of William de Ireby . . . . . from below, requiring repair anew, which was shown to Sir Henry de Bathonia, with the other defects above named. A bretasche within Maunsell's turret, lately (de novo) blown down by wind, is now burned, and so are the doors and windows of the great tower and of the stables and kitchen; and the bolts (serure) of the doors with their iron work, carried off. Great part of the paling within and without the castle is likewise burned and destroyed. The corn of the castle demesne was so expended in autumn both in sheaves (garbis) and summages that the bailiffs of the county could scarcely find seed for the demesne. The servants' liberations and provender of the work cattle and oxen, the hay and forage on which the horses of the Sheriff, Constable, and the servants' and carters' work cattle and oxen should be sustained during the year, except at grasstime, were all expended and wasted before the bailiffs of the county received said castle. The Reporters append their seals. (No date.)

April 24. 2047. Pleas of juries and assizes from the county of Northumberland at Newcastle-on-Tyne, before R. de Thurkelby and his socii Justices in Eyre, on the morrow of the Close of Easter, in the 40th year of the K.'s reign.

[Extracts.]

[m. 1, d.] Alan de Harecarres and Agnes his wife complain that Isabella de Muschaump wife of Richard de Moryn has disseized them of the common pasture pertaining to their freehold in the vill of Lowyk, in a wood containing about 200 acres, which they were used to have all the year for their work cattle. Isabella avers that she holds the wood in the same state as Robert de Muschaump her late husband did at his death. The jury find that the said Robert had disseized Alan and Agnes a year before his death, and thereon the K.'s escheators seized the manor. They had promised the plaintiffs common in the said wood, but meanwhile the K. assigned the manor to Isabella in dower, who held it free. The plaintiffs therefore are in amercement for a false claim, with leave to take another writ if they will.

[m. 2, d.] William de Duglasse acknowledged that he had granted by charter to William his son for his homage and service, a carucate of land in Warentham, and 40 acres of land in same vill, by two charters, as more fully therein; and John de Haulton and Johanna de Faudon shall remain guardians of said William and his land, as he is under age.

[m. 4.] John de Casterne who held a writ of agreement against William de Sumerville concerning the manor of Hulneby justa Tyne, withdrew himself. He and his pledges are amerced, viz., John and Adam de Tyrwyt. His pledges for the fine are William de Faudon and William de Alventon.

[m. 4, d.] The K. commands that Peter de Percy, assigned as a justice in eyre on this assize, shall have the keeping of the third roll of the 'Iter.'

[m. 13.] Pleas of the Crown in the county before the above justices. The township of Alnewyk came by twelve [jurors]. They present that one Gilbert of Niddesdale, a stranger, joined himself to a hermit called Semannus of Botelesham, and when they were on a moor, Gilbert beat the hermit, wounded and left him for dead, taking away his clothes and a penny, and fled. And in his flight he met Ralf de Beleford a K.'s sergeant, who took him charging him as a malefactor, and led him to Alnewyk. The hermit came there and accused him of the robbery and assault. Gilbert confessed the charge before the Bailiff and the men of Alnewyk, whereon the sergeant made the hermit behead him. The Sheriff and the coroner being asked by what warrant he was beheaded, say that this is the custom of the county, that so soon as one is taken 'cum manu opere' (red hand) he is at once beheaded. And he who pursues him for his stolen goods has them for beheading him.

[m. 13, d.] The township of Wulloure came by twelve [jurors].
 William Yrrumpurs committed burglary in the house of Thomas the forester in Wulloure, and stole seven fleeces, valued at 2s. The men of the vill followed and beheaded him in presence of the K.'s bailiff.
 His chattels were 9s. 6d. which the Sheriff received. Hereon came the bailiffs of the Earl of Stratherne, William de Huntercumbe, and Richard Moryn, the heirs of Robert de Muschaunz, and claimed the chattels, as the accused was justified in their court, and say that such is the custom of the county. This to be spoken about.

[m. 13, d.] The township of Roubiry came by twelve [jurors]. They present that Robert of Creglinge (Crailing?) and James 'le Scot,' two strangers, were taken on suspicion of larceny by the bailiffs of William de Valence, and put in William's prison at Rowebyri.
 Robert afterwards escaped to the church there, acknowledged his larceny, and abjured the kingdom, before William of Baumburgh the coroner. He had no chattels. James was delivered to the Sheriff, who answers for him, and to the trial for the escape against William de Valence. The town of Rowebyri did not take Robert. Therefore is in amercement.

[m. 14.] The township of Newbigging came by twelve [jurors].
 Concerning the new customs levied. They say that William de Valence's bailiffs take toll of  $\frac{1}{2}d.$  each from men coming to Corbridge

 ——— Comyn's bailiffs take a toll of  $\frac{1}{2}d.$  for each horse coming through the vill 1256. of Newburg where none was taken formerly. To be spoken about.

April 24. [m. 14.] The township of Corebrigge came by twelve [jurors]. The jury present that one Michael of Anegos, of Scotland, killed Thomas of Ayden and Alan Joel in the vill of Corebridge, fled forthwith, and is of evil repute. Therefore he is outlawed. It is said he has no chattels, being a stranger of Scotland. The vill of Corebridge did not take him, and is in amercement. It appears that he left three stolen horses behind him. William de Valence's bailiffs took and keep them without warrant. Their value is 40s. for which William de Valence shall answer.

They present that John Comin takes toll at Newburg and Hehis- ham from the K.'s men, where none was ever levied, and by what warrant they know not. To be spoken about.

John of Dumfries, Adam of Dumfries, and Eva his wife, were lodged in William le Despenser's house in Corebridge, and a strife arose between them for Adam's wife. Adam struck John with a knife (cutello) in the belly, causing instant death. He and his wife forthwith fled to Rowbyry church, confessed the deed, and abjured the kingdom, before the coroner. Their chattels are 10*d.*, for which the Sheriff to answer; and the vill of Corebridge is fined for not taking them.

[m. 14.] They present that William de Nutel', clerk, a native of Nottingham, wounded a certain unknown Scotsman between Ovington and Ovingham, so that his life is despaired of. He fled to Corebridge church, acknowledged the deed, and that he had been a malefactor in his own county for reset of thieves and other evil deeds; and abjured the kingdom before the coroner Adam Baret. Nothing known of his chattels, being a stranger.

[m. 15.] The bailliary of the south part of Koket (Coquet) came by twelve [jurors]. Walter Ledbeter of Heydon, William son of Thomas Spink of same place, Roger son of William of la Dene, Thomas son of Uttred of Lippewode, withdrew themselves on suspicion of a robbery in Scotland at the house of William Priker, and are of evil repute. Outlawed. They have no chattels.

[m. 15.] William of Erlington of Scotland beat William son of Ralf of Lipewode in Extildesham (Hexham) so that he died within a month. William forthwith fled and is outlawed. He has no chattels, being in Scotland. The vill of Hexham fined for not taking him. The attachment is denied, as the Bailiffs of Hexham do not allow the coroners or the Sheriff to enter that liberty.

 1256. Parva Heton fined for not taking them. The hue and cry (hutesium) was raised, and the vills of Ryhulle and Ingou are fined for not pursuing.

April 24. [m. 17, d.] Concerning faults. Earl Malcolm earl of Fyf, is [among a list of persons] fined for not coming before the Justices on the first day.

[m. 19.] The bailliary of North Koket came by twelve [jurors].
 The jurors present that one Thomas Gilemyn of Heweden (Hauden) a Scotsman, slew Thomas Smolt of Hewedon in the field of Karham.
 Robert son of Ralf the first finder, is not suspected. Thomas fled to Scotland, and is outlawed. Nothing is known of his chattels, being a stranger.

[m. 19.] Certain malefactors unknown, from Scotland, came to Gilbert the cook's house in Carham, and there took one Maculum of Scotland, beheaded him outside of the house, and immediately fled to Scotland. William son of Walter, first finder, is not suspected.
 The vills of Carham, Prestefen, Manglawe, Mildrum, and Leveremue, buried him without view of the coroner, and are fined. And William de Prederwyk made himself coroner, and was not. Therefore fined.

[m. 19.] A weaveress (textrix) of Brankeston left her house there, which was burned before her return, with a boy in it of two years old. The first finder is dead. No one is suspected. Judgment.
 Misadventure (infortunium).

[m. 19.] Some malefactors unknown robbed the house of Robert son of Geoffry in Palxton by night, and after binding him and his wife, took away their goods and fled to Scotland.

[m. 19, d.] John Schaft struck Jordan of Cludesdale with a staff on the head, who instantly died. John forthwith fled and is outlawed.
 His chattels are 36s. for which the Sheriff shall answer. And John Scot of Schele is attached because he was present. He came and is not suspected. But for not taking him he is fined half a mark, by pledge of Thomas of Ayl.

The Sheriff is directed to cause William de Hulmo who appeals William de Duueglas, to come.

[m. 20.] William de Lindeseye, Nicholas de Swynton, and Thomas son of Gilbert of Ryel, killed Ralf Bende outside the house of Elias the miller, in Exlington. William and Nicholas instantly fled.
 Thomas fled to the peace of Karum, and hearing that William and Nicholas had withdrawn themselves, returned to the vill of Ryel, and was received till the arrival of the Justices. He has now withdrawn.

HENRY III. They are all outlawed. Thomas's chattels are 2*4s. 8d.* The Sheriff to answer. The others have none. The vill of Ryel fined for receiving Thomas.

1256. 2051. Cumberland:—Final agreement made in the K.'s court at May 26. Carlisle on the morrow of Ascension, 40 of the K.'s reign, before John, abbot of Burgh St Peter's, Roger de Thurkelby, Peter de Percy, Nicholas de Haulau, and John de Wyville, justices errant, and others
 the K.'s lieges; between Alan de Moleton and Alicia his wife, complainants, and William de Fortibus, earl of Albemarle [defendant].
 Alan and Alicia complain that the Earl, by reason of a fine made between them in the K.'s court at Bedford before the justices, regarding the bounds of the forests of Alredale, Cokermue, and Kaldebek, deforced Alan and Alicia and their men of Braythweyt, Husacre, and Bottermere, of the common pasture and estovers in Derwentefelles, which they held before said fine, since there was no mention made therein of these. Agreed between them in court; viz., the Earl granted that Alan and Alicia and her heirs, and their men aforesaid, should have common pasture for all their work cattle in his forest of Derwentefelles, which had remained to him and his heirs by said fine, and reasonable estovers in same forest by view of the Earl's foresters, if, being warned, they wished to be present. If not, the same to be taken without their view. Saving to the Earl and his heirs their closes and houses in the forest at the date hereof, and power to make enclosures (apruamenta) therein, provided Alan and Alicia, her foresaids and men have sufficient common pasture and estovers as aforesaid. And if their 'avers' enter the said closes and enclosures from defect of the fence, they shall not be impounded but chased out without detriment or giving any thing for their escape.
 The Earl also grants to Alan and Alicia her heirs and their men of Botremere a common entry and exit to their pasture in the forest, of forty feet in breadth, beyond the Earl's arable land in Botremere, towards the south, and another entry and exit of the same breadth, beyond his arable land in said vill towards the east. And that they and their men of Braithweyt may have a like entry and exit of same breadth to their pasture towards the south, next to the Earl's sheepfold in Coldale. And the Earl also restored in court to them an acre of land lying in a place called Godrichesskales, and a stable with its site, next the entry of Derewenteswatre for ever. And for this grant remission and quit-claim, Alan and Alicia granted to the Earl and his heirs common pasture for all his 'avers' in their forest, and reasonable estovers therein by view of their foresters when summoned, and in their absence without view; saving to Alan and Alicia and her heirs, their closes and houses in the forest on the day of this agreement, and right to make enclosures therein, provided the Earl and his heirs have sufficient common pasture and estovers as aforesaid. But it shall not be lawful to Alan and Alicia or their fore-saids or men, without the Earl's or his heirs' consent, besides [extra]

HENRY III. the old hays and closes that they have in the Earl's forest at this ——— date, to make any closes in future, or raise houses, or claim any thing 1256. therein except common pasture, entry, and exit as aforesaid. Nor shall the Earl, his heirs, or men, without the consent of Alan and Alicia or their foresaids, have any right besides their old hays and closes in the latter's forest, to make any closes, or build houses or claim any thing therein save common pasture, estovers, and entry and exit as aforesaid. And both parties agree that they and their respective heirs may have pannage for swine 'agisted' in their several woods in mast time (tempus pessone) for ever. Saving to them respectively the pannage of their tenants, viz., of those who are bound to give it to their lord's swine, wherever they may be 'agisted,' whether in the forest or out of it. And this agreement is made, saving to Nicholas de Moristeby, Nicholas le Englays, Nicholas le Frauneys, John Lanlauerd and Adam de le Hou, the men of the said Alan and Alicia, and her heirs, and their heirs, and to the Earl's men of Sadmurdak, common pasture and reasonable estovers, corresponding to their several holdings, and free entry and exit, respectively; the former to the Earl's forest, and the latter to Alan and Alicia's forest in Derewentefelles, as they had before the said fine was made, except in the lord's closes or future enclosures; under the limitations and provisions as to breaking fences, and others foresaid.

May 26. 2052. Cumberland:—Final agreement made in the K.'s court at Appelby, on the morrow of Ascension, 40th of the K.'s reign, before
 John abbot of Burgh St Peter's, Roger de Thurkelby, Peter de Percy,
 Nicholas de Haulau and John de Wyville justices errant, and others
 the K.'s lieges; between Gilbert de Halteclo complainant, and Alan de Moleton and Alicia his wife deforciant, regarding common pasture claimed by Gilbert in their lands, woods and moors in Kaldebek and Halteclo, and reasonable estover in the same. Agreed between them in court; viz., that Gilbert remits and quit claims to them and Alicia's heirs, his whole right of common pasture in their demesne lands both ploughed and not ploughed; likewise in the demesne 'haya' of Karbek by its ancient metes and bounds; or in any other lands, meadows, woods, moors, or pastures, which were enclosed at the date hereof. He likewise grants that Alan and Alicia may enclose a place between Blabek and Holebek to enlarge their close adjacent to their court in said vill towards the south, in a straight line from the same. And if his 'avers' or those of his tenants stray into the demesne lands, 'hay' or close, they shall not be impounded but driven out without detriment, and if twelve or more enter and feed they shall be fined 6*d.*, and if fewer than twelve, 4*d.*
 Gilbert also grants that he and his heirs with Alan and Alicia's men of Kaudebek, henceforth, for 2 bovates of land he holds in Halteclo of

HENRY III. the tenement which was Hughtred's de Stockebrede and Agnes his wife, make and repair the hunting 'hay' of Alan and Alicia of Karrok when needful. And he also remits and quit-claims to Alan and Alicia and the latter's heirs all right to any estover in the said 'hay' of Karrok or the close or place aforesaid, or in the other woods in the demesne lands of Alan and Alicia. For which remission quit-claim and fine, the latter grant leave to Gilbert to enclose with a hedge and ditch 40 acres of land and wood in Halteclo lying next his court towards the north, and 3 acres of land and wood lying next a place called Hughtredeshau towards the north, and to make his profit thereof at pleasure for ever. They also grant that he and his heirs may have and take reasonable estovers in the foreign woods of the villis of Kaldebek and Halteclo, and as much common pasture as pertains to his tenement in Kaldebek and Halteclo in the common pastures thereof; saving to Alan and Alicia their demesne lands, woods, closes and 'hay' as aforesaid.  and envoy in England. Desires him to enjoin the prelates and other dignified clergy of Scotland to afford liberal aid to the Pope to defray his debts incurred in the affair of Sicily; in which case his Holiness will remit the papal twentieth granted to the K. of England in aid of the Holy Land. If they do not, he is to collect the twentieth without delay. If he has to take proceedings, he is to keep silence as to any privileges or indulgences to the Scottish Church, or the question of its independence. Anagni, 5th of the Kalends of October, 2d year of his pontificate. [Fœdera, Vol. I.
p. 348.]
- Sept. 27. 2066. The same to the same. Though the Pope has remitted to the prelates the twentieth of ecclesiastical benefices in Scotland, granted to the K. of England, yet the redemptions of vows of crusaders, uncertain bequests (legata indistincté) and offerings arising from whatever cause, in aid of the Holy Land, should be collected for the said K.'s use. He accordingly commands his envoy to collect the same, under the above reservations as to secrecy. (Same date.) [Fœdera, Vol. I. p. 349.]
- Oct. 18. 2067. As it is attested before the K. that Thomas de Hastings,

- Dec. 24. 2099. The K. instead of the annual fee which he granted to Alan Durward (Ostarius) at Exchequer, has committed to him the castle and manor of Boleshoure, to sustain himself during the K.'s pleasure. And Roger de Lovetot sheriff of Nottingham is commanded to deliver the manor and castle to him. And any damage incurred therein will be allowed to him at the sight of Henry de Bathonia and Philip Luvel the Treasurer. Westminster.
 The tenants of the manor are commanded to be intente and answerable to Alan in all things relating to the castle and manor. [Fine, 42 Hen. III. m. 11; and Originalia, 42 Hen. III. m. 2.]
- 1257–58. 2100. Kent:—Reginald de Cobeham (Roger de Norwude and other executors of his will for him) for the first half year, and Nicholas de Molis (Walter de Berstede for him) for the second, render their accounts. Discharged of scutage by the K.'s writs; William de Wilton who married Roesia de Dovor, widow of Richard de Chileham; for fourteen fees of Fobert de Dovor. [Interlined above this entry, Alexander de Baillol who has to wife Isabella daughter and heiress of Richard de Dovor who was heir of said Roesia; in a later hand and paler ink.] [Pipe, 42 Hen. III. m. 13. dorso.]
- 2101. Compotus of Richard de Shireburne of certain of the K.'s demesnes and escheats from the feast of St Scolastica virgin in the 40th year, viz., from the day of the death of Thomas de Stanford the K.'s escheator ultra Trent, till 12th February in the 41st year, when the K. committed his demesnes and escheats beyond Trent to said Richard by his patent writ; and from said 12th February till

HENRY III. the feast of St Luke Evangelist in the 42d year, the 43d year
 ——— beginning; before the said Richard delivered said bailliary to H[ugh] 1257-58. le Bygod, Justiciar, as he says. Cumberland. He accounts for 9*l.* 10*s.* 7*d.* of the issues of the lands of William de Ireby, from St Clement's day in the 42d year, till 12th December same year, before he delivered the lands to Thomas de Laceles, who married Cristiana daughter and heiress of Cristiana daughter of Odard de Hodeholm who was widow of the said William, by the K.'s writ. [Pipe, 42
Hen. III. m. 14, dorso.]

2102. York :—William le Latimer renders his account. To A[lexander] K. of Scotland 100*l.*, for the 100*s.* which he ought to draw each day for his expenses, so often as it happens him to come to the K. of England by the K.'s command (mandato), by the K.'s writ;
 and to the same, 11*l.* 1*s.* 4*d.* for his expenses laid out at Windsor, by the same writ; and to Margaret Queen of Scotland by the K.'s precept 100 marks, by the K.'s writ. Henry son of earl David and Nicholas de Bretteville owe 4 marks and 10*s.* of prests. [Pipe, 42
Hen. III. m. 19.]

Jan. 17. 2103. The K. to Edmund de Lacy. As certain rebels have secretly taken away the K. of Scotland from the custody of the Council set over him till his lawful age, and detain him against his will, to the manifest scandal and disgrace of both kings, the K. wishing to give effectual aid, commands Edmund with his whole service to join the expedition he is about to send to Scotland to deliver the said K. Windsor.

Similar writs to Roger de Munbray, Henry de Percy, William de Ros, Robert his son, Peter de Brus [and upwards of sixty others].
 And the Bailiffs of the liberties of Richmundshire and Redell, of W. de Valence of Alnewik, and all the marchers (marchiones) of Northumberland, Cumberland, Westmorland, and Coupland, of Kermell, Kendal, and Gillaund, are commanded to come with a 'multitude of foot and archers.' [Close, 22 Hen. III. m. 12, dorso.]

Jan. 22. 2104. The K. to the Barons of Dover and the other Cinque Ports.
 As master Gamelin bishop of St Andrews of Scotland has obtained certain things in the Roman Curia in disinheritance of A[lexander] K.
 of Scotland, to the scandal of both kings, he sends them, to look out for his arrival from beyond seas or Scotland, his valet William Biset, commanding them to arrest the Bishop and his party till further orders. Windsor.

Printed, Fœd., Vol. I. p. 369.

[Patent, 42 Hen. III. m. 14, dorso.]

Jan. 30. 2105. As the K. sometime ago committed to Alan le Usser (Durward) the castle and manor of Bolesmere (Bolsover) during pleasure, for his fee granted by the K. to him at Exchequer, Roger

HENRY III. de Lovetot sheriff of Nottingham is commanded to deliver to him — all the crop on said manor at a valuation. Westminster. [Close, 1257-58. 42 Hen. III. m. 11.]

Feb. 3. 2106. Essoins coram Domino Rege, at Westminster on the morrow of the Purification of the Blessed Mary, in his 42d year. Northampton:—Gilbert de Lindeseye attorney of Walter de Murref versus Reginald de Watrevile in a plea of trespass, wherein an inquisition by John fitz William [is] appointed in the octave of Holy Trinity, unless the K. before, &c. [Coram Rege, 42 Hen. III. No. 105, m. 4.]

Feb. 13. 2107. The K. to G[amelin] bishop of St Andrews of Scotland, 'such greeting as he deserves.' Certain of his Council have requested him to grant the Bishop a safe conduct through England to Scotland,— though the K. understands the Bishop ceases not to compass the damage of the K. himself, of the K. and Queen of Scotland, and the K.'s friends there. It pleases the K., if the Bishop gives sufficient security not to do so, and comes to the K., the latter will give him a conduct. The K. sends William Biset his valet to meet him at Dover, and bring him to the K., under these conditions. Westminster. [Close, 42 Hen. III. m. 12, dorso.]

Feb. 16. 2108. As Reginald le Rus servant of Robert de Brus was in the K.'s service in Wales with the knights of said Robert at the time of the K.'s expedition, the K. pardons him half a mark demanded from him by an Exchequer summons for a debt of Richard le Rus his father by suretyship. Westminster. [Fine, 42 Hen. III. m. 10.]

Feb. 17. 2109. As Robert de Brus was in Scotland by the K.'s orders, at the time of the K.'s Welsh expedition, the Sheriff of Rutland is commanded to let him have his scutage of the knights' fees he holds in capite there, at 40s. a fee for this year, by the K.'s gift. Westminster. [Close, 42 Hen. III. m. 10.]

March 9. 2110. G[amelin] bishop of St Andrews of Scotland, with his attendants, has a safe conduct coming to speak with the K. at London, to endure till the quinzaine of Easter next. Westminster.
Cancelled because otherwise below. [Patent, 42 Hen. III. m. 19.]

March [15.] 2111. John de Baillol, of the 500*l.* for which he made a fine with the K. for his grace, and the 100 marks wherein he was amerced before the K.'s justices last errant in Northumberland, has paid the K. in his wardrobe 550 marks; viz., 100*l.* at Chester, when the K.
 was there on his expedition, and 400 marks on Friday next after the feast of St Gregory this year. Therefore the K. remits to him and his heirs the remainder of the above debt. Westminster.

By the K. and Council, and because he went on the K.'s message to Scotland. [Fine, 42 Hen. III. m. 9. See also Patent, 42 Hen.
III. m. 11.]

- HENRY III. 2112. G[amelin] bishop of St Andrews of Scotland, and his
 ——— retinue, have a safe conduct coming from Witsand to the K. at 1257. London, and returning to Witsand, unless the K. gives him licence March 16. to go through England to Scotland; to endure till the quinzaine of Easter next. Westminster. [Patent, 4<sup>e</sup> Hen. III. m. 11.]
- March 23. 2113. The K. to his barons, knights, and lieges in York, Northumberland, and Cumberland. They know how certain magnates of Scotland, have long been hostile to the K., and the K. and Queen of Scotland and the K.'s friends there, and even yet are contriving their injury; wherefore the K. sends Robert de Nevyle and William le Latymer meanwhile to Scotland to oppose their malice. The K.
 commands his lieges to be in readiness, when required by his said envoys or either of them, to attend them with their forces in aid and succour of his aforesaid friends. Westminster. [*Close, 4<sup>e</sup> Hen. III.
 m. 10, dorso.*]
1258. 2114. The K. to Robert de Neville. A[lexander] K. of Scotland
 March 25. lately informed the K. by his envoys the Abbot of Jedburgh (Jeddewurthe) and William de Hay (Kaya), that he had convened his parliament at Stirling (Stryvelin) in three weeks from Easter, and requested the K. to send some of his provident and discreet magnates thereto, that their presence might redress offences to the K. and Queen, likewise to the K. and Queen of Scotland, and others the K.'s friends. But on account of the short notice, the distance of the place, and its inaccessibility, and above all, as the K.
 must hold a parliament (colloquium) meanwhile on diverse difficult matters, and cannot send any of the magnates whom he would on the day fixed, he provides that the Abbot of Burgh, R[oger] de Quency earl of Winchester, and John de Baylol, shall be present at the parliament, and 'interpel' the K. of Scotland to hold the same on a day, when the K. may conveniently send, at some fitting place on this side the sea [the Forth]; provided the K.'s friends are not molested, and peace kept between both sides; but if the K.'s friends are attacked and war break out in Scotland, he commands de Neville with all the knights he can collect in his bailliary, to hurry to their assistance when required by any one of them, along with William le Latimer who has been instructed, if he can be present,—if not, to go without him; lest from want of aid the K.'s friends are troubled and give way to their enemies; and he is to take the needful funds from the issues of his bailliary. The K. has also written to the Earl of Albemarle to give succour with the knights of his bailliary when required. If the adverse party meanwhile keep quiet, it seems good to the K. that de Neville and his followers do the like, keeping themselves in readiness to attend another parliament at Roxburgh, where the K.'s friends are to assemble in three weeks after Easter, as the K.

HENRY III. has commanded them. Westminster. [Close, 42 Hen. III. m. 10, dorso.] 1258. 2115. The K. to Hugh de Bolebek. When the K. was lately in March 28. Wales on the expedition against Lewelyn son of Griffin, who had made war and ravaged the K.'s, his son Edward's, and his other lieges' lands, it was by advice of the K.'s magnates provided on account of the lateness of the season and winter coming on, that next summer they should return to the expedition. The K. commands Hugh on Monday next before the feast of St John Baptist, viz., eight days before that day at latest, to meet the K. at Chester with his forces against Lewelin; unless meanwhile he shall be summoned by Robert de Nevill and William le Latimer to go to the aid of the K.'s friends in Scotland, in virtue of the letters patent addressed to him and other lieges in York, Northumberland, and Cumberland. Merton.

Similar letters to Roger Bertram, Roger de Moubray, Edmund de Lascy, R. de Quency earl of Winchester, William de Creistok, William de Ros, the Earl of Stratherne, Henry de Percy, Nicholas de Bolteby, William de Stuteville, Thomas son of Thomas de Muleton, Thomas son of Lambert de Muleton, W. de Fortibus earl of Albemarle, Walter de Lindesey, Adam de Evermelham, John de Bayllo, Peter de Bruz, Peter de Percy, Roger de Merlay, William de Huntercumbe, Ralf de Normanville. May 13. 2126. The K. to the K. of Scotland. The latter's envoys, master Adam, provost of the city of St Andrews, and Thomas de Normanville, had carefully (diligenter) related to the K. what had been enjoined on them by the persons whom the K. had sent to the parliament (colloquium) at Edinburgh. In the matters befitting the K. of Scotland's and his friends' interests, which the K. thinks worthy to be toiled after, for several reasons the K. was unable to send the persons whom the said envoys thought should be appointed, or others equally fitted, at the day fixed, especially as three of them had crossed the seas on important affairs of their own. Since then the K. has convened his parliament (colloquium) at Oxford, in a month from Pentecost, from whence he intends 'Deo disponente' immediately to set out against his Welsh rebels. He therefore asks the Scottish K. to prorogue his parliament till the feast of the Nativity of the Blessed Mary next, at a nearer and more convenient place, and that meanwhile the K.'s friends in Scotland should be protected from any discord or contention. The K. hopes that the result will be to the honour and advantage of all. Asks him to reply what he thinks should be done. Winchester. [Close, 42 Hen. III. m. 8, dorso.]

May 14. 2127. The K. to William le Latimer sheriff of York and Robert de Neville sheriff of Northumberland. The K. has sent back the 'prudent men' master Adam de Malcarueston provost of St Andrews, and Thomas de Normanville, the K. of Scotland's envoys, to said K., asking him in writing, to prorogue his parliament fixed (captum) at Edinburgh, in the quinzaine of Trinity, for reasons assigned in the letter, till the feast of the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary next. Commands them to send some discreet man whom they can trust to the K. of Scotland, with the K.'s letters, that he may hear that K.'s answer and report it to the K. They are nevertheless to attend personally at Edinburgh on the quinzaine of Holy Trinity, when, if necessary, and the said K. is unwilling (noluerit) to prorogue his parliament, and they see the K.'s friends need it, they are to assist them with their utmost power. Winchester. [Close, 42 Hen. III. m. 8.]

May 16. 2128. William Latimer sheriff of York is commanded to go as often as he conveniently can to the K.'s daughter M[argaret] Queen of Scotland to see that she has necessary solace and succour, as the K. has demanded of him by his letters patent; and he is to reimburse himself from the issues of his bailliary, without however neglecting the provision for the K.'s Welsh expedition. Winchester.

HENRY III. Similar command to Robert de Nevyle sheriff of Northumberland.

1258. 2129. Pleas at Oxford before H. le Bygod Justiciar of England, [Circa and R. de Thurkelby and H. de Bathonia, in a month from Holy June 16.] Trinity. Cumberland :—The Sheriff sent the inquisition which he had been commanded to make as to the land and heir of Odard de Wigeton, certifying that Odard held of the K. in capite, the manor of Melmerby with its pertinents, viz., Steynton, Blakhille and Wardwik, by cornage, and its value was 20*l. per annum*. That Odard held in capite of W[illiam] de Fortibus earl of Albemarle, the manor of Wygeton by cornage, and it was worth yearly 15*l.* That Walter, Odard's son, was his next heir, and twenty-one years of age and more. Hereon came John de Langeton and said on behalf of John le Franceys, who held the manor of Melmorby in custody till the heir's full age, that Walter was not yet of age, and that the inquisition so taken by the Sheriff, was made by jurors who did not know his age. Walter the heir being present, says he is twenty-two years of age and asks seizin. And moreover says that the Earl of Albemarle of whom his father Odard held the manor of Wygeton, delivered seizin thereof to him as of full age, and took his homage. Further, that many of his neighbours (de patria ubi natus fuit) were in court, who knew and could testify to his age. And he produces Gilbert de Hauteclou, Nicholas de Metelthone, Peter de Ros, William de Lasceles, Andrew de Feugerres, Roger la veyle, John Bakun, Nicholas le taylur, and John of Ely. Who say on oath that Walter is of age, and will be twenty-two years old from the instant Assumption of the Blessed Mary [August 15th]. Asked how they know this,—say it is evident from the inquisition before the Sheriff, at which they were present. And they say that John le Fraunceys was there and removed several jurors, consenting to the others on the inquisition. That the Earl of Albemarle made an inquisition in his court at Cokermue, and found that Walter was of age and gave him his land. That the present K. gave the custody of the manor of Melmorby to Walter late bishop of Carlisle, till the heir's age. The Bishop demised it to William de Huntercumbe, and he to William de Shelford, and the latter to John le Fraunceys. The judgment of court is, that the heir recover seizin, and the Sheriff is directed to give it; and the K. has taken Walter's homage. [Coram Rege, 42 & 43 Hen. III. No. 106, m. 1.]

Aug. 4. 2132. Pleas at Dunwich on Sunday next after the feast of St Peter 'ad vincula,' in the K.'s 42d year, before Roger de Thurkelby and William de Swineford, sheriff, whom Roger associated with himself.

Suffolk :—The Sheriff having been directed to summon a jury of Dunwich and vicinity to inquire who had arrested the goods and merchandize of Reginald le enfaunt citizen of Acre [Acon] of Dunwich—for what cause, and into whose hands they had come—which Reginald valued at 100 marks and more; Walram de Muncy, William de Money, Geoffry Ridel, Walter de Henham, Warin de Barsham, Edmund de Wimundhale, Henry de Biskelee, foreign jurors; Robert Bernard, Dyonisius de Aldeburgh, Alan le rey, Eustace fitz Walter, and William Bullok, John de aula and Augustin le clerk, jurors of Dunwich; the Jury,—say on oath that Reginald and his wares arrived [applicuit] at Dunwich. And Lucas le Escot hearing it said he was a surgeon, spoke to him as to curing his [Lucas'] wife of an infirmity which afflicted her. And Reginald took all his goods to the house of Richard, Lucas's son, committing them to Richard and Lucas to be kept for him. He took care of Lucas's wife for four days; but she feeling herself little or no better (alleviatam) of her infirmity asked her husband to remove Reginald, which Lucas accordingly did, expelling him from his house.
 Reginald then went to Richard the son's house, demanding his goods.
 But Lucas and Richard answered him 'precisé' that he should not have his wares till he had made good some trespasses done to them by him. But they alleged none against him. And so they arrested and yet detain his goods and wares. Lucas and Richard came and produced some wares that they had of the plaintiff's, but he on seeing them, asserted that many of those arrested were awanting;
e.g., ten gold rings weighing 5 ounces of gold; whereof three had three rubies; and other three three emeralds; and other three three cameos (camaheuz); and the tenth ring a diamond. Also that there were awanting three dozen and five buttons (butones) of crystal, six pounds of 'azure,' and thirteen 'curde de ginge-brato.' The jury being asked whether the goods and wares arrested by Lucas and Richard were there produced, [just] as Reginald had committed them to be kept, reply, they cannot say or know this in truth (pro vero). But for saving their consciences they

HENRY III. say that the goods and wares which Reginald deposited, and — which Lucas and Richard arrested, were not wholly produced here 1258. as so committed. And that the deficiency of the goods and wares through the arrest of the same in their custody by Lucas and Richard, was carried off (amotus), but the amount they know not.
 And as Lucas and Richard acknowledge the fact of the arrest, and a shortcoming in the goods is found by the inquisition, they are committed in charge to Hubert de Bavent, William de Metefeud, Richard de Biskele, Walter de Shelfhaug', Simon le Daneys, and Simon Basset, to have them coram Rege in the quinzaine of St Michael, to answer for the trespass. Reginald to attend to prosecute.

Note.—All his goods and wares found in the custody of Richard and Lucas [are] under the Sheriff's seal. [Coram Rege, 36-44 Hen.

HENRY III. Enviayn, Jeneu Chch', Roys son of Ednevet, and their friends and ——— allies, as follows. That without the consent of the Welsh prince and 1258-59. magnates, they will make neither peace nor truce henceforth with the K. of England, or any magnates of his realm, or of the realm of Scotland, who at the date of the instrument, are adverse and rebels to the Welshmen and the granters, unless they are all similarly bound with themselves. That they will allow no power, whether a force of horse or foot, to issue from Scotland against the said prince and magnates ; nor afford aid to the K. of England against them, but shall be their faithful allies. Should the K. of Scotland compel them to make peace or truce with the K. of England, or other adversary of the Welshmen, they will bonâ fide procure this also for the latter, and the advantage of their country. In no way, unless as above compelled, will they violate the present agreement ; but rather induce their lord also to enter into the same. Welsh merchants shall have safe conduct to come and trade in Scotland. And they will persuade Scottish merchants to go to trade in Wales. Each of the granters, saving his allegiance to the K. of Scotland, has sworn on the Holy Evangels, in the hand of Gwyd' and Bangr', envoys of the said prince and magnates. And they append their seals to this chyrograph remaining in possession of the Welshmen. The aforesaid princes and magnates taking a like oath in the hand of Alan de Yrewyn the granters' envoy, and appending their seals to a counterpart of the said bond, to remain with the granters.

May 14. 2157. The K. to the K. of Scotland. Acknowledges the messages delivered by his envoy John de Dundemur regarding the money which the writer owes him. On account of the peace between himself and the K. of France, his expedition against his rebels in Wales, and the affairs of Sicily, he is involved in great expenses, and is unable to pay it at present. But by Michaelmas next he hopes to do so in whole or part. Regarding a writing made between them, which the K. of Scotland wishes restored, the K. can do nothing in the absence of his nobles and councillors present at its execution. As to Alexander's request by his said envoy that the K. would not object to his coronation, the K. thinks the present an unsuitable time for it, but when a better season arrives, will act as befits his honour. In respect to his request that the K. would not assist the K. of Man, the K. informs Alexander he will neither oppose him in doing justice, nor has he been urged by any one; but if anything is reported to him

HENRY III. he will do what is right and honourable between himself and Alexander. [Close, 43 Hen. III. m. 11, dorso.]

1259. 2158. Alexander [IV.] to the K. The see of Glasgow being vacant, June 13. his Holiness had rejected master Nicholas archdeacon of Teviotdale, who had been postulated thereto, and appointed his chaplain master John de Cheyam archdeacon of Bath, and presented him to Alexander K. of Scotland, that he might do homage and receive the temporalities. The Pope exhorts the K. to advise and induce the Scottish K. to grant his wishes. Anagnia, the Ides of June, in the 5th year of his pontificate. [Liber 'A' (Chapter House), fol. 42, b.]

1259. 2168. The K. narrating that Robert de Ros had been accused before himself and his council for annoyances and grievances, which through his means had been caused to the K.'s daughter, Margaret Queen of Scotland, in contempt and highest dishonour of the K., while Robert was one of the K. of Scotland's council; and having been called before the K.'s court he had been amerced in 100,000 marks for these transgressions, and since then it has been found that Robert was altogether innocent; therefore pardons to him and his heirs the said fine, and remits all rancour against him on the said account. Moreover as the K. recently in his court sought against Robert his castle and manor of Werk, as the K.'s right and demesne, and Robert called to warrant in court William de Ros his elder brother, the K. seeing that he had no right grounds of action against Robert and William in the case, by advice of the magnates of his council, has therefore remitted to Robert and William and their respective heirs all action and claim regarding the said castle and manor, and discharged Robert and his heirs of the said 100,000 marks of fine. Witnesses:—B[aldwin] archbishop of Canterbury, W. bishop of Worcester, Richard de Clare earl of Gloucester and Hertford, Roger le Bigod, earl of Norfolk and Marshal of England, Umfray de Boun earl of Hereford and Essex, and other magnates.  bridge, say that the said Margaret held the manor of Benstede of Roger de Munbray for three knight's fees, and Roger held of the K.
in capite; and that she had of fixed rent from the manor 10*l.*, and from services and customs of the manor 5 marks. And there are two carucates of land of said manor, value 100*s.* The pasture of wood and plain is worth 2½ marks. And of the garden half a mark.

- Dec. 9.     2173. Inquisition [taken under writ of 'diem clausit extremum,' dated Westminster 25th November previous, addressed to the escheator citra Trent, or the escheator of Bedford] made at Aspele on Thursday next after the feast of St Nicholas in the K.'s 44th year, regarding the lands and tenements of the Countess of Kent. The jurors, Peter Passelewe, Edmund of Wedun, Walter Beyvyn, William Charin (?) of Craule, Simon of Sudwod, Paul of Evereshold, Walter of Ascote, Richard of Budewel, Hendry Charin (?) of Evereshold, Paul of Lithintun, Herbert of Merstun, John Rathel, say, that the land tenement and rent of the manor of Aspele is worth in all 10*l.* per annum. Also that Sir John de Burgo is nearest heir as it should revert to him after the Countess's death, and is of lawful age. Also that Reginald de Saint Valery (Walr') sold the manor to Hubert de Burgo, but they know not whether he quit-claimed, that it might be held of the K. or not. Nor of whom it should be held, as they never heard the charter of infettment.
 And as to this they say, that Wydo de Saint Valery Reginald's father, impleaded Simon de Bello campo regarding the whole barony of Bedford. And for peace Simon gave to Wydo and his heirs the manor of Aspele which was of the said barony, and always defended it regarding foreign service against William de Bello campo. [Inq.

 next after the feast of St Lucia Virgin, in presence of Andrew the attorned clerk of the Justiciar appointed by the K.'s letters, and of Robert de Colechon and other good men of the Levenax, whose seals are appended, by these baronies (baronias); viz., Lesmahagu, Robertiston, Wyston, Thankardiston, Kermikel, Stanus, Kelbride, and Daliel, and by Michael son of Edoff, jurors, who say that Patric father of Robert del Corrok, with Robert's consent, who was then under age, granted to Elena, Robert's spouse, a carucate of land called

HENRY III. Polnegulan, now held by Richard the clerk of Kelmenros, to be held ——— by Elena for life if she had no offspring, or if Robert when of age did 1259. not consent to the marriage. But Robert and Elena having had offspring, the carucate was given by consent of Robert and Elena to Sibilla, Robert's mother in dower. At length Robert in necessity, with consent of his mother and wife, sold the carucate to Richard the clerk the present owner. The jurors having no seals with them, Robert de Colechon, Kathil Macmurchy, and Hugh and Andrew, clerks, have appended theirs, showing the inquisition was rightly made.

[Circa 1259.] 2175. Memorandum:—When Lord Alexander the K. had commanded his sheriff and bailiffs of Lanark to inquire into the holding of Adam de Liberacione of the land of Padevinan (Pettinain), which he holds of the K. in capite, and what service he owes therefor to the K., along with the extent of the land Thomas de Normanville holds of him, and that they should compel Adam to produce his charter and inquisition of the lands, and any one detaining the charter unjustly to be compelled to restore it,—the inquisition was made at Lanark on Thursday next after the feast of the Apostles Philip and James, by these barons and burgesses, viz., William Wafrarius, formerly the K.'s sergeant, Ralf Ferur, William son of Muthe, Gamel of Hindeford, Richard the seneschal of Karemigel (Carmichael), John Scurri of Padevinan, Thomas son of Adam of Carstairs (Castrotharis), William Rufus of Ronestrother. The jurors say that Adam and his heirs are bound to make the service to the K. of two archers, and moreover, of one sufficient sergeant on horseback to do all the usual liberation in the household, with grooms and hounds, of which service these served first,—Robert Collan, Robert Scevel, Laurence Lovel, Adam of Forfare, Edward of the Liberation, John Pret; who took nothing from the K. except victuals.
 Besides if ward, relief, or marriage should happen, they ought to pertain to the K. In testimony whereof the seals of William Wafrarius and Gillcris of Sipelawes are appended. Isabella his (Adam's?) daughter has the charter of the land. The extent of the whole land is 13 marks. (No date.)

 Haket, Walter Faccinger, Thomas Scut, Robert Muner, Thomas
 calvus (the bald), Robert Boys, William Scut, William pellaparius (the skinner), Henry tinctor (the dyer), and others. They say that the HENRY III. above named Richard and Adam molendinarius (the miller) met on Sunday next after the feast of St Michael at the church of the said Saint,<sup>1</sup> and Adam in the cemetery there defamed Richard, calling him a thief, viz., 'Galuvet,'<sup>2</sup> and said that he would make Richard clear out of the town. It chanced on the following Thursday that Richard walked in the street, while Adam stood in the door of a house. A woman said to him, 'withdraw yourself, here is Richard.' Adam said 'I will not, I have as sharp a knife as he.' And then entered the house and drew a knife to disembowel Richard, who in defending himself drew a sword, and struck Adam with the flat. Then Adam twisted (circuivit) his arm round the sword, and Richard snatching it away, wounded him mortally. Then Richard said, I have not killed thee, thou thyself didst it.' The barons jurors concur 'in omnibus' with the burgesses jurors. They all say that Richard is faithful, but Adam was a thief and defamer.

Directs them by the oath of good and loyal men of the county to inquire whether Hector son of Hector de Carric, knight, was vested and seized 'per dies et annos' in five pennyworths (quinque denariatis) of the land of Ackinsauhile, and how he was ejected therefrom, and to cause the inquisition with the jurors' seals, and the writ, to be transmitted to the K. without delay. Witness:—Henry de Graham. Kilwynyn, 21st May, 11 of his reign. [Tower Miscellaneous Rolls, No. 459.]

May 21. 2194. Pope Alexander [IV.] to the Bishops of Lincoln and Bath. Having heard from the special envoys of the K. of Scotland as to the provision made for master John de Cheam, bishop of Glasgow, formerly the Pope's chaplain, of that church, commands the said bishops if they shall learn that he has obtained full possession, to declare that all letters directed by the Pope on behalf of the Bishop or against the K.'s kingdom of Scotland, are altogether recalled and cancelled.

Dated Anagni 12th of the Kalends of June, in the sixth year of his pontificate. [Fœdera, Vol. I. p. 397.]

(Trinity Term.) 2195. Cumberland and Essex:—Robert de Brus is attached to answer to the K. with John de Bayllol concerning 8*l.* 19*s.* 5*d.* which Robert received of the issues of Cumberland. It is agreed by leave of the Barons, between Mathew of York, John's attorney, and Geoffry of Rising, (?) Roberts' attorney, that Robert shall discharge John with the K. of 60*l.* in full, and John shall answer for the whole time he was sheriff, by the quinzaine of St Michael. [Memoranda, 43 & 44 Hen. III. m. 11.]

Aug. 1. 2196. The K. gives John Comyn licence to pass through England to Canterbury, and thence to parts beyond seas, and similarly to return through England to his own country; to endure till the feast

HENRY III. of the Purification of the Blessed Mary instant. Westminster.

— [Patent, 44 Hen. III. m. 5.]

1260. 2197. The K. gives licence to G[amelin] bishop of St Andrews in Aug. 3. Scotland, to come with his retinue through England to speak with the K. and Queen, then to set forth to France, and return to his see at pleasure. To endure for a year. [Patent, 44 Hen. III. m. 5.]

Aug. 17. 2198. The K. and Queen of Scotland and their retinue have a safe conduct coming to the K. in England, and returning at pleasure. The said K. and his councillors not to be addressed on any matters touching his realm without his consent. And no disturbance or change shall be made by the K. of England in the state of the K. of Scotland or his councillors and other attendants while in England. Windsor.

The Earl of Winchester and John de Bayloll are commanded to conduct the K. and Queen of Scotland in person. Special messengers, viz., Robert de Neville, Hugh de Bolebek, William le Latymer, and friar Robert de Kedeleth, are sent by the K. to request them to come to the K., and to come 'personally' with the messengers. Also Edward the K.'s son, the Archbishop of York, the Earls of Gloucester, Marshal, and Hereford, and Hugh le Bygod, Justiciar of England, were written to, to give a conduct by their letters patent for the said K. and Queen. All the above letters delivered to William le Latymer and Thomas de Kynros, clerk of Sir John Mansell, who ordered all these matters by his master's command. Windsor. [Patent, 44 Hen. III. m. 4.]

Aug. 17. 2199. The K. to William le Latymer his escheator ultra Trent. Commands him from the issues of the K.'s escheatry, to pay friar Robert de Kedeleth whom the K. is despatching on a message to the K. of Scotland, 10 marks for his expenses in going to and returning from Scotland. Windsor. [Liberate, 44 Hen. III. m. 3.]

Aug. 31. 2200. Assizes of novel disseizin, at Kirkandres on Tuesday next after the feast of the Decollation of St John Baptist, anno xliiii. Cumberland:—The assize inquires if Thomas de Muleton unjustly disseized Richard de Vernun and Helewisa his wife, of common pasture in Kirke Oswald pertaining to their freehold in said vill; viz., of the grazing in a field called Hungerhille, containing about 60 acres, wherein they have always been used to common, after the corn and hay have been carried; until the said Thomas enclosed the field with a ditch and kept them out. Thomas is not present, and was not attached, for he was not found. The assize proceeds by default. The court decides that Richard and his wife recover seizin of their common by view of a jury. Thomas is in amercement. Damages, 6*d.* [Coram Rege, 44 & 45 Hen. III. No. 112, m. 6.]

HENRY III. 2201. John de Bayllof not having yet received the 200 marks granted for his service in France and England, has a grant of the ward of the lands of Walter de Wassingele deceased, and the marriage of his heir. Clarendon. [Patent, 44 Hen. III. m. 3.]

[Circa 2202. The letters of the Lord Edward, of the Earls of Gloucester, Sept. 10.] Marishal, and Hereford, and of Hugh le Bygod the Justiciar, concerning the [safe] conduct of the K. and Queen of Scotland, were delivered to Henry de Bochings at Clarendon on the 10th day of September; and the K. wrote to the Archbishop of York, that similar letters under his name had been delivered to the said Henry to be carried to Scotland to friar Robert of Keldelegh with the aforesaid letters. [Close, 44 Hen. III. p. 1, m. 6, dorso.]

[Circa 2203. The K. to William le Latymer his escheator ultra Trent. Sept. 10.] Eustace de Balliol, keeper of the land and heir of Ralf de Levington, shows that a certain heritage in Gamelesby and Glassamby had descended to Cristiana now widow of Thomas de Lasceles, and her sister Eva widow of Robert Avenel. Eva in her widowhood, enfeoffed the said Ralf and his heirs in her half. And Eustace in the name of the heir, obtained seizin both before and after the death of said Thomas. Although the K. has commanded the escheator to give Cristiana seizin of all the lands held by her husband and herself, this is not intended to include the portion of Ralf's heir. And the escheator is commanded to allow Eustace to have in name of the heir, such seizin as he had before and after the death of said Thomas. [Close, 44 Hen. III. p. 1, m. 6, dorso.]

[Circa 2204. The K. and Queen of Scotland being about to visit the K., Sept. 28.] will be at Berwick on Sunday next after the octaves of Michaelmas. Master John Mansell 'custos' of the see of Durham, is commanded to meet them on that day [10th October], offering them on the K.'s behalf, escort through the forests of the see, and entertainment in its castles and manors, and all fitting courtesies and honours. [Close, 44 Hen. III. p. 1, m. 5, dorso.]

Sept. 30. 2205. Alexander K. of Scotland and the Queen, with their retinue, have a safe conduct coming to England, to last till the feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin Mary next. Neither he nor his attendants are to be required to treat of state affairs during their visit. Should he or his queen or any of their retinue fall sick, their safe conduct is to be in force for one month after convalescence. Windsor. [Patent, 44 Hen. III. m. 3.]

Sept. 30. 2206. The K. made oath on his soul, by his knight William le Latymer, that should his daughter the Queen of Scotland become pregnant in England, he would neither detain her, nor her child, if born there, and should the K. its father die, it should be delivered to the magnates of Scotland. Windsor. [Patent, 44 Hen. III. m. 3.]

HENRY III. 2207. The K. commands the Sheriffs of Northumberland, York, Nottingham, Leicester, Northampton, Buckingham, Bedford, and 1260. Hertford, to meet the K. and Queen of Scotland on their journey, in Sept. 30. their several bailliaries, to entertain them in the K.'s castles and manors with the produce of his forests and parks, and receive them with all due honours and courtesies. Windsor.

Printed, Fœd., Vol. I. p. 402.

(On margin.) 'The safe conduct of Edward the K.'s son, and the form of others by the magnates of England, are on the back of this roll. Turn it and you will find them.' [Patent, 44 Hen. III. m. 3.]

Sept. [ .] 2208. Edward, eldest son and heir of the King of England, grants his safe conduct to the K. and Queen of Scotland [in the same terms as that by his father, on 17th August previous]. Caliston'.

[The form of the conduct by H. Bishop of London is appended.]
 'Windsor, on the morrow of St Michael'

Windsor. [Close, 44 Hen. III. p. 1. m. 3.]

Oct. 7. 2210. John Comyn with his attendants has a safe conduct coming to the K. in England and returning to Scotland, to last till the feast of the Purification of the Blessed Mary next. Windsor. [Patent, 44 Hen. III. m. 2.]

Oct. 8. 2211. Richard Earl of Gloucester and Hertford, Henry son of the K. of Almayn, the K.'s nephew, and others, are commanded to receive John Comyn and his attendants in safe conduct, till the feast of the Purification next. Windsor. [Patent, 44 Hen. III. m. 2.]

Oct. 8. 2212. The K. at the instance of A[lexander] K. of Scotland, grants Walter de Lyndeseye respite from knighthood, from this instant feast of St Edward till next Easter, as he is going on pilgrimage to St James. The Sheriffs of Westmoreland and Lancaster are commanded not to distrain him meanwhile. Windsor. [Close, 44 Hen. III. p. 1, m. 4, dorso.]

[Circa 2213. Pleas coram Domino Rege in the quinzaine of St Michael.
 Oct. 13.] Gloucester:—The K., by John de Burgo who pursues for him, appears versus William de Parco, Nigel de Kingescote, William de Waleys, Richard de la Place, Gilbert the miller of Elmore, Stephen

HENRY III. the vicar, friar Peter of Malverne [and forty-two other persons], in — a plea why, as on the death of Margaret countess of Kent lately 1260. deceased, who held of the K. in capite, the first seizin of all her lands of whomsoever held, should pertain to the K., the said William and others on her death, intruded themselves on her manor of Elmore, cut down and carried off the wood, uprooted the trees growing in the garden, carried off the doors and windows, and did 'no small damage' therein. They have not appeared, and made many defaults.
 The Sheriff who was ordered to distrain and present their bodies this day, reports that all the aforesaid except two who are said to be dead, were distrained, and that Richard de Cliveshale and John de Frampton were mainpennors of Nigil de Kyngescote; William Kyrie and Reginald Russel, of William le Waleys; Robert Roc and Reginald le scout, of Richard de la Place; and Richard Horseman, and Symon de Fromelode, of Gilbert the miller of Elemore. [A long list of the others is given.] They are all in amercement. The Sheriff to have their bodies in the quinzaine of St Hilary. The K. by same John, appears versus Walter de Salle bailiff of the earl of Hereford, Nicholas le parker, Roger Goding, and William le messer, in a plea of trespass. They are absent. The Sheriff reports they were attached; Walter by Richard Beleface, and Richard de gurgite; Roger by Richard Partryk and Ralf le cuhyrde; and William le messer, by Walter le careter and Philip Curteys. To give security by better pledges for the above day. The Sheriff reports that Nicholas le parker cannot be found. To take and detain him if found and produce his body on the above day. [Coram Rege, 44 & 45 Hen. III.
No. 111, m. 1.]

 Oct. 20-27.] St Michael. Suffolk:—John de Baylol and Devergoyl his wife, by attornies, appear versus Thomas de Horsheye and William de Linc', Roger Perebrun, John Beneyt, John Brunman, Symon Charles, William de Mulslegye, Roger Fogge, and William de la mawe, in a plea, why, as John and his wife hold the manor of Ludingland in tenancy by delivery from the K. in part excambion of Devergoyl's share of the earldom of Chester, they hinder the said John and Devergoyl from taking the K.'s customs of Yarmouth due in the port by reason of said manor, and in use to be drawn by the K.'s ancestors kings of England, and himself, while the manor was in his hand. Thomas and others are absent. They are attached for the quinzaine of Hilary. [Coram Rege, 44 & 45 Hen. III. No. 111. m. 9,

July 28. 2264. The K. to his Treasurer and chamberlains. Writ for payment to William de Swinburne clerk of A[lexander] K. of Scotland for said K.'s use, of 125 marks, to make up 1000 marks which the K. promised to pay him at the fair of St Botulph this year, in part payment of the debt due by the K. for the marriage of his daughter the Queen of Scotland. Of which 1000 marks the K. has caused to be paid in his wardrobe, 500 marks from the issues of the Bishopric of Winchester, and 375 from the issues of the Bishopric of Durham; viz., from the crops which the K. caused to be sown on the lands thereof during the last vacancy.

Memorandum :—That the said William de Swinburne delivered to the Queen of England, as in an impartial hand (equâ manu), a certain letter patent, attesting receipt of 1000*l.* which the K. of England promised to pay the K. of Scotland or his attorney at the fair of St Botulph this year, for his debts to the said K. Of which sum the said clerk only received 1000 marks. Wherefore so soon as the K. of Scotland sends his letters patent for the payment of said 1000 marks, the said Queen shall restore the letters patent acknowledging receipt of the 1000*l.*, to the K. of Scotland, or his messenger bearing his letters for the 1000 marks. Tower of London.

(On margin of roll.) It is to be observed that the K. of Scotland has received by the hands of A[lexander] the Steward of Scotland, 500 marks in anticipation (properacionem) of the 1000*l.* which the K. should have paid him at the fair of St Botulph A.D. 1261, to account of the debt due for the marriage of the Queen of Scotland. Wherefore the said Steward has a writ of liberate from the K. in March of the K.'s 46th year, on behalf of Edward the K.'s son, for 500 marks due by him to said Edward. So the K. of Scotland has received in all 1000*l.* Likewise the Queen of England has restored the K. of Scotland's letter of receipt of 1000*l.* to John de Londors his messenger, who has delivered that K.'s letter acknowledging the 1000 marks to the Queen, who has handed it to W[alter] de Merton the Chancellor in the wardrobe, who forthwith there handed it to master Henry de Gaunt keeper of the K.'s wardrobe. [Liberate, 45 Hen. III. m. 5.]

July 30. 2265. William de Swinburne, clerk of A[lexander] K. of Scotland, having come to receive 1000*l.* which the K. promised to pay the K. of Scotland at the fair of Boston (St Botulph) now past, in part payment of the debt due by the K., and the latter having satisfied the said clerk

HENRY III. with 1000 marks to account of the 1000*l.*, the said clerk has committed the K. of Scotland's letters patent acknowledging the 1000*l.*, 1261. to the Queen of England, as to an impartial hand, till he shall send his letters patent acknowledging the 1000 marks. The K. promises, on this being done, to restore him the receipt for 1000*l.* forthwith. Tower of London. Cancelled.

(Marginal Note.) The letter afterwards given up and cancelled, because the K. of Scotland sent his acknowledgment for 1000 marks, and received from the Queen's hands his letters for 1000*l.*; and the letters patent for 1000 marks were delivered to Master H. de Gaunt, keeper of the K.'s wardrobe, by the hands of W. de Merton. Aug. 7. 2267. Thomas abbot of Lundores and the convent release and quit-claim to Sir Robert de Brus lord of Annandale, and his heirs and assigns, all the second tithes; viz., of rents (?), pleas and others within and without his land beyond Moneth; viz., of corn and flour, of butter and cheese, of flesh and venison, food and drink, skins of deer taken by his hounds, of wax and salt, of lard and fat, and all other titheable things, or those which shall be given, sold, or leased in his manors beyond Moneth, or their value. Which tithes the convent has by Earl David's charter. In exchange for which the said Sir Robert has given them his land called 'Villa Willelmi,' in Garviach, lying between the convent's lands of Lethgaven and Wrangham, and Robert's land of Bondes, in the parish of Inverrury next Caskiben, in pure and perpetual alms. Append their common seal in chapter at Lundores, Sunday next after the feast of St Peter 'ad vincula,' 1261.

The seal, vesica shape, in green wax, still appended, is a good deal broken, and inscription lost. It exhibits the Virgin Mary seated, with the Holy Child in her lap. She holds a lily in her right hand, and the model of a church in her left.

 Innerlochtyne', James of Brenath, Hugh Heroc, burgesses of Elgyn, Richard Brun, Hostyn' Grouzbachelor, Robert Diker, and Andrew Wysy, all of Elgyn, Walter of Always, Andrew son of Leuyn'; upon the K.'s garden and the land belonging to it, which Robert Spinc of Elgyn claims to hold of the K. hereditarily by reason of Margaret his wife, whose ancestors enjoyed the same their whole life, and closed their days vested in fee and heritage in the said land; saving the fruits of the garden to the K., and finding potherbs and mallows for the K.'s kitchen, while he staid in the castle of Elgyn. And if the K. chanced to keep there an 'ostorius vel gerfauc' (girfalcon) Margaret's ancestors received a penny a day for the food of the 'ostorius,' and two pence a day for a 'ger-fauc's' food, and one chalder of oatmeal yearly, for the custody of the birds. For which reason the garden and land should descend to the said Margaret and her heirs as of fee and heritage by the assize of the land. And they certify the inquisition. No other service is exacted from them for said garden and land.

 The amicable agreement made at Edinburgh on St Nicholas' day [Dec. 6], 1213, between Maurice earl of Menteth (Manent') and Maurice the younger his brother, regarding the plea between them as to the Earldom of Menteth, claimed by Maurice the younger as his right and heritage; viz., the said Maurice the Earl, by staff and baton, has resigned in the hand of K. William, the Earldom of Menteth, which the K. has restored to Maurice the younger as his right. But Maurice the elder shall hold for life by the K.'s grant the two villis of Muylun and Radenoche, and Tum, and Cacelyn, and Brathuli, and Cambuswethe, which Maurice the younger has lent to the K. for Maurice the elder's use for life. On whose death they shall return to Maurice the younger. And on same day Maurice the younger delivered to his brother Maurice the elder, to give his daughters in marriage; Saveline, as these two brothers then held it, and Mestryn, and Keneltone, and Stradlochline; so that the daughters and their heirs to come shall hold these four lands of Maurice the younger. And that this friendly agreement may stand more firmly for ever, the K.'s 'probi homines' have affixed their seals to both parts of the chyrograph. These were present:—Lord Alexander the K.'s son, Earl Gilbert of Stradherne,

Windsor. [Close, 46 Hen. III. m. 15.]

- Feb. 21. 2292. The K. having promised John de Bailliol for his laudable service, to provide him, for one of his sons and daughters, with the marriage of the first heir, worth 500*l.* or up to 1000*l.* yearly, that should fall to the K., grants him the marriage of Robert the heir of Thomas Gresley, lately deceased, and of the firstborn son of said Robert; and should the said firstborn son die before John marries him to one of his daughters, or should she die at such an age as to prevent her by law from obtaining her dower from said heritage, the said John shall have the marriage of the next heir of the said firstborn son. Windsor. [Patent, 46 Hen. III. p. 1, m. 15.]

- March 17. 2293. The K. to his Treasurer and chamberlains. Writ for payment to Edward the K.'s son or his attorney, of 500 marks, for the 500 marks of which he discharged the K. with the K. of Scotland, by the hands of A[lexander] the Steward of Scotland, in anticipation of 1000*l.* which the K. was bound to pay the K. of Scotland at the fair of St Botulph, A.D. 1261, to account of the debt due for the marriage of his daughter M[argaret] Queen of Scotland. Windsor.

It is to be observed that the said Steward was owing Edward the K.'s son 500 marks, which he delivered to Alexander K. of Scotland

HENRY III. for the maritagium, &c., whereof that K. acknowledged receipt by his ——— letters patent, brought by the Steward to the K. ; and they were 1261-62. delivered to master Henry de Gaunt the keeper of the K.'s wardrobe.

(On margin.) And it is to be observed that the Queen delivered to W[alter] de Merton the Chancellor, a letter of the K. of Scotland acknowledging receipt of 1000 marks wherein the K. of England was bound to him for the maritagium, &c. And the said Walter delivered it to master Henry de Gaunt, keeper of the K.'s wardrobe ; as more plainly appears in the roll of the 45th year, month of July. So he has in all 1000*l.* [Liberate, 46 Hen. III. m. 12.]

March 21. 2294. A[lexander] K. of Scots to Robert de Montalt his sheriff, and his bailiffs of Forfar, directing them to hold an inquisition whether the five daughters of Symon the janitor of Montrose (Monros) are his heirs in the land of Inyaney, and the office of the gate of the K.'s castle of Montrose. Montrose. 21st March, 13th of the K.'s reign.

Inquisition by Robert de Montalt, knight, regarding the land of Iniany next Falerikkum, by these barons (barones) ; viz., the barons of Old Munros, Rossyn, Fethyn, Kynel, Inverkilerd, Inverlunan, Kynbladmund, Lexyn, Dun, Brechyn, Kinabir, Little Pert, Melgund, Pannemor, Pannebride, Tunryn, and Roskolbyn, and great part of the burgesses of Montrose. The jurors say that one called Crane held the land heritably by gift of K. William, and died seized in fee. After him Swayn his son held it and died seized in fee. And after him Symon his son held it and died so seized. Symon had five daughters by two espoused wives, viz., Margaret, Agnes, Swannoc (Swan neck), Cristiana and Mariota. And that Crane, Swayn and Symon never joined the host (fecerunt exercitum) nor gave aid, nor 'did aught else in the world' for the land, save the office of the gate of the K.'s castle of Montrose. And the said women are nearest and lawful heirs of Symon.

March 23. 2295. The K. to the K. of Scotland. John de Londors, the latter K.'s clerk and envoy, has clearly made known his business, and the K. has replied and ordered him to explain, vivâ voce. He has written to the K. of Norway to send back Alexander's envoys, and about the matter discussed between these two kings. Likewise to the Pope on Alexander's behalf, as he would in his own. He has summoned the Bishop of Carlisle to come in a month after Easter that he may take counsel regarding the church of Salkhull (Salkeld), in dispute between the K. of Scotland and the bishop. He would willingly have kept the said envoy longer, if he had seen his way to paying his debt to Alexander. But being at 'intolerable' expense this year in his various and urgent affairs, and not having received the issues and provision due him, as in past years, and besides

HENRY III. having already satisfied Alexander the Steward of Scotland regarding — 500 marks, as the K. of Scotland had requested (whereby the 1261-62. Exchequer was drained) the K. asks him not to be troubled if at present he does not receive the balance. As the K. is unwilling to assign a farther term or terms, unless to keep them, he requests the K. of Scotland to accept one moiety of the money at Michaelmas next, and the other at Easter, without weariness or grief; asking this delay as he intends to keep these terms in every way. Windsor.

May 19. 2302. Pleas of divers counties [at Bedford before H. de Turri and others the K.'s justices errant] on the morrow of the Lord's Ascension.

Symon Baard and Isabella his wife are in amercement for many defaults, versus William Cumyn and Eufemia his wife. Symon and Isabella were summoned to answer to William and Eufemia in a

HENRY III. plea that they should deliver them 540 marks which they owe and unjustly detain, &c. And William and Eufemia by their attorney 1262. say that a certain Eufemia, grandmother of Eufemia, enfeoffed the latter in the manor of Athelgalthwyn in Scotland of the grandmother's heritage. And she delivered the same to the foresaid Isabella to be kept for the use of the said Eufemia for three years, answering to the latter yearly for 100 marks for said manor, as she was under age. And Isabella at the end of the said term acknowledged herself to be owing the said Eufemia 300 marks; so that the latter granted to Isabella the manor to be held for other three years, she paying 80 marks per annum. And Isabella in like manner acknowledged herself to be due Eufemia 240 marks, the total being 540 marks; and granted her writing to pay the sum at the pleasure of said Eufemia. But Symon and Isabella ever since have detained and continue to detain the money, whereby William and Eufemia say they are damaged to the extent of 1000 marks, and therefore bring the suit and propound Isabella's writing witnessing the debt. Symon and Isabella say that they were not bound to answer the writ, as the said manor of Athelgalthethwyn in respect of which the debt is demanded, is out of the kingdom of England, viz., in Scotland. And they are in seizin of the same, as the free hold of Isabella, by the feoffment of Eufemia, grandmother of Eufemia and mother of Isabella. And the tenement in respect of which the debt is demanded, is in Scotland out of the K. of England's power. And likewise the contract of debt and the obligatory writing proffered by the plaintiffs, was made out of England, as they admit in their narration. Nor are the witnesses thereto of that kingdom (except Simon Baard only), by whom the writing could be proved if needful. They ask judgment if they ought to answer here to the said debt or writing. And Isabella, asked if she executed the said writing? said, 'No, nor was it ever made by her.' And William and Eufemia by their attorney say, that Simon and Isabella have no lands or tenements out of the kingdom of England, by which they can be distrained or justified. And that the said Simon and Isabella are the K. of England's 'men' and in his power. And have nothing in said manor save by the demise (dimissio) of the plaintiffs as aforesaid; and therefore both parties are of this realm, and of the power of the K. of England. And Simon and Isabella have nothing within the realm of Scotland whereby they can be distrained or justified; and this the plaintiffs are ready to verify by the K. of Scotland's court or otherwise as the court decides. And in like manner that the said Isabella in her lawful widowhood granted them the writing which they have proffered regarding the said debt, by the witnesses therein named, or otherwise as the court shall decide; some of whom are of this kingdom and some of Scotland; [and ask] whether (si) they ought not to answer to this plea for a debt which is not [one]

HENRY III. of land or tenement out of the kingdom, although due by reason of — (occasione) such a tenement.

1262. A day is given them to hear their case (judicium) in a month from Holy Trinity at Chelmerford. And Simon appears by Robert Scherwind or Thomas of Ireland (de Hibernia). And Isabella appears by John Bayard or William le petit.

At Peebles on St Leonard's day (Nov. 6), 1262. Archebald of Hopkelioc, Alexander of Wynkistun, Richard the farmer, Clemens of Hopkelioc, Roger le Kedistun, Michael of Kedistun, Roger Ortolanus [the gardener] Archebald of Hundwaluchishope, Adam of Stobhou, Thomas the smith, Richard son of Godard, Gauri Pluchan, William the shepherd, Walter the shepherd, John Modi, Robert Gladhoc, Cokin the smith, Adam Hacsmall, jurors, say that the burgesses of Peebles dug their peats in the petary of Waltamshope, and Robert Croke cut and broke the peats and hindered them in leading. He took a horse with heather, and detains the value of the horse, 4s., and the value of the heather, 1*l.*, as his escheat, because they rooted up the heather in his common. The burgesses have asked the price of said horse and heather with the K.'s sergeants and barons 'to gage and pledge,' but they cannot get them from him. The jurors also say that Robert Croke has built his hall where the K.'s men were used to have common. And that he has also ploughed on the common of Peebles.

 clerk, who has managed Alexander's business discreetly, the K.
 informs him that both owing to his Treasurer's death who should have acquainted him of the payment made to account of the K.'s debts to Alexander, and because these were made by different

HENRY III. bailiffs who have not yet accounted, the K. is yet ignorant of the ——— several payments, though he has caused the rolls to be carefully 1261-62. searched ; and can do nothing till he has a new Treasurer. Asks him not to be disturbed, as the K. will cause a fuller search in the rolls and it will be found how much was paid to Alexander and by whose hands, and how much to his envoys to Rome, and to Italian merchants, and the balance due ascertained, and the K. will then be prepared to settle it.<sup>1</sup> He cannot give any reply on the business touching Alexander's Liberty of Penrith, having been much engaged ;
 but retains William of Nottingham his daughter the Queen of Scotland's clerk, whom she had sent to the K. with a letter on the subject, and will reply more fully by him. The business of the manor of Whetelay has been referred to certain justices to despatch it as quickly as possible, according to the law and custom of England ; and the K. could do no more in his own cause. Westminster.

March 22. 2329. The K. grants to his daughter M[argaret] Queen of Scotland who holds from her husband, during his pleasure, the manor of Soureby within the K.'s forest of Englewood, that she may hold the wood of said manor free of regard, at his pleasure, so long as it is in her hands ; and that she may take 'estover' in the wood without view of the foresters, but she is not to make waste, sale or 'exilium.'

 fishery in the water of Alington, wherein his predecessor Hugh Folyot was seized ; viz, from the vill of Derneford to the mill pool of Aylington, and therefrom to the vill of Stodholm ; as the right of his church of Rameseye. They deny the claim, and offer to prove by the body of Robert le Coreer' their freeman ; and the Abbot offers to deraign by the body of his freeman, Henry le mareschal. The court decides that Robert and Henry give sureties for the duel, which they do. [Coram Rege, 47 Hen. III. No. 120, m. 6.]

[Circa April 29.] 2332. Pleas at Westminster in the quinzaine, third week and a month after Easter. Suffolk :—Gerard 'le Escot' appeals Nicholas Perceuale of Dunwyche of the death of Robert his son. While the latter was at the K.'s peace in the town of Dunwyche, in the parish of St Leonard, and the K.'s street stretching from the houses of the friars Minors to the pool towards the west, before the said Nicholas' gates, the latter, on Sunday after the feast of St Luke Evangelist last year, wickedly, feloniously, with premeditation, assaulted the said Robert with a Cologne sword (de Coloyne), and gave him a blow on the head between the 'grevy' and right ear, of five thumbs' length, and in depth 'ut quia infra os.' So that he lived lingering till the night of Friday next following, and died at midnight thereof, Gerard being present. Who at once raised the hue and cry. And offers to prove this as the court shall decide, as a maimed man (maymatus). The same appeals William de Suthwolde of the said Robert's death, that at the aforesaid time and place he assaulted him with an Irish hatchet (hachia Irechia), and struck him a blow on the head between the right ear and his forehead, four thumbs' length, and in depth to the brain (cerebrum) so that, &c. He also appeals Alexander son of Joce of Dunwyche, of Robert's death, for that at the time and place aforesaid, he with a certain Cologne sword struck him on the head between the crown and left ear, in length four thumbs, and depth to the brain, so that, &c. He also appeals Roger son of Joce, of Robert's death, by striking him with a falchion on the head between the crown and right ear, of four thumbs' length, and depth to the brain. He also appeals John son of Joce of the death, by striking Robert with a falchion on the head, beyond the neck, 'in canello,' four thumbs' length, and depth to the brain, so that, &c. He also appeals Joce Perceual for wickedly, with Thomas Brodeye and Richard Marre, holding Robert while the felony was committed, &c. (Unfinished.) [*Coram Rege, 47 Hen. III. [Circa April 29.] 2333. Pleas at Westminster in a month from Easter. Westmoreland. The Sheriff was enjoined to send four knights of his county to Appelby to view the infirmity whereof Robert de Veteripont essoins himself versus John de Bailliol, Dervegulla his wife, Alexander earl of Boghan, and Isabella his wife, Alan de la Zuche, and Elena his wife, and Margaret countess of Derby, in a plea of land in the county. Robert is absent; and the knights, viz., Robert de Strike-laund, Mathew de Resigille, Robert de Javenwyht, and Robert de Bethum, are also absent. It was shewn that the said Robert holds

HENRY III. the county of the K. in farm, wherethrough the said Robert maliciously, and in fraud and delay of John and Dervegoyl, and their ——— other parceners, deferred a view to be made of himself now a whole 1263. year past, as (eo quod) the writs therefore were directed to himself. By advice of the court, before P. Basset Justiciar of England, and others of the K.'s Council, it was provided that four knights of the county of York be sent to Appelby to view the said Robert, whether he is sick or not, in the quinzaine of St John Baptist. The Sheriff of York is accordingly enjoined to send four knights to Appelby to view Robert as provided. And the same day given to John and Dervogoyll and their parceners in banco.  by attorney, offers himself on the fourth day versus Roger de Quency earl of Wynton, in a plea to pay him 100 marks, arrears of annual rent of 10 marks, &c. The Earl is absent, and made many defaults.
 The Sheriff, who was ordered to produce him to-day, reports that he instructed the bailiffs of the Liberty of Wallingford, who have done nothing therein. He is enjoined to have his body on the quinzaine St Michael. [Coram Rege, 47 Hen. III. No. 121, m. 5, dorso.]

[Circa 2340. Pleas at Westminster [in the octave and quinzaine of June 3–10.] Holy Trinity]. Northumberland:—The Abbot of Holmcoltram, by attorney, appears in a plea, why G. Archbishop of York and Roger de Saxinton hinder him of the free passage of his carts and carriages beyond the bridge of Hexham [Hextlesham] which his predecessors abbots of Holmcoltram have ever had when needful. They are absent. Had a day by their essoins, for the K.'s service, till this day.
 The archbishop was attached by John de North-Swyneburne and Walter de Swethope; and Roger by William the reeve (le provost) of Tetherinton and William de le lawe there. And as they have not proffered their warrant, the Sheriff is ordered to produce them in the octaves of St Michael. [Coram Rege, 47 Hen. III. No. 121, m. 9.]

June 28. 2355. The K. to the K. of Norway. Has received his letters lately by master Adam canon of Stawag' his envoy, announcing the death of his father H[aco] for whom the K. grieves as his special friend. Concerning another matter in his letter, viz., that certain merchants of Norway came to his said father in the past winter, and told him on the K.'s behalf, that Norwegian merchants coming to England and sustaining loss there should be reimbursed, if the same were done to English merchants in Norway, and nothing hitherto had been done; the K. gives as a reason, that during the late disturbances in England, some English vessels were arrested in Norway to be used in the war against Alexander K. of Scotland the K.'s son-in-law, which seemed hurtful to both. But wishing to continue the peace begun with his late father, the K. wills that his own merchants and those of Norway may come and go freely between the two countries, for a year after Michaelmas next, provided peace is made between
