PREFACE.

THE RECORDS relating to the parish of Melrose in the General Register House, Edinburgh, now printed, consist of certain volumes containing Baptisms, Proclamations of Marriages, Session Minutes, and a Mortuary Roll.

The entries relating to Baptisms begin on the 28th August 1642 and have been fairly well recorded. There are blanks in these Registers between 18th April 1686 and 2nd November 1690, 18th October 1713 and 3rd January 1714, 21st April 1720 and 28th May 1720, 15th August 1722 and 7th October 1722, and between 8th September 1723 and 24th November 1723. From that date until 1st March 1741 the Baptisms are intermixed with Proclamations of Marriages and Session Minutes.

The Baptisms seem to be carefully recorded until 30th July 1769, when for a considerable period they are entered out of order. No explanation can be offered for this peculiar condition of the Record, which continues until 1820, when the present volume closes.

The Register of Proclamations of Marriages and Marriages begins on 30th June 1642. There are blanks in the Register between 22nd December 1650 and 14th September 1651, 27th November 1656 and 2nd January 1657, 26th April 1657 and 27th October 1657, 12th November 1657 and 8th May 1659, 28th April 1666 and 7th November 1690. This Register is fairly well kept until the close of the present volume. Testimonials or church certificates are recorded for the period from 4th October 1652 to 13th May 1666.

From the Session Records in the hands of the Session Clerk,

The session was of the mind she should be called in, which was accordingly done, and being asked what she had to say to the session, answered rather than be excommunicate she would make a confession against William Swain, weaver in Hawick, a single unmarried man, landlord of the house wherein Henry Gibson's relict lives. She said that she had seen him playing at the kails in her father's garden, and being asked what moved her to emit such a confession at this time, answered as above, that she was afraid of being excommunicated. She was removed, and the session upon consideration thought fitt to call her in. Several questions were put to her to which no satisfying answer was returned. The session appointed an extract of this confession to be drawn out and laid before the Presbytry. The first Tuesday of January next. And she is summoned apud acta to attend the Presbytry the said day att Selkirk. The sederunt closed with prayer.

This day Mr. Gavin Elliot, session clerk, gave in a lybel against Nicol Bowar, portioner of Newtown, the tenor whereof follows, complains Mr Gavin Elliot, schoolmaster and session clerk of Melrose, on Nicol Bowar, portioner of Newtown, that whereas the said Nicol sent yesterday to the complainer a pacquet of letters dated 30th of March last with a scrape of a letter therein inclosed which the said Nicol alleges reflects on him and averrs was sent by the complainer, which pacquet being directed to the complainer is stufft with the most inhumane, stupid, brutal, nonsensical, foolish, venomous and scurrilous expressions. As that the complainer is void of all virtue and everything that is good, filled with everything that is hatefull and abominable, giddy brained, below an ass, camel, jackmidding, montebank, merry Andrew, &c., and that it is not at all consistent he should serve this Court in the capacity of clerk, which the complainer conceives reflects very much on the session in general, as well as upon the complainer in particular; and though the substance of this pacquet is competent for the civil magistrate, yet the complainer judges, what so directly levels against the wisdom and prudence of the session in choosing and continuing him as clerk is specially to be reprehended by them; and further, that the drift of such foul opprobrious language is to be adverted to as tending to weaken the authority and credite of a teacher who should form and mould youth to the hopes of succeeding ages. The complainer cannot but take notice of the epethets given him upon the back of one of the said Nicol's letters; such as reverend, wise philosopher, learned Grecian and none such for arithmetick, with an hotch potch of nonsensical ribaldry, more like the product of a distracted brain, that ought to be hissed to Bedlam, or some other place competent for such, than of one who enjoys the conversation of sober and serious persons. Mr. Elliot having consigned 2s. 6d. was removed. Laird Marr chosen clerk pro tempore. Nicol Bowar being cited was called and compeared and owns the letters whereupon the lybel is founded to be his. The session finds the said lybel proven by the said letters. Mr. Elliot was called in and interrogate if the said scrape sent to him within Nicol's pacquet was his, denyed the same, which the defender offers to prove by witnesses, viz., Wm. Tutup, servant to John Cochran, shoemaker in Newtown, and Wm. Dickson, son to Wm. Dickson, smith in Darnick. The session adjourns this affair till to-morrow eight days.

The beadle is ordered to cite the two foresaid witnesses to the said session and parties are summoned apud acta to the said diet. The sederunt closed with prayer.

Upon information of Jannet Smail, present servant the Lady Whithaugh in Melrose, her scandalous behaviour upon Thursday night last. She is ordered to be summoned to the session to-morrow.

„ 8. After prayer sederunt, the Minister, Drygrainge, John Mabane, George Hoy, Robert Scott, John Wallace, John Mercer, Nicol Milne, John Sibbald, Andrew Mein, elders.

The petitions above mentioned were this day considered, and the session, with consent of Drygrainge, Lady Isabella's bailie, did allow Robert Williamson and Henry Forrest to build and erect a loft in the place condescended upon in the petition, which loft is to be possessed by their two families in common, the session allways granting this, but prejudice of any having seats already, or of the window where they are to enter from without, and this the session orders to be recorded and extracts to be taken by the persons concerned.

In the affair of the fewars and tradsmen, their petition, Drygrainge, Lady Isabella's bailie having some time ago acquainted the above petitioners that in case the fewars of Blainslies should choose the places they pitched on to build a loft for themselves, the said fewars were to be preferred. The people of Blainslies being informed of this, and of the session's meeting for that effect this day, there appeared none save Alexr. Gray and John Wallace, and that only for themselves. The above petitioners almost all appearing, insisted for a grant to their petition, representing the inconvenience they were put to for want of accommodation this way. The session with the said bailie considering the affair, do allow them to build a loft, either above the weaver's loft, or in that space twixt the pulpit and the Lady's loft, if the people of Blainslies do not before the 1st of June next sett about the building in either of these rooms, and in case the said fewars of Blainslies should neglect to do the same, the above mentioned Alexr. Gray craves he may be allowed to join with the said tradsmen in building their loft in either of the said rooms, which desire was granted by the session and accepted of by the said tradsmen, whom the session do hereby allow to build a loft in either of these rooms, as the choise of the fewars of Blainslies shall determine, and that to be possessed by them and theirs in all time coming still but prejudice of such as already have seats. This, their act, they ordain to be recorded and extracts to be given.

Alexr. Gray, forsaid, alleging a pew might be got for him as part of his room amongst these pews beneath Huntliwood's loft, and tradsmen being called in to measure the same, found that room for one pew might be win if all the rest were adjusted to an uniform breadth, whereupon the session, with consent of the bailie, appoint and ordain these concerned in the forsaid seats to reduce and contract the forsaid pews to two foots breadth, whereby room will be got for one to Alexr. Gray, portioner of Blainslies, and that he is to fix and plant the said pew immediately behind Nicol Milne's, portioner of Newtown, to be possessed by him and his in all time coming. The session appoint this to be recorded and extracts to be given. The forsaid John Wallace, also alleged that room might be win at the east end of the area of the kirk for him to set down a furm in. The session, with the bailie and some tradsmen, went and viewed the place, and upon examination found that room might be had if the furms there stood a little closer, and if —— Martin's furm was reduced four inches of its breadth and its back stood straight up. The session therefore appoint accordingly, and appoint and ordain John Wallace, portioner of Blainslies, to plant a furm as the fourth from the passage of Mr. Wilkison's seat, to be possessed by him and his in all time coming, and appoints this their act to be recorded, and extracts to be given.

Case of discipline against Jannet Smail and Alexr. Brown continued. She was removed, and the session considering the affair, appointed that she should appear three several Lord's days in the publick place of repentance, and be rebuked but not dismissed till the session should be informed about the man whether married or unmarried. She was called in, admonished, and exhorted, and this intimate to her, and appointed to appear Sabbath first in manner forsaid.

The session have inventaried the bonds and bills due the poor's box, and the copy thereof under the clerk's hand given in to the treasurer. The method for recovering the money is to be considered next meeting of the session.

May 23. After prayer sederunt, the minister, Drygrainge, John Mabane, James Laidlay, William Milne, &c., elders.

Collected by John Wallace and Andrew Mein, £2 : 9s. Scots.

John Corsar being called, compeared, and being dealt with to confess his sin, denyed the same. The witnesses, Thomas Simpson and Agnes Robson were called. The nature of an oath was held out to them. John declared he had nothing to say against them. They were solemnly sworn and Agnes removed.

Thomas Simpson, married, aged about 45 years, purged of malice and partial counsel, deponed that about a month ago, as he was going out in the morning, twixt five and six, he saw a man on the hillside casting divots : that he cryed to him at the same time he was casting off the divots. The person answered, "What do you say" ; that the deponent said, "Do you not know that this is the Lord's day," at which word the person went away, but by the voice he perceived it was John Corsar ; and that sun shining, and at a great distance, he could not discover him by any thing else. This is the truth as he shall answer. He declares he cannot write.

Agnes Robson, aged about seventeen years, purged of malice and partial counsel deponed that upon the day forsaid, as she was going in the morning to Dryburgh, Thomas Simpson was setting her away. He went off the road and cryed to a man he said was casting divots, but she did not see him. This is the truth as she shall answer.

John was much dealt with to confess, but all in vain. He is summoned to the session against this day twenty days.

The minister gave in to the session the deliverance concerning Elizabeth Moody, viz., that she is to be rebuked in this parish, as residing in the same.

So he left her, and this morning he went to the bailies to find her out and present her to the session, but though in quest of her he could not find her, whereupon the minister took instruments that he had not secured her in the terms of the warrant. The session appoints their meeting to-morrow morning at nine of the clock, Nov. 30th. The session sitting in judgment were certainly informed that Agnes Gray went off yesterday with up sun upon an horse of the bailie's, and his servant Thomas Fife riding before her. The session gave orders that the said Thomas Fife, Margaret Borthwick and Isobel Forrest, servants to Bailie Paterson, Thomas Williamson, wright in Newstead, Thomas Bunzie, weaver there, and Andrew Fife, father to the said Thomas, and James Bowie in Melrose, be cited to the session to-morrow at ten of the clock, Dec. 1st. The session mett and constitute, Thomas Fife being cited was called but compeared not, yea, told the officer he would not attend the session. This he is ready to declare upon oath when required. Thomas Bunzie, weaver there, declared in omnibus ut in priori, and further added that it was the bailie's black horse. Andrew Fife cited, called, compeared and declared that yesterday morning as his son was returning he called at his house, and that he said he had got a cold morning, for he had ridden a long way, to wit, from Bown, where he had left Agnes Gray with her mother, and this he is ready to declare upon oath if required.

which time the session appoints their meeting to revise and approve the same.

The minister acquainted the session that he has a demand on these, in whose hands the poor's money and papers are lodged, for certain sums which he claims to be returned to him, and the session, to be disposed of by them only for pious uses, as they shall think proper. Imprimis, Whereas it is the general practise of the ministers of the kingdom to pay the synod clerk's fees out of their collections, Mr. Milne, considering that their stock was but smal, and for other reasons, has paid it out of his own pocket these twenty-eight years, amounting to £84 Scots, at a crown per annum. Secundo, Whereas the allowance for the communion elements was only £20 Scots till anno 1724, this £20 Scots used to be given in to the session, and they defrayed all expences relative thereto out of the collections. This Mr. Milne paid out of his own pocket which a modest calcul will amount to £200 Scots.
