Obituary—The late Mrs. Alexander Mackenzie

July 27, 1826—August 27, 1914

Through humility acting on the gospel principle of esteeming others better than themselves, some excellent Christians serving their lifetime are partly in obscurity. In their honest simplicity they dread claiming more than they are entitled to. Nevertheless their light cannot be hid. "A bruised reed he shall not break, and the smoking flax shall he not quench, he shall bring forth judgement unto truth" (Isaiah 42:3). Of such was the lot of Mrs. Alexander Mackenzie who fell asleep in Jesus at the ripe age of 88 years at Lucknow in the residence of her son-in-law, James Henderson, on the 27th of August. Her maiden name was Dolena Morrison, daughter of William and Isabel Morrison, natives of the parish of Eddracholis, Sutherlandshire, Scotland where she was born on the 27th of July, 1826. She was married to Alexander Mackenzie, a native of Loch Broome, Rosshire, Scotland. In the Township of Zora, Ontario in the year 1849, they were equally yoked, for both feared the Lord from their youth. They were blessed by ten of a family. Four of the children predeceased her. (Kenneth, Lena, Georgina, John) Six survive her, the two Mrs. Hendersons, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Dan Mackenzie (Bella), William of Calumet, Michigan, and Dr. J. F. Mackenzie of Detroit. They removed from Zora to the 12th Concession of Ashfield in the Spring of 1867. There they raised their family and lived happily together until separated by death in November, 1893, at which time Mr. Mackenzie departed in peace. The last sixteen years of her life were spent in Lucknow. During those years she was a member of the South Kinloss Congregation. Although for the last few years through the physical infirmities of age she was denied the privilege of public means of grace. They were not spent fruitless. Being of the planted trees of righteousness, she flourished spiritually in old age. She continued in constant prayer and made the Bible her companion. Blessed by a retentive memory and of more than average intelligence in the doctrine of the gospel, her mind was kept fresh by the truth. Her grasp of the Bible manifested itself. One day as she complained of the hardness of her heart a friend quoted the request of the father of the lunatic healed by Jesus, to show how unbelief may expose where there is saving faith. "Lord, I believe, help thou mine unbelief." "Ah, yes," she replied, "out he said it with tears." That proved how accurate her experimental knowledge of the gospel was. She was brought to the saving knowledge of Jesus by the means of a sermon preached by the seraphic evangelist, the late Dr. Macdonald of Ferinloch in her native parish when she was sixteen years of age. Her future life proved the genuineness of the indelible impression the gospel made on her mind at that date. It may be said of her, as of another, she did what she could for the Master of prayer, profession and liberality. She was always careful how to speak of any man, particularly any person who professed to be religious. As was expected, those who knew her best she walked hopefully through the valley of the shadow of death. To few exceptions, she cultivated the generation edified in the gospel atmosphere in which she was brought up, and felt it sometimes in her lonesomeness. Trouble and affliction she endured patiently, and highly appreciated the affectionate care taken of her by her friends. On the following Monday after her death her remains were laid to rest beside those of her husband in the family plot in Kinloss Cemetery. Her funeral was largely attended by representatives from all the surrounding congregations. Simple service was conducted at the home of Mr. Henderson and prayer at the grave by her pastor during the late years of her life, Rev. F. A. MacLennan, now retired at Toronto, and happened to be on a visit in the district. Let others follow our departed friend's example by praying without ceasing and the Bible on hand regularly: "for so our entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly unto the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ." Her numerous offspring have the advantage of the good example of an affectionate Mother, even a Mother in peace. Bona Fide F. A. MacLennan
