Electric Scotland's Weekly Newsletter for February 6th, 2026

Electric Scotland News

On January 31 I celebrated my three quarters of a century birthday reaching 75 years old.

While I don't really celebrate my birthdays I thought this was a special highlight so I forgot about my diabetic routine and ate a few things I've avoided for years now. My mother had a saying... that a little of what you fancy does you good... and so I took that saying to heart and enjoyed myself.

Marty MacIntyre, the author of the Clan MacIntyre book, is terminating his life later this month due to having Parkinson's. He sent me in a video of him relating his life and work and have added that to our MacIntyre page.

Feb 2, 2026

Dear Alistair and Alastair,

I'm in hospice with Parkinson's. I will use the California "dying with dignity law" on my 89th birthday, Feb. 18, 2026. This video link and password encapsulates my life story. Please do me a favor and share it with the appropriate ElectricScotland family. I will have my ashes placed over the newly constructed MacIntyre Memorial at Glenoe that my family started in 1976 (see Return of the MacIntyres on YouTube)

You can watch both videos at:

<https://electricscotland.com/webclans/m/macintyre/index.htm>

I hope some of you will take the opportunity to send him an email before he goes so he knows you are thinking about him and I've included his email address on the page and also the password to watch his video.

Scottish News from this weeks newspapers and other media

I am partly doing this to build an archive of modern news from and about Scotland and world news stories that can affect Scotland and as all the newsletters are archived and also indexed on search engines it becomes a good resource. I might also add that in a number of newspapers you will find many comments which can be just as interesting as the news story itself and of course you can also add your own comments if you wish which I do myself from time to time.

Here is what caught my eye this week...

The 109km trail opening up the Canadian Rockies

Story

The History of the Thirty Years War
(1618-1648)

If you have been reading our Domestic Annals of Scotland you'll have seen reference to the fact that up to 30,000 Scots went to fight in this war on the side of Germany although it is also true to say that Scots also fought on the other side as well. Great concern was shown in Scotland at that time as to the many young men that were leaving the country. It is for this reason that I wanted to bring you a story of this war so we can better understand why so many Scots went to fight in it.

From our book Scots in Germany - "But only when the bloody torch of the Thirty Years' War (1618-1648) shed its lurid light over the whole of Europe and when Gustavus Adolphus' fame, not only as that of a saviour of the cause of protestantism, but also as that of an unusually brilliant general and strategist, rapidly spread over the civilised world, a great number of Scottish officers, many of them of noble rank, enlisted in the Swedish Army, to go, as it were, through the high school of military training, and Scotland became the country in which by far the most numerous levies of soldiers for the "Lion of the North," were raised. Between twenty and thirty thousand men made the cause of the Swedes and of German Protestantism their own."

The History of the Thirty Years' War
by Frederick Schiller

Translated from the German by the Rev. A. J. W. Morrison, M.A.

Preface

The present is the only collected edition of the principal works of Schiller which is accessible to English readers. Detached poems or dramas have been translated at various times, and sometimes by men of eminence, since the first publication of the original works; and in several instances these versions have been incorporated, after some revision or necessary correction, into the following collection; but on the other hand a large proportion of the contents have been specially translated for this edition, in which category are the historical works which occupy this volume and a portion of the next.

Schiller was not less efficiently qualified by nature for an historian than for a dramatist. He was formed to excel in all departments of literature, and the admirable lucidity of style and soundness and impartiality of judgment displayed in his historical writings will not easily be surpassed, and will always recommend them as popular expositions of the periods of which they treat. Since the first publication of this edition many corrections and improvements have been made, with a view to rendering it as acceptable as possible to English readers.

END.

Weekend is almost here and hope it's a good one for you.
