WILLIAM CAMERON, ESQ.

AUTHOR OF "JESSIE O' THE DELL," "MEET ME ON THE GOWAN LEA," "WILLIE AND ME," ETC., ETC.

Dear Sir,

I beg respectfully to Dedicate the "LYRIC GEMS OF SCOTLAND" to you, as a sincere token of my esteem for you as a friend, and gratitude for the kindly interest which, as an enthusiastic lover of Scottish Song, you have taken in the progress of the work.

I am, Sir,

Yours faithfully,

THE PUBLISHER.

September, 1856.
PREFACE.

In projecting the present work, the aim of the Publisher has been to form a collection of the Standard Melodies of Scotland, in which the compositions of many of the modern Song-writers of Scotland would find a niche side by side with those of the elder Minstrels, and to produce the work at such a cost as shall place it within the reach of all classes of the community, however humble. It is gratifying to state that the reception of the work (exceeding the most sanguine anticipations of the Publisher) has proved the idea a sound one.

It has been objected to this work that the absence of Piano-forte Accomp[animents] renders it comparatively unsuitable to a large section of the musical public, and the objection is not without force; but the work is intended to meet the wants of that larger section, to whom the Piano-forte is “a sealed book,” yet who have, nevertheless, musical tastes and capabilities of a very high order—a class, we are happy to see, every day improving both in numbers and ability. To all those who wish to see the genial science taking root and spreading among the masses, it will be gratifying to learn that the appearance of each Part has been hailed with intense delight at many firesides in Scotland and elsewhere.

On the first of November will be published Part First of the Casquet of Lyric Gems. This work will not be confined entirely to Scottish Songs, and will contain Accompaniments for the Piano, while the price still places it within the reach of all; and to obviate the complaints as to the length of time between the appearance of the Parts, the issue will be Monthly, instead of Quarterly, in the case of the present work.—See Advertisement at end of Glossary.

Words by Burns.
Andante grazioso.

Flow gently, sweet Afton, among thy green braes, Flow gently, Ill sing thee a song in thy praise; My Mary's asleep by thy murmur- ing stream, Flow gently, sweet Afton, disturb not her dream.

Thou stock-dove whose echo resounds thro' the glen, Ye cadenza ad lib. a tempo.

wild whistling blackbirds in yon thorn-y den, Thou - - - green crested lapwing thy screaming forbear, I charge you disturb not my slumbering fair.

Thy crystal stream, Afton, how lovely it glides,
And winds by the cot where my Mary resides,
How wanton thy waters her snowy feet lave,
As, gathering sweet flowerets, she stems thy clear wave.

Flow gently, sweet Afton, among thy green braes,
Flow gently, sweet river, the theme of my lays;
My Mary's asleep by thy murmuring stream,—
Flow gently, sweet Afton, disturb not her dream.
THE MARCH OF THE CAMERON MEN.

As sung by Mr. M'G. Simpson.

Moderate and with animation.

There's man-y a man of the Ca-mer-on clan, That has follow'd his chief to the field; He has sworn to support him, or die by his side, For a Cameron never can yield.

I hear the pibroch sounding, sounding, deep o'er the mountains and glens. While light springing footsteps are trampling the heath, 'Tis the march of the Ca-mer-on men. 'Tis the march, 'Tis the march, 'Tis the march of the Ca-mer-on men.

Oh! proudly they walk, but each Cameron knows He may tread on the heather no more; But boldly he follows his chief to the field, Where his laurels were gather'd before. I hear the pibroch sounding, &c.

The moon has arisen, it shines on that path Now trod by the gallant and true— High, high are their hopes, for their chieftain has said, That whatever men dare they can do. I hear the pibroch sounding, &c.

This song is inserted by the kind permission of Messrs. Paterson & Sons, 27 George-St. Edinburgh, from whom copies with Piano Forte accompaniments may be had.
Far over you hills of the heather sae green, And down by the corrie that sings to the sea, The bonnie young Flora sat sighing her lane, The dew on her plaid, and the tear in her e'e. She look'd at a boat, with the breezes that swung, A-way on the wave, like a bird of the main, And aye as it lessen'd, she sigh'd and she sung, Fareweel to the lad I maun ne'er see a-gain, Fare-weel to my her-ro, the gal-lant and young, Fareweel to the lad I shall ne'er see a-gain.

The moorcock that craw's on the brow of Ben Connal,
He kens o' his bed in a sweet mossy hame;
The eagle that soars on the cliffs of Clanronald,
Unawed and unhunted, his eyrie can claim;
The solan can sleep on his shelve of the shore,
The cormorant roost on his rock of the sea;
But oh! there is one whose hard fate I deplore,
Nor house, ha', nor hame, in this country has he.
The conflict is past, and our name is no more:
There's nought left but sorrow for Scotland and me.
WORDS.

Old Bothwell Castle's ru-in'd towers Stand lone-ly 'mang yon woody bowers, Where Clu-tha fond-ly winds a-round, As loath to leave the hallow'd ground.

But where are now the martial throng? The festive board, the midnight song? The

I- vy binds the mould'ring walls, And ru-in reigns in Both-well halls.

O deep and long have slumber'd now The cares that knit the soldier's brow; The lovely grace, the man-ly power, In - gilded hall and lady's bower,

Old Bothwell Castle, ages gone Have left thee mould'ring and alone; While noble Douglas still retains Thy verdant groves and fair domains.

No Saxon foe may storm thy walls, Or riot in thy regal halls— Long, long hath slept brave Wallace' shade, And broken now his battle blade.

The tears that fell from beauty's eye, The broken heart, the bitter sigh, And deadly feuds have pass'd away, Still thou art lovely in decay.

Old Bothwell, &c.
MY LIZZIE AN' ME.

Words by James Reed.
Music by A. Hume.

Cheerfully.

They may talk o' their queens an' their nobles sae gay,
An' their braw, courtly dames in their silken array;
An' boast that nane richer nor prouder can be,— E'en let them—what's that to my Lizzie an' me?

My Lizzie an' me—
If we're puir, we're content, baith my Lizzie an' me.

O the world has nae scene in its circuit o' pride
That could wile me awa', or entice me to bide;
An life has nae pleasure nor solace to gie
Like the heart-love, the soul-love o' Lizzie an' me.

My Lizzie an' me—
An' its lang since we ken'd this, my Lizzie an' me.

My sheep are my subjects, my kingdom the brae,
An' my throne is the rock where the free breezes play;
An' the cot, shelter'd o'er by yon green birken tree,
Is the ha', house, an' castle, o' Lizzie an' me.

My Lizzie an' me—
Though we're auld we're like bairns yet, my Lizzie an' me.
SWEET JESSIE O' THE DELL.

Words by W. Cameron, Esq.

Music by Mathew Wilson.

O bright the beam-ing queen o' night Shines in you flow'-ry vale, And soft-ly sheds her sil-ver light O'er moun-tain, path, and dale; Short is the way, when light's the heart That's bound in love's soft spell; Sae I'll a-wa' to Ar-ma-dale, To Jes-sie o' the Dell. To Jes-sie o' the Dell, Sweet Jes-sie o' the Dell, The ad lib.

bon-nie lass o' Ar-ma-dale, Sweet Jes-sie o' the Dell.

We've pu'd the primrose on the braes
Beside my Jessie's cot,
We've gather'd nuts, we've gather'd slaes
In that sweet rural spot.
The wee short hours danc'd merrily,
Like lambkins on the fell;
As if they join'd in joy wi' me,
And Jessie o' the Dell. Sweet Jessie o' the Dell, &c.

There's nane to me wi' her can vie,
I'll love her till I dee;
For she's sae sweet and bonnie aye,
And kind as kind can be.
This night in mutual kind embrace
O who our joys may tell;
Then I'll awa' to Armadale,
To Jessie o' the Dell. Jessie o' the Dell, &c.
CASTLES IN THE AIR.

With sentiment.

The bon-nie, bon-nie bairn, who sits po-king in the ase, Glow'ring in the fire wi' his wee round face; Laughing at the ruffin' lowe, what sees he there? Ha! the young dream'er's bigging castles in the air.

His wee chub-by face, and his tou-zie cur-ly pow, Are laughing and nod-ding to the dan-cing lowe; He'll brown his ro-sy checks, and singe his sun-ny hair, Glow'ring at the imps wi' their castles in the air.

He sees muckle castles towering to the moon!
He sees little sodgers pu'ing them a' doun!
Worlds whombling up and doun, bleezing wi' a flare,—
See how he loups! as they glimmer in the air.
For a' sae sage he looks, what can the laddie ken?
He's thinking upon naething, like mony mighty men;
A wee thing mak's us think, a sma' thing mak's us stare,—
There are mair folk than him bigging castles in the air.

Sic a night in winter may weel mak' him cauld:
His chin upon his buffy hand will soon mak' him auld;
His brow is bren't sae braid, O pray that daddy Care,
Would let the wean alone wi' his castles in the air!
He'll glower at the fire! and he'll keek at the light!
But mony sparkling stars are swallow'd up by night;
Auld'er een than his are glamoured by a glare,
Hearts are broken, heads are turn'd wi' castles in the air.

MEET ME ON THE GOWAN LEA.

Meet me on the gowan lea, Bonnie Mary, sweetest Mary,
Meet me on the gowan lea, My ain my artless Mary.

Before the sun sink in the west, And nature a' hae gane to rest, There to my fond, my faithfu' breast, O let me clasp my Mary. Meet me on the gowan lea, Bonnie Mary, sweetest Mary,

Meet me on the gowan lea, My ain my artless Mary.

The gladsome lark o'er moor and fell,
The lintie in the bosky dell,
Nae blyther than your bonnie sel',
My ain, my artless Mary.

Meet me, &c.

We'll join our love notes to the breeze
That sighs in whispers through the trees,
And a' that twa fond hearts can please
Will be our sang, dear Mary.

Meet me, &c.

There ye shall sing the sun to rest,
While to my faithfu' bosom prest,
Then wha sae happy, wha sae blest,
As me and my dear Mary.

Meet me, &c.
MY AIN DEAR NELL.

Words and Music by A. Hume.

In moderate time.

O bonnie Nelly Brown, I will sing a sang to thee; Tho' o-ceans wide be-tween us row, ye'll aye be dear to me; Tho' mo-ny a year's gane o'er my head since down in Lin-ton's dell, I took my last fond look o' thee, my ain dear Nell.

O tell me, Nelly Brown, do ye mind our youthfu' days, When we ran a-bout the burn-ie's side, or speel'd the gow'ny braes; When I pu'd the crawpea's blossom, an' the bloom-in' hea-ther bell, To twine them round thy bonnie brow, my ain dear Nell.

How often, Nelly Brown, hae we wandered o'er the lea,
Where grow the brier, the yellow broom, an' flowery hawthorn tree;
Or sported 'mang the leafy woods, till nicht's lang shadows fell—
O we ne'er had thoughts o' partin' then, my ain dear Nell!
And in winter, Nelly Brown, when the nichts were lang an' dreear,
We would creep down by the ingle-side some fairy tale to hear;
We cared nae for the snawy-drift, or nippin' frost sae snell,
For we lived but for each ither then, my ain dear Nell!

They tell me, Nelly Brown, that your bonnie raven hair
Is snaw-white now, an' that your brow, sae cloudless ance an' fair,
Looks care-worn now, an' unco sad, but I heed nae what they tell,
For I ne'er can think you're changed to me, my ain dear Nell!
Ance mair, then, Nelly Brown, I hae sung o' love an' thee,
Though oceans wide between us row, ye're aye the same to me,
As when I sighed my last farewell in Linton's flowery dell—
O I ne'er can tine my love for thee, my ain dear Nell!

Note.—This song is inserted by the kind permission of the publisher, Mr. Purdie, 83 Princes-Street, Edinburgh, from whom copies, with Pianoforte accompaniments, may be had.
As wand'ring my lane down by sweet Birkenshaw, An' thinkin' on days that are noo gane a-wa, I no-tic'd twa couthie wee birds on a tree, Thinks I, noo that's un-co like Wil-lie an' me. Thinks I, noo that's un-co like Wil-lie an' me.

They lilt-ed a-bout, and sae blyth-ly they sang, They flitter'd and courted, I ken-nà how lang; My heart was as hap-py and fu' as could be, They minded me sae o' my Wil-lie an' me. They minded me sae o' my Wil-lie an' me.

I wonder'd if a' the wee birds o' the dell,
As kindly and fondly their love-tales could tell;
I wonder'd if ony twa mortals could be
As happy and leal as my Willie an' me.
They a' may be happy,—what for should they no?
And lasses fu' meikle may think o' their jo;
But naething on earth, in the air, or the sea,
Can be half sae happy as Willie an' me.

My Willie is guid, and my Willie's sae kin',
And then, O thank Heaven, dear Willie is mine!
In the joy o' my heart the tear draps frae my e'e,
To think we're sae happy, my 'Willie an' me.
The hero may sigh for mair laurels—the loon—
The tyrant may grasp at a kingdom or crown;
Contented and happy I'd live till I dee,
Tho' they tak' a' the world but my Willie frae me.
MARY AND ME.

Words by W. Cameron.

Music by M. Wilson.

The bonnie wee bir-dies that sing in the glen, A lesson might gie to the wis-est o’ men; Nae sor-row is heard in their sang on the tree, They’re joyfu’ and hap-py like Ma-ry and me. They’re joyfu’ and hap-py like Ma-ry and me.

The blithe face o’ na-ture may change wi’ the year, And streams a’ get drum-lie lang wimp-lin’ and clear; Dark howl-ing No-ve-mer may bare ilk-a tree, They bring nought but plea-sure to Ma-ry and me. Dark howl-ing No-ve-mer may bare ilk-a tree, They bring nought but plea-sure to Ma-ry and me.

Cauld winter may frown a’ the flowers frae the field, Frae lintie and lamb tak their bed and their bield; Tho’ I pity them sair, O my heart’s fu’ o’ glee, For it’s aye spring or summer to Mary and me.

Awa wi’ your tears, wi’ your gloom, and your noise, For nature’s a palace o’ beauties and joys; A Heaven on earth Heaven’s willing to gie,— True love and contentment like Mary and me.
Ye ken whar yon wee burnie, love, Rins roarin' to the sea, And tumbles o'er its rocky bed, Like spirit wild and free. The mellow mavis tunes his lay, The blackbird swells his note, And little robin sweetly sings Above the woody grot. There meet me love, by a' unseen, Beside yon mossy den, Oh meet me love at dewy eve, In Morag's Faery Glen. O meet me love at dew-y eve, In Morag's Faery Glen.

Come when the sun in robes of gold,
Sinks o'er yon hills to rest,
An' fragrance floating in the breeze,
Comes frae the dewy west.
And I will pu'a garland gay,
To deck thy brow sae fair;
For many a woodbine cover'd glade,
An' sweet wild flower is there.
Then meet me, love, &c.

There's music in the wild cascade,
There's love amang the trees,
There's beauty in ilk bank and brae,
An' balm upon the breeze.
There's a' of nature and of art,
That maistly weel could be,
An' O! my love, when thou art there,
There's bliss in store for me!
Then meet me, love, &c.
JOHNNIE COPE.

New version.  As written and sung by Mr. M'G. Simpson.

Cope sent a letter frae Dunbar, Say-ing, Char-lie meet me gin ye daur, And I'll show you the art o' war, If you'll meet me in the morn-ing. Then hey, Johnnie Cope, are ye wauk-ing yet? Or are your drums a-beat-ing yet? But I'm a-fraid you'll be too late To fecht Prince Charlie in the morning.

The first lines Charlie looked upon,
He drew his sword the scabbard from,
Saying follow me her beautiful men,
She'll be a devil of a morning.

Then "Bonnie Prince Charlie" the pipes did play,
And "O'er the hills and far away,"
And they march'd nine miles that very day,
Then took it a rest till the morning.

When Charles did arise at Prestonpans,
So sheneral-like he assembled the clans,
And when he gied the word o' command,
They fought like lions in the morning.

Then a volley from the royalists came,
Which was answered by the men o' the gallant Graham,
And a' the clans just did the same,
Then in a minute or five they got round their left in the morning.

The brave Lochiel, so stout and bold,
His temper he could not withhold,
She wasna there hersel', but she was told,
He killed fifty himself that morning.

Quarter then was a' the cry,
Some on their knees, and some did fly,
Quarter you devils—she'll half you—and down she'll did lie,
For she hisna time to quarter this morning.
Then Sir John and his men they couldn'a stay,
And O, but they looked unco wae,
And they thought far better to rin away,
Than get their heads tookit off in the morning.

CALLER HERRIN'

This song was composed by the celebrated Neil Gow, and was suggested to him while listening to the bells of St. Andrew's Church in Edinburgh, mingled with the cries of the fisherwomen, who vend their herrings in the streets. These women are notorious for their exorbitant demands, and as the purchaser generally offers about one-third of the price asked, there is consequently much higgling before the bargain is concluded, and which generally ends with the irresistible appeal alluded to in the song,—"Lord bless ye, me! it's no fish ye're buying, it's the lives o' honest men!" The air is beautiful, and highly descriptive of the blended sounds.

Wha'll buy my caller herr-in', The're bon-nie fish and halesome farin';

Buy my caller herr-in', New drawn frae the Forth. When ye are sleep-ing on your pillows, Dreamt ye ought o' our puir fellows, Darkling as they face the billows,

A' to fill our woven willows. Buy my caller herrin', The're bon-nie fish and halesome farin'; Buy my caller herr-in', New drawn frae the Forth. Wha'll buy my caller herr-in', The're no brought here without brave darin'; buy my caller herr-in', Ye lit-tle ken their worth. Wha'll buy my caller herr-in', O you may ca' them vulgar farin'; Wives and mithers, maist despairin', Ca' them lives o' men.

Noo a' ye lads at herrin' fishing,
Costly vampins, dinner dressing,
Sole or turbot, how distressing,
Fine folks scorn shoals o' blessing.
Wha'll buy my caller herrin', &c.

And when the creel o' herrin' passes,
Ladies clad in silks and laces,
Gather in their braw pelisses,
Cast their heads and screw their faces.
Wha'll buy my caller herrin', &c.

Noo neebours' wives come tent my telling,
When the Bonnie fish you're selling,
At a word aye be your dealing,
Truth will stand when a' things failing,
Wha'll buy my caller herrin', &c.

THE FIELD OF BANNOCKBURN.

Words by Mr. M'G. Simpson.

'Twas on a bon-nie sim-mer's day, The Eng-lish came in grand array, King Ed-ward's or-ders to o-bey, up-on the Field of Ban-nock-burn.

Sae loud-ly let the Pib-roch wake, Each loy-al Clan frae hill and lake, And bold-ly fight for Sco-tia's sake, up-on the Field of Ban-nock-burn.

King Edward raised his standard high,
Bruce shook his banners in reply—
Each army shouts for victory
Upon the Field of Bannockburn.
The English horse wi' deadly aim,
Upon the Scottish army came;
But hundreds in our pits were slain
Upon the Field of Bannockburn.

Loud rose the war cry of M'Neil,
Who flew like tigers to the field,
And made the Sass'nach army feel
There were dauntless hearts at Bannockburn.

M'Donald's clan, how firm their pace—
Dark vengeance gleams in ev'ry face,
Lang they had thirsted to embrace
Their Sass'nach friends at Bannockburn.

The Fraser bold his brave clan led,
While wide their thistle banners spread—
They boldly fell and boldly bled
Upon the Field of Bannockburn.

(The ne'er behind*) brave Douglas came,
And also with him Donald Graham,
Their blood-red painted swords did stain
The glorious Field of Bannockburn.

That day King Edward's heart did mourn,
With joy each Scottish heart did burn,
In mem'ry now let us return
Our thanks to Bruce at Bannockburn.

CHORUS.
For loudly did the pibroch wake
Our loyal clans frae hill and lake,
Wha fell and bled for Scotia's sake
Upon the Field of Bannockburn.

* The motto of the Douglas Family.
PRINCE CHARLES'S FAREWELL TO FLORA.

Old Gaelic air. The words written expressly for Mr. M'G. Simpson by A. M'Laggan, Esq.

The voice of the spirit of tempest is near, love, Lo! heartless misfortune has struck the last blow; O where are the souls of the brave I revere, love; O where, where my joy when from Flora I go. Fare-well to my bright dreams of fame, love, and glory; Fare-well bonnie Highlands, still dear, dear to me; Fare-well to my lost love, my soul's dearest Flora, My last sigh I'll give to dear Scotland and thee.

Sound, sound is the sleep of the brave 'neath the willow—
Beneath the proud flag that in battle they bore;
But, alas! for the dream on my lightning-rent pillow,
When love hath departed and hope is no more.
When haunted by foeman and soul-clouding sadness,
Homeless and hopeless, by traitors oppressed—
When stung by the storms of misfortune to madness,
O sweet were the dreams that I dream't on your breast.

Now welcome, ye dark stormy clouds that benight me,
Welcome ye ghosts of the good and the brave;
The pibroch's loud summons no more can delight me,
My song be the wild winds that sweeps their lone grave.
See, see yon proud eagle through stormy clouds soaring,
How fearless the flight of the wing that is free;
Such joy may be mine, love, when Heaven restoring
The land I lo'e dear, and my Flora to me.
Was ever old warrior of suffering so weary? Was ever the wild beast so bayed in his den? The Southron bloodhounds lie in kennel so near me, That death would be welcome to Cal-lum O’Glen.

My sons are all slain, and my daughters have left me, No child to protect me, where once I had ten; My chief they have slain, and of stay hath bereft me, And wo to the gray hairs of Cal-lum O’Glen.

The homes of my kinsmen are blazing to Heaven,
The bright sun of morning has blushed at the view;
The moon has stood still on the verge of the even,
To wipe from her pale cheek the tint of the dew.
For the dew it lies red on the vales of Lochaber,
It sprinkles the cot and it flows in the pen;
The pride of my country is fallen for ever,
O death hast thou no shaft for Callum O’Glen.

The sun in his glory has looked on our sorrow,
The stars have wept blood over hamlet and lea;
O is there no day-spring for Scotland? no morrow
Of bright renovation for souls of the free!
Yes! One above all has beheld our devotion,
Our valour and faith are not hid from his ken;
The day is abiding, of stern retribution
On all the proud foemen of Callum O’Glen.
Words by W. Cameron.
Music by Mathew Wilson.
Moderate and expressive.

O far may ye roam o'er the hills and the heather, And lang may ye seek o'er the bon-nie green lea, And a' the braw towns o' the lowlands the-gith-er, A las-sie like Jean-ie, whaur, whaur will you see. A lassie like Jeanie, whaur, whaur will you see. Love-ly the prim-rose and fair may the Dil-ly, And sweet may the vio-let bloom on yon green; Ye'll pu' na the prim-rose, ye'll pu' na the li-ly, Ye'll praise na the vio-let when ye see my Jean. Ye'll praise na the violet when ye see my Jean.

O plant in her ringlets a rose in its blossom,
And look in her cheeks and its beauties are gane,
And place the fair lily new cull'd in her bosom,
Her bosom will tell you the lily has nane.
Then look nae owre aft at her blue e'en sae bonnie,
And look na at a' if the smile's in her e'e,
Ae glance, and your heart's on the wing, (gin ye've ony)
But mingled wi' smiles, O awa' it wad flee.
I AM A YOUNG MAN, I LIVE WI' MY MITHER.

I am a young man, I live wi' my mither, A braw decent kimmer I trow; But when I speak o' tak-in' a wife, She aye gets up in a lowe. Sae what do you think o' me noo, kind sirs, And what do you think I should try? For gin mither was dee-ing there's nae-bo-dy liv-in' To mind the horse and the kye.

There's red-headed Jenny lives down by our side,
At shearin' she does ding them a',
But her very face, mither canna abide,
And her a wild hizzie* does ca'.

Yestreen my mither, she pouther'd my wig
As white as the driven snaw,
She took an auld mutch,† and shot in my gravat,‡
Beside a big breastpin and a'.

Noo gang awa' Sandy, ye're gaun to the waddin',
Ye ken ye're to be the best man,§
And Betty M'Haffie's to be the best maid,||
Mak up to her noo like a man.

I gaed to the waddin' and Betty was there,
An' losh! but she was buskit braw,¶
She had ribbons and lace, a' deck'd round her face,
And necklaces twa or three raw.

Sae to please my mither an speak up till her,
At last I thocht I micht try;
So I speer'd at Betty if ever she heard
We had twa dizzen o' kye.

Sae what do you think o' me noo, kind sirs,
And what do you think I should try?
But wi' a toss o' her head, she answered, Indeed!
Wha cares for you or your kye.

CAN YE LO'E ME WEEL, LASSIE.

Moderate.

Can ye lo'e me weel, lassie, To this heart then swift-ly flee;

There ye aye shall dwell, lass-ie, Mair than a' this world to me.

When the moon-beams shine sae clear, At that hour by lov-ers blest;

At the gloam-in', lass-ie, dear, Haste to meet this faith-ful breast.

Where the burnie flows, lassie,
Gently by the mountain's side;
Where the wild flowers grow, lassie,
Watered by the streamlet's tide.
Can ye lo'e me, &c.

As the hare-bell blossoms shine,
O'er yon bleak and barren brae,
Let that brilliant eye of thine
Guide me on my lonely way.
Can ye lo'e me, &c.
THE FLOWERS OF THE FOREST.

Words by Mrs. Cockburn of Ormiston—Died 1794.

Adagio.

I've seen the smiling of fortune beguiling, I've felt all its favours, and found its decay: Sweet was its blessing, kind its caress, But now 'tis fled, 'tis fled far away;

I've seen the forest adorned the foremost, With flowers of the fairest, most pleasant and gay, Sae bonnie was their blooming, their scent the air perfuming, But now they are wither'd and are a' wede away.

I've seen the morning with gold the hills adorning, And the dread tempest roaring before parting day; I've seen Tweed's silver streams Glitt'ring in the sunny beams, Grow drumlie and dark as they roll'd on their way. O fickle fortune! why this cruel sporting? O why thus perplex us, poor sons of a day? Thy frowns cannot fear me, Thy smiles cannot cheer me, For the Flowers of the Forest are withered away.
How blythe-ly the pipe through Glen-ly-on was sound-ing, At morn when the clans to the mer-ry dance hied; And gay were the love notes, o'er hearts fond-ly bound-ing, When Ronald woo'd Flo-ra, and made her his bride. But war's ban-ner streaming soon changed their fond dreaming, The bat-tle-cry ec-ho'd a-round and a-bove; Bright claymores were glanc-ing, and war-steeds were prancing, Up, Ron-ald, to arms for your home and your love!

Poor Flora awhile on his bosom hung sobbing, But not to allure him from battle alarms; O heed not, she murmured, this poor heart's wild throbbing, 'Twould break e'er 'twould woo thee from fame to my arms. Bless, bless thee, my dearest, when danger is nearest, Those words and those tears my proud daring shall move; Where war-steeds are prancing and claymores are glancing, I'll conquer or die for my home and my love.

All was hush'd on the hill where love tarried despairing, With her bridesmaids still deck'd in their gay festal gear; And she wept as she saw them fresh garlands preparing, That might laurel love's brow, or be strewed o'er his bier. But cheer thee, dear maiden, each wild breeze is laden With victory's slogan from mountain and grove; Where war-steeds were prancing and claymores were glancing, Lord Ronald had conquered for home and for love.
THE MACGREGORS' GATHERING.

With animation.

Words by Sir Walter Scott.

The moon's on the lake, and the mist's on the brae, And the clan has a name that is nameless by day; Our signal for fight, which from monarchs we drew, Must be heard but by night in our venge-ful ha-loo! Then ha-loo! ha-loo! ha-loo! Gre-ga-lach.

If they rob us of name and pur-sue us with beagles, Give their roof to the flame and their flesh to the eagles; Then gather, gather, gather,

Gather, gather, gather, While there's leaves in the forest, and foam on the river, Mac-gre-gor despite them shall - - - flourish for ev-er. Glenorchy's proud mountain, Col-churn and her towers; Glen-strae and Glen-ly-on no longer are ours; We're landless, land-less, land-less, Gre-ga-lach; Land-less, land-less, land - - - less. Through the depths of Loch-Katrine the steed shall career, O'er the peak of Benlomond the galley shall steer, And the rocks of Craig Royston like i-ci-cles melt, Ere our wrongs be forgot or our vengeance unfelt. Then ha-loo! ha-loo! ha-loo! Gre-ga-lach.

If they rob us of name and pursue us with beagles, Give their roofs to the flame & their flesh to the eagles. Then

While there's leaves in the forest, and foam on the riv-er, Mac-gre-gor despite them shall -- flourish for ev-er.

MY NANNIE'S AWA'.
Words by Burns.

Andante.

Now in her green mant-le blythe Nature arrays, And listen the lambkins that bleat ower the braes, While birds war-ble wel-lome in il-ka green shaw; But to me it's de-light-less, my Nannie's a-wa'.

But to me it's de-light-less, my Nannie's a-wa'.

The snaw-drap and primrose our woodlands adorn,
And violets bathe in the weet o' the morn;
They pain my sad bosom, sae sweetly they blaw!
They mind me o' Nannie—and Nannie's awa.

Thou laverock, that springs frae the dews of the lawn,
The shepherd to warn of the grey-breaking dawn,
And thou mellow mavis, that hails the night-fa';
Give over for pity—my Nannie's awa'.

Come, autumn, sae pensive, in yellow and grey,
And soothe me wi' tidings o' Nature's decay:
The dark, dreary winter, and wild-driving snaw,
Alane can delight me—my Nannie's awa'.
BONNIE BESSIE LEE.

Bon-nie Bes-sie Lee had a face fu' o' smiles, And mirth round her ripe lips was aye danc-ing slee, And light was the foot-fa' and win-some the wiles O' the flower o' the par-o-chin,* our ain Bes-sie Lee! Wi' the bairns she wad rin, and the school lad-dies pake,† And o'er the broomy braes like a fair-ry wad flee, Till auld hearts grew young a-gain wi' love for her sake—There was life in the blithe blink o' bon-nie Bes-sie Lee. Our ain Bes-sie Lee, our bon-nie Bes-sie Lee, There was life in the blithe blink o' bon-nie Be-ssee Lee.

She grat wi' the waefu’ and laugh’d wi' the glad, And light as the wind 'mang the dancers was she; And a tongue that could jeer, too, the little lassie had, Whilk keepit aye her ain side for bonnie Bessie Lee.

And she whiles had a sweetheart, and whiles she had twa, A glaikit bit lassie—but, atween you and me, Her warm wee bit heartie she ne’er threw awa’, Though mony a ane had sought it frae bonnie Bessie Lee.

But ten years had gane since I gazed on her last, For ten years had parted my auld hame and me, And I said to mysel' as her mither's door I pass’d, "Will I ever get anither kiss frae bonnie Bessie Lee?"

But time changes a' things—the ill-natured loon! Were it ever sae rightly he'll no let it be;

* Parish. † Beat.
But I rubbit at my een, and I thought I would swoon,
How the carle had come round about our ain Bessie Lee.
The wee laughing lassie was a gudewife growing auld,—
Twa weans at her apron and ane on her knee;
She was douce, too, and wise-like—and wisdom's sae cauld:—
I would rather had the ither ane than this Bessie Lee.

O! ARE YE SLEEPING, MAGGIE?

Mirk and rainy is the night, No a star'n in a' the carry;
Lightnings gleam athwart the lift, And winds drive wi' winter's fury.

O! are ye sleeping, Maggie? O! are ye sleeping, Maggie?

Let me in, for loud the linn Is roaring o'er the warlock craigie.

Fearfu' soughs the boortree bank,
The rifted wood roars wild and drearie;
Loud the iron yet does clank,
And cry o' howlets makes me eerie.
   O! are ye sleeping, Maggie? &c.

Aboon my breath I daurna speak,
For fear I rouse your waukrispe daddie;
Cauld's the blast upon my cheek,
   O! rise, rise, my bonnie lady!
   O! are ye sleeping, Maggie? &c.

She opt the door, she let him in;
He coost aside his dreeping plaidie;
Blaw your warst, ye rain and win',
Since, Maggie, now I'm in aside ye.
Now since ye're waking, Maggie!
Now since ye're waking, Maggie!
What care I for howlet's cry,
For boortree bank, or warlock craigie.
THE MARRIED MAN'S LAMENT.

I ances was a wan-ter as hap-py's a bee, I med-dled w' me; I whiles had a crack o'er a cog o' gude yill, Whiles a bick-er o' swats, whiles a heart-heaz-ing gill. And I aye had a great if I had-na a pound, On this earth there was nane mei-kle hap-pi-er found; But my auld mither died in the year auch-ty-nine, And I ne'er hae had peace in the wor-l'd sin syne. My auld mither died in the year auch-ty-nine, And I ne'er hae had peace in the wor-l'd sin syne.

Fu' soun' may she sleep—a douce woman was she—
Wi' her wheel, and her cat, and her cuppie o' tea.
My ingle she keepit as trig as a preen,
And she ne'er speer'd questions as, where hae ye been?
As, what were ye doing? or wha was ye wi',
We were happy thegither, my mither and me.

But my auld, &c.

When mither was gane, for a while I was wae,
But a young chap was I, and a wife I wad hae;
A wife I soon got, and I aye hae her yet,
An' the folks think thegither we unco weel fit,
But my ain mind hae I, tho' I daurna speak o'it,
For mair than her gallop I like my ain trot.

But my auld, &c.
When I wi' a crony am taking a drop,
She'll yammer and ca' me an auld drucken sot,
If an hour I bide out, loud she greets and she yowls,
And bans a' gude fellows, baith bodies and souls;
And yet what a care she has o' her gudeman,
You'd think I was doated—I canna but ban.

But my auld, &c.

Now, my gilpie young dochters are looking for men,
I'll be a grandsire ere ever I ken;
The laddies are thinking on ruling the roast;
Their faither, puir body, 's deaf as a post;
But he sees their upsetting, sae crouse and sae bauld;
O, why did I marry, and wherefor grow auld.

But my auld, &c.

THE BONNIE HOUSE O' ARLIE.

It fell up-on a day, a bonnie summer day, When the clans were a' wi'

Charlie, That there fell out a great dispute Between Argyle and Airlie. Argyle has raised a hundred o' his men, To come in the morn-ing ear-ly, And he has gane down by the back o' Dunkeld, To plunder the bonnie house o' Air-lie.

Lady Ogilvie look'd frae her high castle wa',
And O but she sighed sairly,
To see Argyle and a' his men
Come to plunder the bonnie house o' Airlie.
Come doon, come doon, lady Ogilvie, he cried,
Come doon and kiss me fairly,
Or ere the morning clear day light
I'll no leave a standing stane in Airlie.

I wadna come doon, proud Argyle, she cried,
I wadna kiss thee fairly;
I wadna come doon, thou false lord, she cried,
Tho' ye leave na a standing stane in Airlie.
But were my ain gude lord at hame,
As this night he's wi Charlie,
The false Argyle and a' his men
Durst na enter the bonnie house o' Airlie.

O I hae born him seven bonnie sons,
The last ne'er saw his daddie,
And gin I had as mony o'er again
They'd a' be men to Charlie.
Argyle in a rage attacked the bonnie ha',
And his men to the plundering fairly,
And tears tho' he saw like dew draps fa',
In a Lowe he set the bonnie house o' Airlie.

What Lowe is yon? quo the gude Lochiel,
That rises this morning sae early;
By the God o' my kin, cried the young Ogilvie,
Its my ain bonnie hame o' Airlie.
Its no my bonnie hame, nor my lands a' reft,
That grieves my heart sae sairly,
Its for my winsome dame, and the sweet babes I left,
They'll smoor in the dark reek o' Airlie.

Draw your dirks, draw your dirks, cried the brave Lochiel, Unsheath your swords cried Charlie,
And we'll kindle sic a Lowe round the false Argyle,
And licht it wi' a spark out o' Airlie.
THE SCOTTISH EMIGRANT'S FAREWEE._

Words and Music by A. Hume.

Fareweel, fareweel, my native hame, Thy lonely glens an' heath-clad mountains; Fareweel thy fields o' storied fame, Thy leafty shaws an' sparklin' fountains. Nae mair I'll climb the Pentlands' steep, Nor wander by the Esk's clear river, I seek a hame far o'er the deep, My native land, fareweel for ever.

Thou land wi' love an' freedom crowned—
In ilk wee cot an' lordly dwellin' May manly-hearted youths be found,
And maids in ev'ry grace excellin'.
The land where Bruce and Wallace wight,
For freedom fought in days o' danger,
Ne'er crouch'd to proud usurpin' might,
But foremost stood, wrong's stern avenger.

Tho' far frae thee, my native shore, An' toss'd on life's tempestuous ocean; My heart, aye Scottish to the core, Shall cling to thee wi' warm devotion.
An' while the wavin' heather grows, An' onward rows the windin' river,
The toast be "Scotland's broomy knowes, Her mountains, rocks, an' glens for ever."
DUET:—I THINK OF THEE.  Composed by A. Hume.

I think of thee when some sweet song is breathing,  Awak'ning thoughts of early happy days; When fairy hope its brightest flowers was wreathing, And seem'd the future one unclouded blaze. Oft does some song, some olden song, thus sounding, Thrill o'er the mind like music o'er the sea, Fond mem'ry wakes our life with bliss surounding, And as I feel the spell I think of thee. I think of thee. I think of thee.

I think of thee when spring wakes smiling nature,
   When birds sing sweetly and when flowers are bright.
When pleasure gladdens every living creature,
   And sunshine bathes the earth and sea in light.
And when the rainbow springs, its glory throwing
   O'er cloud and storm, to bid their darkness flee;
And all is bright and beautiful and glowing,
   Like one that I could name,—I think of thee.

WANDERING WILLIE.

Words by Burns.

Here a-wa', there a-wa', wanderin' Willie, Here a-va', there a-va', haud a-va' hame; Come to my bosom, my ain on-ly dear-ie, Tell me, thou bring'st me my Willie the same.
   Winter winds blew loud an' cauld at our part-ing, Fears for my Willie brought tears in my e'e; Welcome now sim-mer, and welcome my Willie, The sim-mer to na-ture, my Willie to me.

Rest, ye wild storms, in the cave of your slumbers,
   How your dread howling a lover alarms!
Wauken, ye breezes! row gently, ye billows!
   And waft my dear laddie ancia mair to my arms.
But oh! if he's faithless, and minds nae his Nannie,
   Flow still between us thou wide roaring main!
May I never see it, may I never trow it,
   But dying, believe that my Willie's my ain!
AN THOU WERE MINE AIN THING.

An thou were mine aie thing, O I would love thee, I would love thee, An thou were mine aie thing, How dearly would I love thee. Then I would clasp thee in my arms, Then I'd secure thee from all harms, For above all mortals thou hast charms, How dearly do I love thee. An thou were mine aie thing, O I would love thee, I would love thee, An thou were mine aie thing, How dearly would I love thee.

Of race divine thou needs must be,
Since nothing earthly equals thee,
With angel pity look on me,
Wha only lives to love thee.
   An thou were mine aie thing, &c.

To merit I no claim can make,
     But that I love, and for thy sake,
What man can do I'll undertake,
     So dearly do I love thee.
   An thou were mine aie thing, &c.
AULD ROBIN GRAY.

Words by Lady Ann Lindsay. Music by Rev. W. Leeves.

Introduction—"The Bridegroom Grat," (old air.)

When the sheep are in the fauld, and the kye at hame, And a' the weary warld to sleep are gane; The waes o' my heart fa' in showers frae my e'e, While my guid-man sleeps sound by me.

Young Jam-ie lo'ed me weel, and sought me for his bride, But saving a crown, he had nae-thing else beside; To mak' the crown a pound my Jam-ie gaed to sea, And the crown and the pound were baith for me. He had na been gane but a year and a day, When my fa-ther brak' his arm, and the cow was stown a-wa'; My mither she fell sick, and my Ja-mie at the sea, And auld Ro-bin Gray cam' a court-ing to me.
My father couldna work, and my mither couldna spin;
I toiled baith day and nicht, but their bread I couldna win;
Auld Rob maintained them baith, and wi' tears in his e'e,
Said, Jenny, for their sakes, O marry me!
My heart it said na, for I look'd for Jamie back;
But the wind it blew high, and the ship it was a wrack;
The ship it was a wrack—why didna Jenny dee?
O why was I spared to cry, Waes me!

My father argued sair; my mither didna speak;
But she lookit in my face till my heart was like to break;
Sae they gied him my hand, though my heart was at the sea,
And auld Robin Gray was guidman to me.
I hadna been a wife a week but only four,
When, sitting sae mournfully at my ain door,
I saw my Jamie's wraith, for I couldna think it he,
Till he said, I'm come hame, love, to marry thee.

Oh, sair did we greet, and mickle did we say;
We took but ae kiss, and we tore ourselves away:
I wish that I were dead! but I'm no like to dee;
Oh why did I live to say, Waes me!
I gang like a ghaist, and I downa care to spin;
I daurna think on Jamie, for that wad be a sin;
So I'll e'en do my best a guid wife to be,
For auld Robin Gray is a kind man to me.

The old air ("The Bridegroom Grat,") is here given as an introduction to the modern music of the Rev. Mr. Leeves. The song was originally written for the former air.

LORD RONALD.

\begin{align*}
O \text{ where hae ye been, Lord Ronald my son?} & \quad O \text{ where hae ye been, Lord Ronald, my son?} \\
I \text{ hae been wi' my sweetheart, mother,} & \quad I \text{ hae been wi' my sweetheart, mother,} \\
\text{make my bed soon, For I'm weary wi' the hunting, and fain would lie down.} & \quad \text{make my bed soon, For I'm weary wi' the hunting, and fain would lie down.}
\end{align*}
\]
What got ye frae your sweetheart, Lord Ronald, my son?
What got ye frae your sweetheart, Lord Ronald, my son?
I hae got deadly poison, mother, make my bed soon,
For life is a burden that soon I'll lay down.

THE PAIRTIN'.

Words and Music by A. Hume.

Ma-ry, dear-est maid, I leave thee, Hame, an' frien's, an' coun-try dear;

Oh! ne'er let our pair-tin' grieve thee, Happier days may soon be here.

See yon bark sae proud-ly bound-ing, Soon shall bear me o'er the sea;

Hark! the trum-pet loud-ly sound-ing, Calls me far frae love an' thee.

Summer flow'rs shall cease to blossom,
Streams run backward frae the sea;
Cauld in death maun be this bosom,
Ere it cease to throb for thee.
Fare thee weel—may ev'ry blessin'
Shed by Heav'n around thee fa';
Ae last time thy lov'd form pressin'—
Think o' me when far awa'.

CHEERFULNESS—AND SONG.—If you would keep spring in your hearts, learn to sing. There is more merit in melody than most people are aware of. A cobbler who smooths his wax-ends with a song, will do as much work in a day, as one given to ill-nature would do in a week. Songs are like sunshine, they run to cheerfulness to fill the bosom with such buoyancy that, for the time being, you feel filled with June air, or like a meadow of clover in blossom.
WHEN THE KYE COMES HAME.

Come all ye jolly shepherds that whistle through the glen, I'll tell ye of a secret that courtiers dinna ken. What is the greatest bliss that the tongue o' man can name? 'Tis to woo a bonnie lassie when the kye comes hame. When the kye comes hame, when the kye comes hame, 'Tween the gloamin' and the mirk, when the kye comes hame.

'Tis not beneath the burgonet, nor yet beneath the crown,
'Tis not on couch of velvet, nor yet on bed of down:
'Tis beneath the spreading birch, in the dell without a name,
Wi' a bonnie, bonnie lassie, when the kye comes hame.

Then the eye shines sae bright, the haill soul to beguile,
There's love in every whisper, and joy in every smile;
O who would choose a crown, wi' its perils and its fame,
And miss a bonnie lassie when the kye comes hame.

See yonder pawky shepherd that lingers on the hill—
His yowes are in the fauld, and his lambs are lying still;
Yet he downa gang to rest, for his heart is in a flame
To meet his bonnie lassie when the kye comes hame.

Awa' wi' fame and fortune—what comfort can they gie?—
And a' the arts that prey on man's life and libertie!
Gie me the highest joy that the heart o' man can frame,
My bonnie, bonnie lassie, when the kye comes hame.
To the Lords of Convention, 'twas Claver-house spoke, Ere the King's Crown go down there are crowns to be broke. Then each ca-va-lie-er that loves hon-our and me, Let him fol-low the bon-nets of Bon-nie Dun-dee. Come fill up my cup, come fill up my can, Come sad-dle my hor-ses, and call out my men; Un-hook the west port, and let us gae free, For it's up wi' the bon-nets of Bon-nie Dun-dee.

Dundee he is mounted, he rides up the street,
The bells they ring backward, the drums they are beat,
But the provost (douce man) said, "Just e'en let it be,
For the toun is well rid o' that de'il o' Dundee."
Come fill up my cup, &c.

There are hills beyond Pentland, and lands beyond Forth,
If there's lords in the south, there are chiefs in the north;
There are brave Duinnewassals three thousand times three,
Will cry "Hey for the bonnets of Bonnie Dundee."
Come fill up my cup, &c.

Then awa' to the hills, to the lea, to the rocks,
Ere I own a usurper I'll crouch with the fox;
And tremble false whigs in the midst o' your glee,
Ye hae no seen the last o' my bonnets and me.
Come fill up my cup, &c.
Is your war-pipe asleep, and for ever, M'Crimman? Is your war-pipe asleep and for ever? Shall the pibroch that welcom'd the foe to Ben-aer, Be hush'd when we seek the dark wolf in his lair, To give back our wrongs to the giver? To the raid and the onslaught our chief-tains have gone, Like the course of the fire-slaught their clansmen pass'd on; With the lance and the shield 'gainst the foe they have bound them, And have ta'en to the field, with their vas-sals a-round them. Then raise your wild slogan cry! on to the foray! Sons of the heather hill, pinewood, and glen! Shout for M'Pher-son, M'Leod, and the Mor-ay, Till the Lo-monds re-ec-ho the chal-lenge a-gain.
Wilt thou shrink from the doom thou canst shun not, M'Crimman?
Wilt thou shrink from the doom thou canst shun not?
If thy course must be brief, let the proud Saxon know
That the soul of M'Crimman ne'er quail'd when a foe
Bared his blade in the land he had won not,
Where the light-footed roe leaves
The wild breeze behind,
And the red heather bloom gives
Its sweets to the wind,
There our proud pennon flies,
And the keen steeds are prancing,
'Mid the startling war-cries,
And the war-weapons glancing,
Then raise your wild slogan-cry! on to the foray!
Sons of the heather hill, pinewood, and glen!
Shout for M'Pherson, M'Leod, and the Moray,
Till the Lomonds re-echo the challenge again!
RISE! RISE! LOWLAND AND HIGHLANDMEN!

Words by J. Imlah. Music by Peter M'Leod.

Rise! rise! low-land and high-land-men! Bald sire to beardless son, each come, and ear-ly; Rise! rise! main-land and is-land-men, Belt on your broad claymores—fight for Prince Char-lie. Down from the mountain steep-
Up from the val-ley deep—Out from the clach-an, the both-ishing, Bugle and battle-drum, Bid chief and vassal come, Chorus.

Loud-ly our bag-pipes the pib-roch are peal-ing! Rise! rise! low-land and high-land-men! Bald sire to beardless son, each come, and ear-ly; Rise! rise!
main-land and is-landmen, Belt on your broad claymores—fight for Prince Charlie,

Men of the mountains! de-scen-dants of he-ros! Heirs of the fame and the hills of your fa-thers; Say shall the Southron—the Sas-sen-aich fear us, When to the war-peat each plaid-ed clan gath-ers! Long on the trophied walls Of your an-ces-tral halls, Rust hath been blunting the ar-mour of Al-bin; Seize, then, ye mountain Macs, Buckler and bat-tle-axe,

Chorus.

Lads of Loch-a-ber, Brae-mar, and Brae-dal-bin! Rise! rise! low-land and high-land-men! Bald sire to beard-less son, each come, and ear-ly; Rise! rise!
mainland and is-land-men, Belt on your broad claymores—fight for Prince Char-lie.

When hath the tartan plaid mantled a coward?
When did the blue bonnet crest the disloyal?
Up, then, and crowd to the standard of Stuart,
Follow your leader—the rightful—the royal!
Chief of Clanronald,
And Donald Macdonald!
Come Lovat! Lochiel! with the Grant and the Gordon!
Rouse every kilted clan,
Rouse every loyal man,
Gun on the shoulder, and thigh the good sword on!
Rise! rise! lowland and highlandmen!
Bald sire to beardless son, each come, and early;
Rise! rise! mainland and islandmen,
Belt on your broad claymores—fight for Prince Charlie!

This and the preceding song appear by the kind permission of Peter M'Leod, Esq., from his "Original Melodies."
NAEBODY KENS YE.

Are ye do-in' ought weel, are ye thriv-in', my man? Be thank-fu' to

Fortune for a' that she sen's ye; Ye'll hae plen-ty o' frien's aye to off their han', When ye need-na their coun-ten-ance, a' bo-dy kens ye.

A' bo-dy kens ye, a' bo-dy kens ye. When ye need-na their counten-ance, a' bo-dy kens ye. But wait ye a wee, till the tide tak's a turn, An' a- wa' wi' the ebb drift the fa-vours she lends ye, Cauld friend-ship will then leave ye line-ly to mourn; When ye need a' their friendship, then nae-bo-dy kens ye, Nae-bo-dy kens ye.

Nae-bo-dy kens ye. When ye need a' their friendship, then nae-bo-dy kens ye.

The crony wha stuck like a burr to your side,
An' vowed wi' his heart's dearest bluid to befriend ye,
A five guinea note, man, will part ye as wide
As if oceans and deserts were lyin' between ye.

Naebody kens ye, &c.
It's the siller that does't man, the siller, the siller,
  It's the siller that break's ye, an' mak's ye, an' men's ye;
When your pockets are toom, an' nae wab i' the loom,
  Then tak' ye my word for't, there's naebody kens ye.
      Naebody kens ye, &c.

But think nae I mean that a' mankind are sae,
  It's the butterfly frien's that misfortune should fear aye,
There are friends worth the name, Guid sen' they were mae,
  Wha, the cauld'er the blast, aye the closer draw near ye.
    They bodies ken ye, &c.

The frien's wha can tell us our fau'ts to our face,
  But aye frae our faes in our absence defen's us,
Leeze me on sic hearts! o' life's pack he's the ace,
  Wha scorns to disown us, when naebody kens us.
    They bodies ken ye, &c.

HERE'S A HEALTH TO SCOTIA'S SHORE.

With energy.

Sing not to me of sun-ny shores, Of verdant climes where olives bloom; Where still and calm the riv-er pours Its flood 'mid groves of sweet per-fume.

Give me the land where torrents flash, Where loud the an-gry cat' racts roar; As wild-ly on their course they dash, Then here's a health to Scotia's shore.

Sing not to me of sunny isles,
   Though there eternal summers reign;
   Though orange groves serenely smile,
   And gaudy flow'rets deck the plain.
Give me the land of mountains steep,
   Where wild and free the eagles soar,
   The dizzy crags where tempests sweep,
   Then here's a health to Scotia's shore.

Sing not to me of sunny lands,
   For there full often tyrants sway;[hands,
   Who climb to power with blood-stained
   While crouching, trembling, slaves obey.
Give me the land unconquered still,
   Though often tried in days of yore;
   Where freedom reigns from plain to hill,
   Then here's a health to Scotia's shore.
MELLOW AND MERRY WE'RE A'.

Words by W. Cameron.

Music by Mathew Wilson.

O mel-low and mer-ry we're a', we're a'; O mel-low and merry we're a', we're a'; Then fill up the bowl, and let each mer-ry soul, Sing mel-low and mer-ry we're a', we're a'; Then fill up the bowl, and let each mer-ry soul, Sing mel-low and mer-ry we're a', we're a'.

The sun may gang hame o'er the bleak Ar-ran hills, While her ma-jes-ty Lu-na her cres-cent she fills; O the sun may get up a-gain, Lu-na may wane; Fill, fill up the gob-let, we'll quaff it a-gain. O

Awa' wi' finesse and a' finical airs,
A truce to the world for it loads us wi' cares;
No forgetting our hames, our dear lasses and wives,
To friendship devote this ae night o' our lives.
For sweet is the cup wi' a social few,
And dear to our heart is the friend that is true;
Then friendship and truth be the bond of each soul,
And we'll pledge it again in a jovial bowl.

For mellow, &c.
MARY SHAW.

Mild and modest bonnie lassie, E'en sae fu' o' love an' a', Innocent and sweet wee lassie, O, I love thee, Mary Shaw. Kind's the heart that heaves thy bosom, Pure the love that dwel-leth there, Fresh and sweet as Mayflowers' blossom, Sweet, yes sweet, as April air. Mild and modest bonnie lassie, E'en sae fu' o' love an' a', Innocent and sweet young lassie, O, I love thee, Mary Shaw.

Oft I've heard the songsters wild,
Warble round thy father's ha';
Singing gaily, sweetly, mild—
Surely 'twas for Mary Shaw.
Pleas'd I've listened to their chanting,
'Mong the planes' deep foliage green;
Mary, there was something wanting,
Thou wert wanting, lovely queen.

Mild, &c.

Bowers of deepest shades are many,
Spreading planes, an' birds, an' a';
Lovers' walks as sweet as ony,
But there's no a Mary Shaw.
Meet me then, my soul's dear treasure,
Meet me where yon streamlets part;
Come, sweet source of a' my pleasure,
Bless a faithful lover's heart.

Mild, &c.
OH, WHY DIDST THOU LEAVE ME?

Words by W. Cameron.
Music by Mathew Wilson.

The woods are a' joy-ous, while spring is re-stor-ing To lawn and to fo-rest their man-tle o' green; While gloomy and joy-less my heart is de-plor-ing The hour that took Jam-ie a-wa' frae his Jean. The hour that took Jam-ie a-wa' frae his Jean. Oh! why didst thou leave me in sad-ness and sor-row? The pale moon now beam-ing o'er moun-tain and sea, May rise in its bright-ness and beau-ty to-mor-row, It brings nae my ain dear-est Jam-ie to me. It brings nae my ain dear-est Jam-ie to me.

He sleeps in the dark and the deep caves of ocean,
The wild roaring tempest disturbs him no more; But oh! what can soothe, now, my heart's deep emotion, While weeping and hopeless I gaze on the shore. Then why didst thou leave me! ah! why thus for ever? Hid far frae thy Jean in the depths of the sea; O, Heaven be with me! the billows will never Restore my dear Jamie to life and to me!
LADDIE, OH! LEAVE ME.

Words by J. M'Gregor.

Slow, with tender expression.

Down whar the bur-nie rins wim-plin' and chee-rie, When love's star was smil-in' I met wi' my dear-ie; Ah! vain was its smil-in', she wad-na be-lieve me, But said wi' a saucy air,

Lad-die, oh! leave me, leave me, leave me, Lad-die, oh! leave me.

"I've lo'ed thee owre truly to seek a new dearie—
I've lo'ed thee owre fondly through life e'er to weary—
I've lo'ed thee owre lang, love, at last to deceive thee—
Look cauldly or kindly, but bid me not leave thee."

Leave thee, leave thee, &c.

"There's nae ither saft e'e that fills me wi' pleasure—
There's nae ither rose-lip has half o' its treasure—
There's nae ither bower, love, shall ever receive me,
Till death breaks this fond heart, oh! then I maun leave thee."

Leave thee, leave thee, &c.

The tears o'er her cheeks ran like dew frae red roses—
What hope to the lover one tear-drop discloses,
I kissed them, and blest her, at last to relieve me,
She yielded her hand, and sighed, "Oh! never leave me."

Leave me, leave me, &c.
HAIL TO THE CHIEF.

Words by Sir Walter Scott, from the "Lady of the Lake."

Hail to the chief who in triumph advances! Honour’d and bless’d be the ever-green pine! Long may the tree, in his banner that glances, Flourish, the shelter and grace of our line! Heav’n send it happy dew, Earth lend it sap anew, Gaily to bourgeon, and broadly to grow; While ev’ry high-land glen Sends our shout back again,

Ours is no sapling chance-sown by the fountain, Blooming at Beltane, in winter to fade; When the whirlwind has stript ev’ry leaf on the mountain, The more shall Clan Alpine exult in her shade.

Moor’d in the rifted rock, Proof to the tempest shock; Firmer he roots him the ruder it blows; Monteith and Breadalbin, then, Echo his praise again, Roderich Vich Alpine dhu, &c.

Row, vassals, row, for the pride of the Highlands! Stretch to your oars for the ever green pine! O! that the rosebud that graces yon islands Were wreath’d in a garland around him to twine!
O that some seedling gem,
Worthy such noble stem,
Honour'd and bless'd in their shadow might grow.
Loud should Clan Alpine, then,
Ring from her deepmost glen,

BONNIE ANNIE.

Words by W. Cameron.

Music by J. A. May.

Nae flow'-ry braes in nature's pride, Spread round my bon-nie Annie's hame; Nae ha-zel dells by burn-nie's side, To sing wi' my dear An-nie's name

But An-nie is a bonnie lass, The bonniest lass that e'er I saw; O An-nie is the kind-est lass, And -- dear-est to my heart of a'.

She has twa een sae bonnie blue,
Sae bonnie blue, sae clear and bright;
They're like twa shining draps o' dew,
Or like twa beaming stars o' night.
  O Annie is a bonnie lass, &c.

Her sweet wee mou'—a bonnie mou',
Sae temptin',—O I would be fain
To steal frae her a kiss I trow,
And fondly wish her a' my ain.
  For Annie is a bonnie lass, &c.

Aye when I sleep, and when I wake,
My thoughts are like the troubled sea—
And O, I fear, my heart will break,
If Annie love, but love nae me.
  For Annie is a bonnie lass, &c.
JOHN GRUMLIE.

Lively.

John Grumlie swore by the light o' the moon, And the green leaves on the tree, That he could do more work in a day, Than his wife could do in three. His wife rose up in the morn-ing Wi' cares and troubles e-now; John Grum-lie bide at hame, John, And I'll go haud the plow. Sing-ing fal de lal lal de ral lal, fal lal lal lal lal la. John Grum-lie bide at hame, John, And I'll go haud the plow.

"First ye maun dress your children fair, And put them a' in their gear; And ye maun turn the malt, John, Or else ye'll spoil the beer. And ye maun reel the tweel, John, That I span yesterday; And ye maun ca' in the hens, John, Else they'll a' lay away." Singing, fal de lal lal, &c.

O he did dress his children fair, And he put them a' in their gear; But he forgot to turn the malt, And so he spoiled the beer. And he sang aloud as he reel'd the tweel That his wife span yesterday; But he forgot to put up the hens, And the hens a' lay'd away. Singing, fal de lal lal, &c.

The hawket crum mie loot down nae milk; He kirned, nor butter gat; And a' gaed rang, and nought gaed right; He danced with rage, and grat. Then up he ran to the head o' the knowe, Wi' mony a wave and shout— She heard him as she heard him not, And steered the stots about. Singing, fal de lal lal, &c.

John Grumlie's wife cam hame at e'en, And laugh'd as she'd been mad, When she saw the house in siccan a plight, And John sae glum and sad. Quoth he, "I gie up my housewifeskep, I'll be nae mair gudewife." "Indeed," quo' she, "I'm weel content, Ye may keep it the rest o' your life." Singing, fal de lal lal, &c.
"The deil be in that," quo' surly John, "Stop, stop, gudewife, I'll haud my tongue, I ken I'm sair to blame, Wi' that the gudewife took up a stoot rung, But henceforth I maun mind the plow, And John made off to the door. And ye maun bide at hame."

Singing, fal de lal lal, &c.

HURRAH! FOR THE THISTLE.

Words and Music:

Words by Alexander Maclagan.
Music by John Turnbull.

With spirit.

---

Hurrah! for the thistle, the bonnie Scotch thistle, The evergreen thistle of Scotland for me; Away with the flow'rs in your lady-built bow'rs, The strong-bearded, well-guarded thistle for me.

'Tis the flow'r the proud eagle greets in his flight, When he shadows the stars with the wings of his might, 'Tis the flow'r that laughs at the storm as it blows, For the greater the tempest the greener it grows.

Round the love-lithec hames o' our ain native land—
On the bonneted brow, on the hilt of the brand,
On the face of the shield, 'mid the shouts of the free, May the thistle be seen where the thistle should be!
Hurrah! for the thistle, &c.

Hale hearts hae we yet to bleed in its cause;
Bold harps hae we yet to sound its applause;
How then can it fade, when sic chiels an' sic cheer, And sae mony braw sprouts o' the thistle are here? Then hurrah! for the thistle, &c.
DUNOIS THE BRAVE, or PARTANT POUR LA SYRIE.

The Words translated from the French by Sir Walter Scott; the Music by Hortense Beauharnais, ex-Queen of Holland, and mother of the present Emperor of the French.

It was Dun-ois the young and brave, Was bound for Pa-les-tine, But first he made his o-ri-sons Be-fore Saint Ma-ry's shrine, "And grant, im-mor-tal Queen of Heav'n," Was still the sol-dier's pray'r, "That I may prove the brav-est knight, And love the fair-est fair. That I may prove the brav-est knight, And love the fair-est fair.

His oath of honour on the shrine,
He grav'd it with his sword;
And follow'd to the Holy Land
The banner of his Lord.
Where faithful to his noble vow,
His war-cry filled the air;
"Be honoun'd aye the bravest knight,
Be lov'd the fairest fair!"

They owed the conquest to his arm,
And then his liege lord said,
The heart that has for honour beat,
By bliss must be repaid.
My daughter Isabel, and thou,
Shall be a wedded pair,
For thou art bravest of the brave,
She fairest of the fair.

And then they bound the holy knot,
Before Saint Mary's shrine,
That makes a paradise on earth,
If hearts and hands combine.
And every lord and lady bright,
That were in chapel there,
Cried "Honour'd be the bravest knight,
Be loved the fairest fair."

Note.—Sir Walter Scott says that "the original made part of a MS. collection of French songs, found on the field of Waterloo, so much stained with clay and blood as sufficiently to indicate the fate of its owner." This is at present the French national air.
KIND ROBIN LO'ES ME.

They speak of napkins, speak of rings,
Speak of gloves and kissing strings,
And name a thousand bonnie things,
And ca' them signs he lo'es me.

But little kens she what has been
Me and my honest Rob between,
And in his wooing, O so keen
Kind Robin is that lo'es me.

Then fly, ye lazy hours, away,
And hasten on the happy day, [say,
When "Join your hands," Mess John shall
And mak' him mine that lo'es me.

He's tall and sonsy, frank and free,
Lo'ed by a', and dear to me;
Wi' him I'd live, wi' him I'd dee,
Because my Robin lo'es me!

My sister Mary said to me,
Our courtship but a joke wad be,
And I, or lang, be made to see
That Robin didna lo'e me.

Till then let every chance unite,
To weigh our love, and fix delight,
And I'll look down on such wi' spite,
Wha doubt that Robin lo'es me.

O hey, Robin, quo' she,
O hey, Robin, quo' she,
O hey, Robin, quo' she,
Kind Robin lo'es me.
DUET—TWILIGHT O'ER THE VALE.

Composed by A. Hume.

Treble.

Twilight o'er the vale is stealing, Watchful stars their stations take!

Tenor.

Hark! the village bells are pealing O'er the calm unruffled lake. O'er the calm, unruffled lake. With steady oar We leave the shore, And o'er the lake's smooth bosom glide, So merrily, so merrily, So merrily at even-tide, Merrily, merrily, merrily, merrily,
Now with joyous hearts returning,
Ev'ning shades again appear;
See the lamp of night is burning,
Mirror'd on the waters clear.
With steady oar, &c.

MY MITHER'S AYE GLOW'RN' OWR ME.

My mither's aye glow'rn' owr me, Though she did the same before me; I can-na get leave To look at my love, Or else she'd be like to devour me. Right fain wad I tak' your offer, Sweet sir, but I'll tine my toch-er; Then Sandy you'll fret, And wyte your poor Kate, When-e'er you look in your toom cof-fer.

For though my father has plenty Of silver and plenishing dainty, Yet he's unco sweir To twine wi' his gear; And sae we had need to be tenty. My mither's, &c.

Tutor my parents wi' caution; Be wylie in ilka motion; Brag weel o' your land, And there's my leal hand, Win them, I'll be at your devotion. My mither's, &c.
BESS THE GAWKIE.

Blythe the young Bess to Jean did say, Will ye gang to you sunny brae, Where flocks do feed, and shepherds stray, And sport awhile wi' Jam- ie. Na, na, dear lass, we'll no gang there, Nor yet o' Jam- ie hae a care, We'll tak' a walk some ith- er where, For he's taen up wi' Mag- gie.

For hark, and I will tell you, lass, O Jamie, ye hae mony taen,
Did I not see your Jamie pass, But I will never stand for ane
Wi' muckle blytheness in his face, Or twa, when we do meet again,
Gau'n owre the muir to Maggie. Sae ne'er think me a gawkie.
I wat he gae her mony a kiss, Ah, na, na, lass, that canna be,
And Maggie took them no amiss; Sic thocht as these are far frae me,
'Tween ilka smack pleased her wi' this, Or ony thy sweet face that see,
That Bess was but a gawkie. Ere to think thee a gawkie.

For when a civil kiss I seek, [cheek, But whisht, nae mair o' this we'll speak,
She turns her head, and throws her For yonder Jamie does us meet,
And for an hour she'll scarcely speak, Instead of Meg he kiss'd sae sweet,
Wha'd not ca' her a gawkie? I trow he likes the gawkie.
But sure my Maggie has mair sense, O dear, young Bessie, is this you?
She'd gie a score without offence, I scarcely kenn'd your gown sae new,
Sae gie me ane into the mends, I think you've got it wat wi' dew,
And ye sall be my dawtie. Says Bess, "That's like a gawkie."
“It’s wat wi’ dew, and will get rain,
And I’ll get gowns when it is gane,
Sae ye may gang the gate ye came,
And tell it to your dawtie.”

The guilt appeared on Jamie’s cheek,
He cried, “O cruel maid, but sweet,
If I should gang anither gate,
I ne’er could meet my dawtie.”

THERE WAS A LAD WAS BORN IN KYLE.

There was a lad was born in Kyle, But what-na day, o’ what-na style, I doubt it’s hardly worth the while To be sae nice wi’ Robin. For Robin was a rovin’ boy, A ran-tin’, rovin’, ran-tin’, rovin’, Robin was a rovin’ boy; O ran-tin’, rovin’ Robin.

Our monarch’s hindmost year but ane
Was five-and-twenty days begun,
’Twas then a blast o’ Janwar’ win’
Blew hansel in on Robin.
For Robin was a rovin’ boy, &c.

The gossip keekit in his loof,
Quo’ scho, wha lives will see the proof,
This waly boy will be nae coof,
I think we’ll ca’ him Robin.
For Robin was a rovin’ boy, &c.

He’ll hae misfortunes great and sma’,
But aye a heart aboon them a’;
He’ll be a credit till us a’,
We’ll a’ be proud o’ Robin.
For Robin was a rovin’ boy, &c.

But sure as three times three mak’ nine,
I see by ilka score and line,
This chap will dearly like our kin’,
So leeze me on thee, Robin.
For Robin was a rovin’ boy, &c.
WITHIN A MILE OF EDINBURGH TOWN.

Music by Mr. James Hook.

'Twas within a mile of Edinburgh town, In the rosy time of the year; Sweet flowers bloom'd and the grass was down, And each shepherd woo'd his dear. Bonnie Jockie, blythe and gay, Kiss'd young Jenny making hay; The lassie blush'd, and frowning cried, "Na, na, it winna do; I canna, canna, winna, winna, maunna buckle to.""
There lives a young lassie far down in yon glen; And I lo'e that lassie as nae ane may ken! O! a saint's faith may vary, but faith-fu' I'll be; For weel I lo'e Ma-ry, and Ma-ry lo'es me.

Red, red as the rowan, her smiling wee mou'; And white as the gowan, her breast and her brow; Wi' the foot of a fairy, she links o'er the lea, O! weel I lo'e Ma-ry, and Ma-ry lo'es me. There lives a young lassie far down in yon glen; And I lo'e that lassie as nae ane may ken! O! a saint's faith may vary, but faith-fu' I'll be; For weel I lo'e Ma-ry, and Ma-ry lo'es me.

She sings sweet as any wee bird of the air,
And she's blithe as she's bonnie, she's guid as she's fair;
Like a lammie as airy and artless as she,
O! weel I lo'e Mary, and Mary lo'es me.
There lives a young lassie, &c.
O hearken and I will tell you how Young Muirland Wil-lie cam' here to woo, Tho' he could nei- ther say nor do; The truth I tell to you.

But aye he cries, whate'er betide, Mag-gie I'se hae to be my bride, With a fal da ra, fal lal da ra la, fal lal da ra la lal da ral la.

On his gray yade as he did ride,
Wi' dirk and pistol by his side,
He pricked her on wi' meikle pride,
Wi' meikle mirth and glee,
Out o'er yon moss, out o'er yon muir,
Till he cam' to her daddie's door,
With a fal da ra, &c.

Gudeman, quoth he, be ye within?
I'm come your dochter's love to win,
I carena for making meikle din;
What answer gi'e ye me?
Now wooer, quoth he, would ye light down,
I'll gi'e ye my dochter's love to win,
With a fal da ra, &c.

Now, wooer, sin' ye are lighted down,
Where do ye won, or in what town?
I think my dochter winna gloom,
On sic a lad as ye.
The wooer he stepp'd up the house,
And wow but he was wond'rous crouse,
With a fal da ra, &c.

The maid put on her kirtle brown;
She was the brawest in a' the town,
I wat on him she didna gloom,
But blinkit bonnillie.
The lover he stended up in haste,
And gipt her hard about the waist,
With a fal da ra, &c.

The maiden blush'd and bing'd fu' law,
She hadna will to say him na,
But to her daddie she left it a',
As they twa could agree.
The lover gi'ed her the tither kiss,
Syne ran to her daddie, and tell'd him this,
With a fal da ra, &c.

The bridala day it came to pass,
Wi' mony a blithesome lad and lass;
But siccan a day there never was,
Sic mirth was never seen.
This winsome couple straked hands,
Mess John ty'd up the marriage bands,
With a fal da ra, &c.
BONNIE WOOD OF CRAIGIELEE.

Words by Tannahill. Music by James Barr.

Moderate.

The broom, the brier, the birken bush, Bloom bonnie o'er thy flow'ry lea; And a' the sweets that ane can wish, Frae na-ture's hand are strewed on thee.

Thou bon-nie wood of Craig-ie-lee, Thou bon-nie wood of Craig-ie-lee, Near thee I've spent life's ear-ly day, And won my Ma-ry's heart in thee.

Far ben thy dark green plantin's shade,
    The cushat croodles am'rously;
The mavis down thy bughted glade,
    Gars echo ring frae ev'ry tree.
Thou bonnie wood, &c.

Awa' ye thoughtless murd'ring gang,
    Wha tear the nestlings ere they flee;
They'll sing you yet a canty sang,
    Then, O, in pity, let them be!
Thou bonnie wood, &c.

When winter blaws in sleety show'rs,
    Frae aff the norlan' hills sae hie;
He lightly skiffs thy bonnie bow'rs,
    As laith to harm a flow'r in thee.
Thou bonnie wood, &c.

Though fate should drag me south the line,
    Or o'er the wide Atlantic sea,
The happy hours I'll ever min',
    That I in youth hae spent in thee.
Thou bonnie wood, &c.

dur-ing a' the years to come O hap-py may ye be.

dur-ing a' the years to come O hap-py may ye be.
O time flies fast, he winna wait,
    My friend, for you or me;
He works his wonders day by day,
    And onward still doth flee.
O wha can tell when ilka ane,
    I see sae happy here,
Will meet again an’ merry be,
    Anither guid New Year?
    A guid New Year, &c.

We twa hae baith been happy lang,
    We ran about the braes;
In yon wee cot beneath the tree,
    We spent our early days.
We ran about the burnie’s side,
    The spot will aye be dear;
An’ those that used to meet us there
    We’ll think on mony a year.
    A guid New Year, &c.

Now let us hope our years may be,

And trust we ne’er again may see

And let us wish that ane an’ a’,

May aye enjoy in times to come
    A hearty guid New Year.

RATTLIN’, ROARIN’ WILLIE.

Words by Burns.

Lively.

O rat-tiln’, roar-in’ Wil-lie, O he held to the fair, An’ for to sell

O, Willie, come sell your fiddle,
    O, sell your fiddle sae fine;
O, Willie, come sell your fiddle,

If I should sell my fiddle,

THE FLAG OF BRITANNIA.
Words and Music by John Henderson.

The flag of Britannia, the pride of the free, Triumphant it float-eth o'er land and o'er sea; And proudly it brav-eth the battle or blast, For when tatter'd by shot it is nailed to the mast. When tatter'd by shot it is nailed to the mast. Untaint-ed it is by dis-hon-our's foul spot, While o-thers are sul-lied it has not a blot; The cham-pion of free-dom, it rul-eth the waves, And where-er 'tis hois-ted makes free-men of slaves. For the flag of Britannia, the flag of the brave, Is a stand-ard that nev-er can float o'er a slave; And proud-ly it brav-eth the battle and blast, For when tatter'd by shot it is nailed to the mast. When tatter'd by shot it is nailed to the mast.
How the heart of each Briton does beat when on high
The flag of Britannia unfurls to the sky;
And gloriously braveth the battlefield's shock,
As the waves vainly dash on the storm-beaten rock.
There's many a banner hangs drooping its head,
For the strength that sustained it is nerveless and dead,
And the hearts that once followed it on to the field,
Left no kindred spirits its honour to shield.
But the flag of Britannia, the flag of the brave,
Triumphant it floateth o'er land and o'er wave;
And proudly it braveth the battle and blast,
For when tattered by shot it is nailed to the mast.
When tattered by shot it is nailed to the mast.

LOCK THE DOOR, LARISTON.

Words by the Ettrick Shepherd.

Lock the door, Lar-is-ton, li-on of Lid-des-dale, Lock the door,

Lar-is-ton, Lou-ther comes on; The Arm-strongs are fly-ing, The wid-ows are cry-ing, The Cas-tle-town's burning, and O-li-ver's gone.

Lock the door, Lar-is-ton, high on the wea-ther gleam, See how the Sax-on plumes bob on the sky; Yeoman and car-bin-eer, Bil-man and hal-ber-dier, Fierce is the for-ay, and far is the cry.

Bewcastle brandishes high his broad scimitar,
Ridley is riding his fleet-footed grey;
Hidley and Howard there,
Wandell and Windermere;
Lock the door, Lariston, hold them at bay.

Why dost thou smile, noble Elliott of Lariston?
Why does the joy-candle gleam in thine eye?
Thou bold border ranger,
Beware of thy danger,
Thy foes are relentless, determined, and nigh.

Jock Elliott raised up his steel bonnet and lookit—
His hand grasped the sword with a nervous embrace;
"Oh welcome, brave foemen,
On earth there are no men
More gallant to meet in the foray or chase.

"Little know you of the hearts I have hidden here,
Little know you of the mosstroopers’ might,
Linhope and Sorbie true,
Sundhope and Milburn too;
Gentle in manners but lions in fight.

"I have Mangerton, Ogilvie, Raeburn, and Netherbie,
Old Sim of Whirram and all his array;
Come all Northumberland,
Teesdale and Cumberland,
Here at the Breaken tower end the affray."

Scowled the broad sun o’er the links o’ green Liddesdale,
Red as the beacon light tipt he the wold—
Many a bold martial eye
Mirror’d that morning sky,
Never more oped on his orbit of gold.

Shrill was the bugle’s note, dreadful the warriors’ shout,
Lances and halberts in splinters were borne,
Helmet and hauberk then
Braved the claymore in vain,
Buckler and armlet in shivers were shorn.

See how they wane, the proud file of the Windermere,
Howard, ah! woe to thy hopes of the day,
Hear the rude welkin rend
While the Scots’ shouts ascend:—
"Elliott of Lariston, Elliott for aye!"
ALLISTER MACALLISTER.

With spirit.

O Allister Mac-Allister, Your chanter sets us a' a-stir, Get out your pipes and blow wi' birr, We'll dance the Highland fling. Now Allister has tun'd his pipes, And thrang as hum-bees frae their bikes, The lads and lasses loup the dykes, An' gather on the green. Oh Allister Mac-Allister, Your chanter sets us a' a-stir, Then to your bags and blow wi' birr, We'll dance the Highland fling.

The miller Rab was fidgin' fain To dance the Highland fling his lane; He lap and danced wi' might and main, The like was never seen. As round about the ring he whuds, He cracks his thumbs, and shakes his duds, The meal flew frae his tail in cluds, And blinded a' their e'en. Oh Allister, &c.

Neist ruckle-handed smithy Jock, A' blackened owre wi' coom and smoke, Wi' bletherin', bleer-e'ed Bess did yoke, That harum scarum quean. He shook his doublets in the wind, His feet like hammers strak the grund, The very mouldiewarts were stunn'd, Nor kenne'd what it could mean. Oh Allister, &c.

Now Allister has done his best, And weary stumps are needin' rest, Besides wi' drouth they're sair distress'd, Wi' dancin' sae, I ween. I trow the gauntrees got a lift, An' round the bickers flew like drift, An' Allister that very nicht Could scarcely stand his lane. Oh Allister, &c.
O BONNIE BLINKS THE GOWAN.

Words by James Reed.

Music by A. Hume.

O bon-nie blinks the gow-an on Scot-tia's heath'ry lea,
And blythe-ly does the this-tle wave up-on her hills sae free;
And sweet-ly down ilk haunt-it glen the sing-ing burn-ie's glide,
'Mang woods be-neath whose spreadin' screen a slave could ne'er a-bide.
But that which makes her glens sae sweet, her streams sae sil-ver clear,
Her wood shaws wild an' rus-tic knowes o' gow-den broom sae dear;
And e'en to free-dom's high-est joys en-no-bling pow'rs can gie,
Is that the bon-nie lass lives there wha lo'es nae lad but me.

I wadna tine my lassie's love for a' the world's gear,
Nor a' the ribbons, gems, and stars, ambition's minions wear;
And though they fain would wile me far where gowd is to be won,
'Mang myrtle groves, and vine-clad fields, aneth a cloudless sun,
I canna leave my ain auld hame on Scotia's gladsome plain,
Though I could gather countless wealth ayont the roaring main;
For what were a' the grovelling joys that gowd or pow'r could gie,
If shared na by the winsome lass that lo'es nae lad but me.

O brave he fights frae stain or blight to keep his country's fame,
Wha's breast to aid his patriot zeal burns wi' a lover's flame;
And boldly will he face and cow oppression's highest pride,
Wha draws his sword alike to guard his freedom and his bride.
And ere a foreign despot rules my ain auld mither-land,
Or freedom's chaplet lose ae leaf by native tyrants' hand,
I'd rather that my life-blood dyed the gowan on her lea,
Though dear as life I hau'd the lass that lo'es nae lad but me.
UP IN THE MORNING EARLY.

Words by John Hamilton.

Lively.

Cauld blaws the wind frae north to south, And drift is driv-in' sair-ly; The sheep are cow'r-ing in the heuch, O sirs, 'tis winter fairly.

Then up in the morn-ing's no for me, Up in the morn-ing ear-ly, I'd ra-ther gae sup-per-less to my bed, Than rise in the morn-ing ear-ly.

Loud roars the blast among the woods, And tirls the branches barely; On hill and house hear how it thuds! The frost is nippling sairly.

Now up in the morn-ing's no for me, Up in the morn-ing early; To sit a nicht wad better agree Than rise in the morn-ing early.

Nae linties lilt on hedge or bush: Poor things, they suffer sairly; In cauldrire quarters a' the nicht; A' day they feed but sparely.

Now up in the morn-ing's no for me, Up in the morn-ing early; A pennyless purse I wad rather dree Than rise in the morn-ing early.

The sun peeps owre yon southland hills Like ony timorous carlie, Justs blinks a wee then sinks again, And that we find severely.

Now up in the morn-ing's no for me, Up in the morn-ing early; When snaw blaws in at the chimley cheek, The gowans maun glent on bank and brae, Wha'd rise in the morn-ing early?

A cosie house and cantie wife Aye keep a body cheerly; And pantries stowed wi' meat and drink, They answer unco rarely.

But up in the morn-ing—na, na, na! Up in the morn-ing early; When I rise in the morn-ing early.

DINNA THINK, MY BONNIE LASSIE.

Composed by A. Hume.

Tenderly.

Din-na think, my bonnie lassie, That this heart can alter'd be;

A' its thoughts an' dreams, dear lassie, Are the thoughts an' dreams o' thee.

See yon crystal stream-let wand'ring, Bids ilk blooming flow'r re-joice;

Sweet to nature its me-an-d'ring, Sweeter far to me thy voice.

Din-na think, my bonnie lassie, That this heart can alter'd be;

A' its thoughts an' dreams, dear lassie, Are the thoughts an' dreams o' thee.

There sweet spring delights to linger,
Causing bud an' bloom to shine;
But in vain her sunny finger,
Strives to paint sic charms as thine.
Dowie seems ilk op'nin' blossom,
When the sun withdraws a while;
Wae, like them, becomes this bosom,
Absent frae thy gentle smile.
Dinna think, &c.
MY TOCHER'S THE JEWEL.

Words by Burns.

_In moderate time._

O mei-kle thinks my luve o' my beauty, And mei-kle thinks my luve o' my kin; But lit-tle thinks my luve I ken brawlie, My tocher's the jewel has charms for him. It's a' for the apple he'll nour-ish the tree, It's a' for the hine-ney he'll cher-ish the bee; My lad-die's sae mei-kle in love wi' the sil-ler, He can-na hae luve to spare for me.

Your proffer o' luve's an arle-penny, Ye're like to the timmer o' yon rotten wood, My tocher's the bargain ye wad buy; Ye're like to the bark o' yon rotten tree, But an' ye be crafty, I am cunnin', Ye'll slip frae me like a knotless thread, Sae ye wi'anither your fortune maun try. And ye'll crack your credit wi'mae nor me.

BRAW, BRAW LADS.

_Moderately slow._

Braw, braw lads on Yar-row braes, Ye wan-der through the blooming hea-ther;

But Yarrow braes, nor Ettrick shaws, Can match the lads o' Gal-la water. Braw, braw lads.
But there is ane, a secret ane,
Aboon them a' I lo'e him better;
And I'll be his, and he'll be mine,
The bonnie lad o' Galla water.

Although his daddie was nae laird,
And though I hae na meikle tocher,
Yet rich in kindest, truest love,
We'll tent our flocks by Galla water.

It ne'er was wealth, it ne'er was wealth,
That cost contentment, peace, or pleasure;
The bands and bliss o' mutual love,
O, that's the chiepest world's treasure!

I'M OWRE YOUNG TO MARRY YET.

Lively.

I'm owre young, I'm owre young, I'm owre young to marry yet; I'm sae young, 'twad be a sin To tak' me frae my mam-my yet.

I am my mam-my's ae bairn, Nor of my hame I'm weary yet; And I will have you learn, lads, That ye for me maun tarry yet. For I'm, D.C.

For I have had my ain way,
Nane daur to contradict me yet;
Sae soon to say I wad obey,
In truth, I daurna venture yet.

For I'm, &c.

Fu' loud and shrill the frosty wind
Blaws through the leafless timmer, Sir;
But if ye come this gate again,
I'll aulder be gin simmer, Sir.

For I'm, &c.
Words by William Cameron.
Music by Matthew Wilson.

O vow to me, Sally, dear Sally, that never other's love e'er shall thy bosom control; Art thou not my own love, betrothed for ever, The pride of my heart and the joy of my soul. The pride of my heart and the joy of my soul.

Believe not the smiling, and heed not the scorning, That fond ones, admiring, may offer to thee; Our hearts still are one, love, from life's early morning, And O, let the noon-tide of bliss be for me. And O, let the noon-tide of bliss be for me.

We loved when we knew not that love was the feeling,
We felt and we lived for each other alone;
And now that our hearts the soft truth is revealing,
I know, dearest Sally, thou still art my own.
Yes, yes, my own loved one, then wilt thou forgive me,
And wipe that blest tear from thy love-speaking eye!
One word from my lips, dearest Sally, believe me,
Shall never again cause thy bosom a sigh.
THE WEE, WEE GERMAN LAIRDIE.

Wha the deil hae we gotten for a king, But a wee, wee German Lairdie; When we gaed ower to bring him hame, He was delvin' in his kail-yardie.

He was sheughing kail, and lay-ing leeks, Without the hose, and but the breeks, And up his beg-gar duds he cleeks, This wee, wee German Lairdie.

And he's clappit down in our gudeman's chair, The wee, wee German Lairdie;
And he's brought fouth o' his foreign trash, And dibbled them in his yardie.
He's pu'd the rose o' English loons, And broken the harp o' Irish clowns;
But our Scotch thistle will jag his thumbs, This wee, wee German Lairdie.

Come up amang our Hieland hills, Thou wee, wee German Lairdie,
And see the Stuart's lang kail thrive, They hae dibbled in our kail-yardie.
And if a stock ye daur to pu', Or haud the yokin' o' a plough,
We'll break your sceptre ower your mou', Ye feckless German Lairdie.

Auld Scotland, thou'rt ower cauld a hole, For nursin' siccan vermin;
But the very dogs in England's court, They bark and howl in German.
Then keep thy dibble in thy ain hand, Thy spade but and thy yardie;
For wha the deil now claims your land, But a wee, wee German Lairdie.
DUET:—O GIN MY LOVE.

Arranged as a Duet by Alexander Hume. The first verse is from Herd's MS., the other was written by Burns.

1st

\(\text{Affetuoso.} \quad \text{O gin my love were yon red rose, That grows up-on yon castle} \) \(\text{wa', An' I my-sel' a drap o' dew, In-to her bon-nie breast to fa'}. \)

2nd

\(\text{O gin my love were yon red rose, That grows up-on yon castle} \) \(\text{wa', An' I my-sel' a drap o' dew, In-to her bon-nie breast to fa'}. \)

O there be-yond ex-pres-sion blest, I'd feast on beau-ties a' the night; Seal'd on her silk saft faulds to rest, Till fley'd a-wa' by Phoe-bus' light.

O were my love yon lilac fair,
Wi' purple blossoms to the spring,
And I a bird to shelter there,
When wearied on my little wing—
How would I mourn when it was torn,
By autumn wild and winter rude;
But I wad sing on wanton wing,
When youthfu' May its bloom renewed
THE BIRKS OF ABERFELDY.

With animation.

Bon-nie las-sie, will ye go, Will ye go, will ye go?

Bon-nie las-sie, will ye go To the birks of A-ber-fel-dy? Now sim-mer blinks on flow'-ry braes, And o'er the crys-tal streamlet plays: Come let us spend the light-some days In the birks of A-ber-fel-dy.

The little birdies blythely sing,
While o'er their heads the hazels hing;
Or lightly flit on wanton wing
In the birks of Aberfeldy.

The braes ascend like lofty wa's,
The foaming stream deep roaring fa's,
O'erhung wi' fragrant spreading shaws,
The birks of Aberfeldy.

Thy hoary cliffs are crowned wi' flowers,
While o'er the linns the burnie pours,
And, rising, weets wi' misty showers
The birks of Aberfeldy.

Let fortune's gifts at random flee,
They ne'er shall draw a wish frae me;
Supremely blest wi' love and thee,
In the birks of Aberfeldy.
"WE'LL HAE NANE BUT HIGHLAND BONNETS HERE."

Respectfully inscribed to Sir Colin Campbell,

By Alexander Maclagan.

At the decisive charge on the heights of Alma, when the Guards were pressing on to share the honour of taking the first guns with the Highlanders, Sir Colin Campbell, cheering on his men, cried aloud, "We'll have none but Highland bonnets here!" How these heroic words acted upon his brave followers is well known.

Extracts of Letters from the Crimea.—

Camp before Sebastopol, 24th August, 1855.

Many thanks for Mr. Maclagan's war songs you so kindly sent. 'We'll hae nane but Highland Bonnets here' is excellent, and we never tire singing it in the camp.—John Joiner, Quartermaster, 93d Highlanders.

Camp before Sebastopol, August 4, 1855.—Dear Sir,—"We'll hae nane but Highland Bonnets here" is highly appreciated in the camp of the 93d Highlanders, and was sung with great enthusiasm both in the tents and in the trenches. I can assure you it will long be a favourite song in our regiment, and the whole Highland Brigade. It was sung by many a poor fellow by the camp fires in the last dreadful winter nights, when one would think that singing was not in their hearts. You cannot think how cheering it is to the soldier fighting for his native land, when singing the songs of dear auld Scotland!—Pt. Robert Sinclair No. 2 Company 93d Highlanders.—Mr. Alexander Maclagan.

[Music notation]

Alma, field of heroes, hail! Alma, glorious to the Gael,

Glorious to the symbol dear, Glorious to the mountain-er; Hark, hark, to Campbell's battle-cry! It led the brave to victory, It bonnets here. We'll hae nane but Highland bonnets here, We'll hae nane but Highland bonnets here. It thunder'd through the charging cheer, We'll hae nane but Highland bonnets here.

Chorus.

See, see the heights where fight the brave!
See, see the gallant tartans wave!
How wild the work of Highland steel,
When conquered thousands backward reel.
See, see the warriors of the north,
To death or glory rushing forth!
Hark to their shout from front to rear,
"We'll hae nane but Highland bonnets here!"
We'll hae nane but Highland bonnets here!
We'll hae nane but Highland bonnets here!
Hark to their shout from front to rear,
We'll hae nane but Highland bonnets here!

Braver field was never won,
Braver deeds were never done;
Braver blood was never shed,
Braver chieftain never led;
Braver swords were never wet!
With life's red tide when heroes met!
Braver words ne'er thrilled the ear,
"We'll hae nane but Highland bonnets here!"
We'll hae nane but Highland bonnets here!
We'll hae nane but Highland bonnets here!
Braver words ne'er thrilled the ear,
We'll hae nane but Highland bonnets here!

Let glory rear her flag of fame,
Brave Scotland cries "This spot I claim!"
Here will Scotland bare her brand,
Here will Scotland's lion stand!
Here will Scotland's banner fly,
Here Scotland's sons will do or die!
Here shout above the "symbol dear,"
"We'll hae nane but Highland bonnets here!"
We'll hae nane but Highland bonnets here!
We'll hae nane but Highland bonnets here!
It thundered through the charging cheer,
We'll hae nane but Highland bonnets here!

This song is the first of a series of twelve on the present war by the same author. Copies with Pianoforte accompaniments, price one shilling, can be had at David Jack's, 61 Jamaica Street, Glasgow.
[Two Songs from a poetical work in the press entitled "Metrical Memories of the War."
Scene—Soldiers singing in the camp the night before the Battle of Inkermann.]

Blame not the uncouth melodies,
From nature's holy source upheaving;
That mingled with the keen wind's sighs,
Regret and grief alike relieving.

Nor scorn the untrained minstrel's art,
Ere he rush to the conflict, telling
The honest love of a noble heart,
In the pathos of Erin swelling.

O AILEEN, DEAR AILEEN.—THE IRISHMAN'S SONG.

Words by James Reed.
Music by John Fulcher.

Andante.

My Aileen, my own one! the grief-shadows now,
Blight the joy-flow'rs that bloom'd on thy beautiful check:
And the heart-sorrow dims the pure light of thy brow,
As the cloud of the eve does the rose-blossom streak.

But though I have wander'd from thee far away, love,
Where hardship, and suff'ring, and danger beset;
In battle's fierce day still, our love's early ray still,
The heart of your soldier will never forget.
Oh Aileen, my lov'd one, for Erin and thee,
Alone do I seek for the soldier's bright name;
My bride and my country my watchwords will be,
And guide to the conquest of honour and fame.
Old Ireland's renown I will ever maintain, dear,
Though hardship, and suffering, and danger beset;
And love's tender reign, dear, in joy or in pain, dear,
The heart of your soldier will ne'er forget.

The brave gallant names of my father-land fire me,
Those patriot bands without blemish or stain;
The deeds they achieved for their freedom inspire me,
And faithful and true I will ever remain.
Should my blood in the conflict the heath-flow'r embue, dear,
Dishonour will never my death hour beset;
For still I'll be true, dear, to freedom and you, dear,
And ne'er will my bosom thy image forget.

No recreant will that soldier prove,
Within whose valiant breast
The gentle thoughts of woman's love,
With warlike ardours rest.
And to the creed thus simply told,
Erin's young soldier bowed,
As e'er did Paladin of old,
To war and beauty vowed.
And as the low-breath'd love-fraught strain
Amid the darkness died;

A wayward youth from border plain,
In like low tones replied.
'Twas strange in that dark hovel drear,
With war's impending horrors near,
Those homely doric tones to hear,
Or list the vocal flow
Of sad, but sacred, homelove blent,
With chivalrous and bold intent,
And thoughts on deadly conflict bent,
And battle's wildest throes.

THE BORDER RIFLEMAN'S SONG.

Words by James Reed. Music by John Fulcher.

When I left our auld glen the young gow-ans were springing, The lav'rocks an' lin'-ties their first love lilts sing-ing, An' the wee mer-ry ro-bin be-side our door stane, Sang a chant o' de-light that the winter was gane. There was gladness and glee among bird, beast, and men, When the slogan of freedom rang through our auld glen; There was gladness and glee among bird, beast, and men, When the slogan of freedom rang through our auld glen.

I was wilfu', and wild, and licht-hearted, and free,
Nae frolic or revel was held without me;
Life was bricht as the lift on a clear summer day,
Nae fears or dejection to darken its ray;
An' the love o' my Peggy had just blest me, when
The proud slogan o' freedom rang through our auld glen.

Clear and loud peal'd the sound, owre heath, valley, and wold,
An' our border lads raise like their grandsires of old,
When ilka peel turrit its beacon light bore,
They changed their herds' crook for the spear or claymore.
Nought dismay'd them, or stay'd them, or daunten'd them, when
The proud slogan o' freedom rang through our auld glen.

Though my father looked stern, I kent weel he was sad,
An' my mither grat sair for her ne'er-do-weel lad;
An' through the dim tears o' my Peggy's blue e'en,
The light o' her heart-love could hardly be seen.
I fand nae misgiein', nae heart sinkin', when
The proud slogan o' freedom rang through our auld glen.

Nor yet will I yield, though the path to renown,
An' the wreath of distinction, an' victory's crown,
Has been bloody an' lang, an' may bloodier be Ere another day's dawn on the hill taps we see.
I will fight for my country as cheerfu' as when
The proud slogan o' freedom rang through our auld glen.
Words by Burns.

TAM GLEN.

My heart is a-breaking, dear tittie! Some counsel unto me come len'; To anger them a' is a pity, But what will I do wi' Tam Glen? I'm think-in' wilt sic' a braw follow, In poor-tith I might mak' a fen; What care I in riches to wallow, If I maun-na marry Tam Glen.

There's Lowrie, the laird o' Drumeller, My daddie says, gin I'll forsake him, "Gude day to you," coof, he comes ben; He'll gie me gude hunder merks ten; He brags and he blaws o' his siller, But, if it's ordain'd I maun tak' him, But when will he dance like Tam Glen? O wha will I get but Tam Glen?

My minnie does constantly deave me, Yestreen, at the valentines dealin', And bids me beware o' young men; My heart to my mou' gied a sten'; They flatter, she says, to deceive me— For thrice I drew ane without failin', But wha can think sae o' Tam Glen? And thrice it was written—Tam Glen.

The last Halloween I was waukin' My drookit sark sleeve, as ye ken; His likeness cam' up the house staukin', And the very gray breeks o' Tam Glen. Come, counsel, dear tittie, dont tarry; I'll gie ye my bonnie black hen, Gif ye will advise me to marry The lad I lo'e dearly, Tam Glen.
O NANNY WILT THOU GANG WI' ME!

O Nanny wilt thou gang wi' me, Nor sigh to leave the flaunting town? Can silent glens have charms for thee, The lowly cot and russet gown? No longer drest in silken sheen, No longer deck'd wi' jewels rare,

Say, canst thou quit each courtly scene, Where thou wert fairest of the fair? Say, canst thou quit each courtly scene, Where thou wert fairest of the fair? Where thou wert fairest, Where thou wert fairest of the fair?

O Nanny! when thou'rt far away, Wilt thou not cast a wish behind? Say, canst thou face the scorching ray, Nor shrink before the wintry wind? O can that soft and gentle mien Extremes of hardship learn to bear; Nor, sad, regret each courtly scene, Where thou wert fairest of the fair?

O Nanny! canst thou love so true, Through perils keen wi' me to go; Or when thy swain mishap shall rue, To share wi' him the pang of woe? Say, should disease or pain befall, Wilt thou assume the nurse's care; Nor, wistful, those gay scenes recall, Where thou wert fairest of the fair?
And when at last thy love shall die,
  Wilt thou receive his parting breath;
Wilt thou repress each struggling sigh,
  And cheer with smiles the bed of death?
And wilt thou o'er his breathless clay
  Strew flowers, and drop the tender tear;
Nor then regret those scenes so gay,
  Where thou wert fairest of the fair?

FOR THE SAKE O' SOMEBODY.

Words by Burns.

My heart is sair, I daur-na tell, My heart is sair for some-bo-dy;

I could wake a win-ter night, For the sake o' some-bo-dy.

Oh hon, for some-bo-dy! Oh hey, for some-bo-dy!

I could range the world a-round, For the sake o' some-bo-dy!

Ye powers that smile on virtuous love,
  O sweetly smile on somebody!
Frae ilka danger keep him free,
  And send me safe my somebody.
Oh hon, for somebody!
Oh hey, for somebody!
I wad do—what wad I not?—
  For the sake o' somebody.
Cam' ye by Athol, lad wi' the phila-beg, Down by the Tummel, or banks o' the Garry? Saw ye the lads wi' their bonnets an' white cockades, leaving their mountains to follow Prince Charlie.

I hae but ae son, my gallant young Donald;
But if I had ten they should follow Glengarry;
Health to Macdonald and gallant Clanronald,
For these are the men that will die for their Charlie.

I'll to Lochiel and Appin, and kneel to them;
Down by Lord Murray and Roy of Kildarlie;
Brave Mackintosh, he shall fly to the field with them;
These are the lads I can trust wi' my Charlie.

Down through the Lowlands, down wi' the whigamore,
Loyal true Highlanders, down wi' them rarely;
Ronald and Donald drive on wi' the braid claymore,
Over the necks of the foes of Prince Charlie.

TAK' YOUR AULD CLOAK ABOUT YE.

In winter when the rain rain'd cauld, And frost and snaw on ilka hill; And Bor-eas wi' his blasts sae bauld, Was threat'ning a' our kye to kill. Then Bell, my wife, wha lo'es nae strife, She said to me right hastily, Get up, gudeman, save Crummie's life, An' tak' your auld cloak a-bout ye.

My Crummie is a usefu' cow, Ilka land has its ain lauch,
An she is come o' a gude kiu'; Ilk kind o' corn has it's ain hool:
Aft has she wet the bairns' mou', I think the world is a' gane wrang,
An' I am laith that she should tyne. When ilka wife her mau maun rule.
Get up, gudeman, it is fu' time, Do ye no see Rob, Jock, and Hab,
The sun shines in the lift sae high; How they are girded gallantlie,
Sloth never made a gracious end, While I sit hurklin i' the ase?
Gae, tak' your auld cloak about ye. I'll hae a new cloak about me!

My cloak was ance a gude gray cloak, Gudeman, I wat it's thretty year
When it was fitting for my wear; Sin' we did ane anither ken;
But now it's scantly worth a great, An' we hae had atween us twa
For I hae worn't this thretty year. Of lads an' bonnie lasses ten;
Let's spend the gear that we hae won, Now they are women grown an' men,
We little ken the day we'll die; I wish an' pray well may they be;
Then I'll be proud, sin' I hae sworn An' if you'd prove a gude husband,
To hae a new cloak about me. E'en tak' your auld cloak about ye.

In days when gude king Robert rang, Bell, my wife, she lo'es nae strife,
His trews they cost but half-a-crown; But she wad guide me if she can;
He said they were a groat owre dear, An' to maintain an easy life,
And ca'd the tailor thief and loon. I aft maun yield, though I'm gudeman.
He was the king that wore the croun, Nocht's to be won at woman's han',
An' thou'rt a man of laigh degree; Unless ye gie her a' the plea;
It's pride puts a' the country doun; Then I'll leave aff where I began,
Sae tak' your auld cloak about ye. An' tak' my auld cloak about me.
THERE GROWS A BONNIE BRIER BUSH.

Old song, altered by Burns.

There grows a bon-nie brier bush in our kail-yard; And white are the blossoms o't in our kail-yard; Like wee bit white cock-ades for our loy-al Hieland lads; And the lasses lo'e the brier bush in our kail-yard.

But were they a' true that are far awa'?
Oh! were they a' true that are far awa'?
They drew up wi' glaiket Englishers at Carlisle ha',
And forgot auld frien's when far awa'.

Ye'll come nae mair, Jamie, where aft ye hae been;
Ye'll come nae mair, Jamie, where aft ye hae been;
Ye lo'ed owre weel the dancin' at Carlisle ha',
And forgot the Hieland hills that were far awa'.

He's comin' frae the North that's to fancy me,
He's comin' frae the North that's to fancy me,
A feather in his bonnet, and a ribbon at his knee;
He's a bonnie Hieland laddie, and you be na he.

ANNIE LAURIE.

Max-well-ton braes are bonnie, Where early fa's the dew, And it's there that Annie Lau-rie Gie'd me her pro-mise true, Gie'd me her pro-mise true, Which ne'er forgot will be, And for bonnie An-nie Lau-rie I'd lay me down and dee.
Her brow is like the snow-drift,
Her neck is like the swan,
Her face it is the fairest
That e'er the sun shone on—
That e'er the sun shone on,
And dark blue is her eye;
And for bonnie Annie Laurie
I'd lay me down and dee.

THE MARINER'S CHILD.

Words by Miss L. E. Landon.
Music by John Henderson.

O weep no more, dear mother, O weep no more to-night,
But only watch the sea, mother, beneath the morning's light. For now the wind goes wailing o'er the dark and track-less deep,
And I know your grief, sweet mother, though I only hear you weep; But the sunny morn is joyful, and the bright blue sky is clear, And I can see, sweet mother, to wipe away thy tear.

My father's ship will come, mother, in safety o'er the main,
When the grape is dyed with purple he will come back again;
He will guide the stately vessel though the sea be dark and drear,
Another week of sunshine, my father will be here;
Then I'll watch with thee, sweet mother, but the stars fade from my sight;
Oh come and sleep, dear mother, we'll watch no more to-night.
The summer has come with its sunshine and showers, And the zephyrs a-wandering stray; And they pause as they pass to make love to the flow'rs, That are smiling a welcome, a welcome to May, Sweet May, That are smiling to welcome sweet May.

The white blossom'd thorn sheds its richest perfume,
And the primrose looks bonnie and gay;
And the sweet little blue-bells in modesty bloom,
And the birds sing a welcome, a welcome to May,
Sweet May,
And the birds sing a welcome to May.

Then come, dearest Mary, we'll roam to and fro,
Where the clear wimplin' burnie does play;
And I'll sing you the songs that you loved long ago,
When first we went wand'ring, went wand'ring in May,
Sweet May,
When first we went wand'ring in May.

Remember the days when in your native land,
'Mid the dim forest glades we did stray,
When we saw the young maidens come forth in a band,
To gather sweet roses for May,
Sweet May,
To gather sweet roses for May.

I looked on the flowers that were blooming around,
And bending so graceful and gay;
Then I gazed in your face, dearest Mary, and found
You the loveliest, loveliest flow'r of sweet May,
Sweet May,
You're the loveliest flow'r of sweet May.

He bade her lay them a' aside, And come and be his bonnie bride; An' oh, she lik'd his words sae weel, She laid aside her spinning wheel. An' oh, she lik'd his words sae weel, She laid aside her spinning wheel.

Your charms in harmless childhood lay as metals in a mine;
Age from no face takes more away than youth concealed in thine;
But as your charms insensibly to their perfection prest,
So love as unperceived did fly and center'd in my breast.

My passion with your beauty grew, while Cupid at my heart
Still as his mother favour'd you, threw a new flaming dart;
Each gloried in their wanton part, to make a beauty, she Employed the utmost of her art,—to make a lover, he.

JOCKEY'S TA'EN THE PAIRTIN' KISS.

Burns.
A little lively.

Jockey's ta'en the part-in' kiss, O'er the mountains he is gane;
And with him is a' my bliss, Nought but griefs with me re-main.

Spare my love, ye winds that blaw, Flash-y sleets and beat-ing rain;
Spare my love, thou feath'-ry snaw, Drift-ing o'er the fro-zen plain.

When the shades of ev'ning creep
O'er the day's fair, gladsome e'e,
Sound and safely may he sleep,
Sweetly blythe his wauk'ning be.
He will think on her he loves,
Fondly he'll repeat her name;
For where'er he distant roves
Jockey's heart is still at hame.
SCOTTISH LASSES.

Words by James Little.

Chorally.

SONG AND CHORUS. Music by William Lewis.

Come, lads, and round the table sit, Nor look sae dower and eerie, O; What tho' misfortune glooms a bit, Let's try and aye be cheerie, O.

Come let us sing a cantie sang, To soothe the cares that fash us, O; Since Heav'n, to cheer us on this earth, Has blest us wi' the lasses, O.

CHORUS.

We've sung auld Scotia's heather hills, That a' the lave surpasses, O; We've sung her glens, her mountain rills, An' noo we'll sing her lasses, O.

We've sung auld Scotia's heather hills, That a' the lave surpasses, O; We've sung her glens, her mountain rills, An' noo we'll sing her lasses, O.

We've sung auld Scotia's heather hills, That a' the lave surpasses, O; We've sung her glens, her mountain rills, An' noo we'll sing her lasses, O.

What joy, when ye come hame at e'ei,
Wi' toil and trouble weary, O,
To sit beside a bonnie quean,
And ca' her aye your dearie, O.
What joy to pree her hinny mon,
Rich as the rose in blossom, O;
And then unseen to mortal view,
To strain her to your bosom, O.

Chorus—We've sung auld Scotia's heather hills, &c.

I've seen the maids o' Erin's Isle,
And English lasses mony, O,
But yet they want the winning smile,
O Scotland's lasses bonnie, O.
Then lay aside your cares a wee,
And fill your empty glasses, O,
A bumper gie them—Three times three,
Auld Scotia's bonnie lasses, O!
For we hae sung her heather hills,
That a' the lave surpasses, O;
Her thistle, lakes, her mountain rills,
And noo we'll sing her lasses, O.

BUMPER NAE MAIR.

Words by Alexander Maclagan.  Air adapted from an old melody.

Tho' the sun's in the sea, lads, the moon drown'd in drift, Tho' stormy clouas dark-en the lichts o' the lift; O' the cauld blasts o' life we can ay bear our share, The strong-est, the long-est,—we bumper nae mair!

Bumper nae mair! bumper nae mair! The strongest, the longest,—we bumper nae mair
Though the feck o' mankind are a fause fickle set,
Why should we break down, lads, though whiles we may get Baith the heels o' a frien' and the frowns o' the fair,
Let the licht feathers flee, lads, we'll bumper nae mair.—Bumper, &c.

When guilt and oppression mak's richt bow to wrang,
When virtue fa's faint, lads, and tyrants get strang,
When freedom's bauld banner droops laigh in despair,
We can draw to defend, though we bumper nae mair.—Bumper, &c.

Come fortune wi' favours, the sweetest ye hae,
Come sad disappointment, as sour as a slae,
But grief's glooming troop o' fell darkness we dare,
When we stick to our pledge, lads, and bumper nae mair.—Bumper, &c.

Our fond hearts can beat, and our glad souls can glow,
Wi' love's purest fire, though the wine may not flow;
We can still help a frien', and, to lichten his care,
Tak' his pack on our back, though we bumper nae mair.—Bumper, &c.

Then let us rejoice in this fair world o' ours,
Though there's plenty o' rank weeds, there's some bonnie flow'rs,
And a kind sunny heart mak's the darkest day fair,
Sae stick to your pledge, lads, and bumper nae mair.—Bumper, &c.

TWA BONNIE MAIDENS.

There are twa bon-nie maid-ens, and three bon-nie maid-ens, Cam' owre the Minch, and cam' owre the main, Wi' the wind for their way, and the cor-ry for their hame, And they are dear-ly wel-come to Skye a-gain.
Come a-long, come a-long, wi' your boat-ie and your song, My ain bon-nie maid-ens, my twa bon-nie maid-ens, For the night it is dark and the red-coat is gone, And ye are dearn-ly wel-come to Skye a-gain.

There is Flora, my honey, sae dear and sae bonnie,
And aenathe's sae tall, and sae handsome withal;
Put the one for my king, and the other for my queen,
And they are dearly welcome to Skye again.
Come along, come along wi' your boatie and your song,
My ain bonnie maidens, my twa bonnie maidens;
For the Lady Macoulain she dwelleth her lane,
And she'll welcome you dearly to Skye again.

Her arm it is strong, and her petticoat is long,
My ain bonnie maidens, my twa bonnie maidens;
The sea moullit's nest I will watch o'er the main
And ye are bravely welcome to Skye again.
Come along, come along, wi' your boatie and your song,
My ain bonnie maidens, my twa bonnie maidens;
And saft sall ye rest where the heather it grows best,
And ye are dearly welcome to Skye again.

There's a wind on the tree, and a ship on the sea,
My ain bonnie maidens, my twa bonnie maidens,
Your cradle I'll rock on the lea of the rock,
And ye'll aye be welcome to Skye again.
Come along, come along, wi' your boatie and your song,
My ain bonnie maidens, my twa bonnie maidens;
Mair sound sall ye sleep as ye rock o'er the deep,
And ye'll aye be welcome to Skye again.
DUET:—HE'S OWRE THE HILLS THAT I LO'E WEE.

1st Voice. With animation.

He's owre the hills that I lo'e weel, He's owre the hills we daurna name; He's owre the hills a-yont Dumblane, Wha soon will get his welcome hame.

My father's gane to fight for him, My brith-ers win-na bide at hame, My mither greets and prays for them, And 'deed she thinks they're no to blame.

He's owre the hills, &c.

The whigs may scoff, and the whigs may jeer,
But ah! that love maun be sincere,
Which still keeps true whate'er betide,
And for his sake leaves a' beside.
He's owre the hills, &c.
His right these hills, his right these plains,
O'er Highland hearts secure he reigns;
What lads ere did, our laddies will do;
Were I a laddie, I'd follow him too.

He's owre the hills, &c.
Sae noble a look, sae princely an air,
Sae gallant and bold, sae young and sae fair;
Oh! did ye but see him, ye'd do as we've done;
Hear him but ances, to his standard ye'll run.

DUET:—ROW WEEL, MY BOATIE, ROW WEEL.

1st Voice. With feeling.

Row weel, my boat-ie, row weel, Row weel, my mer-ry men a'; For there's 2d Voice.

Row weel, my boat-ie, row weel, Row weel, my mer-ry men a'; For there's dule and there's wae in Glenflorich's bow'rs, And there's grief in my father's ha'.

And the skiff it danc'd light on the mer-ry wee waves, And it flew o'er the wa-ters sae blue; And the wind it blew light, and the moon it shone

DUET:—LOGIE O' BUCHAN.

Peter Buchan ascribes this song to George Hacket, schoolmaster at Rathen, Aberdeenshire, who died in 1756.

1st Voice.

2d Voice.

Ja-mie that delv'd in the yard. Wha play'd on the pipe, and the vi-ol sae
They hae ta'en a-wa' Jamie the flow'r o' them a'. He said, Think nae lang sma', lassie, tho' I gang a-wa', He said, Think nae lang, lassie, tho' I gang a-wa',

The simmer is comin', cauld winter's awa', An' I'll come and see thee, in spite o' them a'.

Tho' Sandy has ousen, has gear, and has kye,
A house and a haddin, and siller forbye;
Yet I'd tak' my ain lad wi' his staff in his hand,
Before I'd hae him wi' his houses and land.—He said, &c.

My daddy looks sulky, my minny looks sour,
They frown upon Jamie because he is poor;
Though I like them as weel as a dochter should do,
They're nae hauf so dear to me, Jamie, as you.—He said, &c.

I sit on my creepie and spin at my wheel,
And think on the laddie that lo'ed me sae weel;
He had but ae saxpence, he brake it in twa,
And he gied me the half o't when he gaed awa'.—He said, &c.
WILLIE WI' HIS WIG A-JEE.

Oh, saw ye Willie frae the west? Oh, saw ye Willie in his glee?

There's "Scot's wha hae wi' Wallace bled," He towers it up in sic a key, Oh, saw ye Willie, hearty lad, When he had got his wig a-jee.

To hear him sing a canty air,
   He lilts it o'er sae charmingly,
That in a moment aff flies care,
   When Willie gets his wig a-jees,
Let drones croon o'er a winter night,
   A fig for them, whate'er they be,
For I could sit till morning light,
   Wi' Willie and his wig a-jees.

At kirk on Sundays, sic a change
   Comes o'er his wig, and mou', and e'e,
Sae douse—you'd think a cannon ba'
   Wad scarce ca' Willie's wig a-jees.
But when on Mondays he begins,
   And rants and roars continually,
Till ilk owk's end, the very weans
   Gang daft—when Willie's wig's a-jees.
ILKA BLADE O' GRASS KEPS ITS AIN DRAP O' DEW.

Words by James Ballantine. Music adapted by the late John Wilson.

Confide ye aye in Providence, for Providence is kind, and bear ye a' life's changes wi' a calm and tranquil mind; Tho' press'd and hemm'd on ev'ry side, ha'e faith an' ye'll win through, For ilka blade o' grass keeps its ain drap o' dew. For ilka blade o' grass keeps its ain drap o' dew.

Gin reft frae friends, or cross'd in love, as whiles nae doubt ye've been, Grief lies deep hidden in your heart, or tears flow frae your e'en; Believe it for the best, an' trow there's gude in store for you, For ilka blade o' grass keeps its ain drap o' dew.

In lang lang days o' simmer, when the clear an' cludless sky Refuses ae wee drap o' rain to Nature parch'd an' dry, The genial night, wi' balmy breath, gars verdure spring anew, An' ilka blade o' grass keeps its ain drap o' dew.

So lest 'mid Fortune's sunshine we should feel owre proud an' hie, An' in our pride forget to wipe the tear frae poortith's e'e; Some wee dark cluds o' sorrow come, we ken nae whence or how, But ilka blade o' grass keeps its ain drap o' dew.

THE THORN TREE.

From Taits Magazine, Sept. 1838.

Music by T. S. Gleadhill.

I watch'd the moon blink ower the hill, And oh, she glintit bon-ni-ly, bon-ni-ly, Then met my lass when a' was still, Below the spreading thorn tree. Oh, for the thorn tree, the fair, the spreading thorn tree, Oh, for the thorn tree, The fair, the spreading thorn tree, The flame o' love lowes bon-ni-ly, lowes bon-ni-ly, a-neath a spreading thorn tree.

I clasped my lassie to my heart,
And vow'd my love should lasting be
And wussed ilk ill to be my part,
When I forgat the thorn tree.

Oh! for the thorn tree—the fresh, the scented thorn tree!—
I'll ever mind, wi' blythesome glee, my lassie and the thorn tree!

We met beneath the rising moon—
She bedded maist as soon as we,
She hung the westlin' heights aboon,
When we cam frae the thorn tree.

Oh! for the thorn tree—the fresh, the milk-white thorn tree!
'Twas past the midnight hour a wee, when we cam' frae the thorn tree!

I've seen the glass careerin' past—
I lik'd it too—I'll never lee;
But oh! its joys can ne'er be class'd
Wi' love aneath the thorn tree!

Oh! for the thorn tree—the fresh, the milk-white thorn tree!—
Of a' the joys there's nane to me like love aneath the thorn tree!
TRIO:—THE DANISH SEA-KING'S SONG.

Written by William Motherwell. Danish air.—Arranged by A. Hume.

Air. Eold.

Our bark is on the wa- ters deep, our bright blades in our hand, Our

Tenor.

Our bark is on the wa- ters deep, our bright blades in our hand, Our

Bass.

Our bark is on the wa- ters deep, our bright blades in our hand, Our birth-right is the o- cean vast—we scorn the gird - led land; And the birth-right is the o- cean vast—we scorn the gird - led land; And the birth-right is the o- cean vast—we scorn the gird - led land; And the holl - low wind is our mus- ic brave, and none can bold - er be Than the holl - low wind is our mus- ic brave, and none can bold - er be Than the holl - low wind is our mus- ic brave, and none can bold - er be Than the hoarse-tongued tem-pest, rav-ing o'er a proud and swell-ing sea.

Our eagle-wings of might we stretch before the gallant wind,
And we leave the tame and sluggish earth a dim mean speck behind;
We shoot into the untrack'd deep, as earth-freed spirits soar,
Like stars of fire through boundless space—through realms without a shore!

The warrior of the land may back the wild horse, in his pride;
But a fiercer steed we dauntless breast—the untam'd ocean tide;
And a nobler tilt our back careers, as it stems the saucy wave,
While the Herald storm peals o'er the deep the glories of the brave.

Hurrah! hurrah! the wind is up—it bloweth fresh and free,
And every cord, instinct with life, pipes loud its fearless glee;
Big swell the bosom'd sails with joy, and they madly kiss the spray,
As proudly through the foaming surge the Sea-King bears away!

WHEN THE KING COMES OWRE THE WATER.

Words by Lady Keith. Jacobite.

I may sit in my wee croo house, At the rock and the reel to toil fu' drear-y; I may think on the day that's gane, And sigh and sob till I grow weary. I ne'er could brook, I ne'er could brook, A foreign loon to own or flatter; But I will sing a rantin' sang, That day our king comes o'er the water.

O gin I live to see the day,
That I hae begged, and begged frae Heaven,
I'll fling my rock and reel away,
And dance and sing frae morn till even:
For there is ane I winna name,
That comes the reigning bike to scatter;
And I'll put on my bridal gown,
That day our king comes o'er the water.

I hae seen the gude auld day,
The day o' pride and chieftain glory,
When royal Stuarts bore the sway,
And ne'er heard tell o' whig nor tory.
Though lyart be my locks and grey,
And eild has crook'd me down—what matter?
I'll dance and sing ae ither day,
That day our king comes o'er the water.

A curse on dull and drawling whig,
The whining, ranting, low deceiver,
Wi' heart sae black, and look sae big,
And canting tongue o' clishmaclaver!
My father was a good lord's son,
My mother was an earl's daughter,
And I'll be Lady Keith again,
That day our king comes o'er the water.
WILL YOU NO COME BACK AGAIN?

From "Jacobite Minstrelsy." Glasgow: R. Griffin & Co. 1828.

Moderate.

ROYAL CHAR-LIE'S NOW A-WA', SAFE-LY OWRE THE FRIEND-LY MAIN;

MONY A HEART WILL BREAK IN TW, SHOULD HE NE'ER COME BACK AGAIN.

Will you no come back again? Will you no come back again?

Better lo'ed you'll ne'er be, Will you no come back again?

Mony a traitor 'mang the isles
Brak' the band o' nature's law;
Mony a traitor, wi' his wiles,
Sought to wear his life awa'.

Will he no come back again, &c.

The hills he trode were a' his ain,
And bed beneath the birken tree;
The bush that hid him on the plain,
There's none on earth can claim but he.

Will he no come back again, &c.

Whene'er I hear the blackbird sing,
Unto the e'en'ing sinking down,
Or merle that makes the woods to ring,
To me they hae nae ither soun',

Than, will he no come back again, &c.

Mony a gallant sodger fought,
Mony a gallant chief did fa';
Death itself was dearly bought,
A' for Scotland's king and law.

Will he no come back again, &c.

Sweet the lav'rock's note and lang,
Lilting wildly up the glen;
And aye the o'ercome o' the sang
Is, "Will he no come back again?"

Will he no come back again, &c.

Note.—This song belongs to the times which compose the subject of it, and it is written with considerable spirit. The imputation on the men of the isles is, however, too general, for even those gentlemen who refused, upon principle, to join the standard of Charles, had no wish that he should be captured; but on the contrary, many of them afterwards secretly lent themselves to his escape. If suspicion rested upon any one, it was only on the Laird of M'Leod, who wrote to Macdonald of Kingsborough, desiring him, if the Prince fell in his way, to deliver him up, and saying that he would thereby do a service to his country. But Kingsborough acted a very different part; for he lodged the Prince hospitably in his house, and did not leave him till he saw him safe out of the reach of his enemies. For this he was afterwards taken up and imprisoned in a dungeon at Fort Augustus, where being examined by Sir Everard Falkner,
THE SUN RISES BRIGHT IN FRANCE.

Words by Allan Cunningham.
Gaelic Air.

Slow.

The sun rises bright in France, And fair sets he; But he has tint the blink he had In my ain country.

It's no my ain ruin That weets aye my e'e, But the dear Marie I left behind Wi' sweet bair-nies three.

The bud comes back to summer,
And the blossom to the tree,
But I win back—oh, never,
To my ain countrie.

Gladness comes to many,
Sorrow comes to me,
As I look o'er the wide ocean
To my ain countrie.

Fu' bienly low'd my ain hearth,
And smiled my ain Marie:
Oh! I've left my heart behind
In my ain countrie!

O I'm leal to high heaven,
Which aye was leal to me!
And it's there I'll meet ye a' soon,
Frae my ain countrie.

he was put in mind how noble an opportunity he had lost of making the fortune of himself and his family for ever. To which Kingsborough indignantly replied, "No, Sir Everard, death would have been preferable to such dishonour. But at any rate, had I gold and silver, piled heaps on heaps, to the bulk of you huge mountain, the vast mass could not afford me half the satisfaction I find in my own breast, from doing what I have done." This gentleman was afterwards removed to Edinburgh Castle, where he was kept close prisoner for a year, nobody being permitted to see him but the officer upon guard, the sergeant and the keeper, which last was appointed to attend him as a servant. When the act of grace was passed he was discharged.
DUET:—AE FOND KISS, AND THEN WE SEVER.

ever; Deep in heart-wrung tears I'll pledge thee, War-ring sighs and groans I'll wage thee. Who shall say that fortune grieves him, and groans I'll wage thee. Who shall say that fortune grieves him,

While the star of hope she leaves him? Me, nae cheer-fu' twinkle

While the star of hope she leaves him? Me, nae cheer-fu' twinkle lights me; Dark despair a-round be-nights me. Ae fond kiss.

I'll ne'er blame my partial fancy,
Naething could resist my Nancy;
But to see her, was to love her;
Love but her, and love for ever.

[Had we never loved sae kindly,
Had we never loved sae blindly,
Never met—or never parted,
We had ne'er been broken-hearted.]

Fare-thee-weel, thou first and fairest!
Fare-thee-weel, thou best and dearest!
Thine be ilka joy and treasure,
Peace, enjoyment, love, and pleasure!

Ae fond kiss, and then we sever;
Ae farewell, alas! for ever!
Deep in heart-wrung tears I'll pledge thee,
Warring sighs and groans I'll wage thee.

Note.—Sir Walter Scott says of the lines thus marked [], “This exquisitely affecting stanza contains the essence of a thousand love-tales.”

THE KISS AHINT THE DOOR.

Words by T. C. Latto.
Music by Thomas Anderson.

Chorus.

O meikle bliss is in a kiss, Whyles mair than in a score; But wae be-tak' the stou-in' smack I took a-hint the door.

lad-die, whisht, for sic a fricht I ne'er was in a-fore, Fu' braw-ly did my mither hear The kiss a-hint the door. The wa's are thick, ye need-na fear, But gin they jeer an' mock, I'll swear it was a star-tit cork, Or wyte the rus-ty lock.

We stappit ben, while Maggie's face
Was like a lowin' coal,
An' as for me, I could hae crept
Into a mouse's hole:
The mither look't, sauff's how she look't!
Thae mithers are a bore,
An' gleg as ony cat to hear
A kiss ahint the door,
O meikle, &c.

The douce gudeman, tho' he was there,
As weel micht been in Rome,
For by the fire he fuff'd his pipe,
An' never fash'd his thoom.

But titrin' in a corner stood
The gawky sisters four,
A winter's nicht for me they micht
Hae stood ahint the door.
"How daur ye tak' sic freedoms here?"
The bauld gudewife began;
Wi' that a foursome yell gat up,
I to my heels an' rain;
A besom whiskeyt by my lug,
An' dishclouts half-a-score,
Catch me again, tho' fidgin' fain,
At kissing 'hint the door.
O meikle, &c.

LOONS, YE MAUN GAE HAME.

It's here a- wa', there a- wa', how they did rin; When they saw the clans march, and in ear-nest beg- in; It's here a- wa', there a- wa', how they did flece, When they heard that Prince Charlie was come owre the sea. It's loons, ye maun gae hame.

They got to their feet, just as sure as a gun,
Whene'er they heard Charlie to Scotland was come,
"Haste, haste ye awa'," quo the auld wives wi' glee;
"O joy to the day Charlie cam' owre the sea."
An' loons, ye maun gae hame.

Whigs, fare ye a' weel, ye may scamper awa',
For haith here nae langer ye'll whip an' ye'll ca';
Nor mair look on Scotland wi' lightlifu' e'e,
For Charlie at last has come over the sea.
An' loons, ye maun gae hame.
Our lang Scottish miles they will tire ye right sair,
An' aiblins, in mosses and bogs ye will lair;
But, rest an' be thankfu' gin hame ye may see,
I rede ye that Charlie has come owre the sca.
An' loons, ye maun gae hame.

FAREWELL TO THE LAND.

Author unknown.
Music by T. S. Gleadhill.

Fare-well to the land of the rock and the wild-wood,
The hill and the forest and proud swelling wave;
To the land where bliss smiled on the days of my childhood,
Fare-well to thee, Scotia, thou land of the brave.

Far dearer to me are thy heath-cover'd mountains,
Than Gal-lia's rich valleys, and gay fertile plains;
And dearer by far than the mur-muring fountains,
The roar of the torrent, where lib-er-ty reigns.

Wherever I wander, sweet isle of the ocean,
My thoughts still shall turn to thy wild rocky shore;
Ah! still shall my heart beat with fondest emotion,
While musing on scenes I may visit no more.
Adieu, then, dear land of romance and wild story,
Thy welfare and honour for ever shall be
The prayer of an exile, whose boast and whose glory
Is the tie that still binds him, loved country, to thee!
NOW TELL ME, SWEET MARY.

Words by Alexander Maclagan.
Music by W. Walker.

Andante affetuoso.

Now tell me, sweet Mary, our gay village pride, What for sae down-hear-ted and thought-fu' you be; Draw back that lang sigh and I'll make ye my bride, For I'm wae to see tears at sae gen-tle an e'e. Look a-boon ye, the sun in its glo-ry is low-in', Look a-round ye, love, a' is a flow-er-y lea; Thy light foot is kissed by the wee modest gowan, Will ye no smile on aught that is smil-ing to thee?

I ken, gentle youth, that a' Nature looks braw in
Her robe wrought wi' flowers, and her saft smile o' glee;
But look at this leaf that beside me hath fa'en,—
It has fa'en, puir thing, an's ne'er miss't frae the tree.
O, sae maun I fa' soon, and few will e'er miss me,
My sleep is for aye, when I next close my e'e;
But the dew will weep o'er me, and friendly death bless me,
And the wind through the night will cry, O wae's me!

I ken they look fair, every rose on yon thorn,
Wi' the innocent wee buds just opening their e'en;
But the rose I like best is a' blighted and torn,
And o'er its dead blossom the grass it grows green;
Then leave me, youth, leave me; through life's flowery lawn,
Gae seek out a maiden more fitting for thee;
O! what would ye do wi' a weak trembling han',
And a poor broken heart that maun lie down an' dee?
MY HEART'S IN THE HIGHLANDS.

The first four lines of this song belong to an old ballad, called the "Strong Walls of Derry." The others were added by Burns.

Tune—Failte na miosg.

My heart's in the High-lands, my heart is not here, My heart's in the High-lands a chasing the deer; A chasing the wild deer, and follow-ing the roe; My heart's in the High-lands wher-ev-er I go.

Fare-well to the Highlands, fare-well to the north, The birth-place of val-our, the coun-try of worth, Wher-ev-er I wan-der, wher-ev-er I rove, The hills of the Highlands for ev-er I love.

Farewell to the mountains high cover'd with snow;
Farewell to the straths and green valleys below;
Farewell to the forests and wild hanging woods;
Farewell to the torrents and loud pouring floods.
My heart's in the Highlands, my heart is not here,
My heart's in the Highlands a chasing the deer;
A chasing the wild deer, and following the roe;
My heart's in the Highlands wherever I go.
WILL YE GO TO THE EWE-BUGHTS, MARION?

This is a very old song, with additions by Allan Ramsay.

Moderately slow.

Will ye go to the ewe-bughts, Ma-ron, And wear in the sheep wi' me? The sun shines sweet, my Ma-ron, But nae half sae sweet as thee! The sun shines sweet, my Ma-ron, But nae half sae sweet as thee!

There's gowd in your garters, Marion,
And silk on your white hause-bane;
Fu' fain wad I kiss my Marion,
At e'en when I come hame.

There's braw lads in Earnslaw, Marion,
Wha gape, and glow'r with their e'e,
At kirk when they see my Marion;
But none of them lo'es like me.

I've nine milk ewes, my Marion,
A cow and a brawny quey;
I'll gie them a' to my Marion,
Just on her bridal day.

And ye's get a green sey apron,
And waistcoat of the London brown,
And wow but ye will be vap'ring;
Whene'er ye gang to the town.

I'm young and stout, my Marion.
Nane dances like me on the green;
And gin ye forsake me, Marion,
I'll e'en gae draw up wi' Jean.

Sae put on your parlins, Marion,
And kirtle of the cramasie;
And soon as my chin has nae hair on,
I shall come west and see ye.
From Herd’s collection, published 1769.

A friend o’ mine cam’ here yes-treen, And he wad hae me down, To drink a pot of ale wi’ him, In the neist bor-ough town. But, oh! a-lake! it was the waur, And sair the waur for me; For lang or e’er that I cam’ hame, My wife had ta’en the gee.

We sat sae late, and drank sae stout,
The truth I’ll tell to you,
That lang or ever midnight cam’,
We baith were roaring fou.
My wife sits by the fireside,
And the tear blinds aye her e’e;
The ne’er a bed will she gae to,
But sit and tak’ the gee.

In the morning soon, when I come down,
The ne’er a word she spak’;
But mony a sad and sour look,
And aye her head she’d shake.
“My dear,” quo’ I, “what aileth thee,
To look sae sour at me;
I’ll never do the like again,
If ye’ll ne’er tak’ the gee.”

When that she heard, she ran, she flang
Her arms about my neck,
And twenty kisses in a crack,
And, poor wee thing, she grat.
“If ye’ll ne’er do the like again,
But stay at hame wi’ me,
I’ll lay my life, I’se be the wife
That’s never tak’ the gee.”
DONALD.

When first you courted me, I own, I fondly favoured you; Apparent worth and high renown Made me believe you true, Donald. Each virtue then seem'd to adorn the man esteem'd by me; But now the mask's thrown off, I scorn To waste one thought on thee, Donald.

O then for ever haste away,
Away from love and me;
Go seek a heart that's like your own,
And come no more to me, Donald.
For I'll reserve myself alone
For one that's more like me;
If such a one I cannot find,
I'll fly from love and thee, Donald.

MY LOVE IS LIKE A RED, RED ROSE.

Air—Low down in the Broom.

Words by Burns.

O my love is like a red, red rose, That's newly sprung in June! O my love is like a melody, That's sweetly played in tune! As fair art thou, my bonnie lass, So deep in love am I; And I will love thee still, my dear, Till a' the seas gang dry.

Till a' the seas gang dry, my dear,
And the rocks melt wi' the sun;
And I will love thee still, my dear,
While the sands of life shall run.

But, fare-thee-weel, my only love!
O fare-thee-weel awhile!
And I will come again, my love,
Tho' 'twere ten thousand mile.

Tho' 'twere ten thousand mile, my love,
Tho' 'twere ten thousand mile;
And I will come again, my love,
Tho' 'twere ten thousand mile.

GET UP AND BAR THE DOOR.

It fell about the Mart' mas time, And a gay time it was then, O! When our gude-wife had puddings to mak', And she boil'd them in the pan, O!

The wind blew cauld frae north to south, And first they ate the white puddings, And then they ate the black, O! [sel', Tho' muckle thought the gudewife to her-

Quoth our gudeman to our gudewife, Yet ne'er a word she spak', O!

"Get up and bar the door, O!"

Gudeman, as ye may see, O! [year, "Here, man, tak' ye my knife, O!

Do ye tak' aff the auld man's beard,

And I'll kiss the gudewife, O!

They made a paction 'tween them twa, "But there's nae water in the house,

They made it firm and sure, O! And what shall we do then, O?"

Whaever spak' the foremost word, "What ails you at the puddin' broo

Should rise and bar the door, O! That boils into the pan, O?"

Then by there came twa gentlemen, O up then started our gudeman,

At twelve o' clock at night, O! And an angry man was he, O!

And they could neither see house nor ha', "Will ye kiss my wife before my e'en, Nor coal nor candle light, O! And scaud me wi' puddin' bree, O!"

Now, whether is this a rich man's house, Then up and started our gudewife,

Or whether is it a poor, O? Gied three skips on the floor, O! [word,

But never a word wad ane o' them speak, "Gudeman, ye've spoken the foremost Get up and bar the door, O!"

For barring o' the door, O!"
AULD JOE NICOLSON'S BONNIE NANNIE.

Words by the Ettrick Shepherd.

The daisy is fair, The day-lily rare, The bud o' the rose is sweet as it's bonnie, But there ne'er was a flower in garden or bower, Like auld Joe Nicolson's bonnie Nan-nie.

O my Nan-nie, my dear lit-tle Nan-nie, My sweet lit-tle niddle-ty, nod-de-ty, Nan-nie; There ne'er was a flower in garden or bower, Like auld Joe Nicolson's bonnie Nan-nie.

Ae day she cam' out wi' a rosy blush,
To milk her twa kye, sae couthy an' canny;
I cower'd me down at the back o' the bush,
To watch the air o' my bonnie Nannie.—O my Nannie, &c.

Her looks that strayed o'er nature away,
Frae bonnie blue een sae mild an' mellow;
Saw naething sae sweet in nature's array,
Though clad in the morning's gowden yellow.—O my Nannie, &c.*

My heart lay beating the flowery green,
In quakin', quiverin' agitation,
An' the tears cam' tricklin' down frae my een
Wi' perfect love an' admiration.—O my Nannie, &c.

There's mony a joy in this world below,
An' sweet the hopes that to sing were uncanny;
But o' a' the pleasures I ever can know,
There's nane like the love o' my bonnie Nannie.—O my Nannie, &c.

* This verse is usually omitted in the singing.
COME O'ER THE STREAM, CHARLIE.

Words by the Ettrick Shepherd. Chorus arranged for this work by A. Hume.
Air,—MacLean's Welcome.

Come o'er the stream, Charlie, dear Charlie, brave Charlie, Come o'er the stream,

Charlie, and dine with MacLean; And though you be weary, we'll make your heart cheery, And welcome our Charlie and his loyal train.

We'll bring down the red deer, we'll bring down the black steer, The lamb from the breck-an, and doe from the glen; The salt sea we'll harry, and bring to our Charlie, The cream from the bothy, and curd from the pen.

CHORUS.

Come o'er the stream, Charlie, dear Charlie, brave Charlie, Come o'er the stream, Charlie, and dine with MacLean; And tho' you be weary, we'll mak' your heart chee-rie, And welcome our Charlie and his royal train.

And you shall drink freely the dews of Glen-Sheerly,
That stream in the star-light, when kings dinna ken;
And deep be your meed of the wine that is red,
To drink to your sire and his friend the MacLean.
Come o'er the stream, &c.

If aught will invite you, or more will delight you,
'Tis ready—a troop of our bold Highlandmen
Shall range on the heather, with bayonet and feather,
Strong arms and broad claymores, three hundred and ten.
Come o'er the stream, &c.
DUET:—O WALY! WALY!

Arranged for this work by A. Hume.

1st Voice. Mournfully.

O wal-y! wa-ly! up the bank, An' wa-ly! wa-ly! down the 2nd Voice.    mf

O wal-y! wa-ly! up the bank, An' wa-ly! wa-ly! down the brae; An' wa-ly! by yon burnside, Where I an' my love wont to gae.

I leant my back un-to an aik, I thought it was a trus-ty tree; But first it bow'd an' syne it brake, An' so did my fause love to me.

O waly, waly, but love be bonnie  O wherefore should I busk my heid,
A little time while it is new;  Or wherefore should I kame my hair?
But when it's auld, it waxes cauld,  For my true love has me forsook,
And fades away like the morning dew.  And says he'll never love me mair.
Now Arthur’s Seat shall be my bed,
   When we came in by Glasgow town,
The sheets shall ne’er be pressed by me,
   We were a comely sight to see;
St. Anton’s Well shall be my drink,
   My love was clad in the black velvet,
Since my true love has forsaken me.
   And I mysel’ in cramsie.

Martinmas wind, when wilt thou blaw,
   But had I wist, before I kiss’d,
And shake the green leaves off the tree?
   That love had been sae ill to win,
O, gentle death, when wilt thou come?
   I’d lock’d my heart in a case of gold,
For of my life I am wearie.
   And pinn’d it wi’ a siller pin.

’Tis not the frost that freezes fell;
   Oh, oh! if my young babe were born;
Nor blowing snaw’s inclemencie;
   And set upon the nurse’s knee,
’Tis not sic cauld that makes me cry;
   And I myself were dead and gane,
But my love’s heart’s grown cauld to me.
   And the green grass growing over me.

THE WIDOW’S LULLABY.

Alex. A. Ritchie.

T. S. Gleadhill.

O safely sleep, my bonnie bonnie bairn, Rock’d on this breast o’ mine,

The heart that beats sae sair within Will not, will not awaken thine. Lie still, lie still, ye cankered thought, That such late watch-es keep, And if ye break the mother’s rest, Yet let, yet let my baby sleep.

Sleep on, sleep on, my ae ae bairn,
   Dry up, dry up, ye saut saut tears,
Nor look sae wae on me,
   Lest on my bairn ye dreep,
As if ye felt the bitter tear
   And break in silence, waeful heart,
That blin’s thy mammie’s e’e.
   And let my baby sleep.
THE BATTLE OF THE BALTIC.

Written by Thomas Campbell.
Maestoso.

Music by R. A. Smith.

Of Nelson and the north, Sing the glorious day's renown, When to battle fierce came forth All the might of Denmark's crown, And their arms along the deep proudly shone; By each gun a lighted brand In a bold determined hand, In a bold determined hand, And the prince of all the land Led them on.

Like leviathans afloat, Lay their bulwarks on the brine; While the sign of battle flew On the lofty British line: It was ten of April morn by the chime: As they drifted on their path, There was silence deep as death; And the boldest held his breath For a time.—

But the might of England flush'd To anticipate the scene; And her van the fleeter rushed O'er the dead space between. "Hearts of oak!" our captains cried, when From its adamantine lips [each gun Let us think of them that sleep, Spread a death-shade round the ships, Like the hurricane eclipse Of the sun.—

Again! again! again! And the havoc did not slack, Till a feeble cheer the Dane To our cheering sent us back;— Their shots along the deep slowly boom:— Then ceas'd—and all is wail, As they strike the shatter'd sail; Or, in conflagration pale, Light the gloom.—

Now joy, old England, raise! For the tidings of thy might, By the festal cities' blaze, While the wine cup shines in light; And yet amidst that joy and uproar, Let us think of them that sleep, Full many a fathom deep, By thy wild and stormy steep, Elsinore!—
Brave hearts! to Britain's pride
Once so faithful and so true,
On the deck of fame that died,
With the gallant, good Riou:*
Soft sigh the winds of heav'n o'er their grave!
While the billow mournful rolls,
And the mermaid's song condoles,
Singing glory to the souls
Of the brave!—

* Captain Riou, justly entitled the gallant and the good, by Lord Nelson, when he wrote home his despatches.

MARY'S BOWER.

Words by Alexander Maclagan.
Music by W. Walker.

Andantino Sostenuto.

Love whispered to the night-ingale—Sweet minstrel, tell to me, Where didst thou hear that melting tale Of matchless melody? The bird replied, From dawn of day To evening's dewy hour, I ofttimes licht to learn a lay O' love, O' love in Mary's bow'r. O' love in Mary's bow'r.

Love whispered to the blushing rose— The star replied—Though bright my skies,
Sweet flower, come tell me true, There's beams o' greater power,
From whence each lovely tint that glows That ever flash from two fair eyes
Thy breast o' beauty through? O' love in Mary's bower.
The rose replied wi' blushing brow, Love whispered to the world around,
Oh! happy is the flower A holy gift is thine;
The rose replied wi' blushing brow, The world replied—Where love is found,
That's fed upon the smiles an' dew Are treasures more divine.
O' love in Mary's bower.

Love whispered to the evening star— Love told the tale to beating hearts;
From whence your glory, say, And from that sunny hour,
When burning in your sphere afar, He sends his keenest, brightest darts
You gem the Milky Way? O' love frae Mary's bower.

minds me o' de-part-ed joys, De-part-ed ne-ver to re-turn.
Oft hae I rov'd by bonnie Doon,
To see the rose and woodbine twine;
And ilka bird sang o' its love,
And fondly sae did I o' mine.
Wi' lightsome heart I pu'd a rose,
Fu' sweet upon its thorny tree;
And my fause lover stole my rose,
But ah! he left the thorn wi' me.

THE BRAES O' BALLOCHMYLE.

Words by Burns.

Andante affetuoso.

The Ca-trine woods were yel-low seen, The flowers de-cayed on Ca-trine lea; Nae lav'-rock sang on hil-lock green, But na-ture sick-en'd on the e'e. Through fa-ded groves, Mari-a sang, Her-sel' in beau-ty's bloom the while, An' aye the wild-woods' e-choes rang, Fare-weep, fare-weep, sweet Bal-loch-my-le.

Low in your wintry beds, ye flowers,
Again ye'll flourish fresh and fair;
Ye birdies dumb, in withering bowers,
Again ye'll charm the vocal air;
But here, alas! for me nae mair
Shall birdie charm, or flow'ret smile;
Fareweel the bonnie banks o' Ayr,
Fareweel, fareweel! sweet Ballochmyle!
Words by Mrs. Elizabeth Hamilton.

Arranged by A. Hume.

O, I ha' e seen great anes, an' sat in great ha's, 'Mang lords an' 'mang la-dies, a' cov-er'd wi' braws; But a sight sae delight-fu' I trow I ne'er spied, As the bon-nie blythe blink o' my ain fire-side. My ain fire-side, my ain fire-side,

As the bon-nie blythe blink o' my ain fire-side.
Ance mair, heaven be praised! round my ain heartsome ingle,
Wi' the friends o' my youth I cordially mingle;
Nae forms to compel me to seem wae or glad,
I may laugh when I'm merry, and sigh when I'm sad.

My ain fireside, my ain fireside,
O there's nought to compare wi' ane's ain fireside.

Nae falsehood to dread, nae malice to fear,
But truth to delight me, and kindness to cheer;
O' a' roads to pleasure that ever were tried,
There's nane half sae sure as ane's ain fireside.

My ain fireside, my ain fireside,
O sweet is the blink o' my ain fireside.

BONNIE WEE THING.

Words by Burns.

Bon-nie wee thing, can-ny wee thing, Love-ly wee thing, wert thou mine;
I wad wear thee in my bo-som, Lest my jew-el I should tine.

Wist-ful-ly I look and lan-guish, In that bon-nie face o' thine;
And my heart it stounds with an-guish, Lest my wee thing be na mine.

[Here repeat the first part of the music, and commence the following stanzas with the second part:—]

Wit and grace, and love and beauty,
In ae constellation shine!
To adore thee is my duty,
Goddess of this soul o' mine.

Bon-nie wee thing, can-ny wee thing,
Lovely wee thing, wert thou mine,
I wad wear thee in my bosom,
Lest my jewel I should tine.
YE NEEDNA BE COURTIN' AT ME, AULD MAN.

Words by Peter Still. Music by James Rennie.

O, ye need-na be court-in' at me, auld man, Ye need-na be court-in' at me; Ye're three-score and three, and ye're blin' o' an e'e, Sae ye need-na be court-in' at me, auld man, Ye need-na be court-in' at me. Ha'e patience and hear me a wee, sweet lass, Hae patience and hear me a wee; I ha'e gou-pins o' gowd, and an awm-ry weed stow'd, And a heart that lo'e's nane but thee, sweet lass, And a heart that lo'e's nane but thee.

Gang hame to your gowd and your gear, auld man,
Gang hame to your gowd and your gear;
There's a laddie I ken has a heart like my ain,
And to me he shall ever be dear, auld man,
And to me he shall ever be dear.

I'll busk ye as braw as a queen, sweet lass,
I'll busk ye as braw as a queen;
I hae guineas to spare, and, hark ye, what's mair;
I'm only twa score and fifteen, sweet lass,
I'm only twa score and fifteen.
O stan' aff, na', and fash me nae mair, auld man,
Stan' aff, na', and fash me nae mair;
There's a something in love that your gowd canna move—
I'll be Johnnie's although I gang bare, auld man,
I'll be Johnnie's although I gang bare.

BIDE YE YET.

When I gang afield, and come hame at e'en,
I'll get my wee wifie fu' neat and fu' clean,
And a bonnie wee bairnie upon her knee,
That will cry papa or daddy to me.
Sae bide ye yet, &c.

An' if there should ever happen to be
A difference atween my wee wifie and me,
In hearty good humour, although she be teas'd,
I'll kiss her and clap her until she be pleas'd.
Sae bide ye yet, &c.
BE KIND TO AULD GRANNIE.

Words by Archibald M'Kay.
Music by T. S. Gleadhill.

Moderato, with expression.

Be kind to auld gran-nie, for noo she is frail As a time-shatter'd tree bending low in the gale; When ye were wee bairn-ies, tot, toting a-bout, She watch'd ye when in, and she watch'd ye when out; And aye when ye chane'd, in your daf-fin' and fun, To dunt your wee heads on the cauld stan-ey grun', She lift-ed ye up, and she kiss'd ye fu' fain, Till a' your bit cares were for-got-ten a-gain. Then be kind to auld gran-nie, for noo she is frail As a time-shatter'd tree bending low in the gale.

When first in your breasts rose that feeling divine, That's waked by the tales and the sangs o' langsyne, Wi' auld-warld cracks she would pleasure inspire, In the lang winter nichts as she sat by the fire; Or melt your young hearts wi' some sweet Scottish lay, Like "The Flowers o' the Forest," or "Auld Robin Gray;" Though eerie the win' blew around our bit cot, Grim winter and a' its wild blasts were forgot;—
Then be kind to auld grannie, for noo she is frail As a time-shatter'd tree bending low in the gale.
And mind, though the blythe day o' youth noo is yours,
Time will wither its joys, as wild winter the flowers;
And your step that's noo licht as the bound o' the roe,
Wi' cheerless auld age may be feeble and slow;
And the frien's o' your youth to the grave may be gane,
And ye on its brink may be tottering alane;
Oh, think how consoling some frien' would be then,
When the gloaming o' life comes like mist o'er the glen;—
Then be kind to auld grannie, for noo she is frail
As a time-shatter'd tree bending low in the gale.

SCOTS WHA HA' E WI' WALLACE BLEED.

Words by Burns. Air, "Hey, tuttle, tattie."

Scots, wha hae wi' Wallace bled, Scots, wham Bruce has af-ten led!

Wel-come to your go-ry bed, Or to vic-to-rie!

Now's the day an' now's the hour; See the front of bat-tle lour-

See ap-proach proud Ed-ward's power, Chains and sla-ve-rice!

Wha will be a traitor knave? By oppression's woes and pains,
Wha will fill a coward's grave? By your sons in servile chains,
Wha sae base as be a slave? We will drain our dearest veins,
Let him turn and flee! But they shall be free.
Wha, for Scotland's king and law, Lay the proud usurpers low!
Freedom's sword will strongly draw, Tyrants fall in every foe!
Freeman stand, or freeman fa', Liberty's in every blow,
Let him follow me! Let us do or die!

DUET—THOU ART GANE AW'A' FRAE ME, MARY!

*Words by Burns.
Arranged by A. Hume.*

Treble.  With feeling.

Thou art gane awa', thou art gane awa', Thou art gane awa' frae me, Mary! Nor friends nor I could make thee stay, Thou hast cheat-ed them and me,

Mary.  Until this hour I nev-er thought That aught could al-ter thee, Mary; Thou'rt still the mis-tress of Whate'er he said or might pretend,
Wha stole that heart o' thine, Mary;
True love, I'm sure, was ne'er his end,
Nor nae sic love as mine, Mary.
I spake sincere, ne'er flatter'd much,
Nor lichtly thought of thee, Mary;
Ambition, wealth, nor naething such,
No, I lov'd only thee, Mary.

Tho' you've been false, yet while I live
Nae maid I'll woo like thee, Mary;
Let friends forget, as I forgive,
Thy wrongs to them and me, Mary.
So then farewell! of this be sure,
Since you've been false to me, Mary,
For all the world I'd not endure
Half what I've done for thee, Mary!

MY OWN SWEET ROSE.

Words by John Bell.
Music by Thomas Anderson.

My own sweet Rose.

Her little fragile fairy form,
So slender, light, an' fair,
Whose yielding weakness softly claims
The gentle hand of care.
The love that sparkles in her e'e,
And in her bosom glows,
Still renders doubly dear to me
My own sweet Rose.

Should life her thousand ills impart,
An' grief an' cares combine,
To soothe her little throbbing heart
The grateful task be mine;
Whatever clouds the skies deform—
Whatever tempest blows—
I'll shelter thee from every storm,
My own sweet Rose.

Saw ye John-nie com-in'? quo' she, Saw ye Johnnie com-in'? Wi' his blue bon-net on his head, An' his dog-gie rin-nin'. Wi' his blue bon-net on his head, An' his dog-gie rin-nin', quo' she, An' his dog-gie rin-nin'.

Fee him, father, fee him, quo' she, Fee him, father, fee him; Fee him, father, fee him, quo' she, Fee him, father, fee him;

For he is a gallant lad, And a weel doin'; And a' the wark about the house Gaes wi' me when I see him, quo' she, Wi' me when I see him.

What will I do wi' him, hizzie? What will I do wi' him? He's ne'er a sark upon his back, And I ha'e nane to gi'e him.

I ha'e twa sarks into my kist, And an' o' them I'll gi'e him, And for a merk o' mair fee Dinna stand wi' him, quo' she, Dinna stand wi' him.

For weel do I lo'e him, quo' she, Weel do I lo'e him; Weel do I lo'e him, quo' she, Weel do I lo'e him.

O fee him, father, fee him, quo' she, Fee him, father, fee him; He'll haud the pleugh, thrash in the barn, And crack wi' me at e'enin', quo' she, And crack wi' me at e'enin'.
JENNY'S BAWBEE.

Words by Sir Alexander Boswell.

I met four chaps yon birks a-mang, Wi' hinging lugs and faces lang: I spier'd at nee-bour Baul-dy Strang, Wha's they I see?

Quo' he, Ilk cream-fac'd paw-ky chiel Thocht he was eunn-ing as the deil, And here they cam' a-wa' to steal Jenny's bawbee.

The first, a Captain to his trade, Wi' skull ill-lined, but back weel-clad, March'd round the barn, and by the shed, And pappit on his knee:

Quo' he, "My goddess, nymph, and queen, Your beauty's dazzled bairth my een!" But deil a beauty he had seen But—Jenny's bawbee.

A Lawyer neist, wi' blatherin' gab, Wha speeches wove like ony wab, In ilk ane's corn aye took a dab, And a' for a fee.

Accounts he owed through a' the toun, And tradesmen's tongues nae mair could drown, But now he thocht to clout his gown Wi' Jenny's bawbee.

A Norland Laird neist trotted up, Wi' bawsand naig and siller whup, Cried, "There's my beast, lad, haud the Or tie't till a tree; [grup, What's gowd to me?—I've walth o' lan'! Bestow on ane o' worth your han'!"]

He thocht to pay what he was a-wun Wi' Jenny's bawbee.

She bade the Laird gae kame his wig, The Sodger no to strut sae big, The Lawyer no to be a prig, The fool, he cried, "Tehee! I kenn'd that I could never fail!"

But she preen'd the dishclout to his tail, And soused him wi' the water-pail, And kept her bawbee.

* Then Johnnie cam', a lad o' sense, Although he had na mony pence; And took young Jenny to the spence, Wi' her to crack a wee.

Now Johnnie was a clever chiel, And here his suit he press'd sae weel, That Jenny's heart grew saft as jeel, And she birled her bawbee.

* As the last stanza does not appear in the copies of this song published during the lifetime of Sir Alexander Boswell, it is uncertain whether he is the author of it.
ROW, LADS, ROW—Clyde Boat Song.

Words by T. Elliott.          Music by A. Hume.

Cheerfully.

Leave the city's busy throng, Dip the ear and wake the song;
See on Cath-kin braes the moon Rises with a star a-boon.
Hark! the boom of ev'n-ing bells Trembles thro' the leaf-y dells.

Air.  p  f

Alto.  p  f

Tenor.  p  f

Bass.  p  f
Row, lads, row! row, lads, row! Up the Clyde with the tide, Row, lads, row!
Life's a river, deep and old,
Stemm'd by rowers brave and bold;
Now in shadow, then in light,
Onward aye, a thing of might.
Sons of Albyn's ancient land,
Row with strong and steady hand.

Row, lads, row! row, lads, row!
Gaily row and cheerily sing
Till the woodland echoes ring—
Row, lads, row! row, lads, row!
Up the Clyde with the tide,
Row, lads, row!

JOHN ANDERSON, MY JO.

First and last Stanzas by Burns.

Hammers on the anvils rest—
Dews upon the gowan's breast—
Young hearts heave with tender thought—
Low winds sigh, with odours fraught—
Stars bedeck the blue above—
Earth is full of joy and love.

Row, lads, row! row, lads, row!
Let your oars in concert beat
Time, like merry dancers' feet.
Row, lads, row! row, lads, row!
Up the Clyde with the tide,
Row, lads, row!

John Anderson, my jo, John,
When we were first acquainted,
Your locks were like the raven,
Your bonnie brow was brent;
But now your brow is beld, John,
Your locks are like the snaw,
But blessings on your frosty pow, John Anderson, my jo.

John Anderson, my jo, John,
When Nature first began
To try her canny hand, John,
Her master-wark was man;
And you, amang the lave, John,
Sae trig frae tap to toe—
She prov'd hersel' nae journey-wark,
John Anderson, my jo.

John Anderson, my jo, John,
We clamb the hill thegither,
And mony a canty day, John,
We've had wi' ane anither;
Now we maun totter down, John,
But hand in hand we'll go,
And we'll sleep thegither at the foot,
John Anderson, my jo.
JEANIE'S NAE MAIR—Prize Song, No. I.

Words by Miss Young. Music by A. Hume.

Slow and with much feeling.

O sad wails the nor-lan' wind round my lane sheil-in', The snow-drift an' sleet war-stle hard in the air; An' cauld is my hame-stead, but cauld-er my bo-som, An' throw-less my heart, for my Jean-ie's nae mair.

The pride o' my heart, and the joy o' my bo-som, She kept my auld days free frae sor-row and care; But she's gane from my sight, like a frost nip-pit blos-som, And gane are my joys since my Jean-ie's nae mair.

I hear na her silv'ry voice ring thro' the hallan,
Wi' music as sweet as the saft simmer air,
Nor hear her licht fitfa' steal roun' in the gloamin'—
An' ilk thing looks dreary since Jeanie's nae mair.
It's no that the world's grown darker or drearer—
It's no that its flowers are bloomin' less fair;
But my life's sun's gane down, an' nae mair can they cheer me—
It's aye gloamin' round me since Jeanie's nae mair.

The sunbeams shoot over the ocean's dark bosom,
Like glints o' the glory that's shinin' up by,
An' the ebb o' the wave comes like sabs o' emotion,
Betiding the time I maun heave my last sigh.
Like a storm-rifted tree to the grave I maun dauner,
Nae kind heart to cheer, or my sorrow to share;
But I'll aye keep a thocht to the world that's aboon us,
An' I ken that my Jeanie will welcome me there.
THE AULD INGLESIDE—Prize Song, No. II.

Words by James Macfarlan.

Music by T. S. Gladhill.

_Slowly, with feeling._

By the auld in-gle-side, in the days that are gane, cozy we sat, and fu' cheer-y we sang, Wi' the licht foot o' youth on the hal-low'd hearth stane, And the day nev-er dull and the nicht nev-er lang. When the wan-der-ing wives, wi' their wal-lets o' fun,

And their duds frae the drift o' the cauld win-ter dried, Cam' doit-er-ing ben, how the cal-lants wad rin Their stories to hear, by the auld in-gle-side.

By the auld ingleside, i' the muckle arm-chair,

Wi' his auld-farrant crack, sat our grandfather sage,

And the red e'enin' lowe, as it fell on his hair,

Aft wad melt into mirth a' the snaws o' his age;

But we miss'd Him at last, when the gloamin' cam' doon

'Mang the gowd o' the hairst and the corn waving wide—

O, his blessin' he gied, as he lookit aboon,

And died in our arms by the auld ingleside.

O, the auld ingleside I can never forget—

The young loupin' heart, and the bricht rollin' e'e,

And the frien's o' langsyne that sae happy ha'e met,

Wha noo are adrift owre the waves o' the sea.

I ha'e sang by the burn, I ha'e danc'd on the green,

I ha'e sat in the ha' amid beauty and pride;

But oh! for ae blink o' that life's early scene,

The low o' langsyne by the auld ingleside.
PHŒBUS, WI' GOWDEN CREST—Prize Song, No. III.

Words by C. J. Finlayson. Air adapted from an old Galloway Melody.

Phœbus, wi' gowden crest, leaves ocean's heaving breast, An' frae the purple east smiles on the day; Lav'rocks wi'blythesome strain, mount frae the dewy plain, Green wood an' rocky glen echo their lay; Wild flow'rs wi' op'n-ing blooms woo ilka breeze that comes, Scat-t'ring their rich perfumes o'er the lea; But summer's varied dye, lark's song, an' breezes' sigh, Only bring sorrow and sadness to me.

Blighted, like autumn's leaf, ilk joy is chang'd to grief,
Day smiles around, but no pleasure can gie;
Night, on his sable wings, sweet rest to nature brings—Sleep to the weary, but waukin' to me.
Aften has warldly care wrung my sad bosom sair—Hope's visions fled me, an' friendships untrue;
But a' the ills o' fate never could thus create
Anguish like parting, dear Annie, frae you.

Farewell those beaming eyes, stars in life's wintry skies,
Aft has adversity fled frae your ray;
Farewell that angel smile, stranger to woman's wile,
That ever could beguile sorrow away;
Farewell ilk happy scene, wild wood an' valley green,
Where time, on rapture's wing, over us flew;
Farewell that peace of heart thou only could'st impart—Farewell, dear Annie! a long, long adieu!
DUET:—BEHOLD THE HOUR THE BOAT ARRIVE.

Words by Burns. Arranged for this work by A. Hume. Gaelic Air,—Oran gaol.

1st Voice. Slow and with great feeling.

Be-hold the hour, the boat ar-rive, Thou go-est, thou dar-ling of my heart; Ah! sever'd from thee can I sur-vive? But fate has will'd, and we must part.

I'll oft-en greet this surg-ing swell, Yon dis-tant isle will oft-en hail; E'en here I took the last fare-well, There la-test mark'd her van-ish'd sail.

Along the solitary shore,
While flitting sea-fowl round me cry,
Across the rolling, dashing roar,
I'll westward turn my wistful eye.

Happy, thou Indian grove, I'll say,
Where now my Nancy's path may be?
While thro' thy sweets she loves to stray,
O tell me, does she muse on me?
ROW THEE WEEEL, MY BONNIE BUILT WHERRY.

Poetry by Robert Allan. Music by J. P. Clark.

Now row thee weel, my bon-nie built wher-ry, I've row'd thee lang, and with thee been mer-ry; I've row'd thee late, and I've row'd thee early,
I've row'd o'er the frith Loch-iel and Prince Char- lie; Then row, row thee, my bon-nie built wher-ry, Then row thee weel, my bon-nie built wher-ry. Row, row thee, my bon-nie built wher-ry, I've row'd thee lang and with thee been mer-ry.

My wherry was built for the gallant and brave,
She dances sae light o'er the bonnie white wave—
She dances sae light through the cloud and the haze,
And steers by the light of the watch-fire blaze.
Then row, row thee, my bonnie built wherry, &c.

But a' that I lov'd on earth is gane,
And I and my wherry are left alone;
The blast is blawn that bore them awa'—
But there is a day that's comin' for a'.
Then row, row thee, my bonnie built wherry, &c.
O WHA'S AT THE WINDOW, WHA, WHA?

Words by Alexander Carlile.
Music by R. A. Smith.

WHA'S AT THE WINDOW, WHA, WHA?

O wha's at the window, wha, wha? O wha's at the window,

Wha, wha? Wha but blythe Jamie Glen, He's come sax miles and ten, To tak' bon-nie Jean-ie a-wa', a-wa', To tak' bon-nie Jean-ie a-wa'.

He has plighted his troth an' a', an' a',
Leal love to gie an' a', an' a';
And sae has she done,
By a' that's aboon,
For he lo'es her, she lo'es him, 'boon a', 'boon a'.
He lo'es her, she lo'es him, 'boon a'.

Bridal maidens are braw, braw,
Bridal maidens are braw, braw;
But the bride's modest e'e,
An' warm cheek are to me,
'Boon pearlins and brooches, an' a', an a',
'Boon pearlins and brooches, an' a'.

There's mirth on the green, in the ha', the ha',
There's mirth on the green, in the ha', the ha'.
There's laughing, there's quaffing,
There's jesting, there's daffing,
And the bride's father's blythest of a', of a',
And the bride's father's blythest of a'.

It's no that she's Jamie's ava, ava,
It's no that she's Jamie's ava, ava,
That my heart is sae eerie,
When a' the lave's cheerie,
But it's just that she'll aye be awa', awa',
But it's just that she'll aye be awa'.

Wat ye how she cheat-ed me, As I cam' o'er the braes o' Bal-loch.

O, she was a canty quean,
And weel could dance the Highland walloch;
How happy I, had she been mine,
Or I'd been Roy of Aldivalloch.

Roy’s wife, &c.

Her hair sae fair, her een sae clear,
Her wee bit mou’ sae sweet and bonnie;
To me she ever will be dear,
Though she’s for ever left her Johnnie.

Roy’s wife, &c.

THOUGH YOU LEAVE ME NOW IN SORROW.

SAME AIR.

To be sung in slow time, with great feeling.

Though you leave me now in sorrow,
Smiles may light our love to-morrow,
Doom’d to part, my faithful heart
A gleam of joy from hope shall borrow.
Ah! ne’er forget, when friends are near,
This heart alone is thine for ever;
Thou may’st find those will love thee dear,
But not a love like mine, O never!

Note.—When duets are introduced into this work, the melodies invariably retain their original simplicity, and may be sung as solos, if desired. We are pleased to learn from our numerous correspondents, that the plan of thus arranging our national melodies as duets, has met with such hearty approbation.—[Ed. L.G.S.]
IN SCOTLAND THERE LIV'D A HUMBLE BEGGAR.

In Scot-land there liv'd a hum-ble beg-gar, Nae house, nae hald, nor hame had he; But he was weel lik-ed by il-ka bodie, And they gied him sun-kets and saps to pree.

A neivefu' o' meal, and a handfu' o' groats, A daud o' a bannock, or herring bree, Cauld parritch, or the lickings o' plates, Wad mak' him as blythe as a beggar could be.

This beggar he was a humble beggar, The feint a bit o' pride had he; He wad a ta'en his awms in a bicker Frae gentleman or pur bodie.

His wallets ahint and afore did hing, In as good order as wallets could be; A lang kail-gully hung down by his side, And a meikle nowt-horn to rout on had he.

It happen'd ill, it happen'd waur, It happen'd sae that he did dee; And wha do ye think was at his late-wake, But lads and lasses o' high degree.

Some were blythe, and some were sad, And some they played at blind Harrie; But suddenly up started the auld carle, "I rede you! good folks, tak' tent o' me."

Up gat Kate that sat i' the nook, "Vow limmer, and how do ye?" Up he gat, and ca'd her a limmer, And ruggit and tuggit her cockernonie.

They houkit his grave in Duket's kirk-yard, E'en fair fa' the companie: But when they were gaun to lay him i' the yird, The feint a dead nor dead was he.
And when they brought him to Duket's kirk-yard,
He dunted on the kist, the boards did flee;
And when they were gaun to lay him i' the yird,
In fell the kist and out lap he.

He cried "I'm cauld, I'm unco cauld:"
Fu' fast ran the folk, and fu' fast ran he;
But he was first hame at his ain ingle-side,
And he helped to drink his ain dregie.

THE THISTLE AND THE ROSE.

Words by Robert Allan.  Music by John Turnbull.

There grew in bonnie Scotland a thistle and a brier; And aye they twined and clasped like sisters kind and dear.

The rose it was sae bonnie, it could ilk bosom charm; the thistle spread its thorny leaf to keep the rose from harm.

A bonnie laddie tended the rose baith aire and late,
He watered it, and fanned it, and wove it wi' his fate;
And the leal hearts of Scotland prayed it might never fa',
The thistle was sae bonnie green, the rose sae like the snow.

But the weird sisters sat where hope's fair emblems grew,
They drapt a drap upon the rose o' bitter blasting dew;
And aye they twined the mystic thread, but ere their task was done,
The snow-white rose it disappeared, it withered in the sun.

A bonnie laddie tended the rose baith aire and late,
He watered it, and fanned it, and wove it wi' his fate;
But the thistle tap it withered, winds bore it far awa',
And Scotland's heart was broken for the rose sae like the snow.
THE WOODS O' DUNMORE.

Music by James Jaap.

This lone heart is thine, lassie, charming and fair, This fond heart is thine, lassie dear; Nae world's gear hae I, nae ox-en nor kye, I've nac-thing, dear lassie, save a pure heart to gi'e. Yet din-na say me na, but come, come a-wa', An' wander, dear lassie, 'mang the woods o' Dun-more. An' wan-der, dear lassie, 'mang the woods o' — Dun-more.

O sweet is thy voice, lassie, charming an' fair,
Enchanting thy smile, lassie dear;
I'll toil aye for thee, for ae blink o' thine e'e
Is pleasure mair sweet than siller to me.
Yet dinna say me na, &c.

O come to my arms, lassie, charming an' fair,
Awa' wild alarms, lassie dear;
This fond heart an' thine like ivy shall twine,
I'll lo'e thee, dear lassie, till the day that I dee.
O dinna say me na, &c.
BONNIE JEANIE GRAY.

Music by Richard Webster.

Words by William Paul.

Oh, whaur was ye sae late yestreen, My bonnie Jeanie Gray?
Your mither miss'd ye late at e'en, And eke at break o' day.
Your mither look'd sae sour and sad, Your father dull and wae;
Oh, whaur was ye sae late yestreen, My bonnie Jeanie Gray.

I've marked that lonely look o' thine,
My bonnie Jeanie Gray;
I've kent your kindly bosom pine
This mony, mony day.
Ha'e himmied words o' promise lured
Your guileless heart astray?
Oh, dinna hide your grief frae me,
My bonnie Jeanie Gray.

Dear sister, sit ye down by me,
And let naebody ken,
For I ha'e promised late yestreen
To wed young Jamie Glen.
The melting tear stood in his e'e,
What heart could say him nay?
As aft he vow'd, through life I'm thine,
My bonnie Jeanie Gray.

The first and last stanzas of this favourite song were written by William Paul, Glasgow; the second stanza is from the pen of William Thom, the Inverury poet. The song is inserted by the permission of the representatives of the late Mr. Paul.
I WINNA GANG BACK TO MY MAMMY AGAIN.

Words by Richard Gall. Music by T. S. Gleadhill.

I win-na gang back to my mam-my a-gain, I'll nev-er gang back to my mam-my a-gain, I've held by her a-pron these aught years and ten, But I'll nev-er gang back to my mam-my a-gain. I've held by her a-pron these rallentando.

aught years and ten, But I'll nev-er gang back to my mam-my a-gain.

Young Johnnie cam' down i' the gloamin' to woo,
Wi' plaidie sae bonnie, an' bannet sae blue:
"O come awa', lassie, ne'er let mammy ken;"
An' I flew wi' my laddie o'er meadow an' glen.

O come awa', lassie, &c.

He ca'd me his dawtie, his dearie, his dow,
An' press'd hame his words wi' a smack o' my mou';
While I fell on his bosom, heart-flichtered an' fain,
An' sigh'd out, "O Johnnie, I'll aye be your ain!"
While I fell on his bosom, &c.

Some lasses will talk to the lads wi' their e'e,
Yet hanker to tell what their hearts really dree;
Wi' Johnnie I stood upon nae stappin'-stane,
Sae I'll never gang back to my mammy again.

Wi' Johnnie I stood, &c.

For many lang years sin' I play'd on the lea,
My mammy was kind as a mither could be;
I've held by her apron these aught years an' ten,
But I'll never gang back to my mammy again.

I've held by her apron, &c.
QUEEN MARY’S ESCAPE FROM LOCHLEVEN CASTLE.

Words by Robert Allan. Highland Boat Air.

Put off, put off, and row with speed, For now is the time and the hour of need! To oars, to oars, and trim the bark, Nor Scotland’s queen be a warder’s mark. Yon light that plays round the castle’s moat, Is only the warder’s random shot; Put off, put off, and row with speed, For now is the time and the hour of need!

Those pond’rous keys* shall the kelpies keep, And lodge in their caverns dark and deep; Nor shall Lochleven’s towers or hall, Hold thee, our lovely lady, in thrall; Or be the haunt of traitors, sold, While Scotland has hands and hearts so bold; Then steersmen, steersmen, on with speed, For now is the time and the hour of need!

Hark! the alarum bell hath rung, And the warder’s voice hath treason sung! The echoes to the falconet’s roar, Chime sweetly to the dashing oar: Let tower, and hall, and battlements gleam, We steer by the light of the taper’s beam; For Scotland and Mary, on with speed, Now, now is the time and hour of need!

* The keys here alluded to, were lately found by some fishermen, and are now in the possession of a Kinross-shire laird.

There I met a bon-nie las-sie Keep-ing a' her ewes the-gith-er.

There I met a bon-nie las-sie Keep-ing a' her ewes the-gith-er.
Says I, my dear, where is thy hame?
In muir, or dale, pray tell me whether?
Says she, I tent thae fleecy flocks
That feed amang the blooming heather.—O'er the muir, &c.

We sat us down upon a bank,
Sae warm and sunny was the weather:
She left her flocks at large to rove
Amang the bonnie blooming heather.—O'er the muir, &c.

She charmed my heart, and aye sinskyne
I couldna think on ony ither;
By sea and sky! she shall be mine,
The bonnie lass amang the heather.—O'er the muir, &c.

BONNIE MARY HAY.

Words by Archibald Crawford.
Music by R. A. Smith.

With feeling.

Bonnie Mary Hay, I will lo'e thee yet, For thy e'e is the slae, and thy hair is the jet; The snow is thy skin, and the rose is thy cheek: O bonnie Mary Hay, I will lo'e thee yet.

Bonnie Mary Hay, will ye gang wi' me,
When the sun is in the west, to the hawthorn tree?
To the hawthorn tree, in the bonnie berry den,
And I'll tell ye, Mary Hay, how I lo'e ye then.

Bonnie Mary Hay, it's haldy to me
When thou art sae couthie, kind-hearted, an' free;
There's nae clouds in the lift nor storms in the sky,
O bonnie Mary Hay, when thou art nigh.

Bonnie Mary Hay, thou maunna say me nay,
But come to the bower by the hawthorn brae;
But come to the bower, and I'll tell ye a' that's true,
How, Mary, I can ne'er lo'e ane but you.
LOCHABER NO MORE.

Words by Allan Ramsay.  Gaelic Air—Arranged for this work by A. Hume.

Fare-weel to Loch a-ber, fare-weel to my Jean, Where heart-some wi' her I ha'e mony days been; To Loch-a-ber no more, to Loch-a-ber no more, We'll may-be re-
These tears that I shed,
they are a' for my dear,
And no for the dangers attending on weir;
Tho' borne on rough seas to a far distant shore,
Maybe to return to Loch-a-ber no more.

Turn to Loch-a-ber no more.

These tears that I shed,
they are a' for my dear,
And no for the dangers attending on weir;
Tho' borne on rough seas to a far distant shore,
Maybe to return to Loch-a-ber no more.

Turn to Loch-a-ber no more.

These tears that I shed,
they are a' for my dear,
And no for the dangers attending on weir;
Tho' borne on rough seas to a far distant shore,
Maybe to return to Loch-a-ber no more.

Turn to Loch-a-ber no more.
Though hurricanes rise, and raise ev'ry wind,
They'll ne'er make a tempest like that in my mind;
Though loudest of thunders on louder waves roar,
That's naething like leaving my love on the shore.
To leave thee behind me, my heart is sair pain'd;
But by ease so inglorious no fame can be gain'd;
And beauty and love's the reward of the brave:
And I maun deserve it before I can crave.

Then glory, my Jeanie, maun plead my excuse:
Since honour commands me, how can I refuse?
Without it, I ne'er can have merit for thee;
And, losing thy favour, I'd better not be.
I gae, then, my lass, to win glory and fame;
And if I should chance to come glorious hame,
I'll bring a heart to thee with love running o'er,
And then I'll leave thee and Lochaber no more.

HAUD AWA' FRAE ME, DONALD.

Words by Robert Allan.

Moderate.

Haud a-wa', bide a-wa', Haud a-wa' frae me, Donald; What care I for a' your wealth, Or a' that ye can gie, Donald? I wad-na leave my Law-land lad For a' your gowd and gear, Donald, Sae tak' your plaid, and o'er the hill, And stay nae lang-er here, Donald.

My Jamie is a gallant youth,
I lo'e but him alane, Donald:
And in bonnie Scotland's isle
Like him there is nane, Donald.

Hand awa', &c.

He wears nae plaid, nor tartan hose,
Nor garters at his knee, Donald;

But, O! he wears a faithfu' heart,
And love blinks in his e'e, Donald.

Sae hand awa', bide awa',
Come nae mair at e'en, Donald;

I wadna break my Jamie's heart
To be a Highland queen, Donald.
I'LL HAE MY COAT O' GUDE SNUFF-BROWN.

Written by Sir Alex. Boswell of Auchinleck.

Air—The Auld Gudeman.

Allegretto.

Laird.—I'll hae my coat o' gude snuff-brown, My pouther'd wig to co-ver my crown; I'll deck me, Meg, an' busk me fine, I'm gaun to court a tocher'd quean.

Meg.—Your ho-sens, laird, are baith to darn, Your best sark's bleach-in' (that's but harn), Your coat's a' stour, your wig's to kame, Troth, laird, you'd bet-ter stay at hame.

Laird.—Auld Punch will carry Jock, the lad,
I'll ride mysel' the lang-tail'd yad,
Wi' pistols at my saddle-tree,
Weel mounted as a laird should be.

Meg.—There's peats to cast, the hay's to cuile,
The yad's run owre the muir a mile;
The saddle's stown, auld Punch is lame,
'Deed, laird, ye'd better bide at hame.

Think, laird, a wee an' look about,
Your gear's a' thrivin' in an' out;
I'm wae to see ye courtin' dule,
Wha kens but this same quean's a fool.

Laird.—Aye, aye, your drift's no ill to tell,
Ye fain wad hae me, Meg, yoursel';
But sure as Blutterlog's my name,
I'll court the lass, an' bring her hame.

THE BONNIE MORNIN' AFTER THE RAIN.

Cheerfully.

The nicht had been rain-y, but fair was the morn-in', Bright shone the sun, come-ly Nature a-dorning, Sweet bloom'd the dais-y yon bon-nie sim-mer morn-in', An' fra-grant the green dew-y plain;

Saft to their min-nies the wee lambs were moan-in', Fond 'mid the flow'r-ets the wild bee was dron-in', As Ka-tie sat milk-in' her kye i' the loan-in', Yon bon-nie morn-in' af-ter the rain.
Dark waved her locks owre her fair neck sae slender;
Bricht beamed her e'e, like the sun in its splendour;
Snawy her bosom, sae comely an' tender,

An' pure as the lily o' the plain.

I took her i' my arms, an' I ca'd her my dearie,
Her face was sae bonnie, my heart felt sae cheerie;
I took her i' my arms, an' I ca'd her my dearie,

Yon bonnie mornin' after the rain!

O fair are yon meadows, where aft I've gaen roamin'
For mony a sweet hour, wi' my lass i' the gloamin';
But fairer—O fairer the bonnie green loanin',

Where she whispered her heart was my ain!

Sweetly she blush'd like the rose wi' emotion;
Fondly I seal'd wi' a kiss my devotion;
Sweetly she blush'd like the rose wi' emotion,

Yon bonnie mornin' after the rain!

Though fortune wi' me has been scant wi' her measure,
Yet ne'er will I envy her care-laden treasure;
Sae lang as the queen o' my hame gi'es me pleasure,

O' nocht will I ever complain;

For aye when I'm dowie, down-heartit, and weary,
Her sweet sunny smile mak's me lichtsome and cheerie,
Sae weel I'll remember the tryst wi' my dearie,

Yon bonnie mornin' after the rain!

Words by Lord Byron.

With animation.

Away, ye gay landscapes, ye gardens of roses, In you let the minions of luxury rove; Restore me the rocks where the snow-flake repos-es, If still they are sacred to freedom and love.

Yet, Caledonia, dear are thy mountains, Round their white summits tho'
Ah! there my young footsteps in infancy wander'd,
    My cap was the bonnet, my cloak was the plaid;
On chieftains departed my memory pondered,
    As daily I stray'd through the pine-cover'd glade.
I sought not my home till the day's dying glory
    Gave place to the rays of the bright polar star,
For fancy was cheer'd by traditional story,
    Disclos'd by the natives of dark Loch-na-garr.

Shades of the dead, have I not heard your voices
    Rise on the night-rolling breath of the gale?
Surely the soul of the hero rejoices,
    And rides on the wind o'er his own Highland vale.
Round Loch-na-garr while the stormy mist gathers,
    Winter presides in his cold icy car;
Clouds there encircle the forms of my fathers!
    They dwell 'mid the tempests of dark Loch-na-garr.

Ill starr'd, though brave, did no vision foreboding,
    Tell you that fate had forsaken your cause?
Ah! were ye then destined to die at Culloden,
    Though victory crown'd not your fall with applause?
Still were ye happy in death's earthy slumbers;
    You rest with your clan in the caves of Braemar;
The pibroch resounds to the piper's loud numbers,
    Your deeds to the echoes of wild Loch-na-garr.

Years have roll'd on, Loch-na-garr, since I left you!
    Years must elapse ere I see you again;
Though nature of verdure and flowers has bereft you,
    Yet still thou art dearer than Albion's plain.
England, thy beauties are tame and domestic
    To one who has rov'd on the mountains afar!
Oh! for the crags that are wild and majestic,
    The steep frowning glories of dark Loch-na-garr!

SOLO, DUET, AND TRIO—THE BOATIE ROWS.

Solo, 1st Treble. Moderate.

Arranged for this work by T. S. Gleadhill.

O weel may the boat-ie row, And bet-ter may it speed; And lie-some may the boat-ie row That wins the bair-nies' bread.

The boat-ie rows, the boat-ie rows, The boat-ie rows fu' weel; And mei-kle luck at-tend the boat, the mur-lain, and the creel.

Duet. 1st Treble. A little slower.

O weel may the boat-ie row That fills a heav-y creel; And
O weel may the boat-ie row That fills a heav-y creel; And

bles us a' frae tap to tae, And buys our par-ritch meal.
bles us a' frae tap to tae, And buys our par-ritch meal.
When Jamie vow'd he wad be mine,
And won frae me my heart,
O mickle lighter grew my creel;
He swore we'd never part.

The boatie rows, the boatie rows,
The boatie rows fu' weel;
And mickle lighter is the boat,
When love bears up the creel.

My kertch I put upon my head,
And dress'd mysel' fu' braw;
But dowie, dowie was my heart,
When Jamie gaed awa'.

But weel may the boatie row,
And lucky be her part;
And lightsome be the lassie's care,
That yields an honest heart.

When Sandy, Jock, and Janetie,
Are up an' gotten lear,
They'll help to gar the boatie row,
And lighten a' our care.

The boatie rows, the boatie rows,
The boatie rows fu' weel;
And lightsome be her heart that bears
The murlain and her creel.

When we are auld and sair bow'd down,
And hirplin' at the door,
They'll row to keep us dry an' warm,
As we did them before.

Then weel may the boatie row,
And better may it speed;
And happy be the lot of a'
That wish the boatie speed.
ALLEN-A-DALE.

Words by Sir Walter Scott.

Adapted to a Border air.

Allen-a-Dale has no fagot for burning, Allen-a-Dale has no furrow for turning, Allen-a-Dale has no fleece for the spinning; Yet Allen-a-Dale has red gold for the winning; Come read me my riddle and hearken my tale, And tell me the craft of bold Allen-a-Dale, And tell me the craft of bold Allen-a-Dale.

The baron of Ravensworth prances in pride, And he views his domains upon Arkindale side, The mere for his net, and the land for his game, The lake for the wild, and the park for the tame; Yet the fish of the lake and the deer of the vale, Are less free to Lord Dacre than Allen-a-Dale.

Allen-a-Dale was no'er belted a knight, Though his spur be as sharp, and his blade be as bright; Allen-a-Dale is no baron or lord, Yet twenty tall yeomen will draw at his word; And the best of our nobles his bonnet will veil, Who at Rere-cross on Stanmore meets Allen-a-Dale.

Allen-a-Dale to his wooing is come; The mother, she asked of his household and home; "Though the castle of Richmond stands fair on the hill, My hall," quoth bold Allen, "shows gallanter still; 'Tis the blue vault of heaven, with its crescent so pale, And with all its bright spangles!" said Allen-a-Dale.
The father was steel, and the mother was stone;
They lifted the latch, and they bade him begone;
But loud on the morrow their wail and their cry!
He had laugh'd on the lass with his bonnie black eye,
And she fled to the forest to hear a love-tale,
And the youth it was told by was Allen-a-Dale.

CA' THE EWES TO THE KNOWES.

Slowly, with great expression.

Ca' the ewes to the knowes, Ca' them whaur the heath-er grows, Ca' them whaur the burn-ie rows, My bon-nie dear-ic. 'Twas in the bon-nie month o' June, When the woods a-bout us hung; When a' the flow'rs were in their bloom, The night-in-gale 'sang clearly.

Will ye gang down the water side,
And see the waves sae sweetly glide?
Beneath the hazels spreading wide,
The moon it shines fu' clearly.
Ca' the ewes, &c.

While waters wimple to the sea;
While day blinks in the lift sae hie;
Till clay-cauld death shall blind my e'e,
Ye shall be my dearie.
Ca' the ewes, &c.
JESSIE, THE FLOWER O’ DUMBLANE.

Words by Tannahill.

With artless simplicity.

Music by R. A. Smith.

She’s modest as ony, an’ blythe as she’s bonnie,
For guileless simplicity marks her its ain;
An’ far be the villain, divested o’ feeling,
Wha’d blight in its bloom the sweet flow’r o’ Dumblane.
Sing on, thou sweet mavis, thy hymn to the e’enin’, Thou’rt dear to the echoes o’ Calderwood glen;
Sae dear to this bosom, sae artless and winning,
Is charming young Jessie, the flow’r o’ Dumblane.

The sun has gane down o’er the lofty Ben-lo-mond, And left the red clouds to preside o’er the scene; While lane-ly I stray in the calm sim-mer gloam-in’, To muse on sweet Jes-sie, the flow’r o’ Dum-blane. How sweet is the brier, wi’ its saft faulding blos-som, And sweet is the birk, wi’ its man-tle o’ green; Yet sweet-er an’ fair-er, an’ dear to this bos-som, Is love-ly young Jess-ie, the flow’r o’ Dum-blane. Is love-ly young Jes-sie, Is love-ly young Jes-sie, Is love-ly young Jes-sie, the flow’r o’ Dumblane.
At Willie's wedding on the green, The lasses, bonnie witches, Were a' drest out in aprons clean, And braw white Sunday mutch-es.

Auld Maggie bade the lads take tent, But Jock wad not believe her; But soon the fule his folly kent, For Jenny dang the weaver. Jenny dang, dang, dang, Jenny dang the weaver, But soon the fule his folly kent, For Jenny dang the weaver.

At ilka country dance or reel,
   Wi' her he wad be babbin';
When she sat down, he sat down,
   And to her wad be gabbin';
Where'er she gaed, baith but and ben,
   The cuif wad never leave her,
Ay keckling like a clockin' hen—
   But Jenny dang the weaver. Jenny dang, &c.

Quo' he, "My lass, to speak my mind,
   In troth I needna swither—
Ye've bonnie een, and if ye're kind,
   I needna seek anither."
He hum'd and haw'd—the lass cried "Feugh!"
   And bade the cuif no deave her;
Syne snapt her fingers, lap and leugh,
   And dang the silly weaver. Jenny dang, &c.
O! HUSH THEE, MY BABY!

Words by Sir Walter Scott.

Sung in the Opera of Guy Mannering.

Scottish Air—Gadil gu lo.

O! hush thee, my baby! thy sire was a knight, Thy mother a lady so lovely and bright! The woods and the glens from these towers which we see, They all are belonging, dear baby, to thee. O! rest thee, babe, rest thee, babe, sleep on till day, O! rest thee, babe, rest thee, babe, sleep while you may.

O! fear not the bugle, tho' loudly it blows; It calls but the warders that guard thy repose. Their bows would be bended, their blades would be red, Ere the step of the foe draws near to thy bed. O! rest thee, babe, rest thee, babe, sleep on till day; O! rest thee, babe, rest thee, babe, sleep while you may.

O! rest thee, my darling, the time soon will come When thy sleep shall be broken by trumpet and drum. Then rest thee, my darling, O! sleep while you may, For strife comes with manhood, as light comes with day. O! rest thee, babe, rest thee, babe, sleep on till day; O! rest thee, babe, rest thee, babe, sleep while you may.
JOCK O' HAZELDEAN.

Words by Sir Walter Scott.

Moderato.

Why weep ye by the tide, ladye? Why weep ye by the tide? I'll wed ye to my young-est son, And ye shall be his bride.

And ye shall be his bride, ladye, Sae comely to be seen; But aye she loot the tears down fa' For Jock o' Hazeldean.

Now let this wilfu' grief be done, And dry that cheek so pale, Young Frank is chief of Errington, And lord of Langley-dale. His step is first in peaceful ha', His sword in battle keen— But aye she loot the tears down fa' For Jock o' Hazeldean.

A chain of gold ye shall not lack, Nor braid to bind your hair; Nor mettled hound, nor managed hawk, Nor palfrey fresh and fair. And you, the foremost of them a', Shall ride our forest queen— But aye she loot the tears down fa' For Jock o' Hazeldean.

The kirk was deck'd at morning tide, The tapers glimmer'd fair; The priest and bridegroom wait the bride, And dame and knight are there. They sought her both by bower and ha', The ladye was not seen— She's o'er the border, and awa' Wi' Jock o' Hazeldean.

The first stanza of this song is copied from the old ballad, "Jock of Hazelgreen." Buchan's Ballads.
COME UNDER MY PLAIDIE.

Words by Hector M'Neill.

Air—Johnnie Macgill.

Sprightly.

Come under my plaid-ie, the night's gaun to fa'; Come in frae the cauld blast, the drift, and the snaw: Come under my plaid-ie, and sit down beside me, There's room in't, dear lassie, believe me, for twa.

Come under my plaid-ie, and sit down beside me, I'll hap ye frae ev'-ry cauld blast that can blaw; O come under my plaid-ie, and sit down beside me, There's room in't, dear lassie, believe me, for twa.

"Gae wa wi' yer plaidie! auld Donald, gae wa; I fear na the cauld blast, the drift, nor the snaw! Gae wa! yer plaidie! I'll no sit beside ye; Ye micht be my gutcher! auld Donald, gae wa. I'm gaun to meet Johnnie—he's young and he's bonnie; He's been at Meg's bridal, fu' trig and fu' braw! Nane dances sae lichtly, sae gracefu', sae tightly, His cheek's like the new rose, his brow's like the snaw!"

"Dear Marion, let that flee stick fast to the wa'; Your Jock's but a gowk, and has naething ava; The hail o' his pack he has now on his back; He's thretty, and I am but threescore and twa. Be frank now, and kindly—I'll busk ye aye finely; To kirk or to market there'll few gang sae braw; A bien house to bide in, a chaise for to ride in, And flunkeys to 'tend ye as aft as ye ca'."
“My father aye tauld me, my mither and a',
Ye'd mak' a gude husband, and keep me aye braw.
It's true I lo'e Johnnie; he's young and he's bonnie;
But, wae's me! I ken he has naething ava!
I hae little tocher; ye've made a gude offer;
I'm now mair than twenty; my time is but sma'!
Sae gie me your plaidie; I'll creep in beside ye;
I thocht ye'd been auldler than threescore and twa!”

She crap in ayont him, beside the stane wa',
Whare Johnnie was list'ning, and heard her tell a';
The day was appointed!—his proud heart it dunted,
And strack 'gainst his side, as if bursting in twa.
He wander'd hame weary, the nicht it was dreary,
And, thowless, he tint his gate 'mang the deep snaw:
The howlet was screamin', while Johnnie cried, "Women Wad marry auld Nick, if he'd keep them aye braw."

MARY MORISON.

Words by Burns.

O Mary! canst thou wreck his peace,
Wha for thy sake wad gladly die?
Or canst thou break that heart of his,
Whase only faut is loving thee?

If love for love thou wilt na gie,
At least be pitty to me shown:
A thought ungentele canna be
The thought of Mary Morison.

Mary, at thy window be,
It is the wish'd, the tryst-ed hour;
Those smiles and glances let me see,
That mak' the mis-er's trea-sure poor.

How gladly wad I bide the stoure,
A wea-ry slave frae sun to sun,
Could I the rich reward se-cure,
The love-ly Mary Mor-i-son.

Yestreen when to the trembling string
The dance gaed through the lighted ha',
To thee my fancy took its wing,
I sat, but neither heard nor saw:
Though this was fair, and that was braw,
And yon the toast of a' the town,
I sigh'd, and said, amang them a',
"Ye are na Mary Morison."
The first stanza of this, the modern version, is from the pen of Carolina Baroness Nairne; the others appear to be adapted from "Kate o' Gowrie," by William Reid.

Air—Locherroch Side.—Arranged for this work by D. Baptie.

Treble.
Tweed.
Moderato.

'Twas on a sim-mer's af-ter-noon, A wee be-fore the sun gae'd down,

My las-sie, in a braw new gown, Cam' o'er the hills to Gow-rie.

The rose-bud ting'd wi' mor-ning show'r, Bloom'd fresh within the ha-zel bow'r;

But Ka-tie was the fair-est flow'r That ev-er bloom'd in Gow-rie.

I had nae thought to do her wrang, I'll tak' ye to my father's ha',
But round her waist my arms I flang, In yon green field beside the shaw,
And said, my lassie, will ye gang And mak' ye lady o' them a',
To view the Carse o' Gowrie. The brawest wife in Gowrie.
Saft kisses on her lips I laid,
The blush upon her cheek soon spread,
She whisper'd modestly and said,
I'll gang wi' you to Gowrie.

The auld folk soon gied their consent,
And to Mess John we quickly went,
Wha tied us to our hearts' content,
And now she's Lady Gowrie.

A MAN'S A MAN FOR A' THAT.

Wor's by Burns.

A prince can mak' a belted knight,
A marquis, duke, and a' that;
But an honest man's aboon his might,
Guid faith! he mauna fa' that!

A man's a man for a' that:
For a' that, and a' that,
Their dignities, and a' that;
The pith o' sense, and pride o' worth,
Are higher ranks than a' that.

What though on hamely fare we dine,
Wear hoddin grey, and a' that;
Gie fools their silks, and knaves their wine,
A man's a man for a' that:

For a' that, and a' that,
Their tinsel show, and a' that;
The honest man, though e'er sae poor,
Is king o' men for a' that.

Then let us pray that come it may,
As come it will, for a' that,
That sense and worth, o'er a' the earth,
May bear the gree, and a' that:

Ye see yon birkie, ca'd a lord,
Wha struts, and stares, and a' that:
Though hundreds worship at his word,
He's but a coof for a' that:

For a' that, and a' that;
His riband, star, and a' that,
The man of independent mind
He looks and laughs at a' that.

It's coming yet, for a' that,
That man to man, the warl' o'er,
Shall brithers be for a' that.
THE EWIE WI' THE CROOKIT HORN.

Words by the Rev. John Skinner.

Slow with expression.

Were I but able to re-hearse My ew-ie's praise in proper verse, I'd sound it forth as loud and fierce As ev-er pi-per's drone could blow.

The ew-ie wi' the crook-it horn! Wha had kent her might ha'e sworn Sic a ewe was never born Here-a-bout, nor far awa'.

I never needed tar nor keil,
To mark her upo' hip or heel;
Her crookit hornie did as weel,
To ken her by amang them a'.

She never threaten'd scab nor rot,
But keepit aye her ain jog-trot;
Baithe to the fauld and to the cot,
Was never sweirt to lead nor ca'.

Cauld nor hunger never dang her,
Wind nor weet could never wrang her;
Ance she lay an ouk and langer
Furth aneath a wreath o' snaw.

Whan ither ewies lap the dyke,
And ate the kail for a' the tyke,
My ewie never play'd the like,
But tyc'd about the barn wa'.

A better; or a thriftier beast
Nae honest man could weel ha'e wist;
For, silly thing, she never mist
To ha'e, ilk year, a lamb or twa.

The first she had I ga'e to Jock,
To be to him a kind o' stock;
And now the laddie has a flock
O' mair nor thirty head ava.

I lookit aye at even for her,
Lest mischanter should come o'er her,
Or the foumart might devour her,
Gin the beastie bade awa'.

My ewie wi' the crookit horn,
Weel deserv'd baith gerse and corn;
Sic a ewe was never born,
Hereabout, or far awa'.

Yet, last ouk, for a' my keeping,
(Wha can speak it without greeting?)
A villain cam', when I was sleeping,
Sta' my ewie, horn and a'.

I sought her sair upo' the morn;
And down aneath a buss o' thorn,
I got my ewie's crookit horn,
But my ewie was awa'.

O! gin I had the loon that did it,
Sworn I have, as weel as said it,
Though a' the world should forbid it,
I wad gi'e his neck a throw.

I never met wi' sic a turn
As this, sin' ever I was born;
My ewie wi' the crookit horn,
Silly ewie, stown awa'.
O! had she dee'd o' crook or cauld,
As ewies do when they are auld,
It wadna been, by mony fauld,
Sae sair a heart to nane o's a'.

For a' the claith that we ha'e worn,
Frae her and her's sae aften shorn;
The loss o' her we could ha'e borne,
Had fair strae-death ta'en her awa'.

But thus, puri thing, to lose her life,
Aneath a bloody villain's knife;
I'm really fley't that our gudewife
Will never win aboon't ava.

O! a' ye bards benorth Kinghorn,
Call your muses up and mourn
Our ewie wi' the crookit horn,
Stown frae's, an' fell't an' a'!

O SPEED, LORD NITHSDALE.

Words by Robert Allan.

Slow.

O speed, Lord Nithsdale, speed ye fast, Sin' ye mann frae your countrie flee, Nae merc-y mot fa' to your share; Nac pi-ty is for thine and thee.

Thy la-dy sits in lone-ly bow'r, And fast the tear fa's frae her e'e; And aye she sighs, O blaw ye winds, And bear Lord Niths-dale far frae me.

Her heart, sae wae, was like to break,
While knee-ling by the taper bright;
But ae red drap cam' to her cheek,
As shone the morning's rosy light.

Lord Nithsdale's bark she mot na see,
Winds sped it swiftly o'er the main;
"O ill betide," quoth that fair dame,
"Wha sic a comely knight had slain!"

Lord Nithsdale lov'd wi mickle love;
But he thought on his countrie's wrang,
And he was deem'd a traitor syne,
And forc'd frae a' he lov'd to gang.

"Oh! I will gae to my lov'd lord,
He may na smile, I trow, bot me;"
But hame, and ha', and bonnie bowers,
Nae mair will glad Lord Nithsdale's e'e.
LASSIE WI' THE LINT-WHITE LOCKS.

Words by Burns. Air—Rothiemurchus' Rant.

Lassie wi' the lint-white locks, Bonnie lassie, art-less lassie,

Wilt thou wi' me tent the flocks? Wilt thou be my dear-ie, O?

Now na-ture cleeds the flow'-ry lea, And a' is young and sweet like thee; O wilt thou share its joys wi' me, And say thou'llt be my dear-ie, O.

And when the welcome simmer shower
Has cheer'd ilk drooping little flower,
We'll to the breathing woodbine bower
At sultry noon, my dearie, O.

Lassie wi', &c.

When Cynthia lights wi' silver ray
The weary shearer's hameward way,
Thro' yellow waving fields we'll stray,
And talk o' love, my dearie, O.

Lassie wi', &c.

And when the howling wintry blast
Disturbs my lassie's midnight rest,
Enclasped to my faithful breast,
I'll comfort thee, my dearie, O.

Lassie wi', &c.

We'll hae nane but Highland Bonnets here, 1s. ...........................................Maclagan.

Respectfully inscribed to Sir Colin Campbell,

At the decisive charge on the heights of Alma, when the Guards were pressing on to share the honour of taking the first guns with the Highlanders, Sir Colin Campbell, cheering on his men, cried aloud, "We'll have none but Highland bonnets here!" How these heroic words acted upon his brave followers is well known.

Extract of Letter from the Crimea.

"'We'll hae nane but Highland Bonnets here' is highly appreciated in the camp of the 93rd Highlanders, and was sung with great enthusiasm both in the tents and in the trenches. I can assure you it will long be a favourite song in our regiment, and the whole Highland Brigade. It was sung by many a poor fellow by the camp fires in the last dreadful winter nights, when one would think that singing was not in their hearts."
